

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1853.

NUMBER XL.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements are inserted at the rate of one cent per line for the first week, and for each subsequent week at the rate of five cents per line.
Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.
JOSHUA BARCOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. LOCKE, Stone Quarries.
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSLURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVELLY, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

The Unexpected Return; or, Who is it?

'It is nearly a year since I was at home,' Lucy Gray said to her husband, and so you must let me go for a few weeks.'

They had been married some four or five years and during that time had never been separated twenty-four hours at a time.

'Why, Lucy, I thought you called this your home,' Mr. Gray said, looking up with a mock serious air.

'I mean my old home,' Lucy replied, in a half affected tone of anger, 'or to be plain, I want to go and see my father and mother.'

'Can't you wait three or four months until I can go with you?'

'I want to go now. You said all along that I should go in May.'

'I know I did. But then I supposed that I should be able to go with you.'

'Well, why can't you? I'm sure you might if you would.'

'No, Lucy, I cannot possibly leave home now. But if you are very anxious to see the old folks, I can put you in the stage and you will go safe enough. How long a time do you wish to spend with them?'

'About three weeks.'

'Very well, Lucy, if you are not afraid to go, I shall not say a word.'

'I am not afraid, dear,' the wife said, in a voice changed and softened.

'But you are perfectly willing that I should go, Henry?'

'O, certainly,' was the reply, although the tone in the words thus uttered had something like reluctance in it. 'It would be selfish in me to say no. Your father and mother would be delighted to see you just now.'

'And you think you and Ellen can get along with little Lucy?'

'O yes.'

'I should like to go much.'

'Go then, by all means.'

'But won't you be very lonesome without me? suggested Lucy, in whose own bosom a feeling of loneliness was already beginning to be felt at the bare idea of separating from her husband for three weeks.'

'I can stand it as long as you can,' was Gray's reply to this. 'And then I shall have our dear little girl.'

Lucy laughed in return, but did not feel as happy at the idea of 'going home' as she thought she would be, before her husband's consent had been gained.

The desire to go, however, remaining strong, it was settled that the visit should be paid. So all the preparations were made, and in the course of a week Henry Gray saw his wife take a seat in the stage, with a feeling of regret at parting, which required all efforts to conceal. As for Lucy, when the pinch came, she regretted ever having thought of going without her husband and child; but she was ashamed to let her feelings be known. So she kept on a show of indifference all the while that her heart was fluttering.

The 'good-bye' was finally said, the driver cracked his whip, and off rolled the stage. Mr. Gray turned home with a dull lonely feeling, and Lucy drew her veil over her face to conceal the unbidden tears from her fellow passengers in the coach.

That night poor Mr. Gray slept but little. How could he? His Lucy was absent, and for the first time from his side. On the next morning, as he could think of nothing but his wife, he sat down and wrote to her, telling her how lost and lonely he felt, and how much little Lucy missed her, but still to try and enjoy herself, and by all means to write him a letter by return mail.

As for Mrs. Gray, during her journey of two whole days, she cried half of the time, and when she got home at last, that is at her father's, she looked the picture of disstress, rather than the daughter full of joy at meeting her parents.

Right glad were the old people to see their dear child, but grieved at the same time, and a little hurt too, at her weakness and evident regret at having left her husband to make them a brief visit. The real pleasure that Lucy felt at once more seeing the faces of her parents, whom she tenderly loved, was not strong enough to subdue and keep in concealment, except for a very short period at a time, her yearning desire to be again with her husband, for whom she never before experienced a feeling of such deep and earnest affection. Several times during the first day of her visit, did her mother find her in tears, which she would quickly dash aside, and endeavor to seem cheerful.

The day after her arrival brought her a letter—the first that she had ever received from her husband. How precious was every word! How often and often did she read it over, until every word was engraven on her memory! Then she sat down and spent some two or three hours in replying to it. As she sealed this first epistle to her husband, full of tender expressions, she sighed as the wish arose in her mind, involuntarily, that she could only go with it on its journey to the village of—

Long were the hours, and wearily passed, to Henry Gray. It was the sixth day of trial before Lucy's answer came. How dear to his heart was every word of her affectionate epistle. Like her, he went over it so often that every sentiment was fixed in his mind.

'Two weeks longer! How can I bear it?' he said, rising up and pacing the floor backward and forward, after reading her letter for the tenth time.

On the next day, the seventh of his lonely state, Mr. Gray sat down to write again to Lucy. Several times he wrote the words, as he proceeded in the letter: 'Come home soon,' but as often obliterated. He did not wish to appear over-anxious for her return, on her father and mother's account, who were much attached to her.

But forgetting this reason for not urging her early return, he had again commenced writing the words, 'Come home soon,' when a pair of soft hands were suddenly placed over his eyes, by some one who had stolen softly up behind him.

'Guess my name!' said a voice in feigned tones.

But he had no need to guess, for a sudden cry of joy from a little toddling thing, told that 'Mamma' had come.

How 'mamma' was hugged and kissed all around, need not here be told. That scene was well enough in its place, but would lose its interest in telling. It may be imagined, however, without suffering any particular detriment, by all who have a fancy for such things.

'And father, too!' suddenly exclaimed Mr. Gray, after he had almost smothered his wife with kisses, looking up with an expression of pleasure and surprise at an old man who stood looking on with his good humored face covered with smiles.

'Yes. I had to bring the good for nothing jade home,' replied the old man, advancing and grasping his son-in-law's hand with a hearty grip. 'She did nothing but moan and cry all the while, and I don't care if she never comes to see us again, unless she brings you along to keep her in good humor.'

'And I never intend going along again,' Mrs. Gray said, holding a little chubby girl to her bosom, when she kissed it over and over again, at the same time that she pressed close up to her husband's side.

The old man understood it all. He was not jealous of Lucy's affection, for he knew she loved him as tenderly as ever. He was too glad to know that she was happy with a husband, to whom she was the apple of his eyes. In about three months Lucy made another visit 'home.' But husband and child were along this time, and the visit proved a happy one all round. Of course 'father and mother' had their jest and their laugh, and their affection of jealousy and anger at Lucy for her childishness, as they termed it, when home in May; but Lucy, though half vexed at herself for what she called a weakness, nevertheless persevered in saying that she never meant to go anywhere again without Henry. 'That was settled.'

Civility is a Fortune.

Civility is a fortune in itself, for a courteous man always succeeds in life, and that even when persons of ability sometimes fail. The famous Duke of Marlborough is a case in point. It was said of him by one contemporary, that his agreeable manners often converted an enemy into a friend; and by another, that it was more pleasing to be denied a favor by his Grace, than to receive one from other men. The gracious manners of Charles James Fox preserved him from personal dislike, even at a time when he was politically the most unpopular man in the kingdom. The history of our own country is full of examples of success obtained by civility. The experience of every man furnishes, if we but recall the past, frequent instances where conciliatory manners have made the fortune of physicians, lawyers, divines, politicians, merchants, and, indeed, individuals of all pursuits. In being introduced to a stranger, his affability, or the reserve, creates instantaneously a prepossession in his behalf, or awakens unconsciously a prejudice against him. To men civility is in fact, what beauty is to women; it is a general passport to favor; a letter of recommendation written in a language that every stranger understands. The best of men have often injured themselves by irritability and consequent rudeness, as the greatest scoundrels have frequently succeeded by their plausible manners. Of two men, equal in all other respects, the courteous one has twice the chance for fortune.—Philadelphia Ledger.

'Taking the Starch out of 'em.'

A lot of idlers stood upon the end of a pier which ran out into the Hudson river, in one of the small towns near Albany, (N. Y.), amusing themselves with hurling stones into the broad stream, each vying with the other in the endeavor to pitch a missile at the farthest distance from the shore, when a tall, rugged built Vermont, direct from the Green Hills, suddenly made his appearance in their midst, and for a while remained a quiet observer of their movements.

He was a brawny, strong looking Yankee, and was very decently clad. The efforts of the little party had been exhibited over and over again, when the stranger quietly picked up half a brick which lay near him, and giving it a jerk it fell into the water a long way beyond the line which had as yet been reached by the foremost of the crowd. At the conclusion of this feat a loud bravo went up from half a dozen voices around him.

It was a clear day in October, and the men determined not to be outdone, renewed their attempts; but the Vermont, without saying a syllable to any one, continued to pitch the pebbles far into the stream, which seemed to annoy one of them, in a green jacket, the apparent leader of the gang, who declared he would not be beaten by a 'feller right straight out of the woods, no how,' and sidling up to the stranger, he determined to make his acquaintance.

'Where do you come from, neighbor?' inquired the other.

'Me? Wal, I hail from Vermont, jes now, friend!'

'Hain't been in these parts long, I reckon?'

'Wal—no. Not edactly yere—but up and down, sorter.'

'Yis—so I 'sposed.'

'Yaas,' continued the green 'un, carelessly, and seizing a big billet of wood, he twirled it over his head, and it landed several rods from the shore, in the water.

'You've a little strength in your arms, neighbor.'

'Some 'punks' in them flippers, stranger. Up in our town, more'n a month ago, I driv them are knuckles like struth thro a board, more'n a nuch 'naff thick!'

'Haw—haw!' shouted his hearers, the man in the green jacket laughing loudest.

'May be you don't 'believe it.'

'Not much,' answered the crowd.

'We aint very green down here in York—'

'I can take and heave you across that river yonder, jest like open and shet.'

'Bet you ten dollars of it.'

'Done said the Yankee; and drawing forth an X, upon a broken down-east bank, he covered the bragger's shimplaster.

'Kin you swim, feller?'

'Like a duck,' said green jacket; and, without further parley, the Vermont seized the knowing Yorker stoutly by the nape of the neck and the seat of his pants, jerked him from his foothold, and with an almost superhuman effort dashed the bully heels over head from the dock, some ten yards out into the Hudson River.

A terrific shout rang through the crowd, as he floundered into the water, and amid the jeers and screams of his companions, the ducked bully put back to the shore and scrambled up the bank, half frozen, by this sudden and involuntary cold bath.

'I'll take that ten spot, if you please,' said the shivering loafer, advancing rapidly to the stake holders. 'You took us for green horns, eh? We'll show you how to do things down here in York!'—and the fellow claimed the twenty dollars.

'Wal, I reck'ns you want take no ten spot jes' yet' cap'n.'

'Why? You've lost the bet.'

'Not edactly. I didn't kalkilate on deum it the first time—but I tell you I kin deu it'—and in spite of the loafer's utmost effort to escape him, he seized him by the scruff and the seat of his overalls, and pitched him three yards further into the river than upon the first trial!

Again the bully returned, amid the shouts of his mates, who enjoyed the sport immensely.

'Third time never fails,' said the Yankee stripping off his coat, 'I kin deu it, I tell ye.'

'Hold on!' said the almost petrified victim—

'And I will deu it—if I try till to-morrow mornin.'

'I give it up!' shouted the sufferer, between his teeth, which now chattered like a mad badger's—'take the money.'

The Vermont very coolly pocketed the ten spot, and as he turned away remarked—

'We aint much acquainted with your smart folks down here'n York, but we sometimes take the starch out of 'em up our way—and 'praps you want try it on tu strangers agin. I reck'n you want,' he continued, and putting on a broad grin of good humor, he left the company to their reflections.

Female Society.

No society is more profitable, because, none more refined and provocative of virtue, than that of a refined and sensible woman. God enshrined peculiar goodness in the form of woman, that her beauty might win, her gentle voice invite, and the desire of her favor persuade men's souls to leave the path of sinful strife for the ways of pleasantness and peace. But when woman falls from her blessed eminence, and sinks the guardian and the cherisher of pure and rational enjoyments into the vain coquette and flattered idolator of fashion, she is unworthy of an honorable man's admiration. Beauty is then but at best

—A pretty plaything;
—Dear ocean.

We honor the chivalrous deference which is paid in our land to woman. It proves that our men know how to respect virtue and pure affection, and that our women are worthy of such respect. Yet woman should be something more than mere woman to win us to their society. To be our companions they should be fitted to be our friends; to rule our hearts they should be deserving the approbation of our minds. There are many such, and that there are no more, is rather the fault of our own sex than their own; and despite all the unmanly scandals that have been thrown upon them, in prose and verse, they would rather share in the rational conversation of men of sense, than listen to the silly compliments of fools; and a man dishonors them as well as disgraces himself, when he seeks their circle for pastimes, and not the improvements of his mind and the elevation of his heart.

The Humming Bird.

Where is the person, who, on observing this glittering fragment of the rainbow, would not pause, admire, and instantly turn his mind with reverence towards the Almighty Creator, the wonders of whose hand we are at every step discovering, and of whose sublime conceptions we everywhere observe the manifestations in his admirable system of creation? There breathes not such a person; so kindly have we all been blessed with that intuitive and noble feeling—admiration!

No sooner has the returning sun again introduced the vernal season, and caused millions of plants to expand their leaves and blossoms to his genial beams, than the little Humming Bird is seen advancing on fairy wings, carefully visiting every opening flower-cup, and, like a curious florist removing from each the injurious insects that otherwise would ere long cause their beauteous petals to droop and decay. Poised in the air, it is observed peeping cautiously, and with sparkling eye, into their innermost recesses, whilst the ethereal motions of its pinions, so rapid and so light, appear to fan and cool the flower, without injuring its fragile texture, and produce a delightful murmuring sound, well adapted for lulling the insects to repose.

The prairies, the fields, the orchards and gardens, nay, the deepest shades of the forest, are all visited in their turn, and everywhere the little bird meets pleasure and with food. Its gorgeous throat in beauty and brilliancy baffles all competition. Now it glows with a fiery hue, and again it is changed to the deepest velvety black. The upper parts of its delicate body are of resplendent changing green; and it throws itself through the air with a swiftness and vivacity hardly conceivable. It moves from one flower to another like a gleam of light, upwards, downwards, to the right, and to the left. In this manner it searches the extreme northern portions of our country, following with great precaution the advances of the season, and retreats with equal care at the approach of autumn.—Audubon.

'Oh! It's so Cheap.'

There are a great many people in this world, who are forever buying articles they don't want, because, as they say, the things are 'so cheap.' The ladies (we beg their pardon for speaking plainly) are particularly liable to this weakness. If, in shopping, they see a ribbon they think a bargain, out comes their purse. If they go to a cabinet-maker to purchase a candle, and chance to find there a cheap bureau, they cannot resist the temptation to have the latter also. In a similar way they buy dresses, that they do not want; fancy articles that are useless to them even for ornament; cutlery, china, cut-glass and other house-hold articles; and all because they are 'so cheap.' An auction is a sort of a holiday for such ladies. They flock to sales of this description, like crows to a corn-field, and are quite as clamorous when there; for they religiously believe, that whatever is purchased at auction, cannot but be cheap. In time, the dwellings of these good creatures becomes mere magazines of lumber, like the Old Curiosity Shop, or the house of Crook, of immortal memory. The passion to buy cheap things can rarely, with such ladies, be curbed. Vain is it to tell them that anything is dear which one does not want; they answer that 'it will come into play some time or other;' and so they go on, to the end of the chapter, spending the money of their husbands and filling their homes with break-shin knick-knacks. Many a man, alas! has learned to sigh at the words, 'it's so cheap.'—Brookley (N. Y.) Eagle.

Keep Trying.

When the poor boy Whittington heard the London bells admonishing him to return and be Lord Mayor, his heart was upon making a direct trial of faith, while at the same time a glow of ambition warmed his heart. He had suffered all the ills of petty tyranny, and in despair was about to adopt the life of a vagabond, when the warning came to him: a new feeling instantly took possession of his mind and he resolved to make an effort on his own behalf; he did so, and as the story goes, a little turn of good luck set him on the road to a fortune, and eventually made him Lord Mayor indeed.

Here is a moral for old and young. Let all those who have been kicked black and blue by the foot of misfortune, resolve to endure it no longer, but make a new effort. If one thing goes crooked, try another, and if need be, another, but by all means have faith, be honest, and 'keep trying,' with a good heart and firm resolution, and our word for it, you will succeed at last!

For the Patriot.

The Constitution.

MR GREEN:—If the advocates of an unequal representation in the House of Representatives, as proposed by the late Convention, would give a fair interpretation of the language they comment upon, less ink would be shed and your columns would be less burdened with communications which seem designed to distract rather than enlighten the public mind. We do not perceive where we have made "assertion take the place of argument" or concerned ourselves about the temper of "A Democrat," or the democracy of Gov. Morton. The Whigs have been accused of a factious opposition to the proposed Constitution, which means, we suppose, an opposition having no foundation in reason and justice.

"Junius" reiterates the charge, and in answer to this we stated the opposition was not wholly confined to Whigs, and instanced the case of Judge Morton, a prominent and consistent Democrat; this was an assertion which required no argument to sustain it, as it was a fact which could not be, and is not, denied, and not a very pleasant one to some writers on this subject. Our view is even sustained by "Junius" himself, notwithstanding his ranting about the Whigs, for he says some of them advocated the "most sweeping changes" in Convention, but when he finds he is getting into difficulty by the acknowledgment, he attempts to jump out of his trouble by saying when the Convention had adjourned, "they opened their batteries against the new Constitution; and here he substitutes assertion for argument and fact, with nothing to sustain it; for he does not point to a single instance where a Whig had opposed any measure, he had voted for and advocated in Convention, after it had adjourned.

We have additional proof of the correctness of the view we have taken of this controversy, in your paper of the 17th inst., in which a Whig comes out in favor of the new Constitution; he, good easy soul, is not probably one of the hard shells, he is willing to swallow any sort of pill, no matter what is inside of it, if it is only coated with sugar. We commend him to the good fellowship of "Junius."

The opposition of the Whigs is mainly to the basis of representation; and here we hope every true Whig will stand with a firmness that cannot be shaken; here is the contest for equal rights, a privilege that was transmitted to us by our fathers, and shall we not sustain it? Will any Democrat vote for a Constitution which gives the government of the State to one third of the people? Is this "the greatest good to the greatest number," which Democrats have declared in all their platforms and public assemblies to be a cardinal point in their creed? They claim to be the party of the people, and that equal rights is the basis upon which their party stands, and yet to gratify a few ambitious men who strive to monopolize the public offices, they are required to yield this vital principle of their organization, and in effect, to deprive a large portion of their fellow citizens of the rights that belong to them as freemen. If Democrats do this, and we trust they will not, let us hear no more from them of the right of the people to an equal share in the government under which they live. Why are they called upon to make the sacrifice; merely because small towns can be more easily managed by politicians than large ones.

We stated if Hancock and Adams were alive they would tell us, "taxation" without equal representation is "tyranny;" in this "Junius" says we were unfortunate because they were leading men in the Convention of 1780; does he mean to say they were opposed to this sentiment, and sanctioned any constitution that upheld an opposite principle? It would be a libel on their fair fame to make such an assertion. The Constitution of 1780 does not give the power of the State to a minority of the people, it provides, Chap. I, Sec. 3, that there shall be "a representation of the people founded upon the principle of equality," that was the corner stone of it; and although it allowed towns of less than one hundred and fifty taxable polls to send a representative to the legislature, yet those small towns were not sufficiently numerous to effect materially the principle of equality, had it been the whole tenor of the lives of those patriots, is a sufficient guarantee, they never would have acceded to it.

We are told we ought not to compare the system of representation in the new Constitution to the Rotten Borough system of England, because the system there was made by grants from the king; now the question is not how the Rotten Borough system originated but what it is, we have stated it to be that place (acres) is represented without regard to population, a manifest departure from the popular principle of our republican institutions, the analogy between the system in England and that in the proposed Constitution is perfect, and that analogy is not destroyed or lessened, because in one case the system originated with a king, and in the other with a republic. Our fathers resisted the oppression of the British Government, but the same acts which they resisted would have been oppression whether enforced by a republic or a monarchy; it would be a strange position to assume that the principles of right and wrong are controlled and qualified by the power that uses them; principles are immutable, wherever they are applied. "Junius" thinks there can be no Rotten Boroughs without a patron; he argues upon the incidents, and overlooks the principle, puts the modus for the substantive proposition, and draws his conclusions without touching the original point in controversy; a species of argument quite familiar with new foggism and reform logic. We can find a patron for the system in the Coalition party here; but perhaps the genius of modern reform would be better suited to import one, as they sometimes do these orators, from the other side of the Atlantic.

But, says this writer, we are bound to show that the present Constitution is better than the one proposed, this is not the issue, we advocate inequality in neither, the Convention was called professedly to correct the Constitution in this particular, instead of doing this they present a plan more unequal than the one they undertook to reform. Why are not the several articles in the proposed Constitution presented to the people in separate propositions, that they might decide upon each? Were its authors afraid to leave it to the independent votes of the people to decide upon the merits of each amendment, without being tied up with others, which they disappear.

Among the items of the expense attending the Convention, was thirty thousand dollars for printing and reporting their doings. Within a few weeks we shall be called upon to give our votes on the important question of changing the fundamental law of the land, and the subject has not yet been fairly laid before the public. Why are not the documents circulated that is to enlighten and direct public sentiment? Let the proposed

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—Various articles for inside, Pearl and prepared Barkley, Farina, Grouse, cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Glauca, Fasto, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mattress, Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st, rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1.

REMOVAL.

New Store and New Goods!!

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public, that they have removed from the Store formerly occupied by them, on Washington street, to the new building recently erected by Dr. L. Goodnow, corner of

HANCOCK & GRANITE STREETS, QUINCY.

where they intend to keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Fancy & Domestic Dry Goods,

well adapted to the wants of the community; at all times, can be found a good assortment of Prints, Ginghams, DeLaines, Cashmeres, Alpaccas, and a great variety of

Dress Goods and Shawls,

Sheetings, Shirts, Flannels, Blankets, with a good assortment of such articles as are usually found in a well selected stock of DRY GOODS.

Also—In connection with the above, can at all times be found, a large stock of

Ready Made Clothing,

Gents Furnishing Goods,

with a great variety of Black and Fancy Cloths, Cuzumbers, Doekins and Vestings, of the most Fashionable Styles, which will be manufactured into Garments at fair prices and in

STYLE, FIT, AND WORKMANSHIP

Satisfaction guaranteed to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. Grateful for past favors, a continuance and increase of the same, is most respectfully solicited.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,

Corner Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy, April 30, 1853.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,

ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.

OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, sea-sickness, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficult, peculiar, and malarious, drags, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that impure condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors, and is the cause of so frequently the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in vogue; they are not—shockingly Vegetable—some debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY,

Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st. (opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON.

Boston, May 6, 1853. 52 48-1y

DR. S. STOCKING,

DENTAL SURGEON,

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masterpieces of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely cure, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows:

For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle,—firm, useful, and easy to be worn—from $35 00 to 75 00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from 12 00 to 40 00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from 1 50 to 3 50 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood pivots—from 1 50 to 2 50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2 50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts.; without it, 25 cts. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 54 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Beattle Street, Boston.

Boston, Feb. 27, 1853. 11—9mo3

Copartnership Notice.

THE Subscribers have this day formed a Partnership, under the firm of W. & H. ABERCROMBIE, for the purpose of furnishing the Citizens of Quincy and vicinity, with ENGLISH and W. I. GOODS, GROCERIES, &c. at the Store head of navigation. Ever grateful for the liberal patronage received, we are in hopes to merit a continuance of the same.

WYMAN ABERCROMBIE.

HORACE ABERCROMBIE.

Quincy, March 19, 1853.

Constitution be sent to every hamlet in the State, and we shall then know if the people are ready to abandon the first principles of a republican government, that equality in representation is the only basis upon which we can remain a free and independent people. If we yield the principle now, there is little hope that any Convention, arranged by the minority of the people in 1856, will restore it to us again.

QUINCY.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, October 1, 1853.

BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE.

DORCHESTER AVENUE. The subscription, in aid of making this road free, is now short from eight hundred dollars, to fifteen hundred dollars, which sum must be raised, or it will not be safe to call the County Commissioners. The citizens of Dorchester, generally, have subscribed very liberally, and it is thought by them, that expressmen and others of Quincy, Weymouth, Braintree, Hingham, Randolph &c., should make up the deficiency. Many from the above named towns, are engaged in the express, freighting, and other kinds of business, who pass over the road daily, are paying from ten to one hundred dollars per annum, and if they will come forward with others, who use the road, and subscribe a year or two in advance to it, they and the entire community shall, as it belongs to them, have a free road to Boston. Thanks are due to Thompson's Express, and to Messrs. Cushing, of Hingham, for the examples set by them, by subscribing one hundred dollars each. If all others will follow their example in proportion to their interest in the matter, the work is done. Come friends, now is the time to strike, now the iron is hot, one more blow and the noble enterprise of securing to yourselves, and posterity a free road to Boston, will be completely successful.

QUINCY LYCEUM. At a meeting of this institution, held on Tuesday evening last, the following gentlemen were chosen officers for the year ensuing, viz:—

President—Gideon F. Thayer.
Vice President—Edwin W. Marsh.
Treasurer—Seth Adams.
Secretary—James White.

Curators—Francis Johnson, Wyman Abercrombie and Benjamin Curtis.

The above gentlemen will please be present next Tuesday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock, in the Lyceum Room.

ROBERT. On Tuesday night last, the Clothing and Tailoring establishment of Mr. John Dinegan of this town was entered by forcing the rear door, and Cloth, Ready Made Clothing, etc., stolen to the amount of twenty-five hundred dollars. A suitable reward will be paid for the recovery of the property and the detection of the rogues. The loss must fall quite hard upon Mr. Dinegan, he having just purchased his Fall and Winter stock, and it therefore behoves the public to lend him a helping hand, as we learn he will make an effort to re-commence operations in a few days.

WAGE NOMINATIONS. At the State Convention of the Whigs, held during the present week, Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, presiding, Hon. Henry Washburn of Worcester, was selected as the candidate for Governor, and the Hon. William C. Plunkett of Adams, nominated as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. A large delegation was present, representing all sections of the State, and much enthusiasm seemed to prevail.

LITTLE'S LIVING AGE. This standard and valuable publication is duly received. Its pages are richly stored with the choicest literature, and we know of no work so well worthy of general patronage.

The Ladies' Wealth and Parlor Annual is the name of an excellent family magazine, edited by Helen Irving, and published in the City of New York at one dollar per year.

TO READERS. The calls of our advertising friends cramp the room devoted to reading matter. Our news friends must be charitable for a short time as advertisers are now having a harvest, and we hope a rich one.

POSTMASTER AT QUINCY. On Saturday morning last, Daniel French, Esq., received his commission as Postmaster, to succeed Francis Williams, Esq., who, it is stated, had previously resigned. Mr. French was first appointed during the administration of John Quincy Adams, on the death of Mr. Mottram Vesey, and continued in the office until removed about three years since, when Dr. William B. Bagbee succeeded him. Mr. French, though somewhat advanced in years, yet from his long experience and assiduity of character, will give general satisfaction.

We understand, that, for the present, the Postoffice will still be kept in the building now used for the purpose.

The Tiger Engine Company will meet at their Hall, next MONDAY EVENING, at 5 o'clock precisely, instead of sunset as heretofore. The fine members are requested to be present at 7 o'clock.

For the Patriot.

House of Representatives.

I propose to occupy a brief space in considering the proposed amendment to the Constitution touching the basis of representation.

Before we can properly understand the amendment it is necessary to examine the present system of representation. I will consider first what this system has already done and secondly, what it will do, unless the people shall arrest it in its destructive career. By the 13th Article of Amendment, adopted in 1840, a new principle was introduced into the representative system of this Commonwealth—a principle destructive to that system of representation which had existed for two hundred years. Prior to that time every town was entitled to a representative. This insidious principle was incorporated into the Constitution in 1840, that hey-day of the Whig Party. What has been the practical result of that provision? Why this, 130 towns have lost the dearest and highest right enjoyed by them—annual representation. That high function whereby the town was attached to the State and identified with it, imparting a knowledge of its condition, and entwining its interests and affections about it, this function I say has been broken down, impaired and nearly destroyed in 130 towns. So that there are nearly fifty thousand inhabitants who are denied that high republican and democratic right—a right to participate in framing the laws by which they are to be governed. Yes, every year, there are nearly fifty thousand inhabitants who are disfranchised and have no voice in the House of Representatives. Surely this is a grievance intolerable in itself—enough to move the stones to rise, and mutiny.

This, however, is not the worst feature. In proportion to the loss of representation by the towns has been the gain to the cities. It is bad enough to lose so dear a privilege, but to see it given as a sacrifice to Moloch, is doubly grievous. Two hundred representatives were transferred from the agricultural districts to the Counties containing the four large cities between 1840 and 1850. Thus on an average the small towns have lost twenty representatives a year and the cities have gained twenty a year. Now if this gain was proportional to the gain of inhabitants it would not be so hard but the truth is, all the counties but one gained largely in population and only four counties gained in representation—and those four contained the large cities. Political power has thus been transferred from the rural parts of the State to the cities. This might be borne with if the cities were restricted. Now a voter in Boston in ten years votes for 440 representatives while a voter in Braintree, votes for only ten representatives, in the same time. The town of Randolph with 4678 inhabitants is entitled to one representative a year and her voters, vote for ten representatives in ten years; while in the city of Boston every 3154 inhabitants is entitled to a representative, nearly fifteen hundred less. Now run that out and it will be seen that Boston gains on that fraction over Randolph fifteen representatives each year—and each voter, recollect, votes for 440 representatives in ten years. Is not this a monstrous wrong? By the general ticket system the representative power of a voter in Boston is 44 times greater than that of a voter of Randolph.

Look at this subject, however, in another light. At the last election, 29,000 voters elected a majority of the House of Representatives, that majority in the House elected a large part of the Senators, and the two Houses so elected, chose the present Chief Magistrate of the State. While 33,000 voters elected the minority in the House. Thus it will be seen that the minority rules the majority in all branches of the Government. While under the amended Constitution the minority can never control but one branch, that is the House, even if it can that.

This is what has been done. If we enter into a calculation based upon data furnished by the results of the first ten years of the existence and operation of that pernicious provision introduced in 1840, we shall find that within one generation, nearly two hundred towns will be deprived of annual representation, and more than one hundred thousand inhabitants will be unrepresented each year in the House of Representatives. Shall we reject the proposed amendment and thereby annually disfranchise one hundred thousand inhabitants? A voter in Braintree will vote for ten representatives in ten years, while a voter in Boston will vote for 550 representatives in ten years. This simple statement of the operation of the present system of representation is enough to condemn it to everlasting infamy. Yet there are men so devoid of republican principles, so shameless, so greedy of power over their fellow men, that they are seeking to perpetuate this monstrous system of injustice.

A DEMOCRAT.

Stoves. Returned Californians, and all others, in want of Stoves are referred to the advertisement of N. Mason in this paper. He has the unexcelled Cooking Stove, called the Gold Hunter, newly invented, and said to be superior to all others. Also, a large and well selected stock of Stoves, Grates, Ranges, etc., etc.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The cattle train which came down over the Boston, Concord, and Montreal railroad, a few days since consisted of one hundred and twenty-five cars, loaded with cattle and sheep.

Counterfeit Five dollar bills of the Fall River Bank, (Mass.,) have just been put in circulation.

Rum is like death—it levels all distinctions. A member of Congress with a 'brick in his hat,' would as soon fraternize with a chimney sweep as a foreign envoy.

The original Robespierre guillotine—the machine, framework, knife and basket—was sold at auction, in Paris, for fifty francs, and burnt directly afterwards.

Coffee grounds around the roots of the peach tree are said to be a remedy for the peach worm.

The quantity of water consumed daily in London is equal to the contents of a lake fifty acres in extent and of a mean depth of three feet.

Some workmen engaged the other day in sawing a locust log in Poughkeepsie, (N. Y.) found a large toad snugly secreted in the centre, which was alive, and weighed 7 1-2 pounds. The log is perfectly sound, and is supposed to be one hundred years old.

Lake Superior is, in some places, near a thousand feet deep.

Since 1802, fourteen hundred cadets have graduated from West Point. Gen. Joseph G. Swift, who headed the list of 1802, is still living, and in excellent health.

It is estimated that not less than four millions of dollars have been spent by Southerners this summer in sight-seeing and dissipation at the North.

A decree has been promulgated in Mexico by Santa Anna for the suppression of vagrancy. It is very severe. Vagrants of the requisite age and stature are to be incorporated in the armies and navy of the Republic, others are to be sent to houses of correction and hospitals, &c.

The public revenue of France with forty millions of people, is about forty-eight millions sterling; that of Great Britain and Ireland, with twenty-eight millions, amounts to fifty-two millions.

One of the huge granite boulders on the summit of Mt. Washington, has been selected and set aside for the apex or crowning stone of the Washington Monument, and measures will be immediately taken to have this gigantic stone on its way to the National Capital.

The Maine Legislative Committee on the subject of purchasing the Massachusetts lands, voted twenty-four in favor of recommending the purchase of the lands to four against.

Antioch College, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, will be dedicated on the 5th inst. Hon. Horace Mann will deliver the dedicatory address, whose inauguration as President will take place on the same day.

The law relative to railroads passed by the last session of the Connecticut Legislature, making it necessary for all trains to come to a full stop at drawbridges, railroad crossings, &c. &c., went into effect on the first of last month.

A despatch from New Orleans, says the weather has become decidedly more cool, and business is reviving. The deaths for the week ending 24th ult., were 263, of which 125 were by yellow fever.

A driver in Cincinnati has been fined twenty-five dollars for driving against a pedestrian who was crossing the street. The judge ruled that at all regular street crossings pedestrians have the right of way, and that the law requires a driver to hold up when he sees a foot passenger crossing in front of his team.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 28th ult., Margaret, wife of Mr. Joseph Corliss, aged 29 years.

On the 21st ult., William H., son of Mr. William and Mrs. Sarah C. Hayden, aged 7 years.

We laid thee in the softest spot,
That sorrowing love could choose,
Where gently blows the passing breeze,
Where fall the early dews,
Where brightest flowers of early spring,
In fragrant beauty bloom,
And droop their soft sweet heads, as if
In sorrow o'er thy tomb!
Yet dreary is the softest grave
And earthy flowers of brightest hue,
Will ever soonest fade.

But thou art gone where calmly blow
The pure sweet airs of heaven,
Where round thy bright celestial brow
Immortal wreaths are woven—
For faith in that one name alone
That erring man can save,
Or give the prisoned soul release
And triumph o'er the grave,
Has clothed thy new-born soul in robes
Of righteousness and love,
And, like the Prophet's chariot-flame,
Has waited there above.

How sweet the blessed tones that steal
From o'er thy early grave!
How glad the ransomed voices breathe
To him who died to save!
We will not weep that thou art dead,
Thou loved and lovely one!
We will not sorrow o'er the voice
That called thee to thy home!
We will not grieve that thou hast flown
From this that met thee here,
To him who health every pain,
And wipeth every tear!

In this town on the 20th ult., Henry T. son of Mr. Robert T. and Mrs. Sarah F. Bicknell, aged 10 months.

He was my only boy!

A gem within the casket of my heart, Priceless and precious as the gush of joy
That from its fountains start.

How has the silken cord
Of my unspoken love been round him thrown Binding to pure affection every word
And smile his lip had known.

I know my bright-eyed boy
Is nestling in the lovely Saviour's breast;
I hear him join the swelling song of joy,
In that sweet world of rest.

Then cease, my heart, thy wail,
Here be thy anchor from the storm of grief,
Let His unfulfilling promises prevail,
And prayer be my relief.

A CARD.

The Niagara Engine Company, of Quincy, hereby return their thanks to the citizens of Weymouth Landing, who aided and assisted them at the late fire in that place, and who furnished refreshments, Mr. Gilman Thompson being one of the number, will long be remembered for their generosity. To the gentleman dressed in the oil cloth suit, whose name is not known, the Niagara Company would return many thanks for his untiring efforts in working the machine. To Henry A. Ransom, of Quincy, whose "smiles" warmed and enlivened us during our hours of labor on that occasion, merits and receives the firm's cordial greeting. Per order,
W. M. FRENCH, Foreman.
SETH CRANE, Secretary.

Special Notices.

NOTICE. The Democrats of Quincy are requested to meet at Lyceum Hall, on SATURDAY EVENING, Oct. 1st, at 8 o'clock, to select Delegates to represent this Town in the County Convention which meets at Dedham, on the 4th inst. Per order.

QUINCY LYCEUM. A meeting of this institution will be held in the Lyceum Room, on TUESDAY EVENING next, Oct. 4th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the transaction of business. Per order.

J. B. BASS, Secretary.

A meeting of Niagara Engine Company, No. 1, will be held at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Oct. 3d, at 8 o'clock.

Per order of the Foreman, SETH CRANE, Clerk.
Quincy, Oct. 1st, 1853.

The semi-annual meeting of the Trustees of the Quincy Savings Bank, will be held at the Selectmen's Room, in the Town House, on TUESDAY, the fourth day of October, inst., at 3 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of declaring a Dividend, and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before them.

I. W. MUNROE, Treasurer.
Quincy, Oct. 1, 1853.

COUNTY CONVENTION. The National Democrats of Norfolk County, will hold their annual convention at the Phoenix House, Dedham, on the 4th day of October, inst., at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of selecting suitable candidates for Senators to represent this County in the next Legislature of this State, and to transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting.

The several towns are requested to send one Delegate, and one additional for every twenty-five votes cast for Democratic Presidential Electors at the last election.

Per order of the County Committee,
JOHN FISHER, Chairman.
GROVER BROWN, Secretary.
Dedham, Oct. 1st, 1853.

FURNITURE.—A favorable opportunity is now offered to the public for selecting their Furniture from the most unique styles of modern manufacture, at Geo. SAVIL & Co's large and well filled FURNITURE HALL. Their articles were made to order, and will be sold cheaper than can be bought in the City of Boston.

Call and see the proprietors of this Hall, they are ever ready, courteously, to wait on all who may visit them, and intend to sell so that bargains may be obtained.

Executors' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that the Subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the Will of EZRA BEALS, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Yeoman, deceased, and have accepted said trust.

All persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto, to make payment to HORACE BEALS,
NATHANIEL H. BEALS, } Executors.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Copartnership Notice.

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and the public generally, that they have heretofore formed a Copartnership, under the name and style of the Quincy Granite Company, for the purpose of carrying on the Stone business, upon the premises in Quincy, occupied by the late firm of Richards, Mann & Co. And that they have secured the services of Mr. JOHN S. LYONS, who is authorized to act as the Agent for the Company.

SAMUEL J. LYONS,
JASPER H. BURLEY,
JAMES JONES,
LORENZO D. GOODRIDGE,
T. LEWIS WORTHY C. HORN.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Wanted,

PANTALOON and VEST Makers at D. D. KING'S Tailor's Shop. Apply immediately.

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satanic License; by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilsen, the Rumseller's Victim. Founded on fact. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, October 1.

A List of Letters,

REMAINING in the Post Office, at Quincy, (Mass.), Oct. 1st, 1853.

Applicants for these Letters will please say they are advertised.

Arts, George E. Kilbrith, John W.
Alpough, A. N. Kenedy, Matthew Buchan, W. Littlefield, Samuel 2
Bass, George W. Lewis, William Burns, Michael Lucas, John S.
Ballard, Edward P. Maher, Thomas
Brown, David M. Mitchell, Henry Bridge, Sarah McKendry, Davis 3
Burns, Lorenzo McCarthy, Richard
Blanchard David I. McManus, T.
Bruce, Robert McKenna, Hugh Bryant, James Manson, Frederick
Connor, Annie Manning, F. 2
Christenson, Anders Moore, Alexis W.
Chamberlain, Wm. Moss, Benjamin
Chase, N. O. Mullen, Patrick
Curran, Thos. F. 2 Mooney, Susan Connor, John Morris, Margaret
Crosby, Wm. Nightingale, Mr.
Carey, John Fitzpatrick, Ellen 2
Carpenter, Thomas Newcomb, Samuel E.
Doyne, John R. 2 Nash, P. & G.
Dubrah, John O'Keef, Mary O. 3
Dunn, John G. O'Brien, Mrs.
French, Levi 2 Pease, Benj. F.
Fitzpatrick, Ellen Peaseley, George M.
Faulow, Mr. J. Pool, John J.
Faxon, Mrs. Joseph Perkins, Daniel Fitzgerald, Hannah Pike, Ellen S.
Fitzgibbons, James Rordan, Wm.
Gardner, James Robinson, Samuel R.
Gardfield, Fred. H. Ryan, Wm.
Grew, Daniel Reed, Eleazer
Halloran, Samuel 2 Ryan, Mrs.
Hammond, Philip Segue, Mr.
Harriman, Lewis Sheedy, John
Herrick, James Swift, Mr. John Holmes, John W. Shaugnessy, Andrew Hurley, Ellen Spear Charles A.
Hurley, James Stables, Thomas
Hershey, Noah Sullivan, Daniel Hughes, James Smith, John Wells, Edward Smith, John Jordan, Steward Sumner, Wm.
Jackinberry, John Steal, Joseph
Jones, T. M. Smith, Sophia
Knowl, Margaret Thompson, Mrs. Albert Kenny, Barney Wheeler, Rebecca Wilkinson, William
Young, J. L.
Francis Williams, Postmaster.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

A CARD.

TO THE PUBLIC!

J. A. HOLDEN,

WOULD inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has Just Replenished his Stock, with a choice selection of Goods, suitable for the Autumn and Winter of 1853 and 4.

He invites the attention of such as expect punctuality and good workmanship, for cash only, such being his rule of business, to call at the store, at which he sells, rendering any other mode of doing business impracticable.

His clothes will always be made with all his own hands, and he is anxious to have the garments made by his hands to ADVERTISE THEMSELVES. Those studios to combine elegance with economy, will do well and wisely to visit with a call.

Remember he is not to be undersold by any other establishment, style, quality and finish considered.
Quincy, October 1.

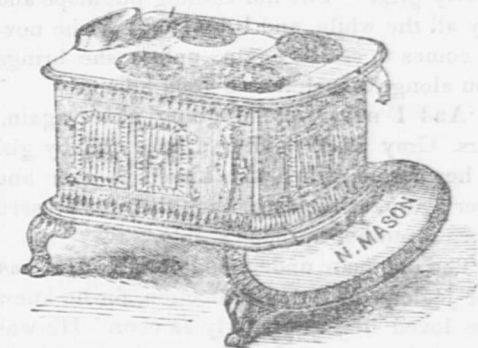

For Sale.

JUST landed from Hong Maria, from Bahama, 250 tons Chamberlain Coal, a prime article for Smiths and steam purposes.
PRESTON & CURTIS.
Neponset, October 1.

Executrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the Will of THOMAS HAYDEN, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Cordwainer, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to ESTHER HAYDEN, Executrix.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.

THE greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is contained in this Cooking Stove. The peculiar construction of the Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most scientific Cooking Stove now offered in the market. The flues around the oven are so constructed, that it will bake in twenty minutes from the time of lighting the coal, and with wood much quicker; and the peculiar mode of cleaning the flues, when they get filled with soot, makes this a PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.

We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their names. The following named gentlemen are a few among the number who have used this Stove: Washington T. Boston—house, Dunn Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle st.,—house Cambridge; S. Chism, printer, 210 Washington st., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn st., New York; John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston—house, 100 Westchester st., Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byss, Portland et., and many others too numerous to mention.

Those in want of THE BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere. Also, the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.

NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street.
Boston, October 1.

Furniture, Groceries, etc.

AT AUCTION.

WILL be sold without reserve, at public auction, on THURSDAY, Oct. 6th, at 1 1-2 o'clock, P. M., at the store of Faxon & Brothers, a general assortment of Household Furniture, etc., consisting of

2 Cooking Stoves, No. 3, 4 Cylinder Stoves,
2 new Boilers for do. 4 Coal Hods,
5 Bedsteads, Stove Funnel,
2 Bureaux, Cloth's Horse,
3 extra Glass Lanterns, Hay Cutter,
4 Feather Beds, 3 Horse Collars,
1 Cot Bedstead, 4 Chaise Whips,
3 Timepieces, Cutting Bench,

25 pair Boot Forms and Screws,
8 Looking Glasses, Meat Saw,
6 new Case Seat Chairs, 2 sets Root-trees,
200 pounds Sole Leather Roundings,

Dining Table, 3 Pork Barrels, Carpet and Bedspread, 1 pr Steelyards,
Extra Sausage Machine, 2 Planes
4 Manure Forks

Also—An assortment of WEST INDIA GOODS, GROCERIES, and many articles too numerous to mention.

N. B. Persons having Furniture or Merchandise, of any description, which they wish to dispose of, will please forward to the above Store, and the same will be offered for sale.

H. H. FAXON, Auctioneer.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

To Let,

2 TENEMENTS, suitable for small families. Apply to J. & H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Mount Wollaston Bank.

THE second instalment of fifty dollars per share of the Stock of this Bank, will be payable at the Banking Room, in Quincy, on MONDAY, the fourth day of October next, at which meeting the Per order of the Directors
LOUIS CONGDON, Cashier.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Mount Wollaston Bank.

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Mount Wollaston Bank, will be held at their Banking Room, on TUESDAY, the fourth day of October next, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Directors, and for the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.
LOUIS CONGDON, Cashier.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Insolvency Notice.

NORFOLK SS.
IN INSOLVENCY.
BEFORE SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esquire, Commissioner of the Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, in the matter of JAMES W. KINGMAN, of Weymouth, in said County, Bank Maker, Insolvent Debtor.

Notice is hereby given, that the third meeting of the Creditors of said Kingman, will be held at the office of Samuel B. Noyes, Esq., in Canton, in said County, on the fourteenth day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting Creditors may be present and prove their claims.

SILAS BINNEY, Assignee.
Sept. 24.

Real Estate

AT AUCTION!
THE valuable Estate, owned and occupied by WILLIAM NASH, beautifully situated in Quincy, on Washington street, will be sold at Auction, on THURSDAY, the 20th of October next, at 4 o'clock P. M., on the premises. This Estate contains three acres of good land, a part of which is well stocked with about 100 Fruit Trees, in good bearing order, a two story house, and a large stable; the House contains 11 rooms, finished on the best manner, heated by a furnace. There is on the place a good well of water. This Estate is situated within a few minutes ride of the Depot, and a short distance from Churches and Schools. Every thing is requisite to make it a desirable and pleasant country residence. There is a salt river near for bathing.

Terms made known at sale.
Also—A lot of Land situated opposite the above premises, containing about one acre, and is a beautiful spot for a Building Lot.

Both of these Estates are situated on the main street to Boston, and expresses pass daily to and from Boston.

GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auctioneer.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Picked up,

A SHORT time since, on the beach, at Haugh's Neck, a small black and white Ship Boat, with a red streak around her; there was a small boat in her, chained to the thwart; there was a dog in her, marked "Lilly Dale." The owner can have the same, by proving property and paying charges.
WILLIAM S. HELCHER.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Rare Chance.

THE Subscribers, intending to leave for the city, offer to lease their Store, and sell the remainder of their Stock upon reasonable terms. The Store is in one of the best locations in town, and now doing a good business. Any one wishing to enter into the West India Goods, Flour and Provision business, will here have an opportunity seldom offered.

FAXON & BROTHERS.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!

DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have never failed in giving relief in one single instance, when they have been taken in time, and according to directions.

If you are afflicted with Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Cholera Morbus, or a disordered stomach, here is a remedy brought within your reach. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectually cured by these celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call and get the Messenger of Health, of

GEORGE W. WHITING,
who is sole Agent for Quincy.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sassafras, Illa, Dandelion, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with hydropotase of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing Humors from the system, for Jaundice, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Limbs, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared on scientific principles, is highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store
GEO. W. WHITING.
Price 50 cents per bottle.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

MESSENGER'S NOTICE.

NORFOLK SS. Canton, Sept. 1.

SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq., Commissioner of the Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, has issued a Warrant against the MELVIN THAYER, of Braintree, in said County, Bank Maker, an Insolvent Debtor, and the payment of any Debts, and the delivery of any Property, belonging to said Insolvent Debtor, to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property, by him are forbidden by law.

A meeting of Poetry.

Life's Seasons.

There is a Spring time of the heart—
'Tis found in infancy—
When on its mother's breast the babe
First smiles in dimpled glee:
When, like the bud upon the stem,
Its life is but begun,
And pearly tear drops flee the eyes
As shadows flee the sun!

There is a Summer of the heart—
'Tis found in early youth—
When life is full of joyousness,
Of innocence and truth:
When clouds but seldom intervene
To mar the sky so bright,
And all is but a fairy scene
Of exquisite delight!

There is a Winter of the heart—
'Tis found in later years—
When life is full of bitterness,
Of vain regretful tears;
When stormy winds and chilling blasts
Blow with so fierce a breath,
That we would fain seek shelter in The anchorage of Death!

When'er the Autumn of the heart
Shall cloud our lives with gloom,
And Winter's cold and chilling blasts
Remind us of the tomb,
If we but act our parts aright
On Time's uncertain stage,
Our souls may know, in purer climes,
A Summer evermore!

The Unguarded Moment.

Yes, my lips to-night have spoken
Words I said they should not speak;
And I would I could recall them—
Would I had not been so weak.
Oh! that our unguarded moment!
Were it mine to live again,
All the strength of its temptation
Would appear to me in vain.

True, my lips have only uttered
What is ever in my heart;
I can happy when beside him,
Wretched when we are apart.
Though I listen to his praises Always longer than I should;
Yet my heart can never hear them
Half so often as it would.

And I would not, could not, pain him,
Would not for his soul offend;
I would have him know I love him
As a brother, as a friend;
But I meant to keep one secret
In my bosom always hid,
For I never meant to tell him
That I loved him—just as I did.

Shopping.

She stood beside the counter,
The day he'll never forget,
She thought the music dear
Than any she'd seen yet;
He watched her playful fingers
The silks and some time
The clerk looked quite uneasy,
And nodded at the boss.

'Show me some velvet ribbon, Barely and satin silk,'
She said, 'I want to purchase.'
Then gave the goods a jerk,
The clerk was all obedience,
He travelled 'on his ship,'
At length, with hesitating
She bought a yard of tape.

Anecdotes.

A little girl being sent to a store to purchase some dye stuff, and forgetting the name of the article, said to the clerk:
'John, what do folks dye with?'
'Dye with?—Why, Cholora, sometimes,' replied John.

'Well, I believe that's the name. I want to get three cents worth.'

An Irish officer of dragoons, on the continent, on hearing that his mother had been married since he quitted Ireland, exclaimed:
'By St. Patrick, there is that mother of mine married again. I hope that she will not have a son older than me, for if she has I shall be out of my estate.'

'Hello, I say what did you say your medicine would cure?'
'Oh, it'll cure anything, heal everything.'
'Ah, we'll take a bottle! May be it'll heal my boots, they need it bad enough.'

A gentleman at a musical party, where the lady was very particular not to have the sweet sounds interrupted, was freezing during the performance of a long concert piece, and asked a friend in a whisper, 'how he should stir the fire without interrupting the music?'
'Between the legs,' replied the friend.

'Did he not make several visits after the patient was out of danger?' was the question of a lawyer in cross-examining a witness called to prove a doctor's bill, in one of our justice's courts.

'No,' replied the witness, 'I thought the patient was in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits.'

An attorney about to furnish a bill of costs, was requested by his client, a baker, to make it as light as he could.
'Ah,' replied the attorney, 'that's what you may say to your foreman, but it's not the way I make my bread.'

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,

HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD and SOFT WOOD.
Quincy, June 11. 1y

Dr. RUGBEE,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1y

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure Old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sickness.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
B. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKETS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING.
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAMCHOWDERS.
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852. 1y

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready-made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE Sts., Quincy
(32-A complete assortment always on hand.)
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work. 38

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853.

KINGSBURY & EMERSON,
Counsellors at Law,
WYNDHAM MASS.
F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.
One at Office, Hollis Institute Buildings, every Tuesday. SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass. 271

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LINDEN ST. N. E.,
Over C. & L. Curtis',
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. 1y

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, April 24, 1y

Bargains.
MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage
de Laines, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite
Streets, Quincy.
The undersigned being desirous of closing the balance of their Stock of
SUMMER GOODS,
will offer the same at a great discount from former prices. Call and examine.
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.
Quincy, July 16, 1853. 1y

INSURANCE.

Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER,
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSURANCE BROKER.

ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office
Quincy, at No. 18 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16. 3m

Auction Notice.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23. 1y

Fishing Poles.

BAMBOOS, Cane Poles and Rattan, constantly
on hand and for sale, wholesale and retail.
Also—Cooper's Stock and Tools.
Also—Harness and Water Casks.
Apply to JOHN LANG,
56 and 57 India Wharf.
Boston, July 9. 3m

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 CENTS.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000
Copies sold in less than five months. A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical
Manual and Hand
Book for the Afflicted.
Containing an outline of the progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, by himself or by a physician, by self advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical terms, and everything that would offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "DR. HUNTER'S
MEDICAL MANUAL." The author of this work
unlike the majority of those who advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the "Medical Manual." Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EXCESS of luxury, I have no doubt of his superior skill and integrity. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate, to state that I have never known him fail in any case, and that his professional skill and integrity they may safely confide in.

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.
This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his son. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the mere nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice. —HERALD.
No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It will save years of pain, mortification and sorrow to the youth under their charge. —PEOPLE'S ADVOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into
the habit of self pollution without realizing the
sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been ruined, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause.
Any thing that can be done to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of strong drink) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker in the good work you so actively engaged in."
Here copy, (securely enveloped) will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address as
(Post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.
Booksellers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Important Discovery.

DR. ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine, sustaining the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCIENCE by the Nutritive Process; expelling dead and depositing living matter at the same time in the Body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power, resisting disease; ample evidence is given in the person of the afflicted.
Dr. H. receives visits, makes examinations, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the PRECISE condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes of his Nutritive fluids and cordials.
Three months attention and treatment is requisite in all cases, with printed instructions for diet and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine, a d kidney—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by the natural laws sustained by nutrition.
He is the inventor and sole proprietor of 12 Nutritive fluids; they can be made by any family—are adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works "Views of the New Theory of Disease," "The Nutritive Process," and "The Human System," are published by the author, his Own Book," are furnished to any family on his supervision. It is now before Congress.

Dr. Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter in person, at his Rooms, No. 15 Union Street, Boston, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
37-39 Medicines &c., forwarded by Express to any part.
Boston, April 16, 1853. 6m

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, Insurance Company, Insure Real Estate and Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the insured;
the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing
support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dugan,
Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson,
Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Marston
of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.,
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq.,
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.
William S. Morton, President. Sec'y, 35c.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVED OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and sold by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

CAUTION.
The celebrity of this article has so quickly obtained that quack persons, without authority, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be DAVIES'
LIQUID HAIR DYE; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus

John Davies
For the Complexion,
TOMPKINS' Orange Flower Lotion, Foncetune's Hair Dressing, "Thousand" Milk of Roses, Ammoniac for Tan Sunburn &c. For sale by
Quincy, May 7. 1y

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & CO.

DRESSING FOR THE HAIR.—Burdett's
Oleaginous Compound, Kitchen and Kenderson's Hair Preservative, Lyon's Katharine; Jules Haend's Pomade; Roderic's; Tompkins', Packard's and Camm's Lustrous; Swan's odoriferous Preservative; Jenny Lind's Hair Gloss; Foster's Mountain Compound, and various other articles for the same purpose, for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.

RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the Marvelous and Miraculous Power of stopping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism. Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The
R. R. R. Remedies consist of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.

RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.
R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.
The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a man well known in Brookline, was a cripple for nine years. Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.
Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.

CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the sufferer from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.
NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
NICK HEADACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in five-teen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Borns, Scalds, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lam-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.

IT CURES
Scrophula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Sore Rickets Salt Rheum
Asthma Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas Tetters

the above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.
It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 2d, 1853. That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his nephews, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrophulous complaint, of many years standing. The poor fellow was a distinguished object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other nephews could not remain in the same place with him.
None of the Doctors could do anything for him.
He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating
Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger.

SCHROFULA.
Mr. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no one would give a third for her life," she was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh of the size of a silver dollar on her whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating Resolvent.

SALT RHEUM.
The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-VENT. One gentleman who supposed that his complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth, was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and the

POISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADICATED
FROM HIS SYSTEM.
IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes sound, healthy and strong, all weak, diseased
and unsound parts.

WEAKNESS.
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and enervated made strong, vigorous and healthy. Impotence and Neurasthenia, Emissions in men, or diseases of either one or more of the genital organs, is quickly removed, and the body restored to a healthy and sound condition.

LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
In WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and the mind NEURVOLS, GLOOMY and DEPRESSED, feel HEALTHY,
STRONG and HAPPY.

Persons wishing this Remedy will please ask for Radway's Renovating Resolvent. Its price is one dollar per bottle. No small bottles, nor is the genuine ever sold for less. Each bottle bears the fac simile signature of
RADWAY & CO.,
162 Fulton street, New York.

R. R. R.—No. 3.
RADWAY'S REGULATORS,
REGULATES TO A HEALTHY ACTION,
All the Organs and Secretions of the Body.
Restores to Health and Strength,
THE DISEASED AND WORN OUT PARTS.
COMPLAINTS THAT RADWAY'S REGULATORS
ENTIRELY CURE.

Costiveness Liver Complaint
Indigestion Heart
Dyspepsia Kidney
Dropsy Urthra
DIFFICULTY OF PASSING URINE.
Dizziness Inflammation of the Stomach
Stupor Biliousness

MELANCHOLY.
Small Pox Measles
Scarlet Fever Yellow Fever
Typhoid Fever
Bilious Pneumonia
AND FEVERS OF ALL KINDS.
Influenza Pleurisy Common Colds
FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
Irregularity Prolapsus Uteri
Hysteria Womb Difficulties
Whites Amenorrhoea

LOSS OF APPETITE.
Loss of Energy,
Loss of Memory,
Loss of Strength.
R. R. REGULATORS
ARE ENTIRELY VEGETABLE,
Perfectly Tasteless,
Good at all times,
Never Sickens,
Never Gripe.

DOSES.
ONE TO THREE—REGULATES.
FOUR TO SIX—PURGES.
One Regulator at Night, on going to bed, will ensure sound sleep, a good morning Rest, and a Healthy and Pleasant Discharge from the Bowels
in the morning.

Radway's Regulators, Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, are sold by Druggists everywhere.
N. B. Persons troubled with Melancholy Depression of Spirits, and every body who feels themselves ill-used by the world without any just cause on their part, should take a few doses of R.
R. Regulators. More unhappiness is caused within us from the want of a healthy and regular action
of our organs, than from any external cause. We promise all who take Radway's Regulators, a regular action of the organs, and a cheerful and happy disposition.

RADWAY & CO.,
Fulton Street, N. Y.
AGENTS.
BURR & PERRY, 1 Cornhill, Boston.
MRS. E. HAYDEN, Quincy.
Aug. 13, 1853.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.
Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked
Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Outdoor, Corn Starch, Broma, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-
on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.
Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum
Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass
Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tubers, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass
and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.
Fresh European Leeches always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st, rear of Stone Temple
Quincy, Nov. 1. 45c

REMOVAL.

New Store and New Good!!
THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public, that they have removed from the Store formerly occupied by them, on Washington street, to the new building recently erected by Dr. L.
Goodnow, corner of HANCOCK & GRANITE STREETS,
QUINCY.

where they intend to keep constantly on hand, a large stock of Fancy & Domestic Dry Goods,
well adapted to the wants of the community; at all times, can be found a good assortment of Trunks, Ginghams, Delaines, Cashmeres, Alpaccas, and a great variety of

Dress Goods and Shawls, Sheetings, Shirtings, Flannels, Blankets, with a good assortment of such articles as are usually found in a well selected stock of DRY GOODS.

Also—In connection with the above, can at all times be found, a large stock of Ready Made Clothing,
and
Gents Furnishing Goods,
with a great variety of Black and Fancy Cloths, Cassimeres, Delaines and Vestings, of the most Fashionable Styles, which will be manufactured into Garments at fair prices and in

STYLE, FIT, AND WORKMANSHIP
Satisfaction guaranteed to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. Grateful for past favors, a continuance and increase of the same, is most respectfully solicited.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,
Corner Hancock and Granite Street.
Quincy, April 30, 1853.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN.
271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hall's), BOSTON.
OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and
all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extensions, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to women, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c.
Also that impure condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use, as they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation,
which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.
J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st.
(opposite Hall's at) BOSTON.
Boston, May 6, 1853. '92 43-1y

DR. S. STOCKING,
DENTAL SURGEON.

Desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body desirous of curing, especially of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masticators of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care,
which are of greater value than artificial ones can
be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows:
For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle, with 50 sets, without it, 25 cts.
—from $25.00 to 75.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from 12.00 to 40.00.
For parts of sets, or more than two teeth—from 1.50 to 3.50 per tooth. For setting in ivory, silver or wood pivots—from 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, either 50 cts. without it, 25 cts.
The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No.
34 Tremont street, up stairs, opposite the head of Beattle Street, Boston.
Boston, Feb. 7, 1853. 11-3mos

Co-partnership Notice.
THE Subscribers have this day formed a Partnership, under the firm of W. & H. ABER-CROMBIE, for the purpose of furnishing the Citizens of Quincy and vicinity, with ENGLISH and W. I. GOODS, GROCERIES, &c., at the Store head of navigation. Ever grateful for the liberal patronage received, we are in hopes to merit a continuance of the same.

WYMAN ABERCROMBIE,
HORACE ABERCROMBIE.
Quincy, March 19, 1853.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1853.

NUMBER XLII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,

Over L. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two Dollars per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE Dollars will be required.

No subscription or advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.

Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.

JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. LOCKE, "Stone Quarries
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVERLY, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Taking Care of Number One

'Every one for himself.' This was one of Lawrence Tilghman's favorite expressions. And it will do him no injustice to say, that he usually acted up to the sentiment in his business transactions and social intercourse; though guardedly, whenever a too manifest exhibition of selfishness was likely to affect him in the estimation of certain parties with whom he wished to stand particularly fair. In all his dealings, this maxim was alone regarded; and he was never satisfied unless, in bargaining, he secured the greater advantage, a thing that pretty generally occurred.

There resided in the same town with Tilghman—a western town—a certain young lady, whose father owned a large amount of property. She was his only child, and would fall heir, at his death, to all his wealth. Of course, this young lady had attractions that were felt by one of the most weighty characters in certain young men in the town, who made themselves as agreeable to her as possible. Among these was Lawrence Tilghman.

'Larry,' said a friend to him one day—'they have been talking about the lady—it's no use for you to play the agreeable to Helen Walcott.'

'And why not, pray?' returned Tilghman.

'They say she's engaged.'

'To whom?'

'To a young man in Columbus, Ohio.'

'Who says so?'

'I can't mention my authority; but it's good.'

'Engaged, ha! Well, I'll break that engagement if there's any virtue in trying.'

'You will?'

'Certainly. Helen will be worth a plump when the old man, her father dies; and I've made up my mind to handle some of his thousands.'

'But, certainly, Larry, you would not attempt to interfere with the marriage contract?'

'I don't believe any contract exists,' replied the young man. 'Anyhow, while a lady is single I regard her as in the market, and to be won by the boldest.'

'Still, we should have some respect for the rights of others.'

'Every one for himself in this world,' replied Tilghman. 'That is my motto. If you don't take care of yourself, you'll be shored to the wall in double quick time.'

Long ago I resolved to put some forty or fifty thousand dollars between myself and the world by marriage, and you may be sure that I will not let this opportunity slip for my consideration. Helen must be mine.'

Additional evidence of the fact that the young lady was under engagement of marriage soon came to the ears of Tilghman. The effect was to produce a closer attention on his part to Helen, who, greatly to his uneasiness did not seem to give him much encouragement, although she always treated him with politeness and attention whenever he called to see her. But it was not true, as Tilghman had heard, that Helen was engaged to a young man in Columbus; though it was true that she was in correspondence with a gentleman named Walker, and that their acquaintance was intimate, and fast approaching a love-like character.

Still she was not indifferent to the former, and, as he showed so strong a preference for her, began, gradually, to feel an awakening interest. Tilghman was quick to perceive this, and it greatly elated him. In the exultation of his feelings he said to himself—

'I'll show this Columbus man that I'm worth a dozen of him. The boldest wins the fair. I wouldn't give much for his engagement.'

Tilghman was a merchant, and visited the east twice every year for the purpose of buying goods. In August, he crossed the mountains as usual. Some men, when they leave home and go among strangers, leave all the little good breeding they may happen to have had behind them. Such a man was Tilghman. The moment he stepped into a steamboat, stage, or railroad car, the every-one-for-himself principle by which he was governed, manifested itself in all its naked deformity, and it was at once concluded by all with whom he came in contact, that, let him be whom he would, he was no gentleman.

On going up the river, on the occasion referred to, our gentleman went on the free-and-easy principle, as was usual with him when in public conveyances; consulting his own inclinations and tastes alone, and running his elbows into any and everybody's ribs that happened in his way. He was generally first at the table when the bell rang; and, as he had a good appetite, managed, while there to secure a full share of the delicacies provided for the company.

'Every one for himself,' was the thought in his mind on these occasions; and his actions fully agreed with his thoughts.

On crossing the mountains in stages (this was before the railroad from Baltimore to Wheeling was completed) as far as Cumberland, his greedy, selfish, and sometimes downright boorish propensities annoyed his fellow passengers, and particularly a young man of quiet, refined, and gentlemanly deportment, who could not, at times, help showing the disgust he felt. Because he paid his half dollar for meals at the taverns on the way, Tilghman seemed to feel himself licensed to gormandize at a beastly rate. The moment he sat down to the table, he would seize eagerly upon the most desirable dish near both an ear and eye witness of his sayings and doings since he dropped into his present place at the table. So much had his conduct affected her with a sense of the ridiculous, that she could not suppress the smiles that culled her lips; a smile that was felt by Tilghman as the death-blow to all his hopes of winning her for his bride. With the subsidence of these hopes went his appetite; and with that he went also—that is, from the table, without so much as waiting for the desert. On the forward deck he encountered him until the boat reached South Amboy, (N. J.) And then he took good care not to push his way into the ladies' car—a species of self-denial to which he was not accustomed.

Six months afterwards—he did not venture to call again on Miss Walcott—Tilghman read the announcement of the young lady's marriage to a Mr. Walker, and not long afterwards met her in company with her husband. He proved to be the travelling companion who had been so disgusted with his boorish conduct when on his last trip to the east. Our young gentleman has behaved himself rather better since when from home; and we trust that some other young gentleman who are too much in the habit of taking care of number one when they are among strangers, will be warned by his mortification, and cease to expose themselves to the ridicule of well-bred people.

Finally he left New York in the twelve o'clock boat, intending to pass on to Baltimore in the night train from Philadelphia, and experienced a sense of relief in getting rid of the presence of one who appeared to know him and to have taken a prejudice against him. As the boat swept down the bay, Tilghman amused himself first with a cigar on the forward deck, and then with a promenade on the upper deck. He had already secured his dinner ticket. When the times of roast turkey came to his eager sense, he felt 'shripst' enough to have devoured a whole goblet! This indication of the approaching meal caused him to dive down below, where the servants were busy in preparing the table. Here he walked backwards and forwards for about half an hour in company with a dozen others, who, like himself meant to take care of number one. Then, as the dishes of meat began to come in, he thought it time to secure a good place. So after taking careful observation, he assumed a position, with folded arms, opposite a desirable dish, and waited the completion of arrangements. At length all was ready, and a waiter struck the bell. Instantly, Tilghman drew forth a chair, and had the glory of being first at the table. He had lifted his plate and just cried, as he turned partly around—

'Here waiter! bring me some of that roast turkey. A side bone and a piece of the breast'—when a hand was laid on his shoulder, and the clerk of the boat said, in a voice of authority—

'Further down, sir! Further down! We want these seats for ladies.'

Tilghman hesitated.

'Quick! quick!' urged the clerk.

There was a rustling behind him of ladies' dresses, and our gentleman felt that he must move. In his eagerness to secure another place, he stumbled over a chair and came near falling prostrate. At length he brought up at the lower end of the table.

'Waiter!' he cried, as soon as he had found a new position—'waiter, I want some of that roast turkey!'

The waiter did not hear, or was too busy with some one else to hear.

So loudly and earnestly was this uttered, that the observation of every one at that end of the table was attracted towards the young man. But he thought of nothing but securing his provender. At length he received his turkey, when he ordered certain vegetables, and then began eating greedily, while his eyes were every moment glancing along the table to see what else there was to tempt his palate.

'Waiter?' he called, ere the first mouthful was fairly swallowed.

The waiter came.

'Have you any oyster sauce?'

'No, sir.'

'Great cooks! Turkey without oyster sauce! Bring me a slice of ham.'

'Bottle of ale, waiter,' soon after issued from his lips.

The ale was brought, the cork drawn, and the bottle set beside Tilghman, who, in his haste, poured his tumbler two-thirds full ere the contact of air had produced effervescence. The consequence was that the liquor flowed suddenly over the glass, and spread its creamy form for the space of four or five inches around. Several persons sitting near by had taken more interest in our young gentleman, who was looking after number one, than in the dinner before them; and, when this little incident occurred, could not suppress a titter.

Hearing this, Tilghman became suddenly conscious of the ludicrous figure he made, and glanced quickly from face to face.

The first countenance his eyes rested upon was that of the young man who had been his stage companion; near him was a lady who had thrown back her veil, and whom he instantly recognized as Helen Walcott! She it was who stood behind him when the clerk ejected him from his chair, and she had been both an ear and eye witness of his sayings and doings since he dropped into his present place at the table. So much had his conduct affected her with a sense of the ridiculous, that she could not suppress the smiles that culled her lips; a smile that was felt by Tilghman as the death-blow to all his hopes of winning her for his bride. With the subsidence of these hopes went his appetite; and with that he went also—that is, from the table, without so much as waiting for the desert. On the forward deck he encountered him until the boat reached South Amboy, (N. J.) And then he took good care not to push his way into the ladies' car—a species of self-denial to which he was not accustomed.

Six months afterwards—he did not venture to call again on Miss Walcott—Tilghman read the announcement of the young lady's marriage to a Mr. Walker, and not long afterwards met her in company with her husband. He proved to be the travelling companion who had been so disgusted with his boorish conduct when on his last trip to the east. Our young gentleman has behaved himself rather better since when from home; and we trust that some other young gentleman who are too much in the habit of taking care of number one when they are among strangers, will be warned by his mortification, and cease to expose themselves to the ridicule of well-bred people.

Finally he left New York in the twelve o'clock boat, intending to pass on to Baltimore in the night train from Philadelphia, and experienced a sense of relief in getting rid of the presence of one who appeared to know him and to have taken a prejudice against him. As the boat swept down the bay, Tilghman amused himself first with a cigar on the forward deck, and then with a promenade on the upper deck. He had already secured his dinner ticket. When the times of roast turkey came to his eager sense, he felt 'shripst' enough to have devoured a whole goblet! This indication of the approaching meal caused him to dive down below, where the servants were busy in preparing the table. Here he walked backwards and forwards for about half an hour in company with a dozen others, who, like himself meant to take care of number one. Then, as the dishes of meat began to come in, he thought it time to secure a good place. So after taking careful observation, he assumed a position, with folded arms, opposite a desirable dish, and waited the completion of arrangements. At length all was ready, and a waiter struck the bell. Instantly, Tilghman drew forth a chair, and had the glory of being first at the table. He had lifted his plate and just cried, as he turned partly around—

'Here waiter! bring me some of that roast turkey. A side bone and a piece of the breast'—when a hand was laid on his shoulder, and the clerk of the boat said, in a voice of authority—

'Further down, sir! Further down! We want these seats for ladies.'

Tilghman hesitated.

'Quick! quick!' urged the clerk.

There was a rustling behind him of ladies' dresses, and our gentleman felt that he must move. In his eagerness to secure another place, he stumbled over a chair and came near falling prostrate. At length he brought up at the lower end of the table.

'Waiter!' he cried, as soon as he had found a new position—'waiter, I want some of that roast turkey!'

The waiter did not hear, or was too busy with some one else to hear.

more severely burned, and enraged beyond bounds, he caught the teakettle up and began to hug it, and the more it burned and scalded him, the harder he embraced it. At last Bruin gave it up as a bad job, and retired. And now when you see a man attempting to stop a newspaper by threatening to thrash the editor, or stop his paper, just set him down as a bear with a teakettle, for, ten to one, he will get the worst of it in the end.

BE YOURSELF. Insist on yourself; never imitate. Your own gift you can present every moment with the cumulative force of a whole life's cultivation; but of the adopted talent of another, you have only an extemporaneous, half possession.

That which each can do best, none but his Maker can teach him. No man yet knows what it is, nor can till that person has exhibited it. Where is the master who could have taught Shakspeare? Where is the master who could have instructed Franklin, or Washington, or Bacon, or Newton? Every great man is a unique. The Scipionism of Scipio is precisely that part he could not borrow. Shakspeare will never be made by the study of Shakspeare. Do that which is assigned you, and you cannot hope too much and dare too much. There is at this moment for you an utterance brave and grave as that of the colossal chisel of Phidias, or the trowel of the Egyptians, or the pen of Moses, or Dante, but different from all these.—Emerson.

WHAT SOME PEOPLE DISLIKE! A clergyman dislikes to see his deacons yawn, as he approaches his tithing—close their eyes, at the development of the eleventh head—begin to nod, at the rounding off the twelfth—and to hear them snore in chorus, ere he gets within gunshot of his Lastly.

A physician dislikes to meet a healthy, rugged 'Never-say-die' looking sort of a man who evidently 'thows physic to the dogs' and would be right glad to toss the doctors after it.

An editor dislikes to be bored with a lengthy and miserably written communication, on a subject about which his readers know but little, and care less, signed 'A constant reader.' A subscriber from the beginning, or something of that sort.

A Dry Goods dealer dislikes the lady, who invariably asks for 'a pattern to take home and see if the color is fast.'

A Stage Driver dislikes the 'elderly lady,' who always travels with three band boxes and twice that number of bundles.

A Cab Man dislikes the railroad passenger, with carpet bag who invariably looks the other way when he cries 'Cab, sir? cab, sir?'

SEVEN FOOLS. The angry man—who sets his own house on fire, in order that he may burn his neighbor's. The envious man—who cannot enjoy life because others do. The robber—who, for the consideration of a few dollars, gives the world liberty to hang him. The hypochondriac—whose highest happiness consists in making himself miserable. The jealous man—who poisons his own banquet and then eats it. The miser—who starves himself to death that his heir may feast. The slanderer—who tells tales for the sake of giving his enemy an opportunity of proving him a liar.

HOSE ANTS. The way to get rid of ants is to set a quantity of cracked walnuts or shell-barks on plates, and put them in the closet and places where the ants congregate. They are very fond of these, and will collect on them in myriads. When they have collected on them, make a general auto-da-fé, by turning nuts and ants together into the fire, and then replenish the plates with fresh nuts. After they have become so thinned off as to cease collecting on the place, powder some gun camphor, and put it in the holes and crevices, whereupon the remainder of them will speedily vanish. It may help the process of getting them to assemble on the shell-barks, to remove all edibles out of their way for the time.

VINEGAR FROM BEETS. Good vinegar is an almost indispensable article in every family, many of which purchase it at a considerable annual expense, while some use but a very indifferent article; and others, for the want of knowledge and a little industry, go without. It is an easy matter, however, to be at all times supplied with good vinegar, and that, too, without much expense. The juice of one bushel of sugar beets, worth twenty-five cents, and which any farmer can raise without cost, will make from five to six gallons of vinegar, equal to the best made of cider or wine. Grate the beets, having first washed them, and express the juice in a cheese press, or in any other way which a little ingenuity can suggest, and put the liquor into an empty barrel; cover the bung hole with gauze and set it in the sun, and in twelve or fifteen days it will be ready for use. Farmer and Mechanic.

LABOR AND HEALTH. Mark, says a sensible writer, the laboring man, who breakfasts at six, and then walks perhaps two or three miles to his work. He is full of health, and a stranger to doctors. Mark on the other hand your clerk, who takes tea and toast at eight, and gets down to the store at nine, or half past. He is a pale, effeminate creature, full of sarsaparilla, and patent worm medicine, and pills and things. What a pity it is that this class of people do not lay down the yardstick and the scissors, and take up the scythe or flail for a year or two. By remaining in their present occupation, they only help to fill up cemeteries, and that's about as miserable use of humanity as you can name.

For the Patriot.
House of Representatives.

In the Federal Convention in 1787, there was a fierce contest between the small and large States, respecting the basis of representation. Virginia, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts were three of the largest states. These states insisted that the representation in both the Senate and House should be proportioned to the number of inhabitants of each state. The delegates of the small states contended for an equality of power in both branches. They combated the doctrine that States were mere corporations, fictions or phantoms, as their opponents alleged, but maintained that states were separate political societies, sovereign and independent. The power of self-defence, they claimed was essential to the small states. Nature had given it to the smallest insect of creation. It was not that the minority should rule, but that power should be given to the few, to save them from being destroyed by the many. Combinations between a few large states which had common points of interest, would be made, while a defensive combination of the small-states would be difficult from their large number and the variety of their interests. The small states wished for national security and internal liberty. In the confederation each colony had one vote, and in the convention each state had one vote.

The element of slavery was not brought into this contest; it was a simple contest for power on the part of the large states, and for state-rights, state sovereignty and independence on the other. It was the rock on which the convention well nigh split. Out of that contest arose the Republican and the Federal parties.

The large states proved to be numerically the strongest, and carried through the convention their project, that the two Houses should be based on 'an equitable ratio' of representation. The small states yielded their ground with respect to the House of Representatives, but declared they would make no further concession, and that if the large states persisted, there would be no confederacy and no Union. This was the decisive point. The large states yielded. The power of self-defence against ambitious combinations, and against the impetuous councils of the majority was given to the small states, by establishing the equality of states in the Senate. Thus was the Union secured. And thus too was internal liberty preserved.

The principles of that great struggle are still in activity, and are involved in the contest now going on in this state respecting the basis of representation. Towns are corporations of limited powers of sovereignty, much in the same manner as states in the Federal Union. The individuality of towns in the state, is like the individuality of states in the Union. Towns existed as corporations anterior to the existence of states. First the family, next the town, then the state, and last the Union. This is the order of our social and political economy. Each has its peculiar and special functions, each in its sphere is independent of the other, and together they all form a beautiful and harmonious system, wherein domestic happiness, internal liberty, and national security are preserved.

Towns have many attributes of sovereignty. They elect their own officers; they levy taxes for a multitude of objects. They take leads from individuals for public uses. They meet together to consult on questions of a local and general character. In the revolution, town meetings to consider public questions were frequent, and on the records of many towns in the Commonwealth is entered the Declaration of Independence—entered by virtue of the votes of the inhabitants. Government as it exists in the towns of this Commonwealth, is simple, just, and in the most perfect form.

Each town prior to 1839-40, possessed the right of electing a representative in the General Court. This was an office of more responsibility and dignity than any other in the towns. It appertained to the concerns of the town and of the state. The representative was charged with two duties, to watch over the local wants and interests of the town, and to consult and act with representatives of the other towns for the general good of the state—in like manner with representatives in the Federal Congress, who deliberate on local measures, affecting the states internally and on others for the general welfare of the Union. Being near the people, of them, and responsible to them for his acts, his good behavior was secured, and thus too, as Oliver Ellsworth said, the permanence and prosperity of the state was maintained. This right of representation has always been regarded as essential to the highest interests of towns—as inseparably connected with taxation, works of internal improvement, education, and in former times, with parochial affairs.

The Whigs propose to abolish this right by one of two ways, either by the continuance of the present system of representation or the establishment of the district system. They propose to divest the towns of this highest attribute of power which they exercise—to degrade them—to stifle and extinguish those affections and sentiments which now attach to these little democracies—and all for what? merely that a few cities with common interests and ambitions may have entire and absolute dominion over all branches of the state government without check, control, limitation or negative whatever upon their power.

By a provision of the constitution inserted in 1839-40, 130 towns have been divested of a yearly representative. The work of destruction is going on and in A. D. 1870 there will be 200 towns without annual representation unless the proposed amendments to the constitution shall be adopted. There are 45,000 inhabitants that are unrepresented each year in the House. That number will increase with every decennial state census—with every disfranchisement of towns. Boston and other cities and large towns are rapidly absorbing all representative power in the State. The Senate being organized on the basis of population and elected annually by the same constituents, no barrier will interpose between the haughty demands of avarice and ambition and the rights and privileges of individuals and minorities.

The proposed amendments to the Constitution if adopted, will at least restore the lost corporate rights of representation to the towns. A check on the power of the majority will be in a partial degree established. A defence for weakness against the fickleness, passion, avarice, or ambition of the strong will be raised. These little democracies, these well-springs of religious and civil liberty, as the towns of Massachusetts ever have been and ever will, be unless shorn of their power and dignity, and trampled down and degraded by men, who on their ruins seek their own aggrandizement and power, will continue to be as now, the strength and glory of the State. Men who pretend to look with rapturous delight on the mass that has gathered upon our Constitutional edifice are now seeking to undermine the foundations. The House of Representatives was the citadel of liberty in colonial times, and during the revolution. Yet they propose to change its organization—to subvert it. They would begin the reformation of the State by its subversion.

A DEMOCRAT.

For the Patriot.
Women's Rights.

Much has been said in your paper, of late, about the equal rights and equal power of men. The new Constitution is denounced because it does not guaranty equal privileges and political influence to men. The great principle that the majority shall rule is violated. These and many other fine things have been said about the new Constitution.

Will any one of these great statesmen tell us by what principle it is the women are not enfranchised? Why do they make such great ado because a man of Boston has less influence in one department of the government than a man in Berkshire? We have no political rights and privileges. One half of the inhabitants of the State are denied any, even the least participation in the government. Yet men will talk of their equal rights. They tell us that it is the democratic doctrine that a majority should rule, and yet they begin by wresting from us, and robbing us of our natural inborn and God-descended rights. After stripping us, who are a moiety of the inhabitants, of our rights, and usurping all powers of government, they turn round and quarrel among themselves about who shall have the greatest share of the plunder. Let them talk of equality, and justice. There is no sense or consistency in such men. Let them quarrel. I care not who shall be victor. Before either party can prosper they must restore women their political rights. Until they do that, it will be vain, and false, and hollow, to talk of political rights and wrongs. It makes me sick to hear men argue so furiously on such trifling matters, while they neglect the weightier fact that women are utterly without any political power. Every man can vote. One man's vote is equal to another man's vote, in every particular but one, and that an inconsiderable one. No woman can vote at

MRS. E. HAYDEN restores thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Glycer Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Sissors, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Gun Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c., &c.

Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st., rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45tf

REMOVAL.

New Store and New Good!!

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public, that they have removed from the Store formerly occupied by them, on Washington Street, to the new building recently erected by Dr. L. Goodhue, corner of

HANCOCK & GRANITE STREETS, QUINCY.

where they intend to keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Fancy & Domestic Dry Goods, well adapted to the wants of the community; at all times, can be found a good assortment of Prints, Ginghams, Delaines, Cashmeres, Alpaccas, and a great variety of Dress Goods and Shawls, Sheetings, Shirts, Flannels, Blankets, with a good assortment of such articles as are usually found in a well selected stock of DRY GOODS.

Also—in connection with the above, can at all times be found, a large stock of

Ready Made Clothing, and

Gents Furnishing Goods, with a great variety of Black and Fancy Cloths, Cassimeres, Dressings and Vestings, of the most Fashionable Styles, which will be manufactured into Garments at fair prices, and in STYLE, FIT, AND WORKMANSHIP Satisfaction guaranteed to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. Grateful for past favors, a continuance and increase of the same, is most respectfully solicited.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co., Corner Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy, April 20, 1853.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON, OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which are greater or less extent characteristic of these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faculties, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the head, &c. &c. &c. the various difficulties peculiar to females, as leucorrhoea, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. &c. Also that improve condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use; they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont St., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.

Boston, May 6, 1853. '92 43—1y

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON,

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every lady desirous of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masters of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, on the atmosphere principle, from $25.00 to $50.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from $12.00 to $40.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from $5.00 to $30.00 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood posts—from $1.50 to $2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cents to $2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform ether, 50 cents without it, 25 cents. The gold plate used in operations, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter of an inch in thickness, and for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 24 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of South Street, Boston, Feb. 7, 1853. 11—3mos

Co-partnership Notice.

THE Subscribers have this day formed a Partnership, under the firm of W. & H. ABERCROMBIE, for the purpose of furnishing the Citizens of Quincy and vicinity, with English and W. 1. GOODS, GROCERIES, &c., at the Store head of navigation. Ever grateful for the liberal patronage received, we are in hopes to merit a continuance of the same.

WYMAN ABERCROMBIE, HORACE ABERCROMBIE, Quincy, March 19, 1853.

A CARD.

All persons having demands against the Subscribers, are invited to present the same, and all persons indebted, either by note or account, are reminded that I shall want the same to pay the above bills as they are presented.

W. ABERCROMBIE.

Lovel's Wahpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color.

With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, June 25. 11

Mohair Mitts.

A good assortment, long and short Mohair Mitts, just received by GEO. SAVIL & Co., Corner of Hancock and Granite streets, Quincy, July 2. 11

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Hawk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by

L. W. MUNROE, Quincy, May 21. 11

NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street

To Let,
2 TENEMENTS, suitable for small families. Apply to J. & H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Mount Wollaston Bank.
The second instalment of fifty dollars per share of the Stock of this Bank, will be payable at the Banking Room, in Quincy, on MONDAY, the tenth day of October next.
Per order of the Directors.
LOUIS CONGDON, Cashier.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Insolvent Notice.
NORFOLK SS.
IN INSOLVENCY.
BEFORE SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esquire,
Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, in the matter of

JAMES W. KINGMAN, of Weymouth, debtor. Notice is hereby given, that the third meeting of the Creditors of James W. Kingman, Esq., in said County, on the fourth day of November next, at noon, at the Court House, in Quincy, at which meeting Creditors may be present and prove their claims, will be held at the Court House, in Quincy, at 10 o'clock, A. M., on the 4th day of November next.
SILAS BINNEY, Assignee.
Sept. 24.

Real Estate
AT AUCTION!

THE valuable Estate, owned and occupied by WILLIAM NASH, beautifully situated in Quincy, on Washington street, will be sold at Auction, on THURSDAY, the 20th of October next, at 4 o'clock P. M., on the premises. This Estate contains three acres of good land, a part of which is well stocked with about 100 Fruit Trees, a good bearing orchard, a two story House, and a large Stable; the House contains 11 rooms, finished in the best manner, heated by a furnace. There is on the place a good well of water. This Estate is situated within a few minutes ride of the Depot, and a short distance from Churches and Schools. Every thing is required to make it a desirable and pleasant country residence. There is a salt river near for bathing.

Terms made known at sale.
Also—A lot of Land, situated opposite the above premises, containing about one acre, and is a beautiful spot for a Building Lot. This lot is situated on a corner of the above Estate, and is bounded by the main street to Boston, and expresses pass daily to and from Boston.
GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auctioneer.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Picked up,
A SHORT time since, on the beach, at Haugh's Neck, Quincy, a small Boat, with a crew of four men, was picked up. The boat was a flag in her, and was named "Lilly Dale." The owner can have the boat, by proving papers and paying charges.
WILLIAM S. BELCHER.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Rare Chance.
THE Subscribers, intend to leave for the city, after to leave their store, and sell the remainder of their Stock upon reasonable terms. The Store is in one of the best locations in town, and now doing a good business. Any one wishing to enter into the West India Goods, Flour and Groceries business, will have an opportunity to do so, at a low price.
FAXON & BROTHERS.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!

DR. BAKER'S Restoring Root Pills have never failed in giving relief in any single instance, when they have been taken in time, and according to directions.
If you are afflicted with Dyspepsia, Diarrhoea, Indigestion, or a disordered stomach, here is a remedy brought within your reach. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectually cured, by these celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call and get the Messenger of Health, of
GEORGE W. WHITING,
who is sole Agent for Quincy.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Whiting's Blood Purifier.
THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Water-gentian, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with the blood and restorative principles, highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store.
GEORGE W. WHITING.
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Executors Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given that the Subscribers have been duly appointed Executors of the Will of EZRA BEALS, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, and have accepted said trust.
All persons having demands upon the Estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to the same, are required to pay the same, to the undersigned, at the Quincy Book Store, on or before the 10th day of October next.
NATHANIEL H. BEALS, Executors.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Copartnership Notice.
THE undersigned would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and the public generally, that they have heretofore formed a Copartnership, under the name and style of the Quincy Book Store, for the purpose of carrying on a general business, upon the premises in Quincy, at the late firm of Richards, Mann & Co. and that they have secured the services of Mr. S. LYONS, who is authorized to act as the agent for the Company.
SAMUEL B. LYONS,
JAMES H. BURLY,
JAMES JONES,
LORENZO D. GOODRIDGE, TRUEWORTH C. BORN.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

Wanted,
DANTALON and VEST Makers at D. D. KING'S Tailor's Shop. Apply immediately.
Quincy, October 1.

New Temperance Books.
THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satanic License, by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilson, the Ransomer's Victim. Foundation for the Quincy Bookstore.
Quincy, October 1.

A List of Letters,
REMAINING in the Post Office, at Quincy, (Mass.) Oct. 1st, 1853.
Applicants for these Letters will please say they are advertised.

Ariss, George E.
Alphonso, A. N.
Bochan, W.
Bass, George W.
Burt, Michael
Bullard, Edward P.
Brown, David M.
Budge, Sarah
Burns, Lorenzo
Burchard David I.
Bruce, Robert
Byant, James Conroy, Annie
Christenson, Anders
Chamberlain, Wm.
Chase, N. O.
Curran, Thos. F.
Connor, John
Crosby, Wm.
Carey, John Carpenter, Thomas
Dwyer, John R.
Dunbar, John G.
Dunn, John G.
French, Levi.
Fitzpatrick, Ellen 2
Farlow, Mr.
Faxon, Mrs. Joseph
Fitzgerald, Hannah
Fitzgibbons, James
Flanders, Joseph Frost, Henry
Gregg, Hughey
Gerrish, Michael Gordon, Nathan
Gorman, S. O.
Gourley, Mr.
Glasbe, John
Garfield, Fred. H.
Grellow, Daniel
Halloran, Samuel 2
Hammond, Philip
Harriman, Lewis
Herrick, James
Holmes, John W.
Hurley, Ellen Hurley, James
Hershey, Noah
Hughes, James
Haines, Mrs. Joseph
Jordan, Steward
Jackinberry, John
Jones, T. M.
Knows, Margaret Kenny, Barney
FRANCIS WILLIAMS, Postmaster.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

A CARD.
TO THE PUBLIC!
J. A. HOLDEN,
WOULD inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has Just Replenished his Stock, with a choice selection of Goods, suitable for the Autumn and Winter of 1853 and 4.
He invites the attention of such as expect punctuality and good workmanship, for cash only, such being his rule of business, and the reduced rates at which he sells, rendering any other mode of doing business impracticable.
His clothes will always be made with all his care and skill, of which he ROASTS NOT; leaving the garments made by his hands to ADVISE THE LADIES. These students to combine elegance with economy, will do well and wisely to favor him with a call.
Remember he is not to be undersold by any other establishment, style, quality and finish considered.
Quincy, October 1.

For Sale.
JUST landed from Barb Marcia, from Baltimore, 250 tons Cumberland Coal, a prime article for Smelters and for domestic use.
PRESTON & CURTIS.
Neposnet, October 1.

Executrix's Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscribers have been duly appointed Executrix of the Will of THOMAS HAYDEN, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, deceased, and have accepted said trust.
All persons having demands upon the Estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to the same, are required to pay the same, to the undersigned, at the Quincy Book Store, on or before the 10th day of October next.
ESTHER HAYDEN, Executrix.
Quincy, Oct. 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

THE GOLD HUNTER.
The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Fire Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it, speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their few names, the following named gentlemen are a few of the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97 Washington St., Boston—house Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle St., Cambridge; S. Chubb, printer, 210 Washington St., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Auburn St.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Stuart; Rev. Rodd's Court, Roxbury; Joshua Whittemore, South Reading; P. Byus, Portland, etc., and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST ASSORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street,
Boston, October 1.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or disordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store, Quincy, Sept. 24.

ENLARGEMENT
OF THE
TREMONT ROW
SILK & SHAWL STORE.
NEW STOCK
AND INCREASED FACILITIES.
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in
SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND
that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add
New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature
to constitute their Establishment the
LARGEST AND BEST
RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE
IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!
Ladies will bear in mind that
Unlike other large Dry Goods
Houses in Boston,
We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved
FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who have SO LONG and SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.
Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co.
are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of Shawls, Silks, Thibets and Cashmeres,
FANCY AND STAPLE
Dress and Cloak Goods
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
PARIS CLOAKS
and all similar articles in great profusion,
Laces and Embroideries,
GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.
ALL AT
Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!!
as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS
To pay the expense of six or eight months' credit on our Goods!!
AUCTION HOUSES
as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice Goods to our monthly assortment, and we say with confidence
WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVED, that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of Extra, Medium & Common
Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains.
We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.
F. A. JONES & CO.
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street),
BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853.

English Bibles.
JUST received a new supply of those BEAUTIFUL ENGLISH POCKET BIBLES, with Clasp, which will be sold low at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, August 6.

New Book for Children
PICTURES and Stories, from Uncle Tom's Cabin. Ten Engravings. Just published and for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Aug. 20.

Gentlemen's Hats,
FALL STYLE.....1853,
JUST received by JOHN DINEGAN, Agent—Boys' Caps. Those in want of a good article, at a fair price, are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves.
Quincy, Sept. 17.

SCHOOL BOOKS and SCHOOL STATIONERY.
For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and School Stationery now used in all the PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR Schools in town.
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold.
Quincy May 15, 1852.

A New Article.
THE best thing ever made for Filling Bills, Documents, &c., in the "Ready Reference File," for sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Aug. 27.

Wanted.
10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.
Quincy Aug. 20. (at Goodnow's Building).

BOSTON EXHIBITION
—OR—SHAWLS, SILKS CLOAKS
—AND—
OTHER DRY GOODS,
—AT THE—
LADIES' EXCHANGE.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.
INVITE the special attention of ALL, to their magnificent assortment of Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods,
—OR—
HALF A MILLION DOLLARS VALUE.
Nearly every article of our large stock has been made to our own order, and is of a character to give satisfaction to those who buy; MAKE RICH those who buy to sell again, and bringing back with a smile, those who buy for their own consumption.
Geo. W. Warren & Co.,
192 Washington St.
Boston, Sept. 17.

Collector's Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given to the owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, that the same is taxed, in the list of taxes committed to me, the collector, by the Assessors of the Town of Quincy, to collect, being Taxes and County taxes for the year A. D. 1851, viz: About thirty-six acres of land, situated on the south side of the Old Colony Railroad, being a part of the Estate of the late Gen. Thomas Taylor, and now leased by Heirs of said Taylor to the Old Colony Railroad Corporation, bounded on one side by land of said Corporation, and on all other sides by land of said Heirs. The premises being indicated upon a plan of Tax to the lot and Gravel Track, bearing date June 1849, by S. D. Eaton, Civil Engineer, taxed to the heirs of Gen. Thomas Taylor; Valuation, 3000 dollars, Town and County Taxes, 23 dollars and 40 cents. If no person shall appear to pay said taxes, and all necessary charges, I shall proceed to sell, on the premises, the seventh day of October next, at three of the clock in the afternoon,
JOHN HARDWICK,
Collector of Taxes for the Town of Quincy for the year A. D. 1851.
Quincy, Sept. 17, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Norfolk ss. Probate Office, Sept. 10, A. D. 1853.
JOHN SAVIL, surviving Executor of the Will of SAMUEL SAVIL,
late of Quincy, in said County, Gentleman, deceased, having presented his account in his said capacity for allowance, ORDERED, That said John notify all persons interested therein, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same, at a Court of Probate, to be held at Roxbury, in said County, on the eighth day of October, A. D. 1853, by publishing this Order three weeks successively, in the Quincy Patriot, and the Quincy Patriot, printed at Quincy, S. L. L. AND JUDG. of Probate.
Quincy, September 17.

Dr. Lloyd Goodnow
Botanic Medicine Depot,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.
RUSSES, Supporters, Shoulder Braces, and a variety of other instruments of Mechanical Support, of our monthly assortment, and we say with confidence
WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVED,
that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of Extra, Medium & Common
Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains.
We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it
WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.
F. A. JONES & CO.
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street),
BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853.

English Bibles.
JUST received a new supply of those BEAUTIFUL ENGLISH POCKET BIBLES, with Clasp, which will be sold low at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, August 6.

New Book for Children
PICTURES and Stories, from Uncle Tom's Cabin. Ten Engravings. Just published and for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Aug. 20.

Gentlemen's Hats,
FALL STYLE.....1853,
JUST received by JOHN DINEGAN, Agent—Boys' Caps. Those in want of a good article, at a fair price, are respectfully invited to call and examine for themselves.
Quincy, Sept. 17.

SCHOOL BOOKS and SCHOOL STATIONERY.
For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and School Stationery now used in all the PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR Schools in town.
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold.
Quincy May 15, 1852.

A New Article.
THE best thing ever made for Filling Bills, Documents, &c., in the "Ready Reference File," for sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Aug. 27.

Wanted.
10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.
Quincy Aug. 20. (at Goodnow's Building).

BOSTON EXHIBITION
—OR—
SHAWLS, SILKS CLOAKS
—AND—
OTHER DRY GOODS,
—AT THE—
LADIES' EXCHANGE.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.
INVITE the special attention of ALL, to their magnificent assortment of Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods,
—OR—
HALF A MILLION DOLLARS VALUE.
Nearly every article of our large stock has been made to our own order, and is of a character to give satisfaction to those who buy; MAKE RICH those who buy to sell again, and bringing back with a smile, those who buy for their own consumption.
Geo. W. Warren & Co.,
192 Washington St.
Boston, Sept. 17.

Collector's Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given to the owners or proprietors of the following described Real Estate, that the same is taxed, in the list of taxes committed to me, the collector, by the Assessors of the Town of Quincy, to collect, being Taxes and County taxes for the year A. D. 1851, viz: About thirty-six acres of land, situated on the south side of the Old Colony Railroad, being a part of the Estate of the late Gen. Thomas Taylor, and now leased by Heirs of said Taylor to the Old Colony Railroad Corporation, bounded on one side by land of said Corporation, and on all other sides by land of said Heirs. The premises being indicated upon a plan of Tax to the lot and Gravel Track, bearing date June 1849, by S. D. Eaton, Civil Engineer, taxed to the heirs of Gen. Thomas Taylor; Valuation, 3000 dollars, Town and County Taxes, 23 dollars and 40 cents. If no person shall appear to pay said taxes, and all necessary charges, I shall proceed to sell, on the premises, the seventh day of October next, at three of the clock in the afternoon,
JOHN HARDWICK,
Collector of Taxes for the Town of Quincy for the year A. D. 1851.
Quincy, Sept. 17, 1853.

Practical Phrenology.
CORRECT Phrenological Examinations, of the faculties, or complete written descriptions, of the preservation and restoration of health, formation of proper habits, correction of faults, restraining of excesses, and cultivating defects; and important directions as to the choice of suitable occupations, the selection of partners in business, and congenial companions for life; &c., &c., can be had, day or evening, at the Phrenological Rooms of FWLLERS, WELLS & CO.,
142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

To the young just starting in life, such knowledge is invaluable.
The Phrenological Museum, containing a great variety of Skulls, Busts, Casts, and Paintings of the most distinguished men, is open free to visitors. Classes for instruction in Practical Phrenology and Physiology are constantly in operation, and private students are taken at all times and qualified for lecturers and examiners.
Application for letting out of town, before Levees or otherwise, duly considered.
Books for sale on Phrenology, Physiology, Water Cure, Psychology, Photography, and progressive subjects generally. A. H. FOWLER, with Publications, including the Phrenological and Water Cure Journals, furnished from this office at the same price, wholesale and retail, as at New York. Orders by mail or express promptly attended to.
FWLLERS, WELLS & CO.,
142 Washington street, Boston.
Boston, Sept. 24.

Liberty Hall
CLOTHING STORE!
Over C. & L. Curtis' Grocery Store.
Formerly Ransom & Co.
If E subscriber has just received the most desirable styles of PANTALOON GOODS, suitable for FALL and WINTER wear.
Also—A large assortment of heavy ENGLISH BROADCLOTHS, DEVONSHIRE KERSEYS, of every color, PILOT CLOTH, TERTSMA, &c., together with a most splendid assortment of FRENCH VESTINGS. Always on hand a large selection of BLACK DRESKINS and CASSIMERES.
Having associated in business my Brother EDWARD RING,
late of London, we defy all competition, and are ready, second to none, to give the best article for the least money. Being possessed of ample experience to cut our own work, and warranting the very best workmanship, the patronage of the public is most respectfully solicited.
D. D. RING,
Late Cutler for John Dinegan.
N. B. Particular attention given to BOYS' CLOTHING.
In furnishing their own Cloths will be punctually attended to.
Quincy, Sept. 10.

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,
On the Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike.
FRESH FALL
AND WINTER GOODS,
JUST RECEIVED.
JOHN DINEGAN, would respectfully inform his friends and the public in general, that he has now in store, a choice and fashionable assortment of all the latest fashions, which he will be happy to make to order at fair prices.
Twenty-seven winning garments and made in a superior style, are invited to call, as no experienced eye can give entire satisfaction.
Quincy, September 3.

SAVIL & Co.
DRY GOODS, CLOTHING
AND
FURNITURE!
TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY
AND VICINITY.
THE undersigned having completed their arrangements, are now prepared to show one of the most extensive stocks of
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, CLOTHING
AND FURNISHING GOODS.
Furniture, Carpeting, Mattresses, &c.,
TO BE FOUND IN NORFOLK COUNTY.
At all times can be found a full and complete assortment of the different STYLES and QUALITIES,
all of which will be sold at the lowest prices, and warranted in every respect equal to representation.
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,
Goodnow's Building,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.
Goods delivered to any part of the town or vicinity free from expense.
Quincy, September 3.

FASHIONABLE CLOTHS & CLOTHING!
—AT—Russell's & Company,
Town Hall, Quincy.
HAVING completed our selections of all the Newest and most Desirable Styles of Goods, Imported the present season, we offer them by the Piece, or MADE TO ORDER, at such prices as cannot fail to give entire satisfaction to the purchasers. For Custom Made Work, we offer a scale of prices.
Dresses or Frocks made from $9.00 to $16.00.
Twelve and Thin Summer Goods, 3.50 to 6.00.
Pants, Fancy and Plain, from 2.50 to 6.00.
Vests, Fancy and Plain, 1.00 to 4.50.
We are also supplied with a Cheap and Fashionable Stock of
Ready Made Clothing,
Manufactured by ourselves and warranted as good as the ordinary run of Country Work.
Fashionable Stock of Hats, Caps, Stocks, Umbrellas, and other Furnishing Goods.
Remember our motto is to sell cheaper than the cheapest.
Quincy, May 7, 1853.

Cure for the Whooping Cough!
BY THE USE OF
MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE,
It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.
For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for its sale.
Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Haddley, Mass., in-law of Dr. Moore, with whose signature upon each bottle, none is genuine.
It is a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Hoarseness.
W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent.
Sept. 24.

REMOVAL.
New Store.
B. F. MESERVEY
Having Removed to the New Store,
one door South of the Quincy Book Store, will keep constantly on hand, a large stock of WATCHES, CLOCKS, AND JEWELRY, which will be sold as low as can be bought. Every article warranted as represented, or the money will be refunded.
GOLD AND SILVER taken in exchange for Goods. Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired and warranted.
14—32a

REMOVAL.
Dr. C. S. French Surgeon Dentist.
TAKES this method to inform the Inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has removed his Office from Dr. Goodnow's, to the new building near the Quincy Book Store, where he will practice his profession.
Extracting, Filling, or Inserting Teeth from single to full sets. Work done in a neat and faithful manner.
While thankful for patronage already received, a continuance of the same is respectfully solicited.
Quincy, April 9th.

Extra Size Fruit Trees.
THE subscriber offers for sale at his Nursery in Dorchester 3000 Very large Pyramid Pear Trees on Quince roots.
5000 Very large Standard Pear Trees on their own roots.
Many of the above are now in fruit. All are of reliable strength and beautiful form, and with proper care will prove a fruit next season.
Also, a general assortment of Apples, Cherries, Plums, Peaches, &c., &c.
MARSHALL P. WILDER.
N. B. Grove Hall Coaches leave No. 11 Franklin Street, Boston, for Dorchester, several times each day.
Dorchester, September 10.

A CARD.
To the Ladies of Quincy and Vicinity.
MRS. A. J. KENISON,
GRATEFUL for past favors, would acknowledge her indebtedness to her friends and customers, for their kindness in extending her their continued patronage, and ever-ready and cheerful assurance that she is ever prepared to anticipate, and comply with their wishes—both in regard to their wants, and to her own experience, than at any previous time.
Goods have just been Purchased for the coming season, which comprise all that is usually found in a MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT;
at prices that cannot fail to give satisfaction, as they will be sold at a very small advance from cost.
Bonnets, Ribbons, Flowers, Silks, &c., which will be replenished as occasion and prudence demands—and to which the attention of those wishing to purchase is respectfully solicited.
Grave Clothes and Mourning Goods constantly on hand. Also—Bonnets altered, bleached or colored.
Quincy, April 9.

The Quincy Drug Store.
GEORGE W. WHITING having expressed his thanks to the Quincy Book Store, for the liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the Hopes and Fears.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1853.

NUMBER XLII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION.

Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two Dollars per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required. No subscription or advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrearages, unless at the option of the publisher. Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers. JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway. GEORGE H. LOCKE, "Stone Quarries. ORIN T. BACON, "Dorchester. FISHER A. KINGSBURY, "Weymouth. JOSEPH CLEVELY, "Arlington. SAMUEL A. TURNER, "South Scituate. FREEMAN HUNT, "New York City. GERSHOM DREW, "Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

The Umbrella Girl.

From the life of Isaac T. Hopper, by Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, just published.

A young girl, the only daughter of a poor widow, removed from the country to Philadelphia to earn her living by covering umbrellas. She was very handsome, with glossy black hair, large beaming eyes, and "lips like wet coral." She was just at that susceptible age when youth is ripened into womanhood, when the soul begins to be pervaded by "that restless principle which impels poor humans to seek protection in union."

At a hotel near the store for which she worked, an English traveller called Lord Henry Stewart had taken lodgings. He was a strikingly handsome man, and of princely carriage. As this distinguished stranger passed to and fro from his hotel, he encountered the umbrella girl, and was attracted by her uncommon beauty. He easily traced her to the store, where he soon after went to purchase an umbrella. This was followed up by presents of flowers, chats by the way-side, and invitations to walk or ride, all of which were readily accepted by the unsuspecting rustic, for she was as ignorant of the dangers of a city, as were the squirrels of her native fields. He was merely playing a game for temporary excitement. She with a head full of romance, and a heart melting under the influence of love, was unconsciously endangering the happiness of her whole life.

Lord Henry invited her to visit the public gardens on the fourth of July. In the simplicity of her heart she believed all his flattering professions, and considered herself the bride elect, she therefore accepted the invitation with innocent frankness. But she had no dress fit to appear in on such a public occasion, with a gentleman of high rank, whom she verily supposed to be her destined husband. While these thoughts were revolving in her mind, her eye was unfortunately attracted by a beautiful piece of silk belonging to her employer. Could she not take it without being seen, and pay for it secretly when she had earned money enough? The temptation conquered her in a moment of weakness. She concealed the silk, and conveyed it to her lodgings. It was the first thing she had ever stolen, and her remorse was painful. She would have carried it back but she dreaded discovery. She was not sure that her repentance would be met in the spirit of forgiveness.

On the eventful fourth of July, she came out in her new dress. Lord Henry complimented her on her elegant appearance, but she was not happy. On their way to the gardens, he talked to her in a manner which she did not comprehend. Perceiving this he spoke more explicitly. The guileless young creature stopped, looked in his face with a mournful reproach, and burst into tears. The nobleman took her hand kindly and said, "My dear are you an innocent girl?" "I am, I am," she replied with convulsive sobs. "Oh, what have I ever done or said, that you should ask me such a question?" "The evident sincerity of her words stirred the deep fountains of his better nature. 'If you are innocent,' said he, 'God forbid that I should make you otherwise. But you accepted my presents and invitations so readily, that I suppose you understood me.' " "What could I understand," said she, "except that you intended to make me your wife?" "Though reared among the proudest distinction of rank, he felt no inclination to smile. He blushed and was silent. The heartless conventionalities of the world stood rebuked in the presence of affectionate simplicity. He conveyed her to her humble home, and bade her farewell, with a thankful consciousness that he had done no irretrievable injury to her future prospects. The remembrance of her would soon be to him as the recollection of last year's butterflies. With her, the wound was deep. In the solitude of her chamber she wept in bitterness of heart over her ruined air-castles. And that dress, which she had stolen to make an appearance befitting his bride! Oh, what if she should be discovered? And would not the heart of her poor widowed mother break, if she should ever know that her child was a thief?

Alas, her wretched forebodings proved too true. The silk was traced to her; she was arrested on her way to the store and dragged to prison. There she refused all nourishment, and wept incessantly. On the fourth day, the keeper called upon Isaac T. Hopper, and informed him that there was a young girl in prison, who appeared to be utterly friendless and determined to die by starvation. The kind-hearted Friend went immediately to her assistance. He found her lying on the floor of her cell, with her face buried in her hands as if her heart would break. He tried to comfort her, but could obtain no answer.

"Leave us alone," said he to the keeper, "Perhaps she will speak to me, if there is no one to hear." When they were alone together, he put the hair back from her temples, laid his hand kindly on her beautiful head, and said in soothing tones, "My child, consider me as thy father. Tell me all thou hast done. If thou hast taken this silk, let me know all about it. I will do for thee as I would for my own daughter; and I doubt not that I can help thee out of this difficulty."

After a long time spent in affectionate entreaty, she leaned her young head on his friendly shoulder, and sobbed out, "Oh, I wish I was dead. What will my poor mother say when she hears of my disgrace?" "Perhaps we can manage that she never shall know it," he replied. "Alluring her by this hope, he gradually obtained from her the whole story of her acquaintance with the nobleman. He bade her be comforted, and take nourishment; for he would see that the silk was paid for, and the prosecution withdrawn."

He went immediately to her employer, and told him the story. "This girl is young and she is the only child of a poor widow. Give her a chance to retrieve this one false step, and she may be restored to society, a useful and honored woman. I will see that thou art paid well for the silk." The man readily agreed to withdraw the prosecution, and said he would have dealt otherwise by the girl, if he had known all the circumstances. "Thou shouldst have inquired into the merits of the case," replied Hopper. "By this kind of thoughtlessness, many a young creature is driven into the downward path, who might easily have been saved."

The kind-hearted man next proceeded to the hotel, and with Quaker simplicity of speech inquired for Henry Stewart. The servant said his lordship had not risen yet. "Tell him my business is of importance," said Friend Hopper. The servant soon returned and conducted him to the chamber. The nobleman appeared surprised that a stranger, in the plain Quaker costume, should thus intrude upon his luxurious privacy. When he heard his errand, he blushed deeply, and frankly admitted the truth of the girl's statement. His benevolent visitor took the opportunity to "bear a testimony" against the selfishness and sin of profligacy. He did it in such a kind and fatherly manner, that the young man's heart was touched. He excused himself, by saying that he would not have tampered with the girl if he had known her to be virtuous. "I have done many wrong things," said he, "but thank God, no betrayal of confiding innocence weighs on my conscience. I have always esteemed it as the basest act which man is capable of." The imprisonment of the poor girl and the forlorn situation in which she had been found, distressed him greatly. When Friend Hopper represented that the silk had thereby lost profitable employment, and was obliged to return to her distant home, to avoid the danger of exposure, he took out a fifty dollar note and offered it to pay her expenses.

"Nay," said Isaac. "See in thy hand a large man, I presume. She is the daughter of a poor widow, and thou hast been the means of doing her a great injury. Give me another fifty-dollar note, and smiled as he said, 'You understand your business well. But you have acted nobly, and I reverence you for it. If you ever visit England, come to see me. I will give you a cordial welcome, and treat you like a nobleman.' " "Farewell, friend," replied the Quaker. "Though much to blame in this affair, thou hast acted nobly. Mayest thou be blest in domestic life, and trifle no more with the feelings of poor girls; not even with those whom others have betrayed and deserted."

When the girl was arrested, she had sufficient presence of mind to assume a false name, and by that means her true name had been kept out of the newspapers. 'I did this,' said she, 'for my poor mother's sake.' With the money given by Lord Stewart the silk was paid for, and she was sent home to her mother well provided with clothing. Her name and place of residence forever remained a secret in the breast of her benefactor.

Years after these events transpired, a lady called at Friend Hopper's house, and asked to see him. When he entered the room, he found a handsomely dressed young matron, with a blooming boy of five or six years old. She rose quickly to meet him, and her voice choked as she said, 'Friend Hopper, do you know me?' He replied that he did not. She fixed her tearful eyes earnestly upon him and said, 'You once helped me in great distress.' But the good missionary had helped too many in distress to be able to recollect her without more precise information. With a tremulous voice, she bade her son go into the next room for a few minutes; then dropping on her knees, she hid her face in his lap, and sobbed out, 'I am the girl that stole the silk. Oh, where should I now be if it had not been for you!'

When her emotion had somewhat calmed, she told him that she had married a highly respectable man, a Senator of his native State. Being on a visit to Friend Hopper's vicinity, she had again and again passed his dwelling, looking wistfully at his window to catch sight of him, but when she attempted to enter her courage failed. 'But I must return home to-morrow,' said she, 'and I could not go away without once more seeing and thanking him who saved me from ruin.' She recalled her little boy and said to him, 'Look at him and remember him well; for he was the best friend your mother ever had.' With an earnest invitation to visit his happy home, and a fervent 'God bless you!' she bade her benefactor farewell.

Declaration of Independence.

It is worth while to note where the declaration of independence was written; where adopted; and where and when first read, and by whom. There is a small old-fashioned two-story building, with an upper gallery of rude workmanship, at the corner of Fifth street and Crockett lane. Tradition says that the document of freedom was drawn up in the back parlor of this tenement, on the first floor. It is a very small apartment. The adoption of it took place in the celebrated hall in the State House; and, as the patriots were not fastidious, a deal board table was used when they affixed their signatures, which pledged 'their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor,' to the work in hand.

As to the where and when of the first public reading, and by whom, and the signing also, it is a fact that the declaration was not actually signed on the 4th of July. On the 1st of July the question of independence was taken in committee of the whole; seven representatives of Pennsylvania voted against it; and Delaware which had two members present, divided. These were the only states which demurred. The Delaware delegation were brought around by the influence of Caesar Rodney. But on the 4th of July, the five representatives from Pennsylvania (Dickenson and Morris, who had voted against it being absent) gave their votes, three to two, Messrs. Humphries and Willing voting in the negative.

No person actually signed on the 4th of July. Mr. Read, whose name appears among the list of subscribers, was, in reality, against it; and Morris, Rush, Clymer, Smith, Taylor, and Ross, whose names also appear, were not members on that day, but were appointed subsequently. The declaration was only ordered to be engrossed on parchment on the 4th of July, and it was not until many days after, that all the names were affixed. Hancock headed the list, and writing with a bold and manly defiance, said: 'There! John Bull can read that without spectacles, and may double the reward of £500 he has offered for my head.'

The declaration was read, for the first time publicly, on the 8th of July, by Capt. Hopkins, of the navy, to an assembly of citizens in the State House yard. It was received with shouts of enthusiasm.—New York Times.

In a Hurry to be Married.

An amusing matrimonial story is told of the olden time of New England. It so fell out that two young people became very much smitten with each other, as young people sometimes do. The young woman's father was a wealthy Quaker—the young man was poor but respectable. The father could stand no such union, and resolutely opposed it, and the daughter dare not disobey—that is to say, she dare not disobey openly. She "met him by moonlight," while she pretended never to see him—and she pined, and wasted in spite of herself. She was really in love—a state of sighs and tears, which women often reach in imagination than in reality. Still the father remained inexorable. Time passed on, and the rose on Mary's damask cheek passed off. She let her concealment, like a 'worm in the bud,' prey on that damask cheek however; but when her father asked her why she pined, she always told him. The old gentleman was a widower, and loved his girl dearly. Had it been a widow mother who had her in charge, a woman's pride would never have given way before the importunities of a daughter. Men are not, however, so stubborn in such matters, and when the father saw that the daughter's heart was set upon the match, he surprised her one day by breaking out—'Mary, rather than mope to death, thee had better marry as thee chooses, and when thee pleases!'

And what did Mary? Wait till the birds of the air told her swain of the change, or wait till her father had time to alter his mind again. Not a bit of it. She clasped her neat, plain bonnet on her head, walked directly into the street, and then as directly to the house of her intended as the street would carry her. She walked into the house without knocking—for knocking was not then fashionable—and she found the family just sitting down to dinner. Some little commotion was exhibited at so unexpected an apparition as the heiress in the widow's cottage, but she heeded it not. John looked up inquiringly. She walked to him, and took his hands in hers; 'John,' said she, 'father says I may have thee.' And John got directly up from the dinner table, and went to the parson's. In just twenty-five minutes they were man and wife.

How to Prevent a Cold.

Immunity from colds, coughs, bronchitis and influenza, is to be obtained in a certain way, and only one way. As long as the heat of the surface is sufficient to neutralize the cold of the surrounding embracing atmosphere, so long is it not possible for the person to have a cold. The vigor, resistance, positive character of the cutis, must always be greater than the air in which we move. Air loaded with vapor, is a good conductor of caloric. Such an atmosphere rapidly robs all heated bodies of their warmth; and all animal bodies that are unable to furnish heat as fast, and a little faster than the air can conduct it off, will take cold. This loss of heat by the skin, leaves the blood-vessels of the surface feeble—unable to circulate the blood accumulates in the warm internal organs, and that internal organ whose vessels are the weakest will yield to the sudden fullness, the afflux will increase until active congestion or inflammation ensues.

Moderate clothing, much exposure to the air; abundance of exercise, always in good pure air; cold water baths; much dry friction, and a calm, tranquil, circumspect mind, will as certainly prevent colds, coughs, bronchitis, &c., in any climate that God ever made, as warm nights will prevent frosts. The surface must be superior to the conducting power of the air. And this constitutes the immunity that all require. The reason why so many in this country dislike the climate and why so many have coughs, is that class of people have feeble surfaces; that class constantly immersed in air; are not calm in mind; are not fond of bathing and do not enjoy it. The people must have the air that God has made, they must labor, play and sleep in it as the birds do. They must not shut it from them, but welcome it, and this simple habit will compel the surface to elaborate an amount of heat that will always be superior to the wind, however cold and searching.—Journal of Health.

The Rattlesnake.

This snake finds a superior foe in the deer and black snake. Whenever a buck discovers a rattlesnake in a situation which invites an attack, he loses no time in preparing for battle. He makes up within ten or twelve feet of the snake, then leaps forward and aims to sever the body with his sharp bifurcate hoofs. The first onset is commonly successful, if otherwise the buck repeats the trial till he cuts the snake in twain. The rapidity and fatality of his skillful manoeuvre leave but a slight chance for his victim either to escape or to inject poison into his more alert antagonist.

The rattlesnake also finds a dreaded opponent in the black snake. Such is his celerity of motion, not only in running, but entwining itself around its victim, that the rattlesnake has no way of escaping from its fatal embrace. When the black and rattlesnake are about to meet for battle, the former darts forward at the weight of his speed, and strikes at the head of the latter with unerring certainty, leaving a foot or two of the upper part of the body at liberty. In an instant he encircles him in five or six folds; he then steps and looks the strangled and gasping foe in the face to ascertain the effect produced upon his corseted body. If he shows signs of life, the coils are multiplied, and the screw tightened—the operator all the while narrowly watching the countenance of a helpless victim. Thus the two remain thirty or forty minutes; the executor then slackens one coil, noticing at the same time whether any signs of life appear, if so, the coil is resumed and retained, until the incarcerated wretch is entirely lifeless. The moccasin is destroyed in the same way.

For the Patriot. The Constitution.

Mr. Editor:—I have occupied much space in showing the operation of the present system of representation in past time, and also its probable future operation. I have shown how ruinous it has been to that ancient principle of town-representation—how it strikes at the vital part of it—and that it will eventually destroy it entirely. The half has not been told.

But I must proceed to unfold the probable operation of the proposed system of representation—of that plan which the people on the 14th November will be called upon to accept or reject. The substantive principle of that plan, is as I have said, town-representation, which had existed for two hundred years previous to 1840, when in the wantonness of power, the Whig party entered into a scheme for its destruction.

The convention were called upon, on several occasions to express their opinion as to the relative merits of the district system, and town-representation; and in each instance their opinion was clear and decisive, in favor of town representation—as the true democratic system. The amendment to the Constitution proposes to reincorporate this system.

It says that every town shall have one representative at least, excepting such towns whose population is not one thousand. Towns of less than one thousand, are to have a representative six years in ten. The Whigs charge that by denying the small towns an annual representation, we discard and reject the very principle for which we contend—town representation. Our plan is a mixed one, they say, partaking of the district system in part, the town system in part, and of the present system in part, in that it disfranchises a portion of the inhabitants every year, so far as it pertains to the House of Representatives.

Now I maintain that to deny small towns a yearly representation under the circumstances and conditions of the present case is but a slight and temporary departure from town representation, which time will soon rectify and cure. For the Convention have proposed an amendment, the practical working of which will be to prevent the creation of small towns—for they have provided that all towns hereafter created, of less than 1500 inhabitants, shall not be entitled to elect a representative; and then again, the tables of the census show that towns of less than one thousand inhabitants each, are gradually rising to that number, so that at a no very remote period, nearly every town in the state will contain one thousand inhabitants, and therefore will be entitled to elect a representative every year. So that the principle of town representation has been virtually adopted—the deviation from it is only temporary—and the Whig charges fall to the ground.

But to proceed, every town of one thousand inhabitants, and less than four thousand, is to have one representative, and four thousand is to be the mean-increasing number which shall entitle a town or city to an additional representative.

The number, four thousand, was selected as the number which should entitle a town to two representatives, and as the mean-increasing number, for the third, fourth, fifth and every additional representative, because it is the number which will give to large towns and cities the most equitable ratio of representation. By adopting a larger number like five or six thousand, these towns would have their just proportion of representative power in the House, as compared with the small towns. But adopting the small number of four thousand, the House of Representatives would necessarily be a large body. The question for the Convention to decide was whether it were better to institute a large House, in which the large towns and cities should have their full and equitable share of representatives, or a small House, with such towns and cities unequally, and, as it seemed to many, unjustly represented.

When we recollect that, during the last half century, the House of Representatives has averaged more than five hundred members each year, and that not even a breath of suspicion respecting the integrity of its members was known, until the number of the House was diminished; that the people bore the expense of these Houses with but little complaint, and that too when the population of the state was far less than it is now, and during a large part of the time not one half of the present number; and also that the wealth of the state is twenty-nine times greater than in 1812, so that the expense of supporting the legislature is felt less and less, it was deemed wise, and proper, and just, and in the highest degree liberal and democratic to institute a large House of about four hundred members, such a House as the number, four thousand, for the measure of two representatives and the mean-increasing number for every additional representative would give.

This ratio of four thousand will enable Boston to elect thirty-five representatives, for every thirty-nine hundred inhabitants. Boston will lose only one fraction which will of course be less than thirty-nine hundred, while nearly every town in the state will lose one fraction. There are twenty towns in the state that will each lose about as large a fraction as Boston, thus showing a loss of more than ten representatives by this loss of fractions. Boston loses only one fraction. This is one source of power in cities.

Boston derives great advantage from another fact. Many of the inhabitants of Boston, at the taking of the census, are transient, emigrants on the wing to other sections of the country and state, travellers and mariners, all whom go to swell the aggregate of her population, and thus to increase her representative power. In New York, foreigners, un-naturalized, are not made the basis of representation. They are excluded altogether from the elements which entitle the city to representatives. Yet New York is called a Democratic State. But in the proposed amendment to the basis of representation, foreigners are regarded in the same light with Americans, and constitute an integral part of the basis of representation—which as compared with New York, is infinitely more liberal and democratic—whereby the representative power of Boston is very materially increased, because there are so many foreigners in that city who are unnaturalized.

I come now to the last feature of the proposed system of representation. It is proposed to district the cities, and to allow no district to elect more than three representatives. The object of this, is to remedy the evils of the general ticket system which now exist.

There are three evils which I will mention. A voter in Boston votes for forty-four representatives; a voter in Milton, votes for one; and a voter in Quincy votes for two every year. In ten years a voter in Boston votes for four hundred and forty representatives, while in the same time, a voter in Milton votes for only ten, and a voter in Quincy votes for only twenty. This disproportionate representation increases by every census. The probability that one vote will elect one representative in Milton is the same exactly that one vote in Boston will elect 44 representatives. Surely I have only to state this monstrous wrong to insure its universal condemnation.

Another evil is, that the voice of the minority in a city, composed of thousands of voters it may be, is never heard. A voice in the House of Representatives from a Boston Democrat would be like a voice from the dead, so unusual would it be. The district system provides for their deliverance.

The third objection is, that the power of nominating candidates is taken from the people and intrusted to a general committee. A power unknown to the Constitution intervenes between the people and the object of their choice. A species of tyranny, like that of the thirty tyrants of Athens. The political fortunes of men, young and old, are thus subjected to the caprice of pure simple partisanship.

For the Patriot. The New Constitution.

Mr. Editor:—Having been necessarily absent from town, the allusion made to me by a writer under the name of "Quincy" (who is striving to bring either the town in which he resides or his family whose cognomen he has assumed, into contempt) escaped my attention. I believe I understand what I am about. He thinks, I am not one of the hard shells. Whether I am or not I do not know. I am not in the habit of using meaningless epithets, nor of inquiring what they are intended to mean, if I chance to hear them—and calling men hard shells is 'coating them with sugar' or vinegar, I neither know nor care.

One thing I will say, that it appears from "Quincy's" remarks that he has neither seen the amended Constitution nor read the proposals to read, he belongs to the higher classes I suppose in the State, and we shall then know if the people are ready to abandon the first principles of a republican government, that equality in representations is the only basis upon which we can remain a free and independent people. Bah! Now Mr.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barkley, Farina, Grains, crackers, Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c., Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bedropes, Horse-hair Mittens, Teal Brushes, &c., &c. Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and precision.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other papers. Washington-st., rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45sf

REMOVAL.

New Store and New Good!!

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public, that from the 1st inst. he has removed to the new building recently erected by Dr. L. Lincoln, corner of Hancock & Granite Streets, QUINCY.

where they intend to keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Fancy & Domestic Dry Goods, well adapted to the wants of the community; at all times, can be found a good assortment of Prints, Ginghams, DeLaines, Cashmeres, Alpaccas, and great variety of

Dress Goods and Shawls, shawls, Shirts, Flannels, Blankets, with a full assortment of such articles as are usually found in a well selected stock of DRY GOODS. Also—in connection with the above, can at all times be found, a large stock of

Ready Made Clothing, and Gents Furnishing Goods, with a great variety of Black and Fancy Cloths, buttons, neckties, and Vestings, of the most fashionable Styles, which will be manufactured to order at fair prices and in

STYLE, FIT, and WORKMANSHIP satisfaction guaranteed to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. Grateful for past favors, continuance and increase of the same, is most respectfully solicited. GEORGE SAVIL & Co., Corner Hancock and Granite Street, Quincy, April 30, 1853.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN.

71 TREMONT-ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON. OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, polypus, hemorrhages, skin diseases, catarrhs, colds, asthma, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c. &c. &c. The various humors and eruptions which so frequently form the foundation of the most distressing and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints have no relation to those in ordinary use; they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Inquiries are invited to our office. No charge for consultation. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytical Physician, 71 Tremont St. (opposite Hollis St.) BOSTON. Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 45—1y

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON.

Desires of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of this season, to supply themselves with incorruptible substitutes of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all who wish to save their natural teeth by timely care, to use of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, or the atmosphere principle, firm, useful, and easy to be worn from $25 00 to $50 00. For an entire upper or lower set of fourteen teeth—from $20 00 to $40 00. For parts of sets of more than two teeth—from $5 00 to $20 00 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver, or platinum, from $1 50 to $2 50. For filling with gold, from $5 00 to $2 50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts. A gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to wear one quarter longer than is generally used for the purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 100 North Street, Boston. 11—3mos

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

HIGMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE, as cheap as they can be bought in the City. As, Turmeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muric Acid, Sugar lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground and French Logwood, Coppers, Blue and Indigo Vatriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Bonnet Glue, American and English Linings, Sal Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose, Ammonia, Gumboge, oil of Tartar, Nicotiana, Madrier and Turkey Amber, Lamp Glass, Black Antimony, Glass and Lead, Ground Pumice Stone, Salt Petre, and Liquid Ammonia, &c. GEORGE W. WHITING, Quincy, Sept. 8. 45

Lovel's Walpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore the Gray Hair to its original color. With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 25. 45

Mohair Mitts.

Good assortment, long and short Mohair Mitts, sent received by GEO. SAVIL & Co., Corner of Hancock and Granite streets, Quincy, July 2. 45

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by I. W. MUNROE. Quincy, May 21. 45

Poetry.

Original Hymn.

BY REV. WILLIAM P. LUNT, D. D.,
Sung at the Agricultural Meeting, at Dedham,
September 28th, 1853.

HOSEA I—21, 22: "And it shall come to pass on that day, I will howl, and the Lord, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth.
And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wheat, and the oil: and they shall hear Israel."

One cry, with never-ceasing sound,
Circles Creation's ample round;
While all below, and all above,
Turn, genial Parent, to thy love.

The corn, and vine, and olive fair,
Hasten to meet thee, O Father, here;
And from earth's all-fostering breast
Expect their fathers and their zest.

The mighty mother, for her brood
Careful to yield their wanted food,
Looks up and asks the heavenly powers
For quickening heat and softening showers.

The flying clouds and fiery ball
Listen to earth's entreating call;
But these implore a Will Divine,
For leave to drop, and power to shine.

Thus through Creation's ample round,
One prayer is heard with peaceful sound;
While all below, and all above,
Turn, genial Parent, to thy love.

Away with Gloom.

Spurn the lines which sorrow traces:
Laugh the life of life away.
They who wear the gladdened faces
Always live the longest day.

Why complain though fortune press thee?
Why repine at lowly birth,
While contentment still may bless thee
With the joys of peering mirth?

Art thou rich in pounds and relief?
Dost thou sleep on beds of down?
Laugh to see how vain the baubles
Which deceive the gaping clown.

What though now thy fears are many,
And thy locks are turning gray?
Hast thou not a hope of any Joy beyond thy mortal day?

Thou hast dreamed perhaps of glory;
Fate has held thee under ban:
Still anxious to sing or story,
Thou canst not be a merry man.

Toil not after gilded sadness;
Let not woe thy soul entice;
For the earth is full of gladness Offered thee without a price.

Dost thou speak of cares and troubles?
Cares and troubles, what are they?
Nothing more than fleeting bubbles
Which a laugh may drive away.

Laugh, and charm the fates to listen!
Hoot all gloomy fancies down!
Thus shalt thou forget to hasten,
And e'en death relax his frown!

Do Good.

Do and suffer ought in vain;
Let no trifling thing be;
If the salt of life is pain,
Let 'em wrongs bring good to thee;
Good to others, few or many,
Good to all, or good to any.

Anecdotes.

A crack-brained man, who was slighted by the females, very modestly asked a young lady—"if she would let him spend the evening with her?"

"No," she angrily replied, "that's what I want!"

"Why," replied he, "you needn't be so fussy; I didn't mean this evening, but some stormy one when I can't go anywhere else!"

An Irishman, who had commenced building a wall around his lot, of rather uncon-mon "diminution," viz., four feet high and six feet thick—was asked the object by a particular friend.

"To save repairs, my honey; don't you see that if it ever falls down it will be higher than it is now?"

"During your travels in Canada, Mr. Slocum, did you meet with any thing which arrested your attention?"

"Yes, sir—a deputy sheriff—he not only arrested my attention, but my person, and marched me off to jail, for crossing the line, without paying duty on a yaller dog."

An Irish carriage driver once made a very happy and characteristic reply. A gentleman had replied to Pat—"Want a carriage, sir?" by saying: "No, I am able to walk."

Pat rejoined, "My your honor long to be able but seldom willing."

"It's quite too bad of ye, Darby, to say that your wife is worse than the devil."

"An't plaze your reverence, I can prove it by the Holy Scripture—I can by the powers.
Didn't your reverence, in a sermon, tell us if we resisted the devil, he'd flee from us?—
now, if I resist my wife, she flies at me!"

A young woman, on alighting from a stage, dropped a ribbon from her bonnet in the bottom of the coach. "A lady have left your bow behind," said a lady passenger.

"No, I haven't—he's gone a fishing," innocently replied the dame.

"Hiram, my boy," said a tender father to his son, "you must be more careful of yourself; you have not the constitution of some."

"Don't you believe it; I've got the constitution of a horse. Dang it, if I don't believe I've got the great Constitution of the United States."

"No one can do anything against his own will," said a metaphysician.

"Be jabers, I had a brother," said Pat,
"that went to Bottany Bay, and faith I know it was greatly against his will!"

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HARD AND SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11.

DR. EUGBEE,
Having resumed practice, offers his professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4.

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.

Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sick persons.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Ha-
vanna Cigars.

No. 106 Kneeland Street.
Boston, April 16, 1853.

ALL KINDS OF
Job Printing.

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF

BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING.

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries.

OYSTERS & CLAM-GROWERS.
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN—
Ready-made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
(33-A complete assortment always on hand.)
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom
Work.

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF

Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT,
Quincy, July 9, 1853.

KINGSBURY & EMERSON,
Counsellors at Law,
WYOMOUTH MASS.

F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.
One at Office, Hollis Institute Buildings, every Tuesday.
SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass.
July 5.

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIVE BETY & A L_o
Over C. & L. Curtis',
GROCERY STORE,

Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,

together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

B. F. MESERVEY,
WATCHMAKER AND JEWELLER,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.

HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, April 24.

Bargains.
MUNLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage
de Laines, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at
the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite
Streets, Quincy.

The undersigned being desirous of closing the
balance of their Stock of
SUMMER GOODS,
will offer the same at a great discount from former
prices. Call and examine.
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.
Quincy, July 16.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LU B R;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.

Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing elsewhere, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852.

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.

N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, July 23

Fishing Poles.
BAMBOOS, Cane Poles and Rattan, constantly
on hand and for sale, wholesale and retail.
Also—Cooper's Stock and Tools.
Also—Hunt's and Water's Cans.

Apply to JOHN LANG,
56 and 57 India Wharf.
Boston, July 9.

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF"
An Invaluable Book for 25 Cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies sold in less than five months.
New edition revised and
improved, just issued.

Dr. HUNTER'S Medical
Manual and Hand
Book for the Student.
Containing an outline of
the origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical technicalities, and everything that would offend the ear of decency. From the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S
MEDICAL MANUAL." The author of this work
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the unfortunate, or to the victims of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence. JOSEPH LONGHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the "Medical Manual." Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrange-
ment of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of the genital organs, I have seen his superior profession. I have been acquainted with the Author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to state that he is a kind and benevolent man, and a thorough professional skill, and integrity they may safely confide in him. ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. The author, in plain and simple terms, it addresses itself to the person of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the
various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he offers to the world, at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruit of his twenty-years most successful practice. —H. R. R.

"No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and a row
to the youth under their charge." —PEOPLE'S AD-VERTISER.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of Hunter's Medical Manual, says: "The influence and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self pollution without realizing the cause of disease, consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitution of thousands of men are rising families have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and induce of disease, check, and ultimately to remove this wide spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Interference for the use of this work, I think, is again thus made. The author upon thousands, is not a doctor for the sake of a man's race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, securely enclosed, will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Bookellers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Important Discovery.
DR. ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine,
establishing the laws of life and removing the cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCI-ENCE by the Nutritive Principle, expelling dead
and depositing living matter at the same time in the body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample proof can be given in person of a invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, and examines cases, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the diseased condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes of his Nutritive Principle and cordials.

His is the most careful attention and treatment is required in all cases, with printed instructions, and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by
the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids that can be made by any family,
adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works "Views of the New Theory," &c., "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is to be before Congress.

Do for Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter or in person, at his Rooms, NO. 15 Winter
Street, Boston, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
(33-Medicines &c., forwarded by Express to any place.)

Important Discovery.
DR. ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine,
establishing the laws of life and removing the
cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCI-ENCE by the Nutritive Principle, expelling dead
and depositing living matter at the same time in the body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample
proof can be given in person of a invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, and examines cases, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the diseased condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes of his Nutritive Principle and cordials.

His is the most careful attention and treatment is required in all cases, with printed instructions, and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for
the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by
the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids that can be made by any family,
adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works "Views of the New Theory," &c., "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is to be before Congress.

Do for Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter or in person, at his Rooms, NO. 15 Winter
Street, Boston, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
(33-Medicines &c., forwarded by Express to any place.)

Important Discovery.
DR. ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine,
establishing the laws of life and removing the
cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCI-ENCE by the Nutritive Principle, expelling dead
and depositing living matter at the same time in the body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample
proof can be given in person of a invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, and examines cases, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the diseased condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes of his Nutritive Principle and cordials.

His is the most careful attention and treatment is required in all cases, with printed instructions, and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for
the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by
the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids that can be made by any family,
adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works "Views of the New Theory," &c., "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is to be before Congress.

Do for Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter or in person, at his Rooms, NO. 15 Winter
Street, Boston, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
(33-Medicines &c., forwarded by Express to any place.)

Important Discovery.
DR. ALFRED G. HALL,
AUTHOR of the New Theory of cure by the Nutritive Principle, in Physiology and Medicine,
establishing the laws of life and removing the
cause of disease, confirmed as a NATURAL SCI-ENCE by the Nutritive Principle, expelling dead
and depositing living matter at the same time in the body, increasing its weight and strength while under treatment, being the great discovery of the constitutional power resisting disease; ample
proof can be given in person of a invalid.

Dr. H. receives visits, and examines cases, ascertains the cause of disease, describes the diseased condition of the patient, furnishes prescriptions, medicines and recipes of his Nutritive Principle and cordials.

His is the most careful attention and treatment is required in all cases, with printed instructions, and washing, and the use of the Alkaline Girdle for
the spine and kidneys—a restorative action is produced in all parts of the system immediately by
the natural laws sustained by nutrition.

He is the inventor and proprietor of 12 nutritive fluids that can be made by any family,
adapted to the several temperaments, and to every form of disease. His works "Views of the New Theory," &c., "Womanhood," and the "Mother's Own Book," are furnished to invalids under his supervision. It is to be before Congress.

Do for Alfred G. Hall may be consulted by letter or in person, at his Rooms, NO. 15 Winter
Street, Boston, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.
(33-Medicines &c., forwarded by Express to any place.)

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company. Insure Real Estate and Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insurers; the patronage of the public is solicited, and from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing
support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon P. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb, Walter P. Bates, Stephen Bates, William B. Du-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ston of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.,
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Hon. John Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.

William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.

THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article
ever invented. Manufactured for, and sold by GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

CAUTION.
The celebrity of this article has so quickly obtained for it, that persons, without authority, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be DAVIES'
Liquid Hair Dye; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus

John Davies.

For the Complexion.
TRUMPET'S Orange Flower Lotion. Fantastic Balm of the Thousand Flowers. Milk of Roses, Amending for Tan Sunburn &c. &c. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, May 7.

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Boston, May 21, 1853.

DRESSING FOR THE HAIR.—Burdett's
"Longinus Compound," Kitchen and Kenderson's Hair Preservative; Lyon's Kalmhair; Kirk's, Packard's and Cannon's Linseed; Swan's odorless mollient Preservative; Jenny Lind's Hair Gloss; Foster's Mountain Compound, and various other articles for the same purpose, for sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.

RAEWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the marvelous and miraculous power of stop-
ping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The R. R. R. Remedies consists of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action,
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.

RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.

The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.

Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.

CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the sufferer from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.

SICK HEAD ACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed
attacks.

In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Burns, Scalds, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lame-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.
IT CURES

Scrofula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitius Dance
Rickets Scurvy Salt Rheum
Asthma Nodules Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas Tetters

the above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.

It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hos. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Wacumaw, S. C.<

fire of antagonists who are not very partial to the race it represents. A writer who means to impute language to us we never used, is an opponent with whom we shall never contend.

Your correspondent 'Democrat' has stated his case with candor, and has said all that can be said in favor of the proposed constitution; he says 'the Whigs charge that by denying the small towns an annual representation, we discard and reject the very principle for which we contend.' Is it not so, what has been the argument, has not the constitution of 1780 been appealed to, to prove the right of small towns to representation; that constitution allowed them a representative every year, and have we not been told that we disfranchised them by not giving them this privilege? And now the new constitution proposes to take the right from them only four years out of ten, while others would extend it to the whole term; the whole difference is one of time and not of principle, cannot 'Democrat' see this, it seems to us so clear that it might penetrate even the crazy brain of a newly unforged Whig.

'Democrat' would have us believe that it is only a temporary suspension of the principle, because these small towns are fast increasing in population, and will soon be entitled to an annual representation; would he address such an argument to a jury? Although the towns that are now small may in process of time pass out of the prohibited class, yet the principle still remains in the constitution to be applied whenever a case occurs. Suppose it should be contended that towns less than one thousand inhabitants should have no representation, and it should be argued that this is not an evil, because those towns are increasing in population, and will in time have people enough in them to entitle them to one, would 'Democrat' consider such reasoning sound.

Why is so much sympathy felt for small towns, and the rights of a larger portion of the people disregarded; had thus the subject of representation been presented to the people as an independent proposition, who can doubt what would have been its fate. The true principle is to let small towns unite in districts and then the rights of all will be respected. Mr. Hallist truly said in convention, 'when you depart from that principle (that a majority shall govern), and place the government in the hands of one less than a majority, you have no republican government.' How then can Democrats vote for a constitution which tramples down one of the principle articles of their creed; however we are divided by parties, we are still one people; let the rights of all be maintained; if the proposed constitution does not do this let it be rejected, and a system devised which will secure all the privileges which belong to us as members of a free State.

QUINCY. The Norfolk County Journal says, 'we have excellent authority for saying the Hon. C. F. Adams will not support the new Constitution.' The son is worthy of the sire!

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, October 22, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

An Interesting Work.

"Historical Collections of the Great West: containing Narratives of the most Important and Interesting Events in Western History—Remarkable Individual Adventures—Frontier Life—Descriptions of Natural Curiosities: to which is appended Historical and Descriptive Sketches of Oregon, New Mexico, Minnesota, Utah and California." By HENRY HOWE, Author of Historical Collections of Virginia; Historical Collections of Ohio. Illustrated with numerous Engravings.

Such is the title-page of a new work (two volumes in one) which has been recently issued from the press, and sold only through authorized agents, one of which gentlemen (Mr. Willard) is now in town soliciting patrons.

This work of nearly five hundred pages, well illustrated by numerous appropriate engravings, embraces a collection of interesting and instructive events that have transpired, and relates many graphic incidents and scenes of life in the remote regions of the "Great West." Every thing connected with this portion of our country possesses an interest; and this volume succinctly though elaborately presents to view, in all particulars, the various reasons which create such a desire for knowledge of this section of our Union.

The author of this work, (Henry Howe), has seen some of the events which he has narrated, and the remainder he has compiled from the most reliable sources, so that his labors of years are brought in a bird's eye view to our observation in this exceedingly neat and attractive volume. The language employed in the delineation of the incidents is terse, vigorous, and graphic, and ensures for the reader a pleasure to peruse its well-stored pages. Sketches of New Mexico, Deseret, Oregon, California, etc., are full of thrilling interest, and add materially to enhance the value of the work.

Every person, who likes a good work, and the "Great West" is certainly of this class, should now purchase one of the gentlemanly agent, as they will never regret the money thus appropriated.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE. Mr. T. A. Conley of Maine, who has for many years lived in a Convent in Ireland, will address the citizens of this town, on the subject of Temperance, at the Town Hall, on Sabbath evening, (Oct. 23d,) commencing at seven o'clock. Mr. Conley will show the effects of intemperance upon men of genius, such as Byron, Burns, Wirt, Poe, Maginn, Moreland, and many other distinguished men of the nineteenth century, in this country and in Europe. It will be a highly interesting lecture.

GOOD APPOINTMENT. Prof. William M. Cornell, M. D., of Boston, has been appointed by the Governor and Council, a Coroner for the County of Suffolk. Medical gentlemen are generally selected for this office in the City of New York as being best qualified from their profession.

WHIG CANDIDATES. At the recent convention of the Whigs, the following gentlemen were nominated as candidates for Senators from Norfolk County, viz:—

WILLIAM ASPINWALL of Brookline, CALVIN FISHER of Wrentham, JOHN W. LOUD of Weymouth.

C. GILL & Co., have just made large additions to their stock of Books, which now embraces many valuable works of History, Biography, Travels, Romance, etc., by the most reliable and interesting writers. We should think this would be the very best place for societies or individuals to select a library.

For the Patriot.

Democratic Caucus.

At a meeting of the democratic citizens of Quincy, held at the Lyceum Hall, on Thursday evening last, William S. Morton, Esq., was called to the chair, and Mr. Wyman Abercrombie was chosen Secretary.

The following named gentlemen were chosen Delegates to attend the Norfolk County Democratic Convention, which is to be held at Dedham, on the 24th inst, viz:—

Messrs. William S. Morton, James M. Beekford, Thomas Curtis, James White, E. B. Hersey, George Cahill, Thompson Baxter, John A. Green, William S. Pattee and Martin B. Merriitt.

For the Patriot.

Schools of Quincy.

Quincy Point District.—Rev. George Whitney in his history of Quincy, published about the year 1827, thus discourses relative to this section of our town. "Bent's Point lies on the easterly portion of the town, over against Germantown, and may be considered already the most beautiful part of the town. It has been settled within a few years by enterprising men, mostly by such as have led a seafaring life. . . . The Point has already become a place of considerable business, and for the regularity of the buildings and the taste displayed around them, is certainly not equaled by any other parts of the town. . . . This pleasant place has also been called Old Fields' district, according to tradition, because once it was about the only spot in town where corn was raised. By a particular vote of the inhabitants, it is henceforth to be called Quincy Point. The name of Bent's Point was derived from a family of that name residing thereabouts." The projection of the Hingham Turnpike through Quincy in 1812, gave origin to the whole length of Washington street, one of the best thoroughfares of our town. Previous to this, a narrow and crooked road or path, wound its way from the head of Quincy Canal, to the Point, on which were but four or five venerable houses, now standing. If Quincy Point, as represented by Mr. Whitney attractive in 1827, it is now much more so. The population has increased three fold. Dwellings have doubled in number; new streets have sprung into existence, and a neat Temple of public worship, has adorned this region for fifteen years past. In part circumscribed by the sea, for navigable enterprise it is unequalled in advantages; having the most capacious wharves in Norfolk county. The south-eastern shores are so bold, that a seventy-four gun ship might fearlessly gambol in its waters, and slumber in quiet at its wharves. The school history of this district is comparatively modern. Some years since Mr. William Adams, a worthy resident of the Point in single blessedness, presented to the inhabitants of the district as a free gift forever, the present eligible school house lot, even now, the best in town; being about 50 square rods. Mr. Adams afterwards removed to Hopkinton and died at an advanced age. The first school house erected in this district, stood near the location of the present one. It was afterwards sold and removed, and is now improved by Mr. Thaddeus Churchill, corner of South and Washington streets. The present school house was originally one story, and stood near the street. In 1833 it was removed to the back part of the lot, its present location, and in part rebuilt. The school records reach only as far back as 1831. On the 23d of March of this year, the district was duly organized under a precept of the Selectmen as the "Quincy Point School District," and continued under that organization until May 21, 1838, when it assumed its present corporate name of Quincy Point District.

tract. The westerly line commences at a post on Weymouth and Braintree Turnpike, and runs nearly straight over South and Washington streets, to a monument at the margin of Quincy Canal. "This district is bounded northerly by Quincy Canal and town river, easterly by Weymouth Fore River, southerly by the town of Braintree, and westerly by the line above described." The easterly or southern sides of three school districts of Quincy are washed by the ocean, and three of them border on Braintree. Prior to 1830 the "Old Fields' District" received but a slender school appropriation. In 1832 there were eighty scholars, with a town appropriation of $292. In 1831 and 1832 Mr. Kingman was the male, and Miss Branham the female teacher. The census of 1833 exhibited eighty-eight children, from four to sixteen years of age. Teachers in 1834, George Newcomb, Miss Clarissa Richards, 1835, Doctor Daniel S. Woodman, now of Seaport Me, and Miss Sarah Branham, 1836, George Newcomb and Miss Lydia Spear. In 1837 and 1838 the school appears to have been under the sole charge of George Newcomb Esq. At a meeting of the district in March 1840, it was voted "to plant trees in the school yard under the direction of the town's committee." The teachers in 1839 were John C. Edwards deceased in California, and Miss Harriet F. Pierson. In 1840 John C. Edwards, assisted for a short time by M. T. Green. In 1841 John C. Edwards and Miss C. A. Green and Lydia Spear. 1842-3 J. C. Edwards, Miss Lydia Spear. In 1843 the school Library was formed of fifty-four volumes. The teachers in 1845 were Daniel Atwood and Miss Lydia Spear. In 1845-6 Freeman R. Joy and Miss Spear. From 1816 to 1853, George Newcomb Esq., superintended the grammar department. The female teachers were Miss M. R. Gannett of Milton, two years, Miss Elizabeth D. Brown, three years, Miss M. A. Wood, one year, Miss M. H. Savil in the primary department two years. In 1852, the intermediate school was successively under the charge of Miss M. R. Gannett, Miss E. E. Sargent and Miss M. H. Littlefield. The present year has been one of mutation with the teachers of the Quincy Point School. Since April last the grammar school has been in charge of Mr. John N. Brown, an able and popular teacher, who resigned in June last to take charge of a school at New Bedford. Mr. James H. Fitts, who taught but one month and resigned on account of ill health; Mr. Edwin B. George is the present teacher. No change has occurred in the intermediate school the present year, now in charge of its successful and faithful instructor. The primary school under its second teacher, since April last is now doing well.

It will be perceived by the foregoing sketch that among the teachers, George Newcomb Esq., labored ten out of the past nineteen years, as the principal of the Quincy Point School; the last six of them, consecutively. Mr. Newcomb, we believe, is a native of this portion of our town, and until within a brief period a resident of Quincy from his youth up. The axiom that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country, is hardly applicable to his case. Laboring among his numerous kindred, and the associates of his school-boy days, he was successful, useful and honored. The neighbors speak well of him, and the children with whom he has passed the golden period of youth, and no small portion of the best days of his mature life, love him for the good he has done them to their minds and hearts. That love will not soon pass away. He now fills a wider sphere of responsibility in the neighboring town of North Chelsea, where he continues to exercise the duties of a good teacher, and a worthy and upright citizen. Among the prominent friends of education in this district named in its records, and who have served as Prudential Committees since 1831, are John Souther Esq., the late venerable Benjamin Bramhall, Messrs. James Newcomb, George Baxter, Elijah Baxter, James Lovell, Peleg F. Jones, Bryant B. Newcomb and Thomson Spear. Bryant B. Newcomb Esq., filled the office several years. Previous to 1831, I have been informed that Mr. Luther Munn, a respected citizen of Quincy was the successful teacher of the Quincy Point School. Number of children from five to fifteen years of age the present year, about two hundred.

The Bank Commissioners of this State, have issued an order to prevent banks in the vicinity of Boston, from having offices in that city, for the purpose of transacting a portion of their business. They threaten an injunction if their order is not obeyed.

A marksman of Saxton River, (Vt.) recently placed a piece of white paper, three inches long by two inches wide, a distance of one hundred yards, and in five successive shots drove the nail twice and the other three balls struck within a quarter of an inch of the exact centre.

There are one hundred and sixty-five little children in New Orleans, in an asylum by themselves, who have been reduced to orphanage by the death of their parents, who have fallen victims to the yellow fever.

Out of every hundred men who were married in England in 1840, thirty-three signed the marriage register with their marks, and out of every hundred women, forty-six!

The receipts at the Metropolitan Hotel in New York in one month, recently, exceeded sixty thousand dollars.

The returns of the trade show that in Massachusetts, of the five millions gallons of spirits, annually distilled from molasses, three-fourths at least are used for alcohol, or for other purposes than as beverage.

The application of an individual for an innkeeper's license, at Liverpool, (Eng.) was urged on the ground that he had thirty-four children, five of which were born in two years.

FASHIONABLE HATS. What adds more to personal appearance than a neat and well-formed hat? and this article can be found at Geo. Savil & Co.'s extensive Dry Goods Store in this town, who have just received their Fall supply of the latest fashions; they were expressly manufactured of the best materials, are very easy and light to the head, and will retain a bright and beautiful appearance for some time.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 17th inst., Mrs. Rebecca, widow of the late Mr. Elisha T. Crane, aged 75 years and 5 months.

On the 20th inst., Sarah, daughter of Mr. Patrick and Mrs. Sarah Walsh, aged 2 years and 9 months.

In this town, on the 12th inst., Sarah Evelyn, daughter of Mr. Charles W. and Mrs. Louisa R. Carver, aged 2 years and 9 months.

Mourn not for her afflicted parents, Though bereft of one so dear, Let thy children's smiles console thee, And thy mournful spirits cheer.

She has left this world of sorrow, For yon bright and blissful sphere, Thou art long in Heaven shall meet her, Where the ransomed all appear.

Weep not that she has left you, Brush the tear from sorrow's eye, For your little one lives in heaven, Land of bliss beyond the sky.

Christ can soothe your troubled spirit, He can all your grief allay, Trust in Him, he'll end all sorrows, And all tears will wipe away.

In this town, on the 18th, ult., of quick consumption, Mr. John Gillespie, merchant-tailor, formerly of St. John, (N. B.), aged 42.

Death, though a blessing in the aggregate, is at all times a solemn thing, and there is, in the natural expression of human grief at the loss of a friend, an indication of that tenderness of heart which is pleasing to the Creator. As, death is indeed a solemn thing, and its presence has peculiar solemnity when it widows a wife and makes orphans of her children. The subject of these remarks has left a widow and six children to lament a bereavement which, though not unexpected, as he has long been in feeble health, is to them a calamity which expression is powerless to describe. To a wide circle of acquaintance in the social and mercantile circles, Mr. Gillespie was long known for blamelessness in his domestic walks, and for intellect, probity and energy in the world of trade; his loss is lamented accordingly.

An affecting incident, which we will relate occurred immediately before his death. He had lost the power of speech, and was obliged to express his wish by writing. The calmness of his mind, and its unclouded reason, were plainly evinced in what he wrote; and his selection of the following quotation from his tombstone, indicated the nature of his reflections while hovering, consciously, upon the grave's dark verge:

'One step to the white bed, And one to the bier; One to the grave-yard, And one—Oh where?'

Peace to his resting-place, and honoring love bless his memory.

'—All that live must die, Passing through Nature to Eternity.'

J. A. G.

Special Notices

NOTICE. Tickets admitting persons to the course of Lectures to be delivered before the Quincy Lyceum the coming season, may be had, on and after Monday evening next, of Mr. George L. Gill, at the Quincy Bookstore, and of the Secretary of the Society.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

1st.—To hear and act on the Report of the Committee chosen at the last meeting in regard to holding a Levee.

2d.—To choose Committees, etc., to carry the same into execution.

Per order of the Directors.

NOTICE. A meeting of the Free Democracy of Quincy will be held at the Lyceum Room, on SATURDAY EVENING, Oct. 22d, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of choosing Delegates to attend the County Convention to be held at Dedham, on the 25th inst., and for any other business that may come before them.

Per order of Free Dem. Town Com. F. M. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified that their next meeting will be held at the house of Miss Elizabeth C. Adams, on THURSDAY, Oct. 27th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

The following vote was passed at the last meeting:—That any Lady might become a member of the Society by paying twenty-five cents.

Per order of the Secretary.

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November: On Tuesday, the 1st, Introductory, by Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, JR.;

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SUMNER.

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALGER;

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by WENDELL PHILLIPS, Esq.;

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESDERNER.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them positively), and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring: viz.—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lathrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

A convention of the Democracy of Norfolk County will be held at the Phoenix House, in Dedham, on TUESDAY, Oct. 25th inst., at ten o'clock A. M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for Senators and to transact such other business as may properly come before them.

The several towns in the County are requested to send one Delegate, and one in addition for every twenty-five democratic votes given at the last gubernatorial election.

Per order Democratic County Committee. JOSEPH W. ROBERTSON, Chairman.

Quincy, Oct. 6th, 1853.

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF FALL AND WINTER CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store, TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold at a price than any store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

For Gentlemen's Wear,

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF HATS, CAPS, SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and GENTS FURNISHING GOODS.

A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made up into Garments of any description, at short notice, by GEORGE SAVIL & Co., Goodnow's Building, Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM BENT, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

NANCY BENT, Administratrix.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, - - GREETING.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the Inhabitants of said Town, to come to vote in Town Affairs, to meet at the Lyceum Room, on WEDNESDAY, the twenty-sixth day of October, current, at half past four o'clock P. M., and there to act on the following articles, to wit:

ARTICLE 1st.—To choose a Moderator.

ARTICLE 2d.—To hear and act on the Report of the Selectmen, relative to the laying out of a Town Road, (which Report is on file in the Town Clerk's Office,) leading from Elm Street, through lands of J. Q. Adams, Charles Smith, Samuel R. and Charles H. Edwards, and Samuel R. Edwards, to Washington Street, as surveyed by Charles Brock, Esq.

ARTICLE 3d.—To see if the Town will request the Selectmen to cause said Road to be opened and built forthwith.

Hereof, fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, on, or before the time specified for said meeting.

Given under our hands this eighteenth day of October, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty three.

LEWIS BASS, } of NOAH CUMMINGS, } Selectmen
B. B. NEWCOMB, }
A true Copy. Attest
SETH ADAMS, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, October 18th, 1853.

Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the Inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the time, place, and for the purposes therein named.

SETH ADAMS, Constable of Quincy.

Executor's Notice

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of

ELISHA T. CRANE, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

EDMUND MARSH, Executor.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by NATHANIEL WHITE, Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Furniture at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, next, at 3 o'clock P. M.—1 Sofa, Bedsteads, Chairs, Desk, Shower Bath, Crb. Stoves, bed and Tailor's Tools, and many other articles; this property belonged to the late Mr. John Gillespie.

Conditions made known at the sale.

CHARLES H. FRENCH, Auct.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of WILLIAM HOLLES, late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

JAMES HOLLES, Admin.

Braintree, Oct. 15.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. In Insolvency. Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for said County of Norfolk.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Assignee of the Estate of

DAVID COVILL, of Quincy, in said County, Testator, an Insolvent Debtor.

The second meeting of the creditors of said Insolvent will be held at the Court of Insolvency, at said Commissioner's Court Room, in Canton, on the twenty-first day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

For further particulars, address, (postage paid) to

R. BERT SEARS, Publisher, 181 William Street, New York.

Oct. 15.

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 to 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces.

The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

Notice.

WHEREAS, my wife, Eliza S. Rowell, having left my bed and board without any cause or provocation, I hereby forbid all persons trusting or harboring her on my account, as I shall pay no debts of her contracting after this date.

CALEB ROWELL.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

Notice.

TO be sold by order of the Honorable Court of Probate, within, and for the County of Norfolk, at the late dwelling house in Weymouth, of Abraham Bates deceased, on MONDAY, the 24th day of October current, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, one Pew, numbered 15, in the Meeting-house of the Methodist Episcopal Society, in Weymouth, being a part of the Real Estate of said deceased, for payment of his just debts, and expenses of Administration.

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, - GREETING.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town, qualified to vote in Town Affairs, to meet at the Town Meeting, on WEDNESDAY, the twenty-sixth day of October, current, at half past four o'clock P. M., and there to act on the following articles, to wit:

ARTICLE 1st.—To choose a Moderator.
ARTICLE 2d.—To hear and act on the Report of the Selectmen, relative to the laying out of a Town Road, (which Report is on file in the Town Clerk's Office,) leading from Elm Street, through lands of J. Q. Adams, Charles Smith, Samuel R. and Charles H. Edwards, and Samuel R. Edwards, to Washington Street, as surveyed by Charles Brock, Esq.

ARTICLE 3d.—To see if the Town will request the Selectmen to cause said Road to be opened and built forthwith.
Hereof, fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, on, or before the time specified for said meeting.

Witness under our hands this eighteenth day of October, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and fifty-three.
LEWIS BASS, }
JOHN CUMMINGS, } Selectmen
B. B. NEWCOMB, }
Attest
SETH ADAMS, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, October 15th, 1853.
Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the time, place, and for the purposes therein named.
SETH ADAMS, Constable of Quincy.

Executor's Notice

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of ELISHA T. CRANE,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to EDMUND MARSH, Executor.
Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, for sale by NATHANIEL WHITE, at ten o'clock
Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Furniture at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, next, at 2 o'clock P. M.—Sofa, Bedsteads, Chairs, Desk, Shower Bath, Crib, Stoves, lat of Taylor's Tools, and many other articles; this property belonged to the late Mr. John Gillespie.
Conditions made known at the sale.
GEORGE H. FRENCH, Aucr.
Quincy, Oct. 22. 1w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Estate of WILLIAM HOLLS,
late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to
JAMES HOLLS, Adm.
Braintree, Oct. 15. 3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. In SOLVENCY.
Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for said County of Norfolk.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Assignee of the Estate of
DAVID COVILL,
of Quincy, in said County, Treasurer, an Insolvent Debtor.
The second meeting of the creditors of said Insolvent will be held at a Court of Insolvency, at said Commissioner's Court Room, in Canton, on the twenty-sixth day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.
CHARLES ENDICOTT, Assignee.
Canton, Oct. 15. 2w

Please to Read this.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED.

To sell Pictorial and Useful Works for the year 1854.
WANTED in every section of the United States, artists and enterprising men, to engage in the sale of some of the best Books published in the Country. To men of good address, possessing a small capital of $25 to $100, such investments will be offered as to enable them to make $25 to $50 a day profit.
The Books published by us are all useful in their character, extremely popular, and command large sales wherever they are offered.
For further particulars, address (postage paid) to
ROBERT STARRS, Publisher,
181 William Street, New York.
Oct. 15. 2w

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 to 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and 20 to 30 bush. Quinces.
The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the County.
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 6w

Notice.

WHEREAS, my wife, Eliza S. Rowell, having left my bed and board without any cause of provocation, I hereby forbid all persons trusting her, and all persons who shall pay any bills for her contracting after this date.
CALEB ROWELL.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 2w

Notice.

TO be sold by order of the Honorable Court of Probate, within, and for the County of Norfolk, at the late dwelling house in Weymouth, Abraham Bates deceased, on MONDAY, the fifth day of October current, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, one Pew, numbered 15, in the Meeting-house of the Methodist Episcopal Society, in Weymouth, being a part of the Real Estate of said deceased, for payment of his just debts, and expenses of Administration.
SUSAN L. BATES, Administratrix.
Weymouth, October 8. 3w

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received a new supply of Trunk's Magnetic Ointment, for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Ague, Sore Throat, and Inflammation of all kinds, and prevents Lock Jaw in case of wounds, &c.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

QUINCY PATRIOT,

200 TO 300 BUSHELS of Potatoes, for sale by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

Dr. Hoofland's

Will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or disordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold at retail.
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE
TREMONT ROW
SILK & SHAWL STORE.
AND INCREASED FACILITIES,
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in
SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!
F. A. JONES & CO.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND
that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add
New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature
to constitute their Establishment the
LARGEST AND BEST
RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE
IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!
Ladies will bear in mind that
Unlike other large Dry Goods
Houses in Boston,
We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved
FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who are SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY
honored us with their patronage.
Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of Graduate Joseph Jones, formerly of the Gould Trade of Boston, whose labors it will be made PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE AND
AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED
WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.
F. A. JONES & Co.
are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers
every kind of Shawls, Silks, Tissues and Cashmeres,
FANCY AND STAPLE
Dress and Cloak Goods
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
PARIS CLOAKS
and all similar articles in great profusion,
Laces and Embroideries,
GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.
Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!
as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not
ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS
To pay the expense of six or eight months'
credit on our Goods!!
AUCTION HOUSES
as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice
Goods to our mammoth assortment, and
we say with confidence
WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS
HAS PROVED.
that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of
Extra, Medium & Common
Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains.
We conclude by advising that Purchasers will not forget what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.
F. A. JONES & CO.,
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street,)
BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853. 3m

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SCHOOL STATIONERY.

For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and
A School Stationery now used in all the PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR
Schools in town.
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the
HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold.
Quincy May 15, 1852.

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satauric
Licence; by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilson, the Rascal's Victim. Founded on fact. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, October 1. 3w

Salt Pork,

FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

Neat's Foot Oil,

FOR sale cheap for cash, by
D. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

Parlor and Cooking Stoves

in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street.
Boston, October 1. 4w

Road Notice.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of Norfolk.
THE Subscribers, inhabitants of the town of Quincy, in said County, respectfully represent,
that common convenience, and necessity, require that that part of a Town Way, called Summer
street, lying between School and Liberty streets, in said Quincy, should be widened; that in March last, several inhabitants of Quincy, requested the Selectmen thereof in writing, to alter
said way, and that they have refused so to do.
We therefore pray your Honorable Board, to view said way, and cause all desirable alterations in
the same.
LIBA LITCHFIELD, and eight others.
Quincy, Sept. 27th, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. At a meeting of the County
Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the fourth Tuesday of September, A. D. 1853.
ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered that the County Commissioners will meet at the Hancock House, in Quincy, in said County, on Monday the fifth day of December next, at ten of the clock A. M., and thence proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and act
thereon.
And that an attested copy of said petition with this order thereon be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view; and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, the last publication to be on the fourth day at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places, in said Quincy, thirty days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.
EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
A true copy of the original Petition on file, and order thereon.
Attest, EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
Oct. 8. 2w

INSURANCE.

Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER,
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSUR-ANCE BROKER.
ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office,
Quincy; at No. 18 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16. 3m

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Ex-
terminator, which has been tried and proved superior, by many families in this town and vicinity.
Madagascar Rat Exterminator, and various other kinds. For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 4w

For Sale.

JUST landed from Brig Marcia, from Baltimore, 250 tons Cumberland Coal, a prime article for Smiths and stove purposes.
PRESTON & CURTIS.
Nepesent, October 1. 3w

Insolvent Notice.

NORFOLK SS. In SOLVENCY.
Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esquire,
Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, in the matter of AMOS W. KINGMAN, of Weymouth,
in said County, Boat Maker, Insolvent Debtor.
Notice is hereby given, that the third meeting
of the creditors of said Kingman, will be held at the office of Samuel B. Noyes, Esq., in Canton, in said County, on the fourteenth day of November next,
at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting
creditors may be present and prove their claims.
SILAS HINNEY, Assignee.
Sept. 24. 3w

Executor's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will
of THOMAS HAYDEN, late of Quincy,
in the County of Norfolk, Cordwainer, deceased,
and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate
of said deceased are required to exhibit the same,
and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to ESTHER HAYDEN, Executrix.
Canton, Oct. 15. 2w

THE GOLD HUNTER.

The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Cooking Stove. The peculiar construction of the Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most scientific Cooking Stove now offered in the market. The doors around the oven are so constructed, that it will bake in twenty minutes from the time of lighting the coal, and with wood much easier, and the peculiar mode of cleaning the doors when they get filled with soot, makes this a PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it,
speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their names. The following named gentlemen are a few among the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97
Washington st., Boston—House Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle st.,—house
Cambridge; S. Chas. Newton, 210 Washington
st., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Adams
st.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Summer, cor. Webster
Court, Roxbury; John Whittemore, South
Reading; P. H. Byers, Portland, Me.; and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do
well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST AS-SORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street.
Boston, October 1. 4w

QUINCY PATRIOT,

200 TO 300 BUSHELS of Potatoes, for sale by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

Dr. Hoofland's

Will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or disordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold at retail.
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE
TREMONT ROW
SILK & SHAWL STORE.
AND INCREASED FACILITIES,
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in
SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!
F. A. JONES & CO.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND
that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add
New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature
to constitute their Establishment the
LARGEST AND BEST
RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE
IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!
Ladies will bear in mind that
Unlike other large Dry Goods
Houses in Boston,
We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved
FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who are SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY
honored us with their patronage.
Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of Graduate Joseph Jones, formerly of the Gould Trade of Boston, whose labors it will be
made PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE AND
AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED
WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.
F. A. JONES & Co.
are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers
every kind of
Shawls, Silks, Tissues and Cashmeres,
FANCY AND STAPLE
Dress and Cloak Goods
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
PARIS CLOAKS
and all similar articles in great profusion,
Laces and Embroideries,
GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.
Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!
as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not
ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS
To pay the expense of six or eight months'
credit on our Goods!!
AUCTION HOUSES
as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice
Goods to our mammoth assortment, and
we say with confidence
WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS
HAS PROVED.
that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of
Extra, Medium & Common
Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains.
We conclude by advising that Purchasers will not forget what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.
F. A. JONES & CO.,
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street,)
BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853. 3m

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SCHOOL STATIONERY.

For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and
A School Stationery now used in all the
PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR
Schools in town.
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the
HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold.
Quincy May 15, 1852.

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satauric
Licence; by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilson, the Rascal's Victim. Founded
on fact. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, October 1. 3w

Salt Pork,

FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

Neat's Foot Oil,

FOR sale cheap for cash, by
D. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

Parlor and Cooking Stoves

in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street.
Boston, October 1. 4w

Road Notice.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of Norfolk.
THE Subscribers, inhabitants of the town of Quincy, in said County, respectfully represent,
that common convenience, and necessity, require
that that part of a Town Way, called Summer
street, lying between School and Liberty streets, in said Quincy, should be widened; that
in March last, several inhabitants of Quincy, requested the Selectmen thereof in writing, to alter
said way, and that they have refused so to do.
We therefore pray your Honorable Board, to view said way, and cause all desirable alterations in
the same.
LIBA LITCHFIELD, and eight others.
Quincy, Sept. 27th, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. At a meeting of the County
Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham,
within and for said County of Norfolk, on the fourth Tuesday of September, A. D. 1853.
ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered that the County Commissioners will meet at the Hancock House, in Quincy, in said County, on Monday the fifth day of December next, at ten of the clock A. M., and thence proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and act
thereon.
LIBA LITCHFIELD, and eight others.
Quincy, Sept. 27th, 1853.

INSURANCE.

Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER,
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSUR-ANCE BROKER.
ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office,
Quincy; at No. 18 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16. 3m

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Ex-
terminator, which has been tried and proved superior, by many families in this town and vicinity.
Madagascar Rat Exterminator, and various other kinds. For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 4w

For Sale.

JUST landed from Brig Marcia, from Baltimore, 250 tons Cumberland Coal, a prime article for Smiths and stove purposes.
PRESTON & CURTIS.
Nepesent, October 1. 3w

Insolvent Notice.

NORFOLK SS. In SOLVENCY.
Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esquire,
Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for the County of Norfolk, in the matter of AMOS W. KINGMAN, of Weymouth,
in said County, Boat Maker, Insolvent Debtor.
Notice is hereby given, that the third meeting
of the creditors of said Kingman, will be held at the office of Samuel B. Noyes, Esq., in Canton, in said County, on the fourteenth day of November next,
at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting
creditors may be present and prove their claims.
SILAS HINNEY, Assignee.
Sept. 24. 3w

Executor's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscriber
has been duly appointed Executor of the Will
of THOMAS HAYDEN, late of Quincy,
in the County of Norfolk, Cordwainer, deceased,
and has accepted said trust.
And all persons having demands upon the Estate
of said deceased are required to exhibit the same,
and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to ESTHER HAYDEN, Executrix.
Canton, Oct. 15. 2w

THE GOLD HUNTER.

The greatest improvement of the age in Cooking Apparatus, is combined in this Cooking Stove. The peculiar construction of the Pot, the Rocking Grate, the Sieve Plate or Sifter, and the Ash Pan below for receiving and taking out the ashes, makes this stove the most scientific Cooking Stove now offered in the market. The doors around the oven are so constructed,
that it will bake in twenty minutes from the time of lighting the coal, and with wood much easier, and the peculiar mode of cleaning the doors when they get filled with soot, makes this a PERFECT COOKING STOVE. This Stove has been thoroughly tested. Those who have used it,
speak in the highest terms of its merits.
We have received many recommendations both
verbal and in writing from persons who have purchased this Stove, with permission to use their names. The following named gentlemen are a few among the number who have used this Stove:
J. D. G. Burdett, Hat and Fur Store, No. 97
Washington st., Boston—House Dana Place, Roxbury; Joseph W. Tuttle, 57 Brattle st.,—house
Cambridge; S. Chas. Newton, 210 Washington
st., Boston—house Newton Corner; G. M. Gilmore, corner of Merchants Row, house 42 Adams
st.; Rev. John Irwin, pastor First Episcopal Church, E. Boston, house Summer, cor. Webster
Court, Roxbury; John Whittemore, South
Reading; P. H. Byers, Portland, Me.; and many others too numerous to mention.
Those in want of the BEST STOVE, will do
well to examine before purchasing elsewhere.
Also—the LARGEST and the BEST AS-SORTMENT of
Parlor and Cooking Stoves
in the Country. A discount to Country trade, and Stoves sent gratis.
NICHOLAS MASON,
30 Washington street.
Boston, October 1. 4w

QUINCY PATRIOT,

200 TO 300 BUSHELS of Potatoes, for sale by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

Dr. Hoofland's

Will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or disordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold at retail.
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE
TREMONT ROW
SILK & SHAWL STORE.
AND INCREASED FACILITIES,
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in
SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!
F. A. JONES & CO.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND
that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add
New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature
to constitute their Establishment the
LARGEST AND BEST
RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE
IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!
Ladies will bear in mind that
Unlike other large Dry Goods
Houses in Boston,
We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved
FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who are SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY
honored us with their patronage.
Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of Graduate Joseph Jones, formerly of the Gould Trade of Boston, whose labors it will be
made PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE AND
AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED
WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.
F. A. JONES & Co.
are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers
every kind of
Shawls, Silks, Tissues and Cashmeres,
FANCY AND STAPLE
Dress and Cloak Goods
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
PARIS CLOAKS
and all similar articles in great profusion,
Laces and Embroideries,
GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.
Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!
as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not
ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS
To pay the expense of six or eight months'
credit on our Goods!!
AUCTION HOUSES
as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice
Goods to our mammoth assortment, and
we say with confidence
WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS
HAS PROVED.
that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of
Extra, Medium & Common
Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains.
We conclude by advising that Purchasers will not forget what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.
F. A. JONES & CO.,
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street,)
BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853. 3m

SCHOOL BOOKS AND SCHOOL STATIONERY.

For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and
A School Stationery now used in all the
PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR
Schools in town.
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the
HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold.
Quincy May 15, 1852.

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satauric
Licence; by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilson, the Rascal's Victim. Founded
on fact. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, October 1. 3w

Salt Pork,

FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 4w

Neat's Foot Oil,

"Quite coldly indeed!" from Martine; but she sits there in the library alone to him. Well! I know just as well if I had heard her, that she asked him to do it or he wouldn't have done it—for he was there, let me see this is Tuesday he spent Saturday evening there you remember, we could hear her laugh so distinctly this winter.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1853.

NUMBER XLIV.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,

Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required. No subscription for advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher. Advertisements are received and inserted at the customary price, and will be charged for until ordered out. The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers. JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway. GEORGE H. LOCKE, "Stone Quarries. ORIN P. BACON, "Dorchester. FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth. JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington. SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate. FREEMAN HUNT, New York City. GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

The Talk of the Town.

'I declare it is too ridiculous, she is the talk of the town!' cried Miss Dobson.

'Too absurd!' echoed Miss Martha, and the sisters simultaneously raised their heads, the better to express the shocked state of their feelings. Both these young ladies being by profession youthful belles, but in truth spinners, let me present them in their real character to the indulgent reader, who I trust will bear with them for a short time. Far be it from me to libel the class to which they belong, lest the tables should be turned on myself, or the cap which I have thrown at them be found to fit my own head—yet I must for truth's sake own that they were fair samples of the genus, old maid.

Jane, the elder, and par excellence Miss Dobson, presented much the appearance of an hour glass; she also possessed a long neck (whether crane or swan-like dependant suit not) surmounted by that head, which, in the words of the possessor, 'never bent to aught on earth.' With a dark complexion (unimproved by all the artificials), and thin compressed lips, a sharpened nose, and small greyish eyes peering from under a knitted brow, it is probable that Miss Jane Dobson was not the beauty she might have been when in her 'teens.'

Martha was the very opposite of her sister in person, with whom, however, in her opinion, she always agreed, not having sufficient character to possess a will of her own; and yet there was some good in her which would lead one to suppose she possessed under this art and affectation a remnant of a heart. Alas! Poor Martha could vouch for the agony endured in the vain efforts to bring her plump waist down to wasp-like proportions, prescribed by fashion; or in nightly twistings in paper of her brown locks to produce the two long pendant curls always seen on either side of a very passable face. Of her age—charity forbids I should broach so sacred a subject as a lady's age. Report said they had seen the last of their twenties, but who believes Dame Report, knowing what an envious and libelous creature she is? Suffice it then they had arrived at years of discretion, that is, those years when discretion is supposed, if ever, to have entered a woman's mind. Their place of residence was a town of no mean size; being so large, it is a wonder that every one's business should be so much better understood by their neighbors than by themselves; still opposite the modernized house with Grecian doors, gothic windows, peaked roof and projecting eaves, where dwelt the before named ladies, everybody knew resided pretty Kate Morton, the refined and accomplished belle, whose rosy cheeks, laughing eyes, mouth like 'rose bud riven,' and silvery voice had been the inspiration which had developed one half the poetical talent of beaux of the town; and she it was whom Miss Dobson, with outraged sense of propriety, declared to be the talk of the town. Let us return, then, to the sisters for the elucidation of her remark.

'Yes! just the talk of the whole town,' Miss Dobson, continued, 'she not only spoke to Henry Leslie from her window, while he merely bowed and that I am sure quite coldly.'

'Quite coldly indeed!' from Martha the echo; but she sits there in the library talking alone to him. Well! I know just as well as if I had heard her, that she asked him to come in or he wouldn't have done it—for he was there, let me see this is Tuesday, yes he spent Saturday evening there you remember, we could hear her laugh so distinctly from this window; for my part I can't see what there is in her laugh to admire; I have heard gentlemen of the first families in Virginia pronounce it quite inelegant to laugh much—but bless me! look—there she comes out of the front door with him, and if she hasn't given him a moss rose bud; of course she knows, and so does he, as well as I do that it means 'confession of love,' and she have the boldness to give—but hark! both caught the merry tones of the young girl as she said 'You must keep it forever, Henry! and the earnest reply, 'that you may be sure Kate, I shall do!' and as with a parting word, he left the gate, he raised his hat to a young lady passing, who darted a look of angry jealousy at Kate at the same time she recognized Mr. Leslie.

'Pon my word, Martha!' cried Miss Dobson, 'did you see that look Anne Putnam gave Miss Morton! now, everybody knows Anne is bewitched about Leslie; but hush! she is coming here, and we'll be sure to hear something new now.' Hearty was the welcome bestowed on Miss Putnam, a young lady possessing some beauty, and a very graceful air, but whose countenance now bore the marks of 'envy, malice and all uncharitable-ness.' After the usual inquiries concerning health, &c., Miss Dobson asked 'well! what's the news?'

'News!' replied Miss Putnam, 'nothing new, I imagine, every one is talking about Kate Morton coquetting with Mr. Leslie.'

'Ah, ah,' said Miss Jane Dobson, with a nod at her sister, which meant I told you so; 'Ah, ah,' said Miss Martha, meaning, I know you did.

'Oh yes,' continued Miss Anne Putnam, 'some went so far as to say they were engaged, but I have too good opinion of Mr. Leslie to believe that, and I think the attentions are all on her part; why Miss Smith told me that her cousin said Mary Baker's husband said his sister Sarah saw Henry Leslie passing there, and he happening to look up, Kate Morton bounded to the window, and attracting his attention by bowing, held up a letter, or something very like one, whereupon he walked in, and Sarah, who was with Tom Allen, whom her mother has forbidden her seeing, told Eliza Twoker, and she told my most intimate friend Fanny—so you see I have it from good authority—that they were sitting on the sofa together, and Kate nuzzled him a miniature which he, after looking at it some time attentively, passed to his lips. Moreover, she is in the habit of calling him in if he is passing.'

'Well!' sighed Miss Dobson, and Martha did the same, 'he is a good principled young man, but I don't blame him or any other gentleman, when a lady so far forgets her maiden reserve as to address him by his christian name, for taking the liberty of doing the same. No, I don't blame them; I would do the same if I were a man, indeed I would!' Miss Martha meekly suggested that 'perhaps their church—'

'Mercy on me,' interrupted Miss Putnam, 'it is not the fault of the church that she acts so shamefully, for I belong to the same church myself.'

'Why, Martha, what a simoleon you are,' exclaimed Miss Dobson, indignantly; and the younger sister relapsed into fevered silence. But Miss Putnam must really go; yes, she would come very soon again; 'but don't for all the world,' she said, mention what I have told you, for 'twas told me in confidence, and you know it wouldn't do to come from me, so if you should speak of it, do not bring in my name, that is all I care about it; good-bye.'

Miss Dobson donned pink bonnet and green mantle, and Miss Martha similarly attired, accompanied her, and to each of their friends was the story related, with the preface usual to slander, 'I don't tell,' until through divers hints, imaginings and additions, it had so increased as to become something really scandalous, which in the course of time—through a kind (?) friend—reached Miss Morton, causing her considerable trouble at the thought of a character she now possessed in the eyes of her acquaintance. Henry Leslie also heard the whisperings, but as many of the minor points were true, and could not yet be explained, he could only subdue his rage at 'all gossips, and particularly the Dobsons,' by talking the affair over with Kate, and coming to the same conclusion that they were 'not worth minding, for two months would clear the mystery. In two months came invitations for the double wedding, at St. John's Church, where Henry Leslie was united to Ellen Bancroft, the intimate friend of our Kate; and Miss Morton to her fair friend's brother, Charles Bancroft; here then the mystery cleared. Henry, as the brother in prospect of Kate, visited her that they might converse of that which none other knew, his engagement to Ellen, whose miniature, belonging to Kate, he had so fervently kissed, and who, in the correspondence with her friend and future sister, Kate sent not only many tender messages to her betrothed, but the moss rose bud which he promised for ever to keep. This then, to the very evident disappointment of Miss Putnam, and mortification of Miss Dobson, was the little thing which had caused such wondrous excitement. Behold how light an incident maliciously reported makes innocent parties the 'talk of the town.'

Detractors.

John Locke, the philosopher, always manifested a particular aversion to those individuals in society, who are aware of their inferiority of conversational powers, and perhaps somewhat piqued at the superiority of others, sit silent, and think to pass for knowing ones, by saying nothing. It is said that no person thinks himself inferior to any other in common sense. Envious people generally think themselves superior, in this, to the company they are in; and if others make a better appearance than they do, they lay it to their superficial vanity, affectation, and loquacity. Society abounds in such persons as these. They either lack naturally the qualities to pass well in company, or they have been too indolent to acquire them. They affect to despise what they can come in possession of; and content themselves with finding fault, and trying to turn the minds of others into the same way of thinking with their own. And in this way always partly succeed; for since they, by years of practice, and perfect in the art of fault-finding, they can hold up the fault side of any character with irresistible effect.

To an individual learned, they make him pedantic. Is he sociable, he is loquacious. Does he compliment, he is a flatterer. Does he try to enliven the company, he is aiming to make himself conspicuous, and to engross the attention of the company. Does he quote an author, it is but to make ostentation of his reading. Mean as such persons appear, yet they are common, and will intrude themselves into society, and will find listeners too. Detraction is as musical to the ears of many, as praise; for every one is delighted to imagine himself free from the faults he sees in others. Envy has always found soil to flourish in; and envious people are the most artful of mankind; they take aim at their leisure, before they let fly the shaft of detraction—and its point is often so fine that it cannot be seen. The word they speak, they would say, is but a word; it was inadvertently dropped; they intended nothing;—did not think such a construction would be put upon it, but it is sure in its effect; and does its work of intellectual, or moral debasement. Would that envious people might be held in just abhorrence; nature has set a mark upon them—their countenance darkened as those of other people lighten up, at hearing the good qualities of any individual spoken of. They think their envy is too deep laid to be understood by others; but it is transparent as glass, to the very child. A mean soul is as great a monster of the countenance, as a benevolent one. They are seen through, and silently noted down, by the rest of the company; and if another person happens to take it upon him to do his part of the conversation while he is in it, the company will not silence him, because, perchance he can talk better than some envious person that is frowning upon him from a corner. If he talk conceitedly, or endeavor to monopolize more than his share of attention, the company as a whole will find it out soon enough, without the help of envy; and he will be silent, when he finds himself treated with inattention. The envious person may as well run on with the rest of the world, after all; that class have the majority—and he will be apt to gain nothing for himself but a reputation for oddity; and an unhappiness, corresponding exactly with the happiness of those around him.

Editing a Paper.

Hear what the National Intelligencer, published by Messrs. Gales & Seaton, at Washington City, one of the most valuable and ably conducted papers in this country, says about editing a Newspaper:—

'Many people estimate the ability of a newspaper, and the industry and talents of its editor, by the editorial matter it contains. It is, comparatively an easy task for a frothy writer to pour out columns of words—words, upon any and all subjects. His ideas may flow in 'one weak, washy, everlasting flood,' and his command of language may enable him to string them together like bunches of onions; and yet his paper may be a meagre and poor concern. But what is the labor, the toil, of such a man, who displays his 'headed matter' ever so largely, to that imposed on the judicious, well informed editor, who exercises his vocation with an hourly consciousness of his responsibilities and duties; devotes himself to the conduct of his paper, with the same care and assiduity that a sensible lawyer bestows upon a suit, a humane physician upon a patient, without regard to show or display! Indeed, the mere writing part of editing a paper is but a small portion of the work. The care, the time employed in selecting, is far more important, and the tact of a good editor better shown by his selections than anything else, and that, we all know is half the battle. But, as we have said, an editor ought to be estimated, and his labors understood and appreciated, by the general conduct of his paper—its tone—its temper—its uniform, consistent course—its principles—its aims—its manliness—its dignity—its propriety. To preserve these as they should be preserved, is enough to occupy fully the time and attention of any man. If to this be added the general supervision of the newspaper establishment, which most editors have to encounter, the wonder is, how they can find time or room to write at all.'

The Model Wife.

A CHINESE ROMANCE.

In some Chinese romances and tales, we find a considerable share of wit as well as sentiment. From one of these, Voltaire has not disdained to borrow one of the best stories in his 'Zadig.' A disciple of the sect of Taoistee, or Doctors of Reason, while meditating among the tombs, observed a young lady seated by one of them, eagerly employed in fanning the structure. On approaching the spot, and seeing her in tears, he ventured to ask whose tomb it might be, and why she took such pains in fanning it? The lady, with great simplicity, replied, 'You see a widow at the tomb of her husband; he was most dear to me, and he loved me in return with equal tenderness. Afflicted at the idea of parting with me, even in death, his last words were these:—My dearest wife, should you ever think of marrying again, I conjure you to wait, at least, until the plaster of my tomb be entirely dry; after which you have my sanction to take another husband.' Now, said she, 'as the materials are still damp, and not likely soon to dry, I thought I would just fan it a little to assist in dissipating the moisture.'

'This woman, thought the philosopher, is in a monstrous hurry!—and having recently taken to himself a beautiful wife, he hastened home to apprise her of the adventure.'

'Oh, the wretch!' she exclaimed, 'what an unfeeling monster! How can a virtuous woman ever think of a second husband? If, for my misfortune, I should ever lose you, be assured I should remain single for the rest of my life.'

'Fair promises,' thought the philosopher, 'are easily made; but we shall see.' He suddenly became dangerously ill; a tender scene occurred; the lady vowed eternal remembrance, and repeated her resolution to remain a widow to her dying day. 'Enough,' said the philosopher, 'my eyes are now closing for ever; and so saying, the breath departed from his body. The desponding widow, with loud lamentations, embraced the lifeless body, and held it locked in her arms. Among the mourners who assembled on the melancholy occasion, was a youth of fair exterior, who said he had come from a distance to place himself as a pupil under the deceased sage. With great difficulty he procured a sight of the widow; she was struck with his appearance; she saw him again on the following day; they dined together, supped together, and exchanged tender looks and expressions. The youth was half-smitten, the lady wholly so; a marriage was speedily agreed upon; the youth however, previously demanded three conditions, one of which may suffice for our notice; it was that the widow should forthwith turn out of the house the unsightly coffin, that contained the remains of her late husband. The lady readily consented; the coffin was sent into an old shed at the bottom of the garden.

Preparations were now made for the marriage feast, but the bridegroom was suddenly seized with convulsions and fell on the floor. The bride was desired by his domestic not to be alarmed, for that these fits were not unusual, and that there was a cure for them—the only and certain cure—the brain of a man recently deceased, taken in warm wine.

'Oh!' said the lady, 'my late husband has been dead only a few days; get me a hatchet, and I will go myself and open the coffin, and take out the remedy.'

Thus fortified, she posted away to the bottom of the garden, and striking a blow with all her might—behold! the lid flew open, a groan was heard, and to her great horror, the dead man rising up, very coolly said, 'My dear wife, lend me your hand to get out.'

The unhappy inamorata, finding all her intrigues discovered, and unable to survive her shame, hung herself to one of the beams. The philosopher found her, and having satisfied himself that she was quite dead, cut her down very coolly; and having repaired his own coffin, laid her in it, fully determined never to take another wife.

A Cheerful Heart.

I once heard a young lady say to an individual, 'your countenance to me is like the rising sun, for it always gladdens me with a cheerful look.' A merry or cheerful countenance is one of the things which Jeremy Taylor said his enemies and persecutors could not take away from him. There are some people who spend their lives in this world just as they would spend their lives shut up in a dungeon. Every thing is made gloomy and forbidding. They go moaning and complaining from day to day, that they have so little, and are constantly anxious lest what they have should escape out of their hands. They always look upon the dark side, and can never enjoy the good. That is not religion. Religion makes the heart cheerful, and when its large and benevolent principles are exercised, man will be happy in spite of himself.

The industrious bee does not stop to complain that there are so many poisonous flowers and thorny branches on its road, but buzzes on, selecting his honey where he can find it, and passing quietly by the places where it is not. There is enough in this world to complain about and find fault with, if men have the disposition.

We often travel on a hard and uneven road but with a cheerful spirit, and a heart to praise God for his mercies, we may walk therein with comfort and come to the end of our journey with peace.—Decey

Little Mary's Story.

'Mary!' said the youngest of the two little girls, as they nestled under a coarse coverlid one night in December, 'tell me about Thanksgiving day before father went to heaven; I'm cold, hungry, and can't sleep; I want something to think about.'

'Hush!' said the younger child; 'don't let mother hear you; come nearer to me; and they laid their cheeks together.'

'I fancy papa was rich. We lived in a very nice house. I know there were pictures on the wall, and there were nice velvet chairs, and the carpet was thick and soft, like green moss patches in the wood, and we had a pretty gold fish on the side table, and Tommy my black nurse used to feed them. And papa! (you can't remember papa, Letty,)—he was tall and grand, and when he smiled he made me think of angels. He bought me toys and sweetmeats, and carried me out to the stable and set me on Romeo's live back, and laughed because I was afraid. And I used to watch to see him come up the street. Then run to the door to jump into his arms; he was a dear, kind papa; said the child in a faltering voice.

'Don't cry,' said the little one: please tell me some more.'

'Well, Thanksgiving day we were happy; we sat round a large table—with so many people; aunts and uncles and cousins; (I can't think why they never come to see us now,) and Betty made such sweet pies, and we had big, big turkey; and papa would have me next to him, and give me the wish bone and all the plums out of his pudding; after dinner he would take me in his lap and tell me 'Red Riding Hood,' and call me 'pet' and 'bird' and 'fairy.' Oh, Letty, I can't tell any more; I believe I'm going to cry.'

'I'm very cold,' said Letty. 'Does papa know, up in Heaven, that we are hungry now?'

'Yes—No—I can't tell,' answered Mary, wiping away her tears, unable to reconcile her ideas of Heaven with such a thought. 'Hush! mother will hear!'

Mamma had heard. The coarse garment upon which she had toiled since sunrise, dropped from her hands and tears were forcing themselves thick and fast through her closed eyelids. The single recital found but too sad an echo in the widowed heart.

Dear reader! as you sit at your luxuriant table, and see no vacant chair or number no missing one from your flock, as you lean still on the dear arm to which you trust; remember those who with chilled limbs and bleeding hearts, know of no treasure on earth save in the church-yard.—Fanny Fern.

The Half Housekeeper.

She was only a half housekeeper. Go where you would, about her home there was nothing taste nor neatness. She would begin things with great avidity, but lose all her zeal before she got through. Of her husband's half-dozen new shirts, all were partially finished—one wanted sleeves, another collar and wristbands, another bosom and gussets, and so on through the list. Several skeletons of quilts lay unfolded in her drawers, and her tables and trunks were loaded with magnificent promises.

Her bread was always unpalatable because she forgot this or that—and though she had been married ten years, in all that time the table was never rightly laid for a meal. Either the salt was wanting, a knife, or spoon, or some important ingredient. This afforded good exercise for the family, and there was at all times a continued running to and fro. She was a half housekeeper. Her meats were never properly cared for after dinner—and then it was 'La! throw it away: it ain't much.' Much or little, it made the butcher's bill enormous, and her husband half distracted. There always stood in her rusty-smelling pantry, mouldy milk, mouldy bread, mouldy meat, and mouldy cheese. There always laid about her room a dozen garments worn out by tramping rather than use. She was forever tripping over brooms; forever wondering why on earth work came so hard to her—forever running up stairs for something she had left down cellar, or flying down cellar for what she had thrown in the garret.

Her children's clothes came to pieces the second day, because they were only half made; her preserves soured the second month because they were only half done, and her temper soured quicker than anything else. She was continually lamenting that she ever married, and wondering where some folks got their knack of house-work. She loved to clear a corner for herself and sit with her arms folded. She loved to gossip—loved to have some new scheme on hand, for then she was furious till it was begun, always losing her enthusiasm at the first stitch. 'Oh! dear me!', seemed some days the whole extent of her vocabulary, and it would make one sad to watch her listless movement, and hear her declare that no woman worked so hard as she, which was partly true, for she had no method.

She never received company without an apology on her tongue, and never set them down to a decent table. She dragged through life, and worried thro' death, for which, I fear, like everything else, she was only half prepared, and left six daughters to follow her example, and curse the world with six more miserable half housekeepers.—New York Organ.

Are we all Honest.

The truth is, that it is difficult to take deliberate survey of all that is going on around us, or even look into the mirror of conscience, without arriving at the conclusion, that on some points all of us, are but indifferently honest. Do not be offended, dear reader—we mean not to include you in the category of the Fizzburghs. We admit that you are no swindler; and believe that in cash matters you are as punctual as a bombailiff. But you never have in the course of your life committed an act which may, without any stretch, be denominated a false pretence; you are indeed a pattern of purity, and faultless as an unfathered phoenix. Let us ask a few questions. Have you not, over and over again, attempted to pass off in society for a much cleverer fellow than you really are? Have you not affected to know a great deal upon subjects of which you are entirely ignorant—to have read books which were absolutely unknown to you by name—and to recognize and appreciate quotations in foreign languages whereof you knew no more than the Medes did of malt liquor? Have you not, in order to suit yourself to your company, feigned to have a horror for things which, in private you enjoy with the keenest relish? Hypocrite that you are! why did you, when dining with the Marquis of Tokay join in a general denunciation of beer as brutal, at the time when your whole being was possessed with an intense craving for stingo? With our own ears we heard you, in the circle, avow your admiration of the opera as the grandest of intellectual delights; and not an hour afterwards, at the Durcows Head, you gave it as your deliberate opinion, that a fine British spectacle at Astley's was worth all the foreign carter-wauling in the universe? Dare you go up to that dowager and tell her that you smoke six cigars every day of your life, or that you are addicted to brandy and water? Not you. You wish her to suppose, and do your utmost to encourage the delusion, that you are a most agreeable, amiable, faultless young man, without any of the vices which are unfortunately too common, and that you never are otherwise than you seem when discoursing melliflously upon the poetry of art. Heaven and earth, if she could only see you afterwards in the Club smoking-room. Well—we don't blame you for wishing to maintain a good character, and for keeping the cloven foot concealed in the tidiness of possible boots. Only be charitable; and let the sense of your weakness teach you not to press over hard upon others. In this age of ours, there is a good deal of the Pharisical spirit abroad, which we take to be somewhat akin to the cruel impulse which leads animals to attack the wounded of their kind.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Hope.

The author of the soul is Hope. Were it not for hope the heart would oftentimes break under the heavy weight of woe it is doomed to bear. It is the sun and moon of this world, the day-star of existence. Ever are we living in hope. When tossed on beds of sickness we hope to recover; when sad and weary of life we hope to be again happy; when in trouble, we hope the cause will be resolv-

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Ground Cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent Persimmon Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c. &c. Fresh European Medicines always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-street, near Stone Temple. Quincy, Nov. 1. 45tf

REMOVAL.

New Store and New Good!!

THE undersigned would respectfully inform the public, that they have removed from the Store formerly occupied by them, on Washington street, to the new building recently erected by Dr. L. Goodnow, corner of

HANCOCK & GRANITE STREETS, QUINCY.

where they intend to keep constantly on hand, a large stock of

Fancy & Domestic Dry Goods, well adapted to the wants of the community; at all times, can be found a good assortment of Prints, Gingham, DeLaines, Cashmeres, Alpaccas, and a great variety of

Dress Goods and Shawls,

Sheetings, Shirtings, Flannels, Blankets, with a good assortment of such articles as are usually found in a well selected stock of DRY GOODS.

Also—in connection with the above, can at all times be found, a large stock of

Ready Made Clothing,

Gents Furnishing Goods,

with a great variety of Black and Fancy Cloths, Cashmeres, Boskins and Vestings, of the most Fashionable Styles, which will be manufactured into Garments at fair prices and in

STYLE, FIT, AND WORKMANSHIP

Satisfaction guaranteed to suit all who may favor us with their patronage. Grateful for past favors, a continuance and increase of the same, is most respectfully solicited.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co., Corner Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy, April 30, 1853.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.

OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidney, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, emaciation, chlorosis, constipation, irritations, sinking fevers, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to females, dropsy, edema, &c. &c. Also that improve condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints have no relation to those in ordinary use; they are purely vegetable, and in no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call, so as to induce the physician, J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytical Physician, 271 Tremont st. (opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON. Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43—ly

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON,

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body desirous of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masterpieces of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. He has, to put the price of dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth, by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, or the atmospheric principle, firm, useful, and easy to be worn—from $35.00 to 75.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from 12.00 to 40.00. For parts of sets of more than two teeth—from 1.50 to 2.50 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood teeth—from 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be guaranteed to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 54 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston. Boston, Feb. 7, 1853. 11—9mo

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dr. Sells, Druggists, Chemicals, can always find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE,

and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Turmeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground and Extract Logwood, Coppers, Blue and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and Best White Bone Oil, American and English Liniments, Sal Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Ammonia, Gumbo, Salts of Tartar, Nicaragua, Madrier and Turkey Turbule, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Pomice Stone, Salt Petre Carb, and Liquid Ammonia, &c. GEORGE W. WHITING. Quincy, Sept. 3. 11

Love's Wahpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color. With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 25. 11

Mohair Mitts.

A good assortment, long and short Mohair Mitts, just received by GEO. SAVIL & Co. Corner of Hancock and Granite streets. Quincy, July 2. 11

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by I. W. MUNROE. Quincy, May 21. 11

ed; when separated from friends, we hope soon to meet them. The weary soldier, worn with incessant toil and privations, is cheered by the hope of being soon restored to home and friends; the hope of a plentiful harvest encourages the husbandman to till the soil; the hope of finding 'the buried spoil its wealthy furrows yield,' sustains the scholar as he ploughs the field of 'classic lore;' the hope of acquittal, pardon, or escape, sustains the lone prisoner in his gloomy cell, as he tosses restlessly on his pallet of straw, or paces in agony the cold damp floor. But the Christian's hope! Oh, glorious, glorious is his hope! It is the hope of hopes! Every other hope fades before that as the stars before the sun in his rising from the ocean. That is the only hope which extends beyond the gloomy portals of the grave. All other hopes are earthly, and soon alas! they fade away. This hope enables us to bear the bitter disappointments, cares, and sorrows of this dark world with fortitude; and how truly blessed is he who possesses that glorious hope which fadeseth not away, but brightens through eternity!

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, October 29, 1853.

BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE.

THE LYCEUM. It will be seen in another column, that the government of the Lyceum has already secured a list of lecturers of the highest eminence. Our readers will not, with such an inducement before them, need to be urged to join the institution. The same determination to provide popular instruction, which the government has evinced thus far, will, we are confident, be continued to the end. We presume the sum which has been paid for a lecture in past years will be inadequate to secure such men as some of those already announced, therefore it becomes the friends of the Lyceum to interest themselves in inducing their acquaintances and friends to join. Let us see the hall brim-full on each evening.

THE MAILS. We wish the Post-master General, or those having authority in such cases, would give attention to the mail. There is great deal of complaint on the line of the Old Colony. Most probably, in accordance with what we have heard, the cause of delay and irregularity is chargeable upon the Old Colony Company. It takes this Company long to learn—it has been about ten years in getting a knowledge of the wants of our town—and have not quite succeeded now.

POLITICAL PAMPHLET. Some person has sent us, in pamphlet form of thirty odd pages, 'Remarks on the Proposed State Constitution, by a Freesoiler from the start.' It opposes the labors of the late convention for the revision of our present State Constitution, and from the conclusions thus presented by the author, we infer that he became a free soiler from some sinister motive and not from an honest conviction of the correctness of the leading principles of the party to which he claims to belong. We cannot find in his logic, one tangible argument adduced to uphold him in the eyes of the discerning and unprejudiced in the community. We always look with caution upon the efforts of persons who are assumed to own their labors, and generally find when the truth comes to light, that they are often wolves in sheep's clothing. These 'Remarks,' etc., should not have any weight with the public; at least, until the author avows their paternity.

Crosby, Nichols & Co., No. 111 Washington Street, Boston, are the publishers.

DYE'S BANK MIRROR. This counterfeit detector and bank note expositor, which is published by John S. Dye, banker and broker of Cincinnati, (Ohio) and has been semi-monthly issued for more than two years, having attained a circulation of upwards of seventy-five thousand, appears to be one of the best publications of the kind issued in our country, as it embraces every thing that necessarily comes within the scope of its design. Terms, invariably in advance, 'accompanied by Book of Illustrations, Coin Book and Magnifying Glass—two dollars for the semi-monthly, and one dollar and fifty cents for the monthly.'

PLYMOUTH ROCK. This is an 'adamantine' sheet (pardon the term) and espouses the cause of reform in a clear, energetic, and logical manner. Moses Bates, Jr., Esq., the editor, is one of the 'right sort,' and knowing the right dars to do battle with the enemies of truth and justice in able and convincing arguments, proof of which may be found in reading his well-filled columns. As to his late complimentary notice, he need entertain no fears in regard to our humble self.

ROBERT IN COHASSET. The store of C. R. Keene in Cohasset, was burglariously entered early on Thursday morning last, and one thousand dollars worth of property stolen. The rogues were traced to Dorchester and there arrested, examined before Justice Churchill, and committed to Dedham jail for trial at the next term of the court.

TOWN MEETING. On Wednesday last, at a legal meeting of the inhabitants of this town, Dea. George Baxter having been chosen Moderator, the Report of the Selectmen in favor of laying out a Town Road leading from Elm to Washington Streets, was accepted; and the Selectmen were authorized to build the same.

LYNN BAY STATE. Lewis Josselyn, Esq., the conductor of this excellent democratic journal, has rather unexpectedly retired from the 'editorial chair.' We regret the departure of friend Josselyn, as his paper was one which was admired for the able and fearless manner exercised in its management, but hope the important trust has been confided to hands fully competent to do ample justice to the great cause it has so judiciously advocated. Success attend our old and valued friend in the future scenes of his labors and usefulness.

MINNIE BROWN; OR, THE GENTLE GIRL, by Francis Forrester, Esq., author of 'Arthur Ellerslie,' 'Redbrook,' etc. Boston: George C. Rand, 3 Cornhill, and at the Quincy Bookstore.

This is the third number of the series, of Uncle Toby's Library, and like its predecessors fully sustains and even advances the interest and worth of this juvenile library. The publishers, Geo. C. Rand & Co., of Boston, richly deserve of the community, for placing in the hands of every young person a work so well adapted to interest the beginning reader as well as to inculcate good moral principles.

THANKSGIVING. The Governors of Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island, have fixed upon Thursday, the 24th of November, as a day of public thanksgiving, prayer and praise. Thanksgiving in Maine is appointed for the 17th of November.

'A FINGER-POINT FROM PLYMOUTH ROCK.' Such is the name given to the remarks at the Plymouth Festival, on the first of August last, in commemoration of the Embarkation of the Pilgrims, made by the Hon. Charles Sumner of the Senate of the United States from the 'Old Bay State.' Whatever emanates from this distinguished gentleman, is replete with classical and historical intelligence, logical deductions, eloquently expressed, and happily adapted to the occasion. We kindly thank him for his attention.

OBITUARY NOTICES. At the request of an intimate friend, we gave place to the obituary notice of 'J. A. G.' published in our last paper, which was extracted from a Boston journal, and doubtless written by a person whose initials happen to correspond with those of the editor of this paper. We have but little faith in these memorials to departed friends, and consequently have not written any thing of this character.

CORRECTED. We have again placed under our 'poetry head,' the appropriate and truly poetical lines of the Rev. Dr. Lunt of this town, written for the late Agricultural Exhibition at Dedham, for the purpose of correcting a few errors which the author has kindly brought to our notice. We copied from a Dedham paper, and in a hurry the errors of that print were unobserved.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS. At the convention of the Democracy of Norfolk County, held at Dedham, on Tuesday last, Edward K. Hamilton, Esq., of Roxbury, was chosen its President. After some debate, the following gentlemen were selected as candidates for State Senators, viz:—

JOSEPH W. ROBERTSON of Quincy,

JAMES BARTLETT of Brookline,

FRANCIS W. BIRD of Walpole.

A SENTIMENT. The annexed toast was given by a worthy friend, at a recent Whig supper in this town.

Equal Representation.—The birth-right of freemen—May the Whigs of Quincy, like the old fogies of the Revolution, resist every attempt to take it from them.

FREE SOIL NOMINATIONS. A convention of the Free Democracy was held the present week, at Dedham, and selected as their candidate for one of the Senators, Francis W. Bird of Walpole, and accepted the two nominated by the democrats, thus forming a union ticket, as published in to-day's paper in a sketch of the proceedings of the democratic convention.

NEW AND VALUABLE BOOKS selling low at C. GILL & CO'S. Bookstore.

For the Patriot.

T. A. Conley's Lecture

Ma. Editor:—I wish to say a few words about the interesting lecture of the above-named gentleman. In the first place, it gave us great satisfaction to see the Town Hall so full with the most respectable citizens of good old Quincy, for it assured us the cause of temperance is still alive in our midst; and in the second place, we were very much gratified, as well as many others, at the eloquent remarks of the Irish orator who addressed the meeting. His lecture was highly interesting, and he kept his audience in one unbroken spell, from the commencement of his discourse, till the last word was uttered. The assembly was greatly moved at his startling and impressive remarks about several men of genius, and also about the sad tale of his father, brother-in-law, and his own self; and I hope that the young men of Quincy will never forget the words that fell from the young man's lips on Sunday evening last. His lecture was so interesting that the Rev. Mr. Sargeant wished him to lecture again, if possible, on next Sabbath evening, and we understand that he will accept of the invitation as soon as convenient. However, due notice will be given, and we hope to see the church or the hall filled to its utmost capacity with our young men.

Mr. Editor, I wish to make a suggestion, viz:—to have him lecture before the Lyceum. I think, sir, that we will have worse lecturers than him, and his last Sunday evening lecture would have a great tendency to create a reform among our young men. What do you think, Mr. Editor? A SUBSCRIBER.

For the Patriot.

The Constitution.

Mr. Editor:—'Quincy' seems to feel that he was in error when he said of the proposed constitution, 'it is in truth a rotten borough system and nothing else.' In his last communication he fills b.ck on the argument that the 'resemblance is sufficiently near' to be called alike. He 'supposes it is only necessary to show that in its essential points it is the same, that place is represented instead of people.' Why does he not show in what essential point they are the same? On what authority does he say that in that system, place is represented instead of people? Is it on the authority of a member of the convention?

I deny that there is any resemblance between the principle of town representation, and the rotten borough system of England, either in principle, or in detail. In my last communication I proved this, and pointed out where the two systems differed in all their essential points, but 'Quincy' shrinks from a discussion of the merits of the question, and tries to escape by a quibble; this however will not avail him. Under the rotten borough system, place was not represented; the members from Old Sarum did not represent Old Sarum, they were the representatives, and creatures of the proprietor, and voted at his will. No member who held a seat from a rotten borough, represented the borough, he represented a person not a place. This is plain enough for even 'Quincy' to understand; if however, he has a lingering doubt, I refer him to the history of England from 1824 to 1832, and when he finds how far he has been misled on that point, he may be induced to examine the other amendments, and by laying aside party bias in the examination, the probability is that he will vote for the new constitution.

But even if the member from a rotten borough represented the place, the resemblance between the two systems would not be 'sufficiently near' to warrant any man in saying they were alike. Another and a leading feature is wanting to make the comparison complete. The new constitution, and the constitution of 1780, distinctly say that each town shall be represented in proportion to its population. This is a marked and radical difference between the old borough system of England, and the system of town representation of Massachusetts; in one case no notice is taken of people, in the other, people are the basis on which representation is founded, and yet men are found who can see no difference between these two systems. In this respect the new constitution is more liberal than the constitution of 1780. The basis of representation in the constitution of 1780, was rateable polls; under the proposed one it is population; this change is very favorable to cities and large towns, where there are thousands of inhabitants who are not voters; consequently if polls was the basis, Boston, Lowell, Salem, and many of the large towns would lose some of their representatives.

'Quincy' says 'the iniquity of giving the political power of the state to a minority of the people, is too glaring a violation of republican principle to be easily got rid of.' If he is what he would have your readers believe him, a lover of liberty, he will vote against what he himself calls an iniquitous system, and for the new constitution.

By some 'political hocus pocus' the government of Massachusetts is now in the hands of a minority of the people.

The present town governor of this state was elected by a House of Representatives; the members who voted for him, represented a fraction over one third of the population of this state. If 'Quincy' doubts this statement, I will furnish him with the proof of it. The charge of casting reproach on John Adams, I pass by as mere clap-trap moonshine; if any reproach was cast on that great man, it was by 'Quincy.' He quoted John Adams as authority against town representation. John Adams spoke and wrote in favor of that principle, and embodied it in the organic law of his native state; does 'Quincy' think that he knows what John Adams meant better than he did himself?

The constitution of 1780 does not say that small towns were allowed to send a representative, 'because they were not sufficiently numerous to disturb this principle; where did he find it in that document? but it does say, that the House of Representatives shall have power to impose fines on such towns, as neglect to send representatives. What a pity that 'Quincy' had not the drawing up of the old constitution, he could improve it to a wonderful degree, he undertakes to correct it now.

'Quincy' directs my attention to the new constitution, in explanation of what he said about the Senate. I did not say that the House had no power, I said that under the new constitution the House had not a controlling power; under the present constitution the House has a controlling power, and uses it; if he will look at the result of the last election, he will find a minority House of Representatives, representing as I before stated, a fraction over one third of the population of this state, filling the vacancies in the Senate, and electing a Governor and Lieut. Governor. According to 'Quincy' Gov. Clifford is a 'Hobson's Choice.' This state of things 'Quincy' himself designates as iniquitous, and anti-republican; and if he is consistent, he will vote for the new constitution, which in this particular is a decided improvement.

'Quincy' thinks that the Coalition mean to invent a new arithmetic. I don't know what the Coalition mean to do, but the Whigs have got the start of them in that reform, according to the new rule, 225,000 is a quarter of a million. 'Quincy' has a bad memory.

He thinks that I did not disprove his statement on Governor Morton's amendment; which statement he made on the 'authority of a member of the convention.' The member must have been a Whig, and Whigs are famous for making curious statements. 'Quincy,' I take to be a very young man, as he grows older he will learn to set a true value on Whig statements, and give them a careful examination before he endorses them. I did make a mistake in Suffolk county, and I thank 'Quincy' for the opportunity of correcting it; and lest it may be as difficult to make him understand figures, as facts, I will state the case plainly. The population of Suffolk county in 1840, was 145,758; of these there were in Boston, 138,788 44 del. 1 to 3154

Chelsea, 6,151 2 do
N. Chelsea, 819 1 do

Twenty delegates from Boston representing 63,080 inhabitants; one delegate from North Chelsea representing 819 inhabitants, voting for the amendment, and two from Chelsea representing 6159 inhabitants, voting against it. By some mistake it was printed 73,899, instead of 63,899, making a difference of 10,000, against 'Quincy.' The majority against the amendment being 53,778, instead of 43,778. I hope 'Quincy' will correct the rest of the counties in the same manner.

I think I have demonstrated to the satisfaction of your readers, if not to the satisfaction of 'Quincy,' that the rotten borough system of England bears no analogy in principle, or practice, to the system of town representation of Massachusetts; that under the present constitution, the control of the government could be, and in fact is now in the hands of a minority of the people; and that 'Quincy's' statement in reference to Governor Morton's amendment was incorrect. If 'Quincy' has no other objection to the new constitution, he will, if he is consistent, vote for its adoption.

'Quincy' states on the authority of the Norfolk County Journal, that the Hon. Charles F. Adams will not support the new constitution. If this is true, he must base his opposition to it, on some other grounds than 'Quincy' advances.

I am sorry that in one paragraph, 'Quincy' forgets his usual courtesy; I do not think he refers to me, however, for I did nothing to provoke it. In political questions, men will differ in opinions; in this discussion I have supported my opinions as well as I could; but I am not an adept in bandying epithets—in that species of warfare I would be sure of defeat.

JUNUS.

For the Patriot.

The Constitution.

Ma. Editor:—In your last issue, was the announcement that the Hon. Charles Francis Adams would go against the new Constitution—a piece of intelligence which I read with unfeigned satisfaction; not merely because his views of the said Constitution, and consequent action upon it, accord with my own; but particularly, because it proves that there is at least one man, who can rise above the trammels and dictation of party, and act on the principles of justice, preferring the right, and the good of the Commonwealth to party triumph.

If every man of intelligence, who has a vote to give on this important question, would submit it to the scale of justice, by which men ordinarily try cases that arise in business between man and man, I should have no fear nor doubt as to the result; but while the monstrous doctrine obtains, among the friends of this new Constitution, that 'all is fair in politics,'—and I infer from their acts, that this is the case with them—I confess I feel some alarm.

There are several grounds, on which I shall vote against it; but that which I deem most serious of all, is the undeniable one, that the affair was got up, carried on, and consummated with the object—the primary one, however attempted to be concealed—of perpetuating the power and ascendancy of the Coalition party!

Now as the instrument is to affect the interest of the whole people, for many years to come, it should have been adapted to all, without distinction of sect or party. If it were free from all objection save this, I would still oppose it; and it ought, on this ground alone, if there were not numerous other objections to it, to be rejected by every patriot and every fair-minded man.

The disfranchising of the cities and large towns, reducing thousands of excellent citizens and public benefactors to mere fractions of men, as compared with the inhabitants of the small towns, has been so frequently and clearly presented to your readers, that it is unnecessary for me to advert to it further than to say, that my hopes, of the defeat of their singular mode of equalizing the rights of the people, are in the ascendant, and all the more in consequence of the development in your last week's paper. And I trust the fourteenth of November will show, that there are many more good and true men among our political opponents, that will refuse to bow the knee to the Coalition BAA!

WEBSTER.

Sectional Differences and Sectional Prejudices is the title of the subject upon which Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., will address the Quincy Lyceum, next Tuesday evening.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Directors of the Bank of Brighton have presented five hundred dollars to Life Baldwin, who has resigned the office of Cashier—having served said Bank in that capacity for more than twenty-one years.

Kosztz, the Hungarian, is expected to arrive in Boston soon, by the bark Minosia. A public reception is talked of.

It is stated that Col. Schouler, late of the Boston Atlas, has become the editor of the Chicago Tribune.

Miss Sarah J. Clark (Grace Greenwood) has been married in the village church adjoining her parents' residence at New Brighton, (Pa.), to Mr. Leander K. Lippincott of Philadelphia.

Judge Washburn has accepted the Whig nomination for Governor of this State, and announces that he shall give no pledges.

A miser was found dead in his room in New York, with twenty-eight hundred dollars in his pocket. He was an Englishman, and forty years old.

The dealers and manufacturers of alcohol have agreed to raise the price of that article, and burning fluids have consequently risen thirty-three per cent. in price.

Three men were killed and six or seven others badly injured in Boston, on Tuesday last, by the falling of a brick wall in Howard street.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 20th inst., Lemuel E., son of Mr. Lemuel Baxter, aged 4 yrs. 2 ms. On the 21st inst., Mr. Benjamin Gay, aged 61 years.

On the 23d inst., Henrietta F., daughter of Mr. Josiah, Jr., and Mrs. Sarah W. Hayden, aged 5 years, 3 months and 11 days. On the 26th inst., Liza C., daughter of Mr. Thomas O. and Mrs. Celia Pearson, aged 2 years and 26 days.

Special Notices

QUINCY CHARITABLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of this Society, for the choice of officers, &c., will be held at the house of the president, on MONDAY EVENING, the 7th of November next, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

A meeting of the BOARD OF DIRECTORS will be held at the same place, immediately after the close of the business of the Society.

M. P. GLOVER, Secretary.

SINGING SCHOOL. It is proposed to open a class in the rudiments of Singing, to consist of twenty-four lessons, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 2d, at Franklin Hall, under the instruction of Mr. Francis Bates of Weymouth, and all desirous of attending are requested to be present on said evening in order that it may be determined whether to continue the School.

'The Cornuta Sacra' will be used; and persons having this Singing book are requested to bring it with them.

Terms of Tuition. Gentlemen, $2 00 Ladies, 1 00 Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

NOTICE. Tickets admitting persons to the course of Lectures to be delivered before the Quincy Lyceum the coming season, may be had, on and after Monday evening next, of Mr. George L. Gill, at the Quincy Bookstore, and of the Secretary of the Society.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

1st.—To hear and act on the Report of the Committee chosen at the last meeting in regard to holding a Levee.

2d.—To choose Committees, etc, to carry the same into execution.

Per order of the Directors.

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November:

On Tuesday, the 1st, Introductory, by Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, JR.:

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SUMNER;

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALGER;

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by WENDELL PHILLIPS, Esq.;

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESDERNER.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them positively), and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring; viz:—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lothrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 23d, 1853.

Personal.

If you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DE-

LAINE'S,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LYONNESE or CASIMERE,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MORNING DRESS GOODS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GAITER PLAIDS or SPOTTED

FLANNEL,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CRIB or BED BLANKETS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COV-

ERS or LINEN,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HO-

SERY,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIM-

MINGS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for RIGOLITS or RIGOLETS or

WORSTED WORK,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's Fancy HATS or

CAFS,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy,

Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of

FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy,

Call at GEO. SAVIL & CO.

Goodnow's Building,

Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose,

Nutmeg, Alapice, Peach-Water, Refined Distilled

Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory,

Thyme, Sage, etc., etc.

Extract of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article.

Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

Butter! Butter!!

30 to 40 lbs of first rate DAIRY

BUTTER, for sale cheap

D. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

Picked Up.

A LIGHT blue lap-streaked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst., on Peacock's Island.

The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.

JOHN M. CLEVELY.

Hall, Oct. 29. 3w

Wanted,

COAT MAKERS, immediately, at the Tailoring Establishment of D. D. KING.

Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

Executor's Sale.

WILL be sold at public auction, by a license

from Probate Court, on WEDNESDAY,

Nov. 21, at 1 o'clock P. M., all the Personal Property of Mr. Eliza T. Crane, deceased, at his late residence in Quincy, consisting of Beds, Bedsteads,

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing that the course of lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November:

On Tuesday, the 1st, Introductory, by Hon. ISSAH QUINCY, Jr.

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SCHMIDT

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALDER

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by WENDELL PHILLIPS, Esq.

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESBEN

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, nearly all of them positively, and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring: viz.—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lathrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.
Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

Personal.

If you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LAYONNE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA FLAIDS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CHILD BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSIERY, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIMMINGS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for HOODS, RIGOLETS or WORSTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's Fancy HATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at GEO. SAVIL & CO.

Goodnow's Building,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Nougat, Almonds, Peach-Water, French Distilled Rose Water, Secret Marjoram, Summer Savory, Thyme, Sage, etc., etc.

Location of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Butter! Butter!!

30 TO 40 tubs of first rate DAIRY BUTTER, for sale cheap
D. HAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Picked Up.

A LIGHT blue lap-streaked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst., on Petenick's Island. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.
JOHN M. CLEVERLY.
Hall, Oct. 29.

Wanted,

COAT MAKERS, immediately, at the Tailoring Establishment of D. D. RING.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Executor's sale.

WILL be sold at public auction, on WEDNESDAY, Nov. 2d, at 1 o'clock P. M., all the Personal Property of Mr. ELIZA T. CRANE, deceased, at his late residence in Quincy, consisting of Books, Bedsteads, Chairs, Tables, Looking Glasses, Bureaux, Desk, Clocks, Card Table—Groceries, Glass and Tin Ware—Cooking Utensils, 1 Store, 1 Gun, 2 Bells, 1 Oil Lamp, 1 Bed, 1 Bedstead, 1 Bed, 1 Chair, 1 Cart, 1 Hay Wagon, 1 Sled, 2 Cows, 1 Hog, tons of English Hay, Oat Fodder, lot Corn and other articles too numerous to mention.
Conditions made known at the sale.
GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auctioneer.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

SIBEL HOLMES,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to, at short notice, by

HIRAN PRIOR, Adm.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

THE AMERICAN STATESMAN, or II-

Illustrations of the Life and Character of Daniel Webster. By Rev. Joseph Barnard. Just published and for sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Remnants of DeLaines.

A large lot for sale very low at
I. W. MUNROE'S.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.
An assortment of FALL and WINTER CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store,
TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

For Gentlemen's Wear.

A LARGE assortment of HATS, CAPS, A SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and Gents FURNISHING GOODS.

A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made into Garments of any description, at short notice, by

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
Goodnow's Building,
Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM BENT,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to, at short notice, by

NANCY BENT, Administratrix.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Executor's Notice

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of

ELISHA T. CRANE,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to, at short notice, by

EDMUND MARSH, Executor.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM HOLLIS,
late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to, at short notice, by

JAMES HOLLIS, Adm.
Braintree, Oct. 15.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. IN INSOLVENCY.
Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq. Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for said County of Norfolk.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Assignee of the Estate of

DAVID COVILL,
of Quincy, in said County, Teamster, an Insolvent Debtor.

The second meeting of the creditors of said Insolvent will be held at a Court of Insolvency, at said Commissioner's Court Room, in Court-n, on the twenty-first day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

CHARLES ENICOTT, Assignee.
Canton, Oct. 15.

Please to Read this.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED,
To sell Pictorial and Useful Works for the year 1854.

WANTED in every section of the United States, active and enterprising men, to engage in the sale of some of the best Books published in the Country. To men of good address, possessing a small capital of $25 to $100, such inducements will be offered as to enable them to make from $2 to $5 a day profit.

The Books published by us are all useful in their character, extremely popular, and command large sales wherever they are offered.

For further particulars, address, (postage paid.) ROBERT SEARS, Publisher.
181 William Street, New York.

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 TO 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces. The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

Notice.

WHEREAS, my wife, ELIZA S. ROWELL, having left my bed and board without any cause or provocation, I hereby forbid all persons trusting or harboring her on my account, as I shall pay no debt of her contracting after this date.

CALEB ROWELL.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE,
Quincy Canal Wharf.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Extirpator, which has been tried and proved successful, by many families in this town and vicinity.

Also—Madagascar Rat Extirpator, and various other kinds. For sale by

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

Wanted.

10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
Quincy Aug. 20. At Goodnow's Building.

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satanic License: by Rev. Joel Wakeman.
Dick Wilson, the Russell's Victim. Founded on fact. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, October 1.

1854.

The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert H. Barlow, for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE
TREMONT ROW
SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK.
AND INCREASED FACILITIES,
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,

1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add

New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature

to constitute their Establishment the LARGEST and BEST

RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that Unlike other large Dry Goods Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS Who have SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co.

are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thibets and Cashmeres, FANCY AND STAPLE

Dress and Cloak Goods OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

PARIS CLOAKS and all similar articles in great profusion,

Laces and Embroideries, GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.

ALL AT BARGAINS! Bargains!! Bargains!!! as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS

To pay the expense of six or eight months' credit on our Goods!!

AUCTION HOUSES as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice Goods to our mammoth assortment, and we say with confidence

WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVIDED, that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of Extra, Medium & Common Qualities for sale at such decided bargains.

We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it

WILL DO THEM NO HARM, and MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD, we confidently expect a visit from all.

F. A. JONES & CO.

Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street.)
BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 17, 1853. 3m

Dr. Lloyd Goodnow

Botanic Medicine Depot,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

RUSSES, Supporters, Shoulder Braces, and a variety of other instruments of Mechanical Art, of the most approved style and quality.

Also—The Roman Eye Balsam, a sovereign remedy for weak and inflamed eyes.

Also—Perry's Celebrated Haigarian Balm, for cleaning and beautifying the Hair.

Also—Lorenz's Extract for removing Paint and Grease from Cloths.

This Extract will not soil the most delicate fabric.

Also—A variety of Cloth, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Teeth Powders, Fancy Soaps, Cologne, &c. &c.

For sale at the DRUG STORE, Goodnow's Building.
Quincy, Sept. 10.

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING has finished and arranged this new Store to express his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. Strict personal attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Soule's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Rheumatic Liniment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches constantly on hand and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.

Mrs. E. HAYDEN has just received a new supply of Trask's Magnetic Ointment, for Nervous Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Ulcers, Boils, Erysipelas, Ague, Sore Throat, and Inflammations of all kinds, and prevents Lock Jaw in cases of wounds, &c.

Quincy, Oct. 8.

BOSTON EXHIBITION

OF—SHAWLS, SILKS, CLOAKS
—AND—
OTHER DRY GOODS.

—AT THE—
LADIES' EXCHANGE.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.
INVITE the special attention of ALL, to their magnificent assortment of

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods, —OF—
HALF A MILLION DOLLARS VALUE.

Nearly every article of our large stock has been made to our own order, and is of a character giving satisfaction to those who buy: MAKE RIGHT those who buy to sell again, and bringing back with a smile, those who buy for their own consumption.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.,
192 Washington St.
Boston, Sept. 17.

New England Protective Union,

DIVISION, No. 180,
The Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Hartwick, on Franklin street, may be found a good assortment of

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE!

Together with a supply of Boot Maker's Findings.

—ALSO—
BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE, LARD, JACKEREL, PICKLES, POTATOES, &c. &c.

All of which will be kept constantly on hand, and will be sold at a small advance from cost, for cash.

The public are invited to call and examine our Goods, and become acquainted with our mode of trade.

N. B. The spacious Hall over the store will be let on favorable terms.

Goods delivered to any part of the town free from charges.
Quincy, April 2, 1853.

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by

I. W. MUNROE.
Quincy, May 21

Practical Phrenology.

CORRECT Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, or complete written descriptions of character, including valuable advice concerning the preservation and restoration of health, formation of proper habits, correction of faults, restraining of excesses, and cultivating defects; and important directions as to the choice of suitable occupations, the selection of partners in business, and congenial companions for life, &c., &c., can be had, day or evening, at the Phrenological Rooms of

FWLLERS, WELLS & CO.,
142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

To the young just starting in life, such knowledge is invaluable.

Our Phrenological system, containing a great variety of Skulls, Busts, Casts, and Paintings of the most distinguished men, is open free to visitors.

Books for sale on Phrenology, Physiology, Water Cure, Psychology, Photography, and progressive subjects generally. All of Fowlers & Wells' publications, including the Phrenological and Water Cure Journals, furnished from this office at the same prices, wholesale and retail, as at New York.

Orders by mail or express promptly attended to.

FWLLERS, WELLS & CO.,
142 Washington street, Boston.
Boston, Sept. 24.

Load Notice.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of Norfolk.

THE Subscribers, inhabitants of the town of Quincy, in said County, respectfully represent, that common convenience, and necessity, require that that part of a Town Way, called Summer street, lying between School and Liberty streets, in said County of Norfolk, be widened; that in March last, several inhabitants of Quincy, requested the Selectmen thereof in writing, to alter said way, and that they have refused so to do.

We therefore pray your Honorable Board, to view said way, and cause all needful alterations in the same.

LIRA LITCHFIELD, and eight others.
Quincy, Sept. 27th, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Delham, in said County of Norfolk, on the fourth Tuesday of September, A. D. 1853.

ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered that the County Commissioners will meet at the Hancock House, in Quincy, in said County, on Monday the fifth day of December next, at ten of the clock A. M., and there proceed to view the road described in said petition, and hear and act thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition with this order thereon be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
A true Copy of the original Petition on file, and order thereon.

Attest, EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.
Oct. 8.

Potatoes.

Poetry.

Original Hymn.

BY REV. WILLIAM P. LUNT, D. D.
Sung at the Agricultural Meeting, at Dedham,
September 28th, 1853.

HOSEA II.—21, 22: "And it shall come to pass in that day, I will hear, with the Lord, I will hear the heavens, and they shall hear the earth;
And the earth shall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil: and they shall hear Jezroel."

One cry, with never-ceasing sound,
Circles Creation's ample round,
While all below, and all above,
Turn, genial Parent, to thy love.

The corn, and vine, and olive fair,
Hearken to needy mortals' prayer;
And these from earth's all-fostering breast
Expect their fatness and their zest.

The mighty mother, for her brood
Careful to yield their wanted food,
Looks up and asks the heavenly powers
For quickening heat and softening showers.

The flying clouds and fiery hail
Listen to earth's entreating call;
But these implore a Will Divine,
For leave to drop, and power to shine.

Thus through Creation's ample round,
One prayer is heard with purpose sound;
While all below, and all above,
Turn, genial Parent, to thy love.

For the Patriot.

There's a Home.

BY JENNY B. N. Y.

There is a home, where kindly smiles
A father's tender care,
There is a pure rich food of love
Where all that will share,
No angry looks or withering words
Or harsh unfeeling tones,
Nor weary brow, or aching heart,
To mar this beautiful scene.

No bitter feelings of neglect
To chill the fond and trusting love,
But all is peace, sweet unity,
In your bright home above;
There, the weary head sweet rest can find,
There, the erring one forgiven;
O, for a home in your bright sphere,
O, for thy rest, O, heaven.

The Happy Farmer.

BY MRS. L. H. STORRETT.

Saw ye the farmer at his plow
As you were riding by?
Or, wearied 'neath his noon-day toil,
When summer suns were high?
And thought you that his lot was hard?
And did you think your God,
That you and yours were not condemn'd
Thus like a slave to plod?

Come see him at his harvest home,
When golden field and tree,
Conspire, with flowing stores to fill
His barn and granary.
His healthy children gaily sport
Amid the new-mown hay,
Or proudly aid with vigorous arm,
His tasks, as best they may.

The dog partakes his master's joy,
And guards the loaded wain,
The feathered people clap their wings,
And lead their youngling train.
Perchance the hoary grandeur's eye
The glowing scene surveys,
And breathes a blessing on his race,
Or guides their evening praise.

The Harvest Giver is their friend,
The maker of the soil,
And earth, the Mother gives them bread
And evers their patient toil.
Come, join them round their wintry hearth,
Their heartfelt pleasures see,
And you can better judge how blest
The farmer's life may be.

Anecdotes.

A young lady, in a class studying physiology, made answer to a question put, that in six years a human body became entirely changed, so that no particle which was in at the commencement of that period would remain at the close of it.
'Then Miss L.' said the young gentleman tutor, 'in six years you will cease to be Miss L.'

'Why, yes sir, I suppose so,' she said very modestly looking at the floor.

Not long since, an Irishman stepped into a market, and inquired the price of 'praties.'
'Ninety cents per bushel,' replied the tradesman.
'Oh, be gorry! that is too much—I can't give it; but how much will you be after taking for a peck?'
'Two shillings, sir.'
'Cheap enough—I'll take a peck.'
The potatoes were measured out to Pat, the money paid over, and he departed, evidently pleased with giving thirty-three cents a peck, rather than ninety cents per bushel.

'I say, printer, do you take Quincy money?'
'No.'
'What's the reason—ain't it good?'
'Yes.'
'Why don't you take it then?'
'Can't get it.'

A Judge, in reprimanding a criminal, among other names, called him a scoundrel. The prisoner replied:
'Sir, I am not so big a scoundrel as your honor, here the culprit stopped, but finally added—'takes me to be.'
'Put your words close together,' said the Judge, reddening.

'Daddy! said a young hopeful, 'let's go up to the nine pin alley and roll.'
'Roll! boy, what do you know about rolling ten pins?'
'I know about it? Why I can roll your darn'd old eyes out in less than ten minutes.'

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,

HAVE FOR SALE

On GRANT WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—

HARD AND SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11.

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.

Quincy, Oct. 8.

Dr. BUGBEY,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.

Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. I. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4.

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.

Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sick.

Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Ha-
vanna Cigars.

H. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 105 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853.

ALL KINDS OF

Job Printing,

SUCH AS

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF

BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY

PRINTING,

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 29 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—

West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAMCHOWDERS.

IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL

STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick & Sand

—ALSO—

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood.

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852.

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Ready Made Clothing of

EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy

—A complete assortment always on hand.—

N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom
Work.

COAL! COAL!!

THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING

A LARGE SUPPLY OF

Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.

For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

Quincy, July 9, 1853.

KINGSBURY & EMERSON,

Counsellors at Law,

WYOMOUTH MASS.

F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.

One at Office, Hollis Institute Buildings, every Tuesday.

SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass.
July 5.

D. D. RING,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

LIBERTY ST. W.

Over C. & L. Curtis'

GROCERY STORE,

Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,

QUINCY, June 4.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and

Hardware,

together with a full assortment of choice

W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,

all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices

and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

B. F. MESERVEY,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

DEALER IN

Watches Clocks and Jewelry.

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, April 2d,

Remnants of Delaines.

to go for sale very low at

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

I. W. MUNROE'S.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—

LUMBER;

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—

Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.

Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.

Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.

Quincy, June 12, 1852.

Auction Notice.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.

N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to.

Quincy, July 23

INSURANCE.

Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES

EFFECTED BY

WHITCOMB PORTER.

COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSUR-

ANCE BROKER.

ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office
Quincy, at No. 15

Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.

Quincy, July 16.

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."

An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.

EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies

in less than five months. A

new edition, revised and

improved, just issued.

Dr. HUNTER'S Medi-

cal Manual and Hand

Book for the Afflicted—

Containing an outline of the origin, progress,

treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, to self

abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all

medical technicalities, and everything that would

offend the ear of decency, from the result of some

twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private

nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in

Penn. College, Philadelphia. "DR. HUNTER'S

MEDICAL MANUAL."—The author of this work

unlike the majority of those works which advertise

the cures of diseases of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States.

It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the

unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a

successful and experienced practitioner, in whose

honor and integrity they may place the greatest

confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. Uni-

versity, Philadelphia. It gives me pleasure to

add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the "Medical Manual." Numerous cases

of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them

of long standing have come under my notice, in

which his skill has been manifested in restoring to

perfect health, in some instances where the patient

had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrange-

ment of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EXcess of venery, I do not know of his superior in

the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than a justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the

above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all tech-anical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its

readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,

no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and 'with too little breath,' he has offered to the world at the merely modest price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—HUNTER.

"No teacher or parent should be without the

knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow

to the youth under their charge."—PEOPLE'S AD-

VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing

of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self pollution without realizing the cause and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The consequences of this evil are raising families have been enfeebled, if

not broken down, and they do not know the cure.

Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and instruct the public mind to check and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretch-

edness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. The use of such a manual

(intoxicating drinks), though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and, believe me, your co-worker, in this good work, as we so actively engaged."—

One copy, (securely enveloped,) will be for-

warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents; 50 copies for $1. Addrs as

(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box

196, Philadelphia.

Booksellers, Canvasers and Book Agents

supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hoffman's

Celebrated German Bitters,

WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Disorders, and all diseases arising from a weak or disordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles,

Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove

all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary

habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by

GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.

Quincy, Sept. 24.

Bargains.

MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage

the new Store, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at

Streets, Quincy.

The undersigned being desirous of closing the

balance of their Stock of

SUMMER GOODS,

will offer the same at a great discount from former

prices. Call and examine.

Quincy, July 16.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured; the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dug-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Allison Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ston of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Rochester, Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1853.

NUMBER XLV.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.
The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.

JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. LOCKE, Stone Quarries.
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

'Never Say Fail.'

'Never say Fail' is an excellent motto for those commencing life's battle, provided it be qualified in the mind by a resolution to engage only in enterprises that are sanctioned by the laws of virtue and propriety. There is neither honor nor safety in prosecuting, with unyielding pertinacity, enterprises that violate human and divine laws. Men have prostituted the finest talents, and the most persevering spirit, to the accomplishment of ends destructive of the peace and happiness of their fellow-being; but how often, in the moment of seeming triumph, have been dashed down, as if by an unseen hand, to the lowest depths of shame and wretchedness.

Success is never certain, and the aim not worth the struggle, unless it be reached by means which strengthen all the better faculties and improved the heart. Wealth, sought for its own sake, brings with it a curse; and position sought to gratify vanity is ever accompanied by disappointments and miseries. The miser, with his bags of gold, is the most unenviable of mortals, and the man who sacrifices every good and righteous principle in the gratification of an insatiable ambition can only succeed in making his name infamous and his memory detested.

But there is an ambition which all men should cultivate. It is the ambition to excel in virtue and goodness—the ambition to rightly discharge the duties of life—the ambition to contribute something to the welfare and happiness of mankind. No man is sent into the world to live for himself alone; and certainly none can claim the right to live by injuring his neighbors. It is therefore, every man's first duty to strive that he be not an evil to society; and his next duty is to strive to be, in some degree, a promoter of its best interests. In these aims, he should know no such word as 'fail.' If he strive earnestly and honestly he will not fail.

To be good members of society, men must be temperate and attentive. They must earn their bread by honest toil; or if placed above the necessity of laboring with their hands, they should employ their fortune and their leisure in advancing measures for the intellectual and moral improvement of their race. Men, of this class, know not how much they can accomplish, if with right minds and unwavering resolution they engage in the work. But they form only a small minority in a community or nation; and to effect great objects of improvement or reform, there must be a union of all, whether rich or poor, who have the cause of humanity stamped on their hearts.

It is often complained that but little success attends the benevolent and reformatory movements that are originated. Where there is an enlightened and genuine zeal to urge these movements on, the results invariably show that great success is attainable. The frequent want of success lies less in the natures of those to be reformed, than in the wrong modes adopted, and the easily discouraged minds of those who undertake the reform. The best reform, and the surest, is that which men are induced to undertake for themselves; and to induce men to check growing evil habits and break loose from bad ones already formed, should be the aim of all reformers.

It is too common for the slave of a destroying habit to plead that he cannot give it up; but if he will only make the effort, determined to triumph, he will not fail. If however, he simply make an experiment to see how easy or how difficult, is the duty, the habit will triumph over him. Let, then, all who undertake to reform, or better the condition of others, and all who wish to better their own condition, begin, and persevere, in that spirit of courage and endurance which discards the idea of failure.—New York Sun.

Adams, Hon. C. F.
Adams, Josiah
Adams, Ebenezer
Adams, Seth
Abercrombie, Wyman
Abercrombie, Horace
Arnold, Charles
Arnold, John
Apleton, B. M.
Apleton, William G.
Andrews, Samuel Jr.
Allen, Obed
Allen, Otis
Arnold, Daniel F.
Atkinson, Andrew
Adams, Henry A. C.
Avenill, Moses
Arlin, Anderson
Austin, Stimpson L.
Arnold, George F.
Ames, Nathan
Ames, Samuel
Alden, Horace
Alpough, Abram M.
Allen, John J.
Ackerman, H. A. C.
Arey, Joseph Jr.

C
Clark, Rev. Nelson
Curtis, Noah
Curtis, Adam
Curtis, Samuel
Curtis, Benjamin
Curtis, Charles
Curtis, John
Curtis, Thomas
Curtis, George
Curtis, William
Curtis, Henry
Curtis, Franklin
Crane, Ebenezer
Crane, Joseph
Crane, Benjamin L.
Crane, John
Crane, Seth
Crane, George
Chubbuck, David
Chubbuck, Perez
Chubbuck, William C.
Cook, Henry
Cook, Jonathan
Clements, Joel
Cummings, Noah
Chapin, Eliphas S.
Cudworth, Urban
Cudworth, Urban Jr.
Churchill, Thaddeus
Cleverly, Ebenezer
Clark, Jonathan R.
Chesley, William
Carver, Philip
Carver, Charles W.
Chase, Noah D.
Conner, Michael
Cushing, Martin L.
Curran, John F.
Blaisdell, Gilbert
Briesler, John
Bass, Jonathan
Bass, Lewis
Bass, Benjamin
Bass, John B.
Bass, Isaac
Bass, Horace
Bass, George W.
Bass, Josiah
Brackett, Lemuel
Brackett, Jeffery R.
Brackett, Joseph G.
Brackett, Edward
Brackett, Peter
Brackett, Charles C.
Baxter, Daniel
Baxter, Daniel Jr.
Baxter, James
Baxter, Joseph
Baxter, William W.
Baxter, George L.
Baxter, Elijah
Baxter, Josiah
Baxter, George
Baxter, Jonathan
Baxter, Thompson
Baxter, Lemuel
Baxter, James S.
Brigham, Josiah
Brigham, George H.
Bigelow, Jabez
Burrell, J. T. Rev.
Burrell, Joseph
Burrell, Seth
Burrell, Joseph W.
Burrell, Joseph F.
Burrell, Ambrose M.
Burrell, Mayhew
Burrell, Charles
Bent, George
Beals, Nathaniel H.
Beals, Joseph S.
Billings, Caleb
Billings, John A.
Brown, Foster
Brown, Foster C.
Brown, Joseph N.
Brown, William R.
Brown, Benjamin F.
Brown, Francis
Brown, Charles F.
Bates, Thomas
Bates, William R.
Brammett John
Bradford, James
Beckford, James M.
Bagder, Dr. William B.
Buckman, Amos
Bailey, Hanson
Badger, Ezra
Barleigh, Jasper H.
Blanchard, George
Bates, Stephen
Blanch, James
Barker, Henry
Bowen, Wilber R.
Boyd, Patrick
Bailey, Henry
Bailey, Billings
Bailey, Henry 2d
Berry, Joseph F.
Badger, C. L.
Badger, I. C.
Baker, Calvin
Boyle, Peter
Boyle, Patrick
Blanchard, Charles
Blanchard, Henry
Blanch, Isaac H.
Billings, Richard
Burke, James
Bicknell, Charles
Bean, Nathaniel M.
Buckley, Thomas

E
Eaton, Jacob F.
Ela, Samuel
Edwards, David
Edwards, Samuel R.
Edwards, Charles H.
Edwards, James Jr.
Edwards, Henry
Ellison, William
Ewell, Joseph
Ellis, Hosea B.
Eloock, Michl.
Enderly, Matthias
Everson, Edwin
Eaton, Nathaniel H.
Ellis, Francis C.

F Faxon, Job
Faxon, John
Faxon, Henry H.
Faxon, Job F.
Faxon, Francis G.
Faxon, Horatio N.
French, Daniel
French, Washington M.
French, George H.
French, Joseph
French, Harvey
French, Alden
French, Henry A.
French, Dr. Charles S.
French, Daniel Jr.
French, Charles E.
French, Loring A.
Ford, Thomas
Ford, Job
Ford, Ebenezer
Field, Joseph
Pollett, George
Pollett, George D.
Fitzgerald, Patrick
Farnum, Daniel
Fisher, Richard
Hobart, Daniel 2d
Hobart, William S.
Hobart, William
Hobart, Charles
Hobart, Henry
Holden, John
Horton, Lloyd G.
Harmon, Ebenezer
Hodgkinson, Michel
Horn, Trueworthy C.
Hunt, John
Hunt, Asa
Hunt, Alpheus
Hunt, Hiram
Hamilton, John K.
Hamilton, John E.
Harrington, B. W.
Hobbs, Edmund
Hammond, Charles
Hurley, David
Holt, Albert
Holman, Charles
Hexth, Alfred
Hersey, George W.
Hensworth, John C.
Hanscom, Samuel
Harwood, John
Howe, Belcher
Harris, James A.
Henry, Thomas
Hobart, George
Hayden, Elbridge
Huckins, Rodney
Hinkley, William
Huntress, Freeman A.

G
Greenleaf, Hon. Thomas
Greenleaf, E. P.
Glover, Josiah
Glover, William S.
Glover, Dr. L. J.
Glover, John J.
Glover, Horatio N.
Glover, Horatio N. Jr.
Glover, James M.
Glover, John Jr.
Glover, William H.
Glover, John B.
Glover, John M.
Gourgas, John M.
Gay, Henry A.
Gay, Timothy
Green, James
Green, John
Green, Ebenezer
Green, Ebenezer G.
Gill, George L.
Goddard, Dr. William
Goodrich, Lorenzo D.
Goodrich, Stephen
Glennon, James
Gibson, James
Garity, Michel
Gleason, Richard
Goodnow, Dr. Lloyd
Goodnow, George W.
Gray, John
Grant, Levi
Garity, Patrick
Glendon, Michel
Griffin, Patrick
Gulliver, Hugh
Gillman, Albert S.
Goodrich, Benjamin

H
Hall, John
Hall, Charles
Hardwick, Adam
Hardwick, Frederick
Hardwick, Joseph
Hardwick, Peter
Hardwick, William P.
Hardwick, James M.
Hardwick, Samuel V.
Hardwick, T. P. G.
Hardwick, Henry
Hardwick, Charles Jr.
Hardwick, John
Hardwick, George W.
Hardwick, Charles H.
Hardwick, Israel T.
Hardwick, Franklin
Hardwick, Ebenezer B.
Hardwick, Samuel P.
Hayden, Josiah Jr.
Hayden, Josiah Jr.
Hayden, George W.
Hayden, Solomon
Hayden, Eli
Hayden, Nathaniel
Hayden, Nathaniel Jr.
Hayden, Albert
Hayden, Henry
Hayden, Charles
Hayden, Bartlett
Hayden, Jonathan
Hayden, Arthur P.
Hersey, Jacob
Hersey, Ebenezer B.
Higgins, Samuel
Hobart, Benjamin
Holmes, Naaman B.
Hobart, Daniel
Hobart, Daniel 2d
Hobart, William S.
Hobart, William
Hobart, Charles
Hobart, Henry
Holden, John
Horton, Lloyd G.
Harmon, Ebenezer
Hodgkinson, Michel
Horn, Trueworthy C.
Hunt, John
Hunt, Asa
Hunt, Alpheus
Hunt, Hiram
Hamilton, John K.
Hamilton, John E.
Harrington, B. W.
Hobbs, Edmund
Hammond, Charles
Hurley, David
Holt, Albert
Holman, Charles
Hexth, Alfred
Hersey, George W.
Hensworth, John C.
Hanscom, Samuel
Harwood, John
Howe, Belcher
Harris, James A.
Henry, Thomas
Hobart, George
Hayden, Elbridge
Huckins, Rodney
Hinkley, William
Huntress, Freeman A.

I
Irish, Rev. William P.
Irish, Theodore H.
Lincoln, William V.
Litchfield, Liba
Litchfield, Ward
Litchfield, Davis C.
Litchfield, Amos
Leavitt, Chase F.
Leavitt, Josiah
Locke, George H.
Lucas, Joel
Lucas, John S.
Lyons, John S.
Littlefield, Henry
Lapham, Frederick A.
Lee, Rinaldo
Locke, Francis
Lake, Joseph B.
Lund, Nicholas
Lord, Peter R.
Leavitt, Jonathan
Larri, Columbus
Long, John
Lamb, Thomas
Leighton, R. H.
Lusard, Samuel B.
Lane, Daniel
Lombard, Daniel S.

J
Johnson, William
Jones, Peleg F.
Jameson, Jonathan
Johnson, Horace
Johnson, Lorenzo
Johnson, Joseph G.
Johnson, William F.
Joice, Perez
Joseph, Levi B.
Jacobs, John
Jones, George J.
Jones, Joshua
Johnson, Francis M.
Joy, Elbridge
Johnson, Asa S.

K
Kirk, John
Kenison, George W.
Kennon, Thomas
Kellogg, Theodore
Kingsman, William
Kirtidge, Preston P.
Kilroy, Patrick
Kimball, Charles L.
Kimball, William G.
King, William M.
Kittell, Thomas
Kane, Edward Kelley, James

L Lant, Rev. William P.
Lunt, Theodore H.
Lincoln, William V.
Litchfield, Liba
Litchfield, Ward
Litchfield, Davis C.
Litchfield, Amos
Leavitt, Chase F.
Leavitt, Josiah
Locke, George H.
Lucas, Joel
Lucas, John S.
Lyons, John S.
Littlefield, Henry
Lapham, Frederick A.
Lee, Rinaldo
Locke, Francis
Lake, Joseph B.
Lund, Nicholas
Lord, Peter R.
Leavitt, Jonathan
Larri, Columbus
Long, John
Lamb, Thomas
Leighton, R. H.
Lusard, Samuel B.
Lane, Daniel
Lombard, Daniel S.

M
Marsh, Jonathan
Marsh, George
Marsh, Edwin W.
Marsh, J. Mayhew
Marsh, Thomas M.
Marsh, Moses R.
Marsh, Edmund S.
Marsh, Warren
Miller, Charles E.
Munroe, Israel W.
Munn, Luther
Mead, B. V.
Mead, P. B.
Mead, Benjamin
Morton, William S.
Mitchell, Charles R.
Merritt, Molzer
Merritt, Martin B.
Merritt, Ambrose
Mears, Amos A.
Moore, Alexis W.
McKendrick, Michel
Marden, Francis
Marden, William L.
Moses, Charles
McDonald, Patrick
Mullen, John
McDonald, James
Mullen, Charles
McCullen, George
Marsh, Peter
Moody, Levi W.
Morse, Stephen Jr.
Marr, Thomas Munday, Hugh McDonald, John McArdle, John
Madagan, Garrett
Miller, George L.
Mills, Thomas
McDevitt, James
Meagher, Andrew

N
Newcomb, James
Newcomb, James Jr.
Newcomb, Bryant B.
Newcomb, O. T.
Newcomb, P. W.
Newcomb, T. H.
Newcomb, H. G. O.
Newcomb, Thomas
Newcomb, William
Newcomb, William 2d
Newcomb, John B.
Newcomb, Charles
Newcomb, Joseph
Newcomb, John A.
Newcomb, H. A.
Newcomb, George W.
Newcomb, Charles F.
Newcomb, Lewis
Newcomb, Richard Nightingale, Josiah
Nightingale, George
Nightingale, Solomon
Nightingale, Moses
Nightingale, Jeremiah
Nightingale, George B.
Nightingale, Lewis
Nightingale, Alpheus
Nightingale, T. J.
Nightingale, T. B.
Nightingale, Isaac C.
Nightingale, Edwin Nightingale, Lemuel
Nightingale, Nathaniel
Nye, Daniel P.
Nish, Albert C.
Nash, Peter O.
Nelson, Charles D.
Nutter, George
Neil, James O.
Neil, John O.
Nye, Alfred

O Ogle, William O'Brien, Thomas

P
Pope, Asa
Pope, Samuel B.
Pope, Norton Q.
Pope, M. C.
Pope, Ozias M.
Pope, Edward R.
Packard, William H.
Packard, Elisha
Packard, Abner B.
Packard, George W.
Packard, Caleb
Packard, Edwin
Packard, Charles H.
Packard, Josiah V.
Pierce, C. L.
Pierce, George M.
Pierce, John
Pierce, Thomas D.
Pierce, Patrick
Pierce, George
Page, Benjamin
Pratt, Jonathan
Pratt, Thomas
Pratt, William
Pratt, H. G.
Pratt, H. G. Jr.
Paine, Johnson
Porter, Whitcomb
Parker, John
Parker, William
Parker, William Jr.
Parker, Alvin
Parker, Washington
Parker, Moses C.
Parker, Charles
Prescott, Abram
Pray, George B.
Pray, Charles H.
Plummer, Thomas H.
Pickering, Samuel S.
Pattee, Dr. William S.
Prior, Hiram
Panton, William
Pickernell, William
Percival, James
Perry, Calvin W.
Page, John
Penman, Stephen
Packard, George W.

R
Roddan, Rev. J. T.
Rawson, Samuel Rodgers, Clift
Rodgers, Alvin
Rodgers, Horace G.
Robertson, J. W.
Rideout, David Jr.
Rideout, Luke Rideout, James Rideout, Enoch
Rideout, Asa
Rice, Richard
Riddle, James
Ransom, Henry A.
Rich, Benjamin
Rich, Abram Jr.
Rowell, T. H.
Rowell, Benjamin
Rowell, Peter
Richardson, Joseph
Randlett, George W.
Randlett, J. G.
Randlett, Joseph
Randlett, John C.
Reynolds, Patrick
Ricker, Reuben
Ricker, Enos
Ryan, Michael
Russell, Asa F.
Russell, John D.
Ring, Daniel D.
Rideout, David
Richardson, Lewis

S
Sergeant, Rev. A. D.
Speer, John
Speer, Seth
Speer, Charles
Speer, Charles A.
Speer, William A.
Speer, Jonathan
Speer, Horace B.
Speer, Lewis
Speer, William M.
Speer, George 2d
Speer, George 3d
Speer, George W.
Speer, Edward A.
Speer, George F.
Speer, Nathaniel S.
Speer, Daniel
Speer, George
Savil, John
Savil, John 2d
Savil, Edwin H.
Savil, Benjamin
Savil, Charles F.
Southern, John
Southern, John L.
Southern, Frederick Southern, Henry
Southern, Edward B.
Shaw, Ebenezer A.
Shaw, John W.
Shaw, Emerson
Sampson, William H.
Simpson, John A.
Small, Warren E.
Stetson, Dr. J. A.
Sleeper, Moses
Stone, Samuel O.
Stone, Isaac
Stephenson, John
Smith, Charles
Smith, Thomas
Smith, Henry F.
Silver, Charles
Southard, James
Starbuck, Edward A.
Sargent, Joel
Shugrue, Timothy
Swift, Charles
Shen, Morris
Pierce, Thomas D.
Pierce, Patrick
Pierce, George
Page, Benjamin
Pratt, Jonathan
Pratt, Thomas
Pratt, William
Pratt, H. G.
Pratt, H. G. Jr.
Paine, Johnson
Porter, Whitcomb
Parker, John
Parker, William
Parker, William Jr.
Parker, Alvin
Parker, Washington
Parker, Moses C.
Parker, Charles
Prescott, Abram
Pray, George B.
Pray, Charles H.
Plummer, Thomas H.
Pickering, Samuel S.
Pattee, Dr. William S.
Prior, Hiram
Panton, William
Pickernell, William
Percival, James
Perry, Calvin W.
Page, John
Penman, Stephen
Packard, George W.

T
Tucker, Rev. T. W.
Thayer, Elisha
Thayer, Albert
Thayer, William F.
Thayer, George F.
Thayer, David
Thayer, George
Turner, Edward
Trask, F. A.
Trask, Theodore
Trask, William H.
Tirrell, Charles P.
Tirrell, Job
Tirrell, Quincy

U
Underwood, Beverly
Underwood, William S.
Underwood, John C.
Usher, James 2d

V Vearie, Elijah
Vearie, George
Vearie, George 2d
Vearie, John T.
Vearie, Joshua
Vearie, Charles L.
Vearie, Francis
Vinal, Warren Jr.
Vearie, Joseph

W
Wood, Henry
Wood, John A.
Wood, Lewis
Wood, Jason W.
Wood, Benjamin F.
Wood, Henry M.
White, Nathaniel
White, Nathan H.
White, George
White, James
White, Walter
White, Charles
White, Isaac P.
White, B. C. C.
White, Isaac
White, Franklin B.
Whitcher, John
Whitcher, John D.
Whitcher, Charles O.
Whitcher, Warren W.
Wild, Nathaniel
Wild, Nathaniel A.
Wild, Paul
Wild, J. Q. A.
Williams, Zebediah
Williams, Francis Wild, Edwin
Whitney, William F.
Whitney, Asa
Whitney, H. O.
Whitney, Loring
Walker, William
Walker, Ezra
Woodward, Dr. Eben
Webb, Thomas C.
Willard, Solomon
Wentworth, Josiah P.
Wilson, Francis O.
Worcester, Eldad
Wright, Abel
Wilmarth, Calvin L.
Wade, Shadrach
Willett, Abner
Willett, George
Willett, Charles A.
Willett, Edwin N.
Whiting, G. S. T.
Whiting, H. G.
Whiting, J. W.
Whiting, Zenas
Whitton, Isiah G.
Whitton, Charles E.
Williams, Elias
Watson, Benjamin
Wheeler, Samuel P.
Wineberger, John M.
Wellington, Asa
Watson, Lysander B.
Whelan, Philip
Ward, William
Wildman, John
Wildman, Henry G.

X
Xenophon, Rev. T. W.

Y
Yates, Elisha
Yates, Albert
Yates, William F.
Yates, George F.
Yates, David
Yates, George
Turner, Edward
Trask, F. A.
Trask, Theodore
Trask, William H.
Tirrell, Charles P.
Tirrell, Job
Tirrell, Quincy

Z
Zachary, Rev. T. W.

AA
Abercrombie, Wyman
Abercrombie, Horace
Arnold, Charles
Arnold, John
Apleton, B. M.
Apleton, William G.
Andrews, Samuel Jr.
Allen, Obed
Allen, Otis
Arnold, Daniel F.
Atkinson, Andrew
Adams, Henry A. C.
Avenill, Moses
Arlin, Anderson
Austin, Stimpson L.
Arnold, George F.
Ames, Nathan
Ames, Samuel
Alden, Horace
Alpough, Abram M.
Allen, John J.
Ackerman, H. A. C.
Arey, Joseph Jr.

BB
Belcher, Samuel
Brown, John F.
Blaisdell, Gilbert
Briesler, John
Bass, Jonathan
Bass, Lewis
Bass, Benjamin
Bass, John B.
Bass, Isaac
Bass, Horace
Bass, George W.
Bass, Josiah
Brackett, Lemuel
Brackett, Jeffery R.
Brackett, Joseph G.
Brackett, Edward
Brackett, Peter
Brackett, Charles C.
Baxter, Daniel
Baxter, Daniel Jr.
Baxter, James
Baxter, Joseph
Baxter, William W.
Baxter, George L.
Baxter, Elijah
Baxter, Josiah
Baxter, George
Baxter, Jonathan
Baxter, Thompson
Baxter, Lemuel
Baxter, James S.
Brigham, Josiah
Brigham, George H.
Bigelow, Jabez
Burrell, J. T. Rev.
Burrell, Joseph
Burrell, Seth
Burrell, Joseph W.
Burrell, Joseph F.
Burrell, Ambrose M.
Burrell, Mayhew
Burrell, Charles
Bent, George
Beals, Nathaniel H.
Beals, Joseph S.
Billings, Caleb
Billings, John A.
Brown, Foster
Brown, Foster C.
Brown, Joseph N.
Brown, William R.
Brown, Benjamin F.
Brown, Francis
Brown, Charles F.
Bates, Thomas
Bates, William R.
Brammett John
Bradford, James
Beckford, James M.
Bagder, Dr. William B.
Buckman, Amos
Bailey, Hanson
Badger, Ezra
Barleigh, Jasper H.
Blanchard, George
Bates, Stephen
Blanch, James
Barker, Henry
Bowen, Wilber R.
Boyd, Patrick
Bailey, Henry
Bailey, Billings
Bailey, Henry 2d
Berry, Joseph F.
Badger, C. L.
Badger, I. C.
Baker, Calvin
Boyle, Peter
Boyle, Patrick
Blanchard, Charles
Blanchard, Henry
Blanch, Isaac H.
Billings, Richard
Burke, James
Bicknell, Charles
Bean, Nathaniel M.
Buckley, Thomas

CC
Clark, Rev. Nelson
Curtis, Noah
Curtis, Adam
Curtis, Samuel
Curtis, Benjamin
Curtis, Charles
Curtis, John
Curtis, Thomas
Curtis, George
Curtis, William
Curtis, Henry
Curtis, Franklin
Crane, Ebenezer
Crane, Joseph
Crane, Benjamin L.
Crane, John
Crane, Seth
Crane, George
Chubbuck, David
Chubbuck, Perez
Chubbuck, William C.
Cook, Henry
Cook, Jonathan
Clements, Joel
Cummings, Noah
Chapin, Eliphas S.
Cudworth, Urban
Cudworth, Urban Jr.
Churchill, Thaddeus
Cleverly, Ebenezer
Clark, Jonathan R.
Chesley, William
Carver, Philip
Carver, Charles W.
Chase, Noah D.
Conner, Michael
Cushing, Martin L.
Curran, John F.
Blaisdell, Gilbert
Briesler, John
Bass, Jonathan
Bass, Lewis
Bass, Benjamin
Bass, John B.
Bass, Isaac
Bass, Horace
Bass, George W.
Bass, Josiah
Brackett, Lemuel
Brackett, Jeffery R.
Brackett, Joseph G.
Brackett, Edward
Brackett, Peter
Brackett, Charles C.
Baxter, Daniel
Baxter, Daniel Jr.
Baxter, James
Baxter, Joseph
Baxter, William W.
Baxter, George L.
Baxter, Elijah
Baxter, Josiah
Baxter, George
Baxter, Jonathan
Baxter, Thompson
Baxter, Lemuel
Baxter, James S.
Brigham, Josiah
Brigham, George H.
Bigelow, Jabez
Burrell, J. T. Rev.
Burrell, Joseph
Burrell, Seth
Burrell, Joseph W.
Burrell, Joseph F.
Burrell, Ambrose M.
Burrell, Mayhew
Burrell, Charles
Bent, George
Beals, Nathaniel H.
Beals, Joseph S.
Billings, Caleb
Billings, John A.
Brown, Foster
Brown, Foster C.
Brown, Joseph N.
Brown, William R.
Brown, Benjamin F.
Brown, Francis
Brown, Charles F.
Bates, Thomas
Bates, William R.
Brammett John
Bradford, James
Beckford, James M.
Bagder, Dr. William B.
Buckman, Amos
Bailey, Hanson
Badger, Ezra
Barleigh, Jasper H.
Blanchard, George
Bates, Stephen
Blanch, James
Barker, Henry
Bowen, Wilber R.
Boyd, Patrick
Bailey, Henry
Bailey, Billings
Bailey, Henry 2d
Berry, Joseph F.
Badger, C. L.
Badger, I. C.
Baker, Calvin
Boyle, Peter
Boyle, Patrick
Blanchard, Charles
Blanchard, Henry
Blanch, Isaac H.
Billings, Richard
Burke, James
Bicknell, Charles
Bean, Nathaniel M.
Buckley, Thomas

DD
Dean, Rev. W. W.
Drake, Thomas
Drake, Thomas Jr.
Ditson, William
Duggan, Dr. William B.
Dwelle, Lemuel
Denton, Gideon F.
Damon, Ezra
Damon, Edward Damon, James
Dinegan, Daniel
Dearborn, Horatio G.
Dustin, John K.
Dawes, George M.
Doner, William
Doner Patrick
Drew, John B.
Davis, Alonzo G.
Dyer, William F.
Dowe, Freeman
Dexter, John M.
Derry, Charles T.
Durgin, Jonathan
Dawson, Michel
Dearborn, Albion
Dady, John
Devlin, Michel
Dunbar, George, L.
Dowe, Everett

EE
Eaton, Jacob F.
Ela, Samuel
Edwards, David
Edwards, Samuel R.
Edwards, Charles H.
Edwards, James Jr.
Edwards, Henry
Ellison, William
Ewell, Joseph
Ellis, Hosea B.
Eloock, Michl.
Enderly, Matthias
Everson, Edwin
Eaton, Nathaniel H.
Ellis, Francis C.

FF
Faxon, Job
Faxon, John
Faxon, Henry H.
Faxon, Job F.
Faxon, Francis G.
Faxon, Horatio N.
French, Daniel
French, Washington M.
French, George H.
French, Joseph
French, Harvey
French, Alden
French, Henry A.
French, Dr. Charles S.
French, Daniel Jr.
French, Charles E.
French, Loring A.
Ford, Thomas
Ford, Job
Ford, Ebenezer
Field, Joseph
Pollett, George
Pollett, George D.
Fitzgerald, Patrick
Farnum, Daniel
Fisher, Richard
Hobart, Daniel 2d
Hobart, William S.
Hobart, William
Hobart, Charles
Hobart, Henry
Holden, John
Horton, Lloyd G.
Harmon, Ebenezer
Hodgkinson, Michel
Horn, Trueworthy C.
Hunt, John
Hunt, Asa
Hunt, Alpheus
Hunt, Hiram
Hamilton, John K.
Hamilton, John E.
Harrington, B. W.
Hobbs, Edmund
Hammond, Charles
Hurley, David
Holt, Albert
Holman, Charles
Hexth, Alfred
Hersey, George W.
Hensworth, John C.
Hanscom, Samuel
Harwood, John
Howe, Belcher
Harris, James A.
Henry, Thomas
Hobart, George
Hayden, Elbridge
Huckins, Rodney
Hinkley, William
Huntress, Freeman A.

GG
Greenleaf, Hon. Thomas
Greenleaf, E. P.
Glover, Josiah
Glover, William S.
Glover, Dr. L. J.
Glover, John J.
Glover, Horatio N.
Glover, Horatio N. Jr.
Glover, James M.
Glover, John Jr.
Glover, William H.
Glover, John B.
Glover, John M.
Gourgas, John M.
Gay, Henry A.
Gay, Timothy
Green, James
Green, John
Green, Ebenezer
Green, Ebenezer G.
Gill, George L.
Goddard, Dr. William
Goodrich, Lorenzo D.
Goodrich, Stephen
Glennon, James
Gibson, James
Garity, Michel
Gleason, Richard
Goodnow, Dr. Lloyd
Goodnow, George W.
Gray, John
Grant, Levi
Garity, Patrick
Glendon, Michel
Griffin, Patrick
Gulliver, Hugh
Gillman, Albert S.
Goodrich, Benjamin

HH
Hall, John
Hall, Charles
Hardwick, Adam
Hardwick, Frederick
Hardwick, Joseph
Hardwick, Peter
Hardwick, William P.
Hardwick, James M.
Hardwick, Samuel V.
Hardwick, T. P. G.
Hardwick, Henry
Hardwick, Charles Jr.
Hardwick, John
Hardwick, George W.
Hardwick, Charles H.
Hardwick, Israel T.
Hardwick, Franklin
Hardwick, Ebenezer B.
Hardwick, Samuel P.
Hayden, Josiah Jr.
Hayden, Josiah Jr.
Hayden, George W.
Hayden, Solomon
Hayden, Eli
Hayden, Nathaniel
Hayden, Nathaniel Jr.
Hayden, Albert
Hayden, Henry
Hayden, Charles
Hayden, Bartlett
Hayden, Jonathan
Hayden, Arthur P.
Hersey, Jacob
Hersey, Ebenezer B.
Higgins, Samuel
Hobart, Benjamin
Holmes, Naaman B.
Hobart, Daniel
Hobart, Daniel 2d
Hobart, William S.
Hobart, William
Hobart, Charles
Hobart, Henry
Holden, John
Horton, Lloyd G.
Harmon, Ebenezer
Hodgkinson, Michel
Horn, Trueworthy C.
Hunt, John
Hunt, Asa
Hunt, Alpheus
Hunt, Hiram
Hamilton, John K.
Hamilton, John E.
Harrington, B. W.
Hobbs, Edmund
Hammond, Charles
Hurley, David
Holt, Albert
Holman, Charles
Hexth, Alfred
Hersey, George W.
Hensworth, John C.
Hanscom, Samuel
Harwood, John
Howe, Belcher
Harris, James A.
Henry, Thomas
Hobart, George
Hayden, Elbridge
Huckins, Rodney
Hinkley, William
Huntress, Freeman A.

II
Irish, Rev. William P.
Irish, Theodore H.
Lincoln, William V.
Litchfield, Liba
Litchfield, Ward
Litchfield, Davis C.
Litchfield, Amos
Leavitt, Chase F.
Leavitt, Josiah
Locke, George H.
Lucas, Joel
Lucas, John S.
Lyons, John S.
Littlefield, Henry
Lapham, Frederick A.
Lee, Rinaldo
Locke, Francis
Lake, Joseph B.
Lund, Nicholas
Lord, Peter R.
Leavitt, Jonathan
Larri, Columbus
Long, John
Lamb, Thomas
Leighton, R. H.
Lusard, Samuel B.
Lane, Daniel
Lombard, Daniel S.

JJ
Johnson, William
Jones, Peleg F.
Jameson, Jonathan
Johnson, Horace
Johnson, Lorenzo
Johnson, Joseph G.
Johnson, William F.
Joice, Perez
Joseph, Levi B.
Jacobs, John
Jones, George J.
Jones, Joshua
Johnson, Francis M.
Joy, Elbridge
Johnson, Asa S.

KK
Kirk, John
Kenison, George W.
Kennon, Thomas
Kellogg, Theodore
Kingsman, William
Kirtidge, Preston P.
Kilroy, Patrick
Kimball, Charles L.
Kimball, William G.
King, William M.
Kittell, Thomas
Kane

A Slack Twisted Girl.

I wish you could see our 'Soph', just for one week—you would see a first rate manager, I assure you. In the first place she is always late to breakfast; she never comes and ties up her hair, but only gives it a smooth and a twist, sets in her comb away, and so much is completed. Her dress generally has two or three green spots on the front breadths, her shoes are down at the heel, and she scuffs about rather than walks. She is too lazy to open her windows to air her chamber; too indolent to take her night dress out of her bed; too inefficient to throw back her bed clothes. She yawns over her breakfast, laughs with her brothers about some young 'gent', hopes 'somebody can take hints', looks over the morning paper and reads the marriages, the concert notices, the plays at the Museum, and what is going on at the Athenaeum, and then sits over the parlor register with a yellow covered book of the last trash literature, till her mother says, 'Sophie, dear, do you know how late it is? Do, child, make your toilet. Mr. W. may call, and what would he think? for this pretty piece of clay is to be married to our Tom.'

Well, she goes into her nicely arranged bed chamber which the maid has so carefully put in order. Heavens! how pretty it looks in a few moments! stockings thrown helterskelter, a pair of boots, both stringless and worn threadbare, the morning dress just as she dropped out of it, and her two old faded skirts all tattered about the bottom. Her brush is full of hair, her comb looks as black as ink, her toilet cover is bedaubed with Macassar's hair oil, and rosemary. But she is now dressed for the parlor, ready to receive Mr. Woodman. Her hair is combed over her ears as smoothly as if a polished iron had flattened every stray lock, her dress is all neatly hooked up, and what a trim little form she assumes! Her boots are hemmed close, and she holds the identical piece of ruffling in her hand to hem which she began a month ago. Her mother speaks of Sophie's industry—she is afraid she will sew her life out of her. She was thankful Mr. W. called to invite her to the evening concert. And previously to going there another dressing takes place, and her room again looks as if Bedlam were broke loose, which only makes three times a day that the chamber-maid is called to put things to rights.

And the worst of all is, 'our Soph' is expecting to marry Tom, whose father is a rich man, but his put his son to a clerkship of five hundred dollars per annum. Tom, do take another look before you leap—just one more, my good fellow. Take off the finger rings, take out the watch, and look at the unattended hose, lift up the dress and look at the hole under the arm; take off the ribbon around the neck and see how greasy it is inside;—and, as I live, the handkerchief isn't hemmed. What a wife you are getting! Think of her management—how your shirts and dummies would be folded, your stockings darned, your pants sewed, and your pockets fleeced to pay for gaw-gaws, and dressing-inside and cooks, and chamber girls. With your salary of five hundred all spent in your first three months of housekeeping, and you with your finger in your mouth asking your father to lend you a thousand or so! And then to comfort you, the slack twisted girl is your wife, and she is yours, entirely yours. Now don't talk about hanging, or drowning, or being swallowed up; only let your wife do her own work her own way, and my word for it, something akin to the cholera will take you off, for malignant diseases find their smart marks where dirt and vegetable decomposition goes on uninterruptedly.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, November 5, 1853.

BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE.

DEFERRED. "Quincy" was received too late, but will appear next week. We are compelled to reserve for the next number, two obituary notices. Most important of all, however, is the want of room for a little "editorial matter."

HOUSE LOTS. Attention is called to the advertisement of the Messrs Edwards in today's paper. The building sites offered are pleasantly and centrally situated, are to be sold without reserve, and doubtless a good house lot may be obtained at a bargain; at least, every person who thinks of buying should attend the sale.

There is to be a clam chowder served on the occasion, prepared in N. Q. Pope's best style, and of course we shall be present and partake of the acceptable feast.

POLITICAL. Mr. O'Brien, one of the most eloquent of the speakers now in the field, will speak next Thursday. Indisposition prevented his speaking as before announced. [See special notice.]

PARENTS OR CHILDREN IN WANT of beautiful and interesting books will do well to go to the Quincy Bookstore for them. So good an assortment was never seen in Quincy before. Remember this when you want to get a pretty book.

For the Patriot.
Whig Principles.

MR. EDITOR:—

The permanent influence on the mind, habits, and character of an individual, of the early lessons in duty and principle from maternal lips, is an axiom of universal acceptance. And akin to this are the example and precepts of those of our own sex, whom we have been accustomed to venerate and love. Men may, for a time, forget the one and the other of these; may, when no dereliction of honor, patriotism, or moral principle is involved, fall off from their commanding standards of action; but when the graver questions of justice, public good, and the integrity of the Commonwealth are concerned, the past with all its lessons of experience, magnanimity, and gratitude, will force itself upon the mind, and—like the good angel, who withholds the hand raised to strike the murderer's blow—arrest the wanderer in his course.

This reflection rushes upon the mind as we receive the assurance that CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS and JOHN GORMAN PALFREY refuse to support the Coalition Constitution, which many of their political friends are endeavoring to foist upon the people.

These gentlemen were born Whigs, imbibed Whig principles with their first nourishment, drank them in at the fire-side in youth and early manhood; breathed a Whig atmosphere, till within a very few years, and have not failed to share in the honors and offices of that party.—It is indeed refreshing, in these days of reckless party ambition, to find two individuals of their learning, intelligence, and experience, pausing on the brink of this Rubicon, and resolving that, at their hands, at least, the glorious old Commonwealth shall receive no injury! And we rejoice to believe that their judgment in the case arises from the sterling Whig principles in which they were bred.

We do not claim them for Whigs. We know that they still denounce some of the measures of that party, in no complimentary terms; but, still, as far as they exhibit this evidence of disinterested and enlightened patriotism,—which we believe Massachusetts has a right to demand of every one of her sons,—we cannot fail to extend to them the hand of fraternal regard, or to forgive them for their secession from our ranks. The danger to the State, at this crisis, is imminent; and the man who will "come over" from the ranks of our opponents, "and help us," we shall esteem twice our brother—he is a benefactor to his country!

How the sinuous manœuvres of a factious Coalition—formed avowedly for the purpose of breaking down the Whig party, could have inveigled into its toils so many men formerly considered honest and sane, is among the mysteries of the present day. For, whether we look back to the Whig administrations of our State or of the Union, we find ample cause for satisfaction and pride. They will compare favorably with those of any State or nation on the globe. Without going back beyond the memory of a large portion of the present voters of Massachusetts, I will cite names of Whig Governors, the acts of whose administrations have covered the State with glory, and conferred on the people a degree of prosperity and reputation, which may be sought for in vain elsewhere on the face of the broad earth—which has caused all classes of sufferers among us, to rejoice in the beneficence that discovered their misfortune or their misery, and applied a prompt and blessed relief!

They are Levi Lincoln, John Davis, Edward Everett, George N. Briggs, John H. Clifford.

And for the Presidents, I give the names of George Washington, John Adams, James Monroe, John Quincy Adams, William H. Harrison, Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore. Take these men, their cabinets, their measures; their lives—and tell me, son of Massachusetts, whether you have any cause to blush for them!

No! The lust for office and power, and envy of the Whigs, more than any thing else, have whetted, and continue to whet the disaffection of the new party. One of them says, in your paper of last week, that he infers that the writer of the "Remarks on the Proposed Constitution, by a Free Soiler from the start,"—"became a free soiler from some sinister motive." What a confession is involved in this charge! Was not this the boasted "Conscience party?" Could any one of them be influenced by "sinister motives?" Your correspondent says further, that "These Remarks, etc. should not have any weight with the public; at least, until the author avows their paternity." Is it indeed so? If truth is uttered, am I compelled to reject it, unless I know its "paternity?" Has it not identically the same essence, whether it emanate from a shepherd on the plains of Bethlehem or from the inspired lips of an Apostle?

In a catechetical exercise of my boyhood, occurred the following question and answer: "Q. Who is wise? A. He who learns from all men." The idea I considered valuable then; a course of not a few years finds me cherishing it still.

That the writer of this "Weak Pamphlet"—as the Boston Commonwealth styles it—should excite the wrath of the leaders of the Coalition party, is not at all surprising; for its good sense, its sound reasoning, and calm tone, cannot fail to shake the absurd convictions of those friends of the proposed Constitution, who are willing to be convinced of their error; and consequently, its acceptance by the people will be jeopardized.

Doubtless, abuse and vituperation will be the portion of the writer, from such of his quondam friends as still cling to the Coalition creed, and in a canvass for office, he might be found still more in the minority than on former occasions; but, while he reflects on the good deed he has performed for the beloved, abused Old Bay State, he will find ample consolation in his own soul; and may, with truth—in view of this case—apply the sentiment of the following lines to himself:

"And more true joy Marcellus exiled feels,
Than Cæsar with a Senate at his heels!"

WEBSTER.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

MR. EDITOR:—With your permission, I will, in the course of the ensuing Lyceum season, make use of a portion of your columns to keep the public informed of the matter of the lectures, and, as nearly as possible, of the manner of the lecturers. Of course, sir, in doing this I only express my individual opinion as to their merits, and exercise an absolute freedom, whether in praise or otherwise.

The opening, on Tuesday evening last, was all that could be desired in point of numbers and good feelings. A larger or more attentive audience could not be desired by any lecturer. The President, G. F. Thayer, Esq., opened by an introductory on Lyceums in general, in the course of which he took occasion to administer a well deserved rebuke to those whose heads are so full of cozy nonsense, that it comes dripping out at every crack in their cranium. His allusion to this matter, however, reminded me of some of those real old fashioned dog-days through which we have but lately passed, being hazy and clouded in the beginning, "hot as blazes" in the middle, and quite cool and comfortable towards the close, and its effect was by no means dissimilar.

The lecturer, Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., announced his subject to be "Sectional Differences and Sectional Prejudices." A really grand field for the display of all the attributes of the scholar and orator. But Mr. Quincy's effort, and I might say with equal truth, his forte, is not to instruct but amuse, and in this he succeeded admirably.

The main features of the lecture were these:—Capt. John Smith—the mission of woman—clock peddling—horse racing and love making; each served up with an appropriate accompaniment of wit and humor. It is true the jokes were not all new, but then they were good, and spiced with a flash of original mother wit, which gave them zest and pith. To say that the lecture was good, would be saying too much, to say it was bad, too little, to call it indifferent would by no means do justice to it; but when we say it was interesting, we give it all the praise it deserves. In short it was somewhat composed after the fashion of a patch-work quilt, made of old as well as new bits and colors, but all harmoniously blended, and quite agreeable in le tout ensemble. So much for the matter, but what fault can be found with the manner? None. A rich, full, musical voice, a distinct enunciation, a graceful figure and action, and an even pleasing smile, renders Mr. Quincy one of the most pleasing of lecturers. Yours, LISHMAHAGO.

Blue Hill Bank, Dorchester. At the regular annual meeting of the Stockholders of this institution, at Dorchester, (Lower Mills,) Messrs. H. Temple, Darius Brewer, Roswell Gleason, Thomas Liversidge, Thomas Hollis, Jr., and Asaph Churchill were elected Directors; and Mr. Temple having declined to serve longer as President, Asaph Churchill was chosen in his place.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

There are three dangerous institutions in the world, viz:—kicking colts, pretty calico, and gunpowder.

The United States Treasurer's statement, made up to the 24th ult., states the net amount in the Government Treasury, subject to draft, to be $35,958,756.

The Rev. Eleazer Williams, the would-be Dauphin of France, has been appointed Missionary to the Coughnawaga Indians.

The latest discovery of the excavators, at Pompeii, is a group of skeletons in the act of flight, accompanied by a dog. There are three human beings, one of them a young girl, with gold rings and jewels still on her fingers. The fugitives had bags of gold and silver with them, snatched up, no doubt, in haste and darkness.

There is a philosophy in the remark, that every man has in his own life, follies enough—in the performance of his duties, deficiencies enough—in his own fortunes, evils enough—without being curious after the affairs of others.

An eminent physician has recently discovered that the nightmare in nine cases out of ten, is produced from owing a bill to a newspaper man.

The Circuit Court in Broome county, New York, has awarded four thousand dollars damages to a widow woman, whose husband was killed by an accident on the Erie railway. This is a different conclusion from that of one of the courts of Louisiana.

By the last official returns of the public schools in the six New England States, the whole number of pupils in attendance during the year, was 641,983. The whole cost of instruction for the year was $2,055,131.

A boy of about fifteen years, having been turned out of a mill at East Brookfield, (Mass.) procured a bottle of cherry rum, and in company with another boy went into the woods and drank nearly the whole of it. One of the boys soon after getting home, but the other when found was insensible, and died at ten o'clock the next day.

Catherine Hayes, the gifted Irish songstress, has sent over fifty thousand dollars to purchase an estate in Ireland.

Secretary Marcy, on behalf of the President, has written to Commander Ingraham approving of his conduct in the Koszta affair.

At Hillsborough, (N. H.) an individual has obtained a verdict of three hundred and thirty-six dollars against the city of Manchester, for injuries caused by his falling down upon the icy sidewalks of that city and breaking his leg.

The Cambridge (Md.) Chronicle says an obtained verdict of number of wild geese and ducks are daily passing over that town and vicinity, which, it says, betokens a severe winter.

In consequence of the advance in the price of stock, and the strikes of workmen for higher wages, manufacturers to order of fine boots, shoes and gaiters, have advanced their prices about fifteen per cent.

According to an English paper another illustrious stranger, a comet, is taking a tour through the heavens, within the scope of our earthly vision. It was discovered at Berlin on the eleventh of September, and on the third of October was visible to the eye.

Since the twentieth of October last, the Post Office Department at Washington, have distributed among the various postmasters of the country, postage stamps and stamped envelopes to an aggregate amount of more than three millions and a half dollars.

The large hotel, known as the 'Hamilton House' at the Narrows, below New York City, has been entirely destroyed by fire. The house was insured for thirty-five thousand dollars, and the furniture for thirteen thousand five hundred dollars.

On the 18th of August last, there were, in the port of Melbourne, (Australia,) thirty-six American vessels, steamers, ships and barques.

William Howitt, the distinguished English writer, is soon expected to arrive in New York from Australia, on his way to England.

The Hon. John P. Bell (Whig) has been elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Tennessee.

The inhabitants of Key West, (Fla.) had nothing to eat but fish and turtle, and were awaiting an arrival from New York to save them from famine.

Look out for the beggar who refuses bread unless it is buttered, and who is indignant at potatoes unless they are peeled. He alarms the house by kicking the door.

The Directors of the Marine Railway Company have presented to their late Superintendent, S. B. Hobart, Esq., the sum of five hundred dollars, as a mark of their appreciation of his long and faithful services.

The Democrats, with the aid of Free Soil votes, have elected John S. Robinson, Governor of Vermont, for the ensuing year.

QUINCY LYCEUM. We commend the lecture before this institution of next Tuesday evening, by Mr. George Sumner, to our fellow citizens as well-worthy of their attention. It will be delivered at half past seven o'clock.

Special Notices.

NOTICE. Hon. Charles Francis Adams, will address the citizens of Quincy and vicinity, without reference to political parties, upon the proposed Amendments to the Constitution, on SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 5th, at half past 7 o'clock, at the Town Hall. Citizens of all parties are invited to attend.

DEMOCRATS—Dennis W. O'Brien and J. M. Cleveland of Boston, will address the citizens of Quincy, on the Constitutional Amendments, on THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 10th, at the Town Hall, at 7 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

William S. Morton and George White, Esqrs., Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, will address the citizens of Quincy, in relation to the proposed Amendments to the Constitution, on FRIDAY EVENING next, at 7 o'clock, at the Town Hall. Citizens in general are invited to attend.

NOTICE. There will be a Social Assembly at the Washington Hall, (Quincy Point) on THURSDAY EVENING, Nov. 10th. All lovers of dancing are invited to attend. Tickets for dancing, fifty cents, which will commence at 7 1-2 o'clock.

NOTICE. Tickets attending persons to the course of Lectures to be delivered before the Quincy Lyceum the coming season, may be had, on and after Monday evening next, of Mr. George L. Gill, at the Quincy Bookstore, and of the Secretary of the Society.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

Per order of the Directors.

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November:

On Tuesday, the 1st, introductory, by Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, JR.:

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SUMNER;

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALGER;

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by VERNELL PHILLIPS, Esq.;

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESDERNER.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them postscriptally), and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring; viz:—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lothrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, extending to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

QUINCY CHARITABLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of this Society, for the choice of officers, &c. will be held at the house of the president, on MONDAY EVENING, the 7th of November next, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

A meeting of the BOARD OF DIRECTORS will be held at the same place, immediately after the close of the business of the Society. M. P. GLOVER, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

SINGING SCHOOL. It is proposed to open a class in the rudiments of Singing, to consist of twenty-four lessons, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 2d, at Franklin Hall, under the instruction of Mr. Francis Bates of Weymouth, and all desirous of attending are requested to be present on said evening in order that it may be determined whether to continue the School. 'The Carmina Sacra' will be used; and persons having this Singing book are requested to bring it with them.

Terms of Tuition.

Gentlemen, $2 00	Ladies, 1 00
Quincy, Oct. 29.	2w

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Horatio N. Glover, on THURSDAY, Nov. 10th, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, if the weather is pleasant, if not, on the next day; and if it be stormy on Friday, it will be postponed until the next week Thursday.

$1.00 a year for those who wish to join the Society as Honorary members.

Treasurer's Report for the last year:—
Received of the Secretary $43 60
Paid out - - - 37 00
Made 72 garments, 3 pairs of sheets, 5 pairs pillow cases, knitted 18 pairs of socks, and assisted 9 families.

Per order of the Secretary.

NOTICE. A meeting of the Free Democracy of Quincy will be held at the Lyceum Room, on SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 12th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representatives to the next General Court.

Per order of the Town Committee.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 30th ult., Lucy U. daughter of Mr. William S. and Mrs. Hannah M. A. Glover, aged 3 years and 2 months.

On the 1st inst., Mrs. Joanna G., wife of Mr. D. Ring, aged 40 years.

On the 3d inst., Mrs. Nancy H., widow of the late Guilford Field, aged 82 years.

On the 4th inst., Mrs. Hannah M. A., wife of Mr. William S. Glover, aged 29 years and 3 months.

Funeral services, to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Episcopal Church. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

In Boston, on the 30th ult., Mr. George Hobart, aged 37 years.

Great Sale.

HOUSE LOTS AT AUCTION. WILL be sold, on the premises, in Quincy, on THURSDAY, Nov. 10th, at 1 o'clock P. M., 40 House Lots laid out by S. R. & C. H. Edwards, near their residence.

The Lots embrace some of the finest sites for building purposes ever offered in this town, and the sale will be positive to the highest bidder for each lot.

Terms of payment easy, and made known at the sale.

A Clam Chowder will be "served up" precisely at 12 o'clock M., on the premises, for all who attend the sale.

GEORGE H. FRENCH, } Auctioneers.
GEORGE THOMPSON, }

Quincy, Nov. 5.

Snuff and Snuff Beans.

A FINE article of Rappee Snuff, perfumed with Burghout; also, a lot of Snuff Beans, for sale cheap at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

For Spavin in Horses.

D. R. DADD'S Liquid Blister for Spavin, and all the other Horse Medicines. For sale at the Quincy Drug Store of the Agents.

GEORGE W. WHITING.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, - - GREETING.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town of Quincy, to vote in Elections, to meet at the Town Hall, in said Town, on MONDAY, the 14th day of November inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., for the following purposes, namely:—

First—To see if the Town will elect two Representatives to represent them in the next General Court of this Commonwealth.

Second—To give in their votes, on one ballot, for a Governor, Lieut. Governor, three Senators for Norfolk County, and 2 Representatives, (if they so determine,) in sealed envelopes or openly; and also to give in their votes, Yes or No, in sealed envelopes, upon the propositions submitted to the people by the late Constitutional Convention, being propositions numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, relative to the revision or alteration of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The votes for the above-named State Officers are to be deposited, in sealed envelopes or openly, in one ballot box; and the votes upon the above-named propositions are to be deposited in another ballot box, in sealed envelopes.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this warrant, with your doings thereon, to the Town Clerk, on or before the time specified for said meeting.

Given under our hands, this third day of November, A. D. 1853.

LEWIS BASS, } Selectmen
NOAH CUMMINGS, }
B. B. NEWCOMB, } Quincy.

A true Copy. Attest
GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, Nov. 5th, 1853.

Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the time, place, and for the purposes therein named.

GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

Wood and Land.

At Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, the 11th day of November, at 9 o'clock A. M., in lots, all the WOOD standing on 5 acres of Land owned by George L. Baxter. After the sale of the Wood, the Land will be sold.

Also—On the same day, at 1 o'clock P. M., will be sold in lots, all the WOOD standing on 7 acres of Land of Daniel Baxter. This lot of Wood is of thirty years' growth, and of first quality.

The first named lot adjoins the Town's Land, near the late residence of William Trask, and the other lot about one quarter of a mile West. Conditions made known at the sale.

EBENEZER ADAMS, Auct.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

For Sale.

THE Sorrel MARE, formerly used by FAXON & BROTHERS.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

LIVES or EMINENT METHODIST MINISTERS.

LISTERS, containing Biographical Sketches, Incidents, Anecdotes, Records of Travel, Reflections, &c.; By Rev. P. Douglass Gorrie. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

To Let.

HALF of a House and Shoemaker's Shop, situated on North Street, Quincy Point. Apply near the premises to THOMPSON BAXTER.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

Personal.

If you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LYONESE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA PLAIDS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, - GREETING.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town, qualified to vote in Elections, to meet at the Town Hall, in said Town, on MONDAY, the 14th day of November inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., for the following purposes, to-wit:

FIRST.—To see if the Town will elect two Representatives to represent them in the next General Court of this Commonwealth.

SECOND.—To give in their votes, on one ballot, for a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, three Senators for Norfolk County, and two Representatives, (if they so determine,) in sealed envelopes or openly, and also to give in their votes, Yes or No, in sealed envelopes, upon the propositions submitted to the people by the late Constitutional Convention, being propositions as altered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, relative to the revision or alteration of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The votes for the above-named State Officers are to be deposited, in sealed envelopes or openly, in one ballot box; and the votes upon the above-named propositions are to be deposited in another ballot box, in sealed envelopes.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, unto the Town Clerk, on or before the time specified for said meeting.

Given under our hands, this third day of November, A. D. 1853.

LEWIS BASS, } Selectmen
NOAH CUMMINGS, }
B. B. NEWCOMB, } Quincy.

A true Copy. Attest
GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, Nov. 5th, 1853.

Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the Inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the above-named place, for the purposes therein named.

GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

Wood and Land.

At Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, the 11th day of November, at 9 o'clock A. M., in lots, all the WOOD standing on 5 acres of Land of George L. Baxter. After the sale of the Wood, the Land will be sold.

Also—On the same day, at 1 o'clock P. M., will be sold in lots, all the WOOD standing on 10 acres of Land of Daniel Baxter. This lot of Wood is of thirty years' growth, and of first quality. The first named lot adjoins the Town's Land, near the residence of William Trask, and the other lot about one quarter of a mile West.

Conditions made known at the sale.

Ebenezer Adams, Aucr.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

For Sale.

THE Saddle MARE, formerly used by FAXON & BROTHERS.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

To Let.

HALF of a House and Shoemaker's Shop, situated on North Street, Quincy Point. Apply near the premises to THOMPSON BAXTER.

Quincy, Nov. 5.

Personal.

IF you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LYONNESE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA PLAIDS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CRIP or BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSIERY, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIMMINGS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for HOOFS, RINGOLTS or WORSTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's FINE HATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at GEO. SAVIL & CO.

Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

Butter! Butter!!

30 TO 40 tubs of first rate DAIRY BUTTER, for sale by D. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

Picked Up.

A LIGHT blue lap-streaked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst., on Pettauc's Island. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.

JOHN M. CLEVERLY.

Hull, Oct. 29.

Wanted.

COAT MAKERS, immediately, at the Tailoring Establishment of D. D. RING.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

SIBEL HOLMES,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

HIRAN PRIOR, Adm.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

THE AMERICAN STATESMAN.

Illustrations of the Life and Character of Daniel Webster. By Rev. Joseph Barker. Just published and for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

DISCOVERIES among the ruins of Babylon and Nineveh, by Austin H. Layard. One volume. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

1854

The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert B. Thomas; for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A LARGE assortment of FALL and WINTER CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store,

TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe, cut and made in as good style, and will be sold at a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

For Gentlemen's Wear.

A LARGE assortment of HATS, CAPS, A SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and GENTS FURNISHING GOODS.

A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made into Garments of any description, at short notice, by

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,

Goodnow's Building,

Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Nettle, Alspice, Peach-Water, Treble Distilled Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory, Thyme, Sage, etc., etc.

Extract of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article.

Quincy, Oct. 29.

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM BENT,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

NANCY BENT, Administratrix.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Executor's Notice

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of

ELISHA T. CRANE,

late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

EDMUND MARSH, Executor.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM HOLMES,

late of Brimfield, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

JAMES HOLMES, Adm.

Brimfield, Oct. 15.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. IN INSOLVENCY.

Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq.,

Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for said County of Norfolk.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Assignee of the Estate of

DAVID COVILL,

of Quincy, in said County, Teamster, an Insolvent Debtor.

The second meeting of the creditors of said insolvent will be held at a Court of Insolvency, at said Commissioner's Court Room, in Canton, on the twenty-first day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

CHARLES ENDICOTT, Assignee.

Canton, Oct. 15.

Please to Read this.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED,

To sell Pictorial and Useful Works for the year 1854.

WANTED in every section of the United States, active and enterprising men, to engage in the sale of some of the best Books published in the Country. To men of good address, possessing a small capital of $25 to $100, such inducements will be offered as to enable them to make from $3 to $5 a day profit.

The Books published by us are all useful in their character, extremely popular, and command large sales wherever they are offered.

For further particulars, address, (postage paid) to

ROBERT SEARS, Publisher,

181 William Street, New York.

Oct. 15.

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 TO 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces.

The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE,

Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22.

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Extirminator, which has been tried and proved successful, by many families in this town and vicinity.

For further particulars, address, (postage paid) to

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

Wanted.

10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to

GEO. SAVIL & Co.

Quincy Aug. 20.

New Temperance Books.

THE MYSTERIOUS PARLOR; or THE SATANIC LICENSE, by Rev. Joel Wakeman.

Also, THE RUMSOMER'S VICTIM. Founded on fact. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, October 1.

1854

The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert B. Thomas; for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 15.

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE

TREMONT ROW

SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK,

AND INCREASED FACILITIES,

To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS,

CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,

LACES & EMBROIDERIES,

Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,

OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,

1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,

GIVE NOTICE TO THE

LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add

New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature

to constitute their Establishment the

LARGEST AND BEST

RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE

IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that

Unlike other large Dry Goods Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS

Who have SO LONG and SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASES COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co.

are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thinets and Cashmeres,

FANCY AND STAPLE

Dress and Cloak Goods

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

PARIS CLOAKS

and all similar articles in great profusion,

Laces and Embroideries,

GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.

ALL AT

Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!!

as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS

To pay the credit of six or eight months' expense on our Goods.

AUCTION HOUSES

as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice Goods to our mammoth assortment, and we say with confidence

WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVED.

that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of

Extra, Medium & Common

Qualities

for sale at such decided bargains.

We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not regret that the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it

WILL DO THEM NO HARM.

MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,

we confidently expect a visit from all.

F. A. JONES & CO.

Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row.

(Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street.)

BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 17, 1853.

Dr. Lloyd Goodnow

Botanic Medicine Depot,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

RUSSES, Supporters, Shoulder Braces, and a variety of other instruments of Mechanical Support, of the most approved style and quality.

Also—The Roman Eye Balm, a sovereign remedy for weak and inflamed eyes.

Also—Perry's Celebrated Hungarian Balm, for cleaning and beautifying the Hair.

Also—Loreaux Extract for removing Paint and Grease from Cloths.

This Extract will not soil the most delicate fabric.

Also—A variety of Cloth, Hair and Tooth Brushes, Teeth Powders, Fancy Soaps, Cologne, &c. &c.

For sale at the DRUG STORE,

Goodnow's Building.

Quincy, Sept. 10.

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING having finished and arranged his new Store would express his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and by strict hopes by strict adherence to merit a continuance of the same. Strict PERSONAL attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Soule's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renowned Root Pills, and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion Pills, and Serravallo's Liniment, Serravallo's Wound Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches constantly on hand and applied if desired. Collection of Fruit for sale as usual.

Quincy, September 3.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received a new supply of Trask's Magnetic Ointment, for Nervous Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Ulcers, Boils, Erysipelas, Ague, Sore Throat, and Inflammations of all kinds, and prevents Lock Jaw in cases of wounds, &c.

Quincy, Oct. 8.

BOSTON EXHIBITION

—OF—

S H A W L S,

SILKS CLOAKS

—AND—

OTHER DRY GOODS,

—AT THE—

LADIES' EXCHANGE.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.

INVITE the special attention of ALL, to their magnificent assortment of

Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods,

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS VALUE.

Nearly every article of our large stock has been made to our own order, and is of a character to give satisfaction to those who buy; MAKE RICH those who buy to sell again, and bringing back with a smile, those who buy for their own consumption.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.,

193 Washington st.

Boston, Sept. 17.

New England Protective Union,

DIVISION, No. 180,

AT the Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Threlkirk, on Franklin street, may be found a good assortment of

GROCERIES, CROCKERY and GLASS WARE!

Together with a supply of Boot Maker's Findings.

—ALSO—

BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE,

LARD, PICKLED, PICKLES,

POTATOES, &c. &c.

Poetry.

Wishing.

BY JOHN C. SAGE.

Of all amusements of the mind,
From logic down to fishing,
There isn't one that you can find
So very cheap as "wishing!"
A very choice diversion, too,
If we but rightly use it,
And not, as we are apt to do,
Pervert it and abuse it.

I wish—a common wish, indeed—
My purse was something fatter,
That I might cheer the child of need,
And not my pride to flatter;
That I might make oppression reel,
As only gold can make it,
And break the tyrant's rod of steel,
As only gold can break it!

I wish—that sympathy and love,
And every human passion,
That had its origin above,
Would come, and keep, in fashion;
That scorn, and jealousy, and hate,
And every base emotion,
Were buried like fatigues deep
Beneath the waves of Ocean!

I wish—that friends were always true,
And motive always pure;
I wish the good were not so few,
I wish the bad were fewer;
I wish that persons never forgot
To heed their friends' teachings;
I wish that practicing was not
So different from preaching!

I wish—that modest worth might be Appraised with truth and candor;
I wish that innocence were free
From treachery and slander;
I wish that men their vows would mind;
That women never were lovers;
I wish that wives were always kind,
And husbands always lovers!

I wish—in fine—that joy and mirth,
And every good ideal,
May come, ere while, throughout the earth,
To be the glorious goal;
Till God shall every creature bless
With His supreme blessing,
And hope be lost in happiness,
And wishing be possessing!

What is a Year?

What is a year? 'Tis but a wave
On life's dark, rolling ocean;
Which is so quickly gone, that we Account it but a dream;
'Tis but a single earnest thrub
Of time's old iron heart,
As tireless now, and strong as when
It first with life did start.

What is a year? 'Tis but a turn
Of time's old brass wheel,
Or but a page upon the book
Which death must shortly seal;
'Tis but a step upon the road
Which we must travel o'er—
A few more steps and we shall walk
Life's weary road no more.

What is a year? 'Tis but a breath
From time's old nostrils blown,
As rushing onward o'er the earth,
We hear its mighty moan;
'Tis like the bubble on the wave,
Or dew upon the lawn—
As transient as the mist of morn
Beneath the sunnier dawn.

What is a year? 'Tis but a type
Of life's off-thing scene—Youth's happy morn comes gaily on
With hills and valleys green;
Next, summer's prime accends the Spring,
Then autumn, with a tear,
Then comes old winter—death, and all Must find their level here.

Anecdotes.

A young gentleman paid his addresses to a young lady, by whose mother he was unfavorably received. "How hard," said he to the young lady, "to separate those who love has united!"
"Very hard indeed," replied she, with great innocence, at the same time throwing her arms around his neck, "and so mother will find it."

A son of Galen, who was very angry when any joke was passed on physicians, once defended himself from railery by saying, "I defy any person whom I ever attended, to accuse me of ignorance or neglect."
"That you may do very safely," replied the wag; "for you know, doctor, dead men tell no tales."

A traveler in England, observing a peasant at work, and seeing that he was taking it remarkably easy, said to him:—
"My friend, you don't appear to sweat any?"
"Why, no, master, six shillings ain't sweating wages."

An old comb-maker was once addressed by a recruiting officer, "Pray, honest friend, how old are you?"
"Not old enough for a militia-man," replied he, without leaving his work, "You see I have not yet done cutting my teeth."

"Why, dear me, Mr. Longswallow," said a good old lady, "how can you drink a whole quart of that hard cider at a single draught?"
"As soon as the man could breathe again, he replied—"I beg pardon, madam, but upon my soul, it was so hard I couldn't bite it off."

"Well, Pat, Jim didn't quite kill you with that brick-bat, did he?"
"No, but I wish he had."
"What for?"
"So I could see him hung, the villain!"

A servant girl whispered to another, one night, "Now mind I don't say as how master drinks, but between you and I, the demijohn in the dark closet don't keep full all the time."

"What did you give for that horse neighbor?"
"My note."
"Well, that was cheap."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.—ALSO—
HARD and SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11. ly

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8. S.Dr. BUGBEE,
Having resumed practice, offers his Professional services to the people of QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. I. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. ifKIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines,
And Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sickrooms.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street.
Boston, April 16, 1853. ifALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
CERTIFICATES, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF
BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING.Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.B. FARNHAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 23 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.JAMES W. RIDEOUT.
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM-GROWERS.IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852. if

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
(33-A complete assortment always on hand—23)
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work. 38COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853.KINGSBURY & EMERSON,
Counsellors at Law,
WYOMOUTH MASS.F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.
One at Office, Hollis Institute Buildings, every Tuesday.
SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass. 271D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY ST. N. 1,
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. ifISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. ifB. F. MESERVEY, Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, April 24, ifRemnants of DeLaines.
A large lot for sale very low at
I. W. MUNROE'S.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. ifJOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bicks and Hair.Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing elsewhere,
as they will find a full assortment
at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. lyAuction Notice.
The Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly
attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23 ifINSURANCE.
Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER.
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSURANCE BROKER.ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office
Quincy; at No. 18 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
will be faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16. 3m"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.20,000 Copies
sold in
less than five months.
A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
DR. HUNTER'S Medical
Manual and Hand
Book for the Afflicted.
Containing an outline of
the origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self abuse or by venereal excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all
medical technicalities, and everything that would
offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years' successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature.Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in Penn. College, Philadelphia. "DR. HUNTER'S Manual is a most valuable work. The author of this work unlike the majority of those who write to advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence in." JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.
From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases of Diseases of the Genito-urinary organs, some of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered by the medical world as incurable.
I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more to him justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, and to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and
integrity they may safely confide themselves." ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.
"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff. 'Two little prescriptions to improve,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years' successful practice."—HERALD.No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and influence of the passions, have been led into the habit of self pollution without realizing the sin and fatal consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if
not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately remove this wide-spread source of human wretch-
edness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations." Interference (for the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker in the good work you are so actively engaged in."One copy, (securely enveloped) will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(Post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.Bookellers, Canvasers and Book Agents supplied on the most liberal terms.Dr. Hoofland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dropsy, Indigestion or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary
habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. ifBargains.
MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage
de Laines, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at
the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy.The undersigned being desirous of closing the balance of their Stock of
SUMMER GOODS,
will offer the same at a great discount from former
prices. Call and examine.
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,
Quincy, July 16. ifTHE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care, and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured; the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dag-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Rushbury, Albion Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ton of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester, Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater; Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollis Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.,
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq.,
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.
35if.Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and for sale by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.The celebrity this article has so quickly obtained has induced some unscrupulous persons, without authority to use the name of Davies, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be Davies'
LIQUID HAIR DYE; to avoid which see that the signature of the inventor is on the outside label, thusFor the Complexion, TOMPKINS' Orange Flower Lotion, Fon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Amaline for Tan Sunburn &c. For sale by
Quincy, May 7. ifSalt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all with Meats of the very best quality. if Quincy, April 2. ifRADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possess-
ing the Marvelous and Miraculous Power of stop-
ping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The
R. R. R. Remedies consist of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain.
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Constitutions.RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all unsound and worn out parts.R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.The moment it is applied externally or taken into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a man well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the sufferer from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
SICK HEAD ACHES.It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Borns, Scalds, Strains, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lameness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.IT CURES
Scrofula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Asthma Rickets Salt Rheum
Sore Throat Nodes Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas TettersThe above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.
It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 23, 1853. That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his negroes, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrofula complaint, of many years standing. The poor fellow was a distinguished object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other negroes
could not remain in the same place with him.
None of the Doctors could do anything for him.
He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating
Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger.Mr. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no one would give a third for her life," she was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh of the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.NINETEEN YEARS.
Mrs. HENDERSON, of Westford, Mass., has been covered with sores for nineteen years, has been cured by R. R. Resolvent.SALT RHEUM.
The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-
VENT. One gentleman who supposed that his complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth,
was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and thePOISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADIC-ATED FROM HIS SYSTEM.IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes
sound, healthy and strong, all weak, diseased
and unsound parts.WEAKNESS
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and emaciated made strong, vigorous and healthy. Impotence and Nocturnal Emissions in men, or diseases of either one or more of the generative organs in women, are quickly restored to a healthy and sound condition.LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
IN WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and restore them to NERVOUS,
GLOOMY and DEPRESSED, feel HEALTHY,
STRONG and HAPPY.Persons wishing this Remedy will please ask for Radway's Renovating Resolvent. Its price is one Dollar per bottle. No small bottles, nor is the genuine ever sold for less. Each bottle
bears the fac simile signature of
RADWAY & CO.,
162 Fulton street, New York.R. R. R.—No. 3.
RADWAY'S REGULATORS,
REGULATE TO A HEALTHY ACTION,
All the Organs and Secretions of the Body.
Restores to Health and Strength,
THE DISEASED AND WORN OUT PARTS.
COMPLAINTS THAT RADWAY'S REGULATORS
ENTIRELY CURE.Costiveness Liver Complaint
Indigestion Heart
Dyspepsia Kidney
Dropsy Uterine
DIFFICULTY OF PASSING URINE.Dizziness Inflammation of the Stomach
Stupor Biliousness
MELANCHOLY
MALIGNANT DISORDERS.Small Pox Measles
Scarlet Fever Yellow Fever
Bilious Pneumonia Typhoid Fever
AND FEVERS OF ALL KINDS.Influenza Pleurisy Common Colds
Irregularity Menstruation
Hysteria Womb Difficulties
Whites AmenorrhoeaLOSS OF APPETITE.
Loss of Energy,
Loss of Memory,
Loss of Strength.R. R. REGULATORS
ARE ENTIRELY VEGETABLE,
Perfectly Tasteless,
Good at all times,
Never Sickens,
Never Gripe.DOSES.
FOUR TO SIX—REGULATES.
ONE TO THREE—PURGES.One Regulator at Night, on going to bed, will ensure sound sleep, a Good Night's Rest, and a Healthy and Pleasant Discharge from the Bowels
in the morning.Radway's Regulators, Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, are sold by Druggists everywhere.N. B. Persons troubled with Melancholy Depression of Spirits, and every body who feels themselves ill-used by the world without any just cause on their parts, should take a few doses of R.
R. Regulators. More unhappiness is caused with-
in us from the want of a healthy and regular action
of our organs, than from any external cause. We grieve all who take Radway's Regulators, a regular action of the organs, and a cheerful and happy
disposition.RADWAY & CO.,
Fulton Street, N. Y.AGENTS,
BURR & PERRY, 1 Cornhill, Boston.
MRS. E. HAYDEN, Quincy.
Aug. 13, 1853.MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Grains, cracked
Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Outflow, Corn Starch, Broma, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Grosse Paste, &c.
Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum
Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass
Pipes and Shells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass
and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flash Brushes, &c. &c.Fresh European Leeches always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington, near of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45ifDr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,
271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and
all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extreni-ties, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties pertaining to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c.
Also that impure condition of blood which not only
generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use;
they are not wholly Vegetable—as is usually asserted, and have fully established their reputation,
which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.
J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st.
(opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON.
Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43-1yDR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON.I desire of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of immature age, to supply themselves with incorruptible mastications of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities, which are usually low, so as to include classes to save their natural teeth by timely cure,
which are of greater value than artificial ones can
be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows:
For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle, a firm, useful, and easy to be worn
—from $35.00 to 75.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from 12.00 to 40.00.
For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from 1.50 to 3.50 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood pivots—from 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts.
The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used
for that purpose. All operations will be warranted
to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No.
53 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston.
Boston, Feb. 27, 1853. 11-9mosDrugs and Dye Stuffs!
SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Chemicals, can find a good assortment at the QUINCY DRUG STORE.and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Turmeric, Oxalic acid and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground
Extract Logwood, Copal, Gamboge, Blue
White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth,
Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American
and best White Bonnet Glee.American and English Linoleum, Sal Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Anniseed, Gumberg,
Salts of Tartar, Nicaragua, Madder and Turkey
Umber, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Pumice Stone, Salt Peter
Carb, and Liquid Ammonia, &c.
GEORGE W. WHITING.
Quincy, Sept. 3. ifCure for the Whooping Cough!
BY THE USE OF
MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE.IT can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.
For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAY-DEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy
for its sale.Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E.
Hayward, Hadley, Mass., (son-in-law of Dr.
Moore,) with whose signature upon each bottle, none is genuine.It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Bowel Complaints.
W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent.
Sept. 24. 3m

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1853.

NUMBER XLVI.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be continued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.
The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.
JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. LOCKE, Stone Quarries.
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Medical Application of Electricity.

Dr. William F. Channing, in a small but very valuable work upon medical electricity, has truly remarked that, "The introduction of electricity in medical practice has been made the subject, within a few years, of many empirical treatises. Original and valuable sources of information have at the same time been multiplied, and the European journals, after a long interval, are again filled with cases of the successful application of this agent. Professor Wisgrill, in addressing the Medical Association of Vienna, remarks, that a revolution has taken place in favor of electricity, which, after its wide celebrity at the commencement of the present century, had fallen into disuse, not from the inefficiency of the means, but from the mode in which they were employed. It will be frequently seen, even in successful cases, quoted hereafter, that the nature of the agent and the laws of application have been imperfectly understood; and many of the failures which have occurred must be ascribed to this source."

In these quotations from Dr. C. we have a text sufficient for a volume. First, "it has been made the subject of many empirical treatises." This fact has prevented its being employed by many scientific physicians, who would otherwise have investigated its merits, and thoroughly experimented upon its therapeutic effects. There is a feeling, perhaps too general, in the profession, to let any medicine or medicinal agent alone, when it has been generally taken up by irregular or empirical practitioners. This should never be the case. The true eclectic physician employs, in turn, any and every means of restoring lost health, by whomsoever it might have been discovered, or afterwards used. It is undoubtedly true that multitudes of little or no medical or physiological attainments have taken up this subject, and written upon it, even flooding the land with their books. Still, many scientific men have put their pens to it, and sent forth much that is truly valuable; among whom may be named Drs. Wilson Philip and Golding Bird. Second, "It failed not for want of efficacy in the means, but from want of knowledge to apply it." While the most ignorant have, doubtless, met with some success, it has more often, when ignorantly applied, utterly failed. This has been the occasion of its failure, in all probability, in nine cases out of ten, where failure has followed its application. I have myself seen an operator apply the magnetogalvanic current, to stimulate a nerve, in an opposite direction from that recommended by Matteucci. Of course, he failed to excite the nervous energy.

Another cause of its failure has been in the fact, that by this class of operators it has been invariably used alone; not as an auxiliary to medicine and therapeutical skill, but as a sole recuperative agent. It will be readily seen, by every intelligent physician, that in most cases such an application of electricity would fail. Other treatment was necessary, in conjunction with this. If this "bow is drawn at a venture," and the electric current sent pell-mell, in the right or wrong direction, towards the centres or ramifications of the nerves, or not touching them at all, and irrespective of quantity or intensity, as the hobby hydropathist sends his stream of water, it is to be supposed that the operator would sometimes hit right; but far oftener wrong, or not at all.
I may add, the whole value of electricity, as a medical agent, depends upon a correct diagnosis of the disease, a proper degree of quantity and intensity of the agent, and its application in the right direction. It should be expected, when applied under these circumstances, to exert a great effect, as a medical agent. How can it be otherwise, when it is acknowledged, by many of the most intelligent physiologists and physicians, to possess a vitalizing and re-active power, an alterative and sedative action, and to promote secretion, absorption, nutrition and capillary circulation. It has been employed successfully in a host of ailments, quite too numerous to be named in this place. The more we study into the philosophy of the electric fluid, and the more we apply it therapeutically to diseases, the more we shall be convinced of the truth of the following declarations of Dr. Phillip:—"We have seen that galvanism is capable of performing all the functions of the nervous power, properly so called. I have repeatedly seen from it the same effect, when applied to the digestive organs and liver, or biliary system, which arises from calomel; a copious biliary discharge from the bowels coming on a few hours after its employment."

I have been in the habit of employing this agent, as an auxiliary to other medical treatment, in a large variety of diseases, for several years, and with marked success. In the treatment of many cases I would be very unwilling to dispense with its use. I feel well assured that I could not find an equally efficient substitute in the whole range of medical appliances.

Two cases have recently come under my treatment, in which this agent has seemed to be very serviceable. The first, an elderly lady, with a chronic affection of the fingers, but not of very long standing. Upon one hand the fingers were stiff, and considerably swollen. The magnetogalvanic current was applied, for about twenty minutes, each day, for ten days, when the stiffness and swelling were mostly gone. She soon entirely recovered. Other remedies were combined with the use of the machine, but I ascribed the subsidence of the disease chiefly to the electro-galvanic current. The other was that of a young lady with a morbid affection of the eyes. They were very weak, sometimes inflamed and painful. She had been for some time under the care of a very respectable and skillful physician. But still her eyes grew no better. The other treatment which I employed was very ordinary, and I have no reason to suppose it was any better than had previously received. But I applied the electric current, which remedy she had not previously had. It was administered within the orbit of the eye, and to the ophthalmic branch of the fifth pair of nerves. She expressed herself as relieved at the first sitting, as soon as the sponge was removed, (for it was applied through a soft sponge moistened with rose-water.) She has wholly recovered under the application, and ascribes her cure entirely to electricity.

While I would be far from making this single branch of medical treatment exclusive, or elevating it above all others, I am constrained to add that its virtues have grown in my estimation, year by year, as it has been medically applied. A sufficient number of well-authenticated cases of recovery under its employment are already before the public, or, rather, the medical profession, to warrant a thorough trial with it in paralysis, partial or total amaurosis, neuralgia, epilepsy, chorea, rheumatism, in the wide range of urinary and uterine diseases, constipation, colica pictoria, general debility, coldness of the extremities, aphonia, and paralysis of the visual and auditory nerves. In narcotism, cases of drowning, and exhaustion from flooding, its use should never be forborne. It no doubt sometimes fails; and what medical treatment does not? Misapplied, like all other active medical appliances, it sometimes does injury; but what medical man would reject a valuable remedy because, when unskillfully used, it did harm? If we were to do this, we must give up every medical agent of the materia medica. Matteucci has shown that the nervous power may be wholly exhausted by an excessive use of electricity. So it may be by an excessive use of the best medicine now known. But "wisdom is profitable to direct," et verbum sat sapienti.

W. M. CORNELL, M. D.

"I Did as the Rest Did"

This tame, yielding spirit—doing as "the rest did," has ruined thousands.
A young man is invited by vicious companions, to visit the theatre, or the gambling room, or other haunts of licentiousness. He becomes dissipated, spends his time—loses his credit—squanders his property, and at last sinks into an untimely grave. What ruined him? Simply "doing as the rest did."
A father has a family of sons. He is wealthy. Other children in the same situations of life do so and so—are indulged in this and that. He indulges his own in the same way. They grow up idlers—triflers—and fops. The father wonders why his children do not succeed better. He has spent much money on their education—has given them great advantages. But, alas! they are only a source of vexation and trouble. Poor man, he is just paying the penalty of "doing as the rest did."

This poor mother strives hard to bring up her daughters genteelly. They learn what others learn, to paint, to sing, to play, to dance, and several other useless matters. In time they marry—their husbands are unable to support their extravagance—and they are soon reduced to poverty and wretchedness.—The good woman is astonished. "Truly," says she, "I did as the rest did."

For the Patriot.

MR. EDITOR:—Mr. Palfrey's pamphlet has, without doubt, been very generally read; still, there are many who have not seen it, and who may not enjoy that advantage before the election on Monday next. I request, therefore, that you will publish in your next paper, the following short extract from it, which embodies the reason of the writer for his opposition to the new Constitution. These reasons are so judicious, so patriotic, and so conclusive, that they cannot fail, as it seems to me, to commend themselves to the acceptance of every man, who has the good of Massachusetts at heart, whatever may be his party predilections. Foolish as the writer considers "the course of the Whigs, in these last years," he is not so infatuated, so reckless, so wicked, as to be willing to sacrifice the well-being of the State, for the sake of destroying the party. He believes that, bad as the party may be, there is a greater evil than giving it a chance of existence among the rest; that it may be crushed at too great a cost—notwithstanding the sentiment to the contrary, recently expressed by the President at Washington.

I hope, therefore, your readers will carefully peruse his conclusions, ponder well upon them, and act accordingly.

WEBSTER.

"In the foregoing pages, I have set down some of the reasons which compel me to vote NO on the first of the questions presented to the people by the recent Convention,—the question relating to that part of the revised Constitution, which embraces the Frame of Government for the Commonwealth. In my view, some of the innovations which it proposes—and, among them, some of the most important—are entirely unsustained by good reasons, and can only be fruitful of evil; while, of the really beneficial changes which it offers, there is not one which cannot be obtained, or which would not probably be obtained, with a very little delay, through simple Legislative action, or through the method of amendment provided by the existing Constitution. Under these circumstances, I cannot think I should be acting the part of a man of common sense, to make any considerable sacrifice of other just Constitutional principles and provisions for their attainment;—certainly not to buy them at the cost of such mischievous provisions as those of the new Constitution relating to the Judiciary and the basis of representation.

The provisions of the existing Constitution, in regard to the House of Representatives, are far from good; but that is no reason why we should supersede them by others more subject than themselves to the same class of objections,—more unjust, and, what is worse, increasingly more unjust from census to census. If we are not at present prepared to apply a full remedy to the evil, let us not, in blind impetuosity, extend and aggravate it. And, meanwhile, it is by no means beyond reasonable expectation, that as, from time to time, by the operation of the existing Constitution, more and more of the small towns exchange their annual representation for representation only part of the time (which is the great evil complained of,) that provision of the Constitution will work its way into extensive use, which authorizes them to associate together for annual representation,—thus approximating a universal district system.

I have written from the point of view of one opposed, in all political action, to the Slave power which governs this country. I am a member of that party (of whomsoever composed) which aims, under the Federal Constitution, to nationalize and fortify liberty, to localize and discourage slavery. But I cannot undertake to act on all other questions than that of that man who sympathizes with me on this question. In my belief, history will presently be saying, that the course of Massachusetts Whigs, in these last years, has been one of extreme folly, interspersed with complicity in some great national crimes. But I am not going to take part in bringing discredit on our excellent Massachusetts, and trouble on my fellow-citizens and my posterity, for the sake of punishing the sins of the Whigs. When I attached myself to the Free Soil party, I came under no engagement in respect to changes in the Constitution of this Commonwealth. If my memory serves me, the State Committee of that party, in their address published early in this year, declared that this question of Constitutional amendments was not a party question. At all events, with or without the leave of that Committee, such is my opinion. It is, or should be, a question quite aside from party; rather, a question altogether above it. And so far as the Free Soil party should be connected with the support of the specific amendments now proposed, the party would, I think, be injured by that connection, and its great object be prejudiced and obstructed.

While I have spoken freely of the proposed experiments upon the Great Charter of our Massachusetts liberties, it must be superfluous to say that it has been without the slightest intimation of want of respect for any to whom these experiments appear in a different light. In the majority of the Convention were men eminently virtuous; disinterested, and patriotic. I would not say that a man of that majority was wanting in those qualities. But that is not the question which we are presently to vote upon. The question is, whether the great changes proposed will conduce to the honor and prosperity of Massachusetts, to the safety, welfare, and satisfaction of ourselves and our children."

A Woman and an Angel.

"Is my cassimere vest ironed? I want it and my white duck pantaloons this evening." This interrogatory was addressed by a very fashionably dressed young man to his sister, who was not so fashionably dressed; in fact, she had only a neat calico. She was putting the band to a beautifully made shirt for the aforesaid fashionably dressed individual.
"No, Harry, it is not. You know this is washing-day, and it is hardly dry."
"There is time enough to dry it by the stove, and I must have it, for I am going to wait on Miss M—— to the concert to-night. So don't forget," and took his hat and walked out.

His sister, for it was to her he was speaking, flushed, and it must be told, looked angry; but soon laying aside her work, went out, got the things off the line, sprinkled and folded them; then making a fire in the stove, she put her irons in, and sat down to take a few stitches while they were heating. And while she is doing so, I will tell you something about her.

The young man, her brother, belonged to rather a numerous class. He was a clerk, getting a fair salary. He lived at home, paying no regular board, but helping with the expenses of the family. He dressed, as most clerks do, quite fashionably; wore the neatest made shirts, and nicest smoothed clothes, all of which was done by his sister. She took great pride in the appearance of her brother, and bestowed more physical labor in keeping him looking so nice, than he did in return for his good salary. But lately he had become quite exacting, and ordered her in rather a peremptory manner and at inconvenient times, to do such things as he had just asked her. She had a great deal to do in assisting her mother with the family, besides attending to his wants, and his demands at times appeared arbitrary. Yet she never refused him. He is not the only one whom a sister's toil has enabled to make a better appearance in the world at less expense than otherwise could have been done. These extra calls on her labor, and want of appreciation of them, had only been made since the acquaintance with a certain Miss M——.

He was continually praising her as one of the most angelic beings in existence, perfectly beautiful, with the sweetest little hand, not broader than three of his fingers, and so white and soft; and he would glance involuntarily at his sister's hand, which was not so very small and white—and how could it be, when she had to stand for hours at the ironing table, besides sweeping, dusting and making beds—in fact, leading an active and useful life. Yet the comparison would hurt her feelings, and she often wished he would not talk to her of Miss M——, for she knew that if she had done her duty her hands would not be so very soft and white, for she had seen her mother scrubbing down the steps and washing the yard although Harry had told her Miss M—— said her "Ma had delicate health."

The more the young man thought of Miss M——, the less he seemed to care for Lizzie, and the more he asked her to do for him. And no matter how much she toiled, he never had time to do the slightest favor for her, so occupied was he with his courtship to his angel.

Now, to let you into the secret, Miss M—— had something to do with this. She had learned the character of this devoted sister, and fancied her lover would expect something like it from his wife. So she had weaned him from her purposely; and from the very cause that should have made him think more of her, he actually thought less. He had unconsciously imbibed the very common idea, that soft hands and fine airs are indispensable in making a lady. His sister not having either, he felt a little ashamed of her, notwithstanding his knowledge of her sound sense and true heart. He was too much in love with a pretty face to reflect if she performed the duties called for by their circumstances, it would be impossible for his lady love to be so.

When at last the young man married his angel, though Lizzie shed tears at their separation, her labor certainly were considerably lightened, and her hand had a better chance of becoming soft. She loved her brother, and like a true woman, hoped that he would be very happy, and that his wife would keep him nice. This had been her especial pride; and every wife ought to consider it a duty. But when in a very little time she saw him wearing soiled vests and crumpled bosoms, she very easily knew to whom the blame belonged. He began to look frowning and spake cross and complaining, and at length was taken very sick. When Lizzie went to see him, he begged her so hard to stay and give him some "real old time nursing." She now learned that angels get very tired waiting on "fretful" sick people, who have been "spoiled" by too much attention at home. They were enough to "kill one with fatigue." And how many cross looks the sister got while attending quietly but constantly to her brother's wants. The old brother-look came back to his face, and he got so much better in one day, that Lizzie offered to stay all night with him. And the angel determined to set up with her, only lying down to take a short nap—which lasted all night.

With this experience, Lizzie thought women make considerably better wives than angels. Their proper place seems to be where there is no care or trouble. Young men, be careful of catching an angel. They are quite numerous.

Ditto.

An honest old farmer, rather ignorant of the improved method of abbreviation, went to a country store with which he did his trading, to make his annual settlement.

On looking over, he occasionally found charges like the following: "To 1 lb. tea—to 1 lb. ditto," he concluded the account was not correct, and posted off home to inquire into the matter.

"Wife," said he, "this is pretty business—there is Mr. ——— has charged me with pounds and pounds of ditto. Now I should like to know what you have done with so much of this ditto."

"Ditto, ditto," replied the old lady, "never had a pound of ditto in the house in all my life."

So back went the farmer, in high dudgeon, that he should have been charged with things that he never received.

"Mr. ———," said he, "my wife says she never had a pound of ditto in the house in her life."

The merchant, thereupon, explained the meaning of the term, and the farmer went home satisfied.

His wife inquired if he had found out the meaning of the word ditto.

"Yes," said he, "it means that I'm an old fool, and you're ditto."

The Dead.

How seldom do we think of the dead!—Although we sit around the same hearth where they once sat, and read from the same volume they loved so to peruse, yet we do not often think of them. Oh, how the heart throbs with wild and uncontrollable emotions, as we stand beside the dying friend we dearly love! We wildly strive, but all in vain, to prolong the precious life; we follow in deepest anguish down to the dark flowing river; the spirit of the loved one passes onward alone—and we are left to linger on the shores of time. We think, as we behold the inanimate form consigned to the cold grave, and hear the damp earth rattle over it, that we will never forget the life scenes of the departed—that their memory will always remain fresh in our hearts, and almost wonder that the busy multitude can move so briskly around us. But the sun shines brightly as ever on the new-made grave. Nature looks as gay and smiling, and the birds sing as merrily as before. Again we mingle with the busy, jostling throng. Weeks and months roll on—we visit the grave less frequently—and therefore gradually cease to think of the lost ones, save when some sweet voice or incident of by-gone days recalls them to our memory. The feelings of bitter anguish and bereavement, are soon worn off by the accumulating cares and pleasures of life.—Thus we, in turn, must ere long pass away, and be forgotten. Such is human life.

One Happy Heart.

Have you made one happy heart to-day? Envious privilege! How calmly you can seek your pillow, how sweetly sleep! In all this world there is nothing so sweet as giving comfort to the distressed, as getting a sun-ray into a gloomy heart. Children of sorrow meet as wherever we turn; there is no moment that tears are not shed, and sighs uttered. Yet how many of those tears, those sighs, are caused by our own thoughtlessness; how many a daughter wrings the very soul of a fond mother by acts of unkindness and ingratitude? How many husbands, by one little word, make a whole day of sad hours and unkind thoughts? How many wives, by angry recriminations, estrange and embitter loving hearts? How many brothers and sisters meet but to vex and injure each other, making wounds that no human art can heal? Ah, if each one worked upon this maxim day by day—"strive to make some heart happy"—jealousy, revenge, madness, hate, with their kindred evil associates, would forever leave the earth. Our minds would be so occupied in the contemplation of adding to the pleasure of others, that there would be no room for the ugly fiends of discord. Try it ye discontented, forever grumbling devotees of sorrow, self-caused; it will make that little part of the world in which you move as fair as Eden.

A Coer Between.

A Coer between is every body's friend—and worst enemy. He is a pendulum that swings back and forth in society, knocking every body in the head. He can no more hold a secret in his mouth, than he could a hot potato; but must let it out to the first person he meets, and scald the community about him as bad as he does himself.

When you see him coming, stuff your handkerchief, or your mittens down your throat, or, if you open it to him, you will be sure to have it cut from ear to ear, across the edges of his tongue as soon as he leaves you.

His hollow head and heart is an echo that repeats every thing; and, to gratify himself in fostering the curiosity of the idle, he would pick his teeth with the good name of a man that had saved him from being hanged.

There is not a town, or village in the land that is not pestered with one or more of these noxious beings. Their houses may be compared to the neighboring jungles of a village in India, from which, now and then, tigers, lions, bears, hyenas, leopards, and the whole race of beasts of prey make an egress, and fall upon the innocent inhabitants.

In like manner, when you see the latter pass from his, or her house to a neighbor's, then know and understand that something is in the wind; and that it will soon be given to the wind to be blown about, too.

Yes, it is not a thing to be wondered at, what a hold and influence your genuine tattlers will maintain upon a community, after all? Be they proved liars a hundred times, still they will never be at a loss for persons to listen to them, and give currency to their reports. Though they are whipped in the market places, as they were in ancient times,—though they were decised from the steeple tops—though their tongues were analyzed chemically, and proved publicly to be mortal poison, two ears would still be found for every one that should wag itself, echo would still answer from highways and hedges, and belief would stretch itself to the length and breadth of falsehood—lend its wings, and send it wide thro' the world.

To Make Money Fast.

Enter into business of which you have a perfect knowledge. In your own right, or by the aid of friends on long time, have a cash capital sufficient to do at least a cash business. Never venture on a credit business on commencement. Buy all your goods or materials for cash; you can take every advantage of the market, and can pick and choose where you will. Be careful not to overstock yourself. Rise and fall with the market, on short stocks. Always stick to those whom you prove to be strictly just in their transactions, and shun all others, even at a temporary disadvantage. Never take advantage of a customer's ignorance, nor equivocate nor misrepresent. Have but one price and small profit, and you will find all the most profitable customers—the cash ones,—or they will find you.

If over-deceived in business transactions, never attempt to save yourself by putting the deception upon others; but submit to the loss, and be more cautious in future. According to the character or extent of your business, set aside a liberal per centage for printing and advertising, and do not hesitate. Never let an article, parcel or package go out from you without a handsomely printed wrapper, card or circular, and dispense them continually. Choose the newspaper for your purpose, and keep yourself necessarily before the public; and it matters not what business of utility you make choice of, for if intelligently and industriously pursued, a fortune will be the result.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids. Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Creamed Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Quinine Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Butlers, spread Plasters, Galls and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Flesh Brushes, &c., &c. Fresh European Lozenges always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in the United States. Washington-st., near of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON. OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking feelings, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various diseases peculiar to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that impure condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently form the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use; they are not—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st. (opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON.

Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43—1y

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON,

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of financial means, to supply themselves with incomparable substitutes of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle,—$50.00; if worn to be worn—$35.00 to $50.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from $20.00 to $40.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from $2.50 to $5.00 per tooth. For gold teeth, silver or wood pivots—from $1.50 to $2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, $5.00; without it, 25 cts. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 53 Tremont Row, no stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston.

Boston, Feb. 7, 1853. 11—9mo

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can always find a good supply at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE,

as cheap as they can be bought in the City and as pure as the best. We have on hand the following: Tumeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground and Extract Logwood, Copperas, Blue and White Vitriol, China Aratic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and Best White Bonnet Glue.

American and English Linoleum, Sal Ammoniac, Vermilion, King's Blue, Green, and Yellow, all of Tartar, Nicotiana, Madder and Turkey Amber, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Pumice Stone, Salt Petre ash, and Liquid Ammonia.

GEORGE W. WHITING.

Quincy, Sept. 3.

Cure for the Whooping Cough!

BY THE USE OF

MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE,

It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.

For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy of this sale.

Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Haddley, Mass., (son-in-law of Dr. Moore,) without whose signature upon each bottle, he is genuine.

It is also a safe, sure and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Bowel Complaints. W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent.

Sept. 24.

Lovet's Wahpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore a Gray Hair to its original color.

With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, June 25.

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with a solution of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing Humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, weakness of the Limbs, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared on scientific principles, highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store.

GEO. W. WHITING.

Price 50 cents per bottle.

Quincy, Sept. 24.

Books.

THE Pictorial Library of Useful Information, and Family Encyclopedia. Illustrated with 1000 colored and fifty Engravings.

The Universal Library of Literature and Illustrated Mirror of the World. Three hundred and fifty Engravings.

With many other beautifully Illustrated Books, for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, August 6.

DRESSING FOR THE HAIR—Burditt's

Oleaginous Compound, Kitchen and Kenyon's Hair Preservative; Lyon's Kalmis; for Hair's Pomade and Restorative; Thompson's, Packard's and Cannon's Lotions; Serravallo's Hair Preservative; Jenny Lind's Hair Dressing; Poirer's Mountain Compound, and various other articles for the same purpose, for sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, November 5, 1853.

BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE.

We are often annoyed by receiving advertisements for publication by would be rivals of Palmer's American Newspaper Subscription and Advertising Agency. There is a House in Boston which is continually thrusting themselves upon attention, offering us advertisements to publish. We received one last week which they very generously requested us to publish for about half the expense of setting them up. A cotemporary of ours says he received the same, but he was offered one dollar more. It seems that while he would give the printer starvation prices he was to have one dollar and a quarter for the mere transmission of advertisements by letter to us.

We would advise such Advertising Houses to borrow a little honesty if they have got none of their own, and begin business anew. Let them adopt some system, let them, rigidly follow it—let them not seek to undermine better men than themselves—men whose sagacity, diligence, fidelity and perseverance have established themselves in the confidence of the country.

When we see the little turns, and quirks, and petty attempts to pull down such men as V. B. Palmer by mushrooms, and upstart agencies—we laugh in derision—they are as vain as the dashing of the waves upon the rocks.

THE LYCEUM. We would remind our readers that Rev. W. R. ALGER of Roxbury, gives the lecture on Tuesday evening next, at 7 1-2 o'clock, on the life and character of that wonderful man, PETER THE GREAT. From the distinguished talents of the lecturer and the topic he has chosen, a rich intellectual repast may be anticipated.

Watches, Jewelry, &c.

Our worthy and enterprising young friend MESERVEY has just replenished his stock of watches, jewelry, silver ware, fancy goods, &c., and is now enabled to furnish everybody with whatever they may wish for in his line, at prices which not only are far more reasonable than can be found in this town, but render the very common notion of going to the city, with a view of making better bargains, wholly erroneous. MESERVEY has gained a reputation of the most enviable kind—that of the strictest integrity and honesty, which few young men could have attained in the time he has been among us; and people in dealing with him feel confident that whatever they purchase of him will prove as represented. As a watchmaker, the many who have employed him can testify that a more faithful and ingenious workman cannot be found in this vicinity. We bespeak for him all the patronage and encouragement which he so justly merits.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

Mr. Editor:—I am very much inclined to believe that your compositor shook up his case and forgot his spectacles last week; for I have no right to find fault, for there were but two or three typographical errors, and for a MS. of mine that is by no means bad.

The second lecture was, comparatively, thinly attended by reason of the inclemency of the weather. George Sumner, Esq., for I never knew of his acquiring the title of Hon. in any executive or legislative capacity, selected for his subject, "France." Perhaps no country interests the American more than volatile, versatile, enigmatical France. We are bound to it by ties of gratitude, for the proudest achievements of our fathers were accomplished beneath the tri-colored and star-spangled banners, waving jointly and harmoniously; then, man ever delights in stories of courage, deeds of daring and the noisy din of war. France, therefore, was a subject likely to interest us all, and certainly there was enough to gratify as well as instruct in Mr. Sumner's lecture.

He started with the proposition that although, seemingly contradictory of each other, yet, every change which had taken place in France since the days of Louis le Grand, were truly progressive. He then, in review fully to establish his theory, passed in review the great events which fill the historic page of the loved of Napoleon. The reign of terror he attributed to the emigres and the allied army, Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, rather than to the extravagant passions of an excited people, France then learned a great lesson never to be forgotten. The restoration, the Empire, the constitutional monarchy of Louis Philippe, the revolution of 1848, the coup d'etat of Louis Napoleon, were all shown to be subservient to this great theory of progress. He then concluded, by repeating a saying of Humboldt that the great synonym of Nature was change. His conclusion was peculiarly gratifying to myself. His style is flowing, his periods well rounded and graceful, and the whole lecture carrying out in detail the distinctive proposition upon which it is based.

I was not pleased, however, with his style of oratory. Indeed, it might be truly said that he has no style either of voice or action. Of the latter I saw none, of the former, he had but little control, frequently letting his natural fullness and sweetness of tone entirely escape him. Yours LISHMAHAGO.

For the Patriot.

The Hancock House—Its Landlord.

Mr. Editor:—We have heard it intimated that our worthy landlord of the Hancock House, (Col. French,) has been on a tour through the western states, in search of a location that will more amply remunerate him for his laborious duties as landlord.

It is well known that a house kept after the style of the Hancock House, cannot support itself in Quincy, without a degree of liberality is shown on the part of her citizens. Mr. French has spent the best part of his life in this house, and has gained for it no menial reputation among the first-class hotels; and would it be well for the people of Quincy to see their old landlord leave the place of his nativity, without a strong effort on their part to induce him to remain among us? We think it decidedly wrong.

Would it not be commendable to benefit this house by a course of parties the coming winter? There is no better place of accommodation, than this house; promptness, combined with an experienced epicurean judgment, render Mr. French's parties unsurpassed for enjoyment, at the table, in the drawing-room, or at the dance.

With the loss of Mr. French, we lose our hotel; an inexperienced hand cannot come up to the expectations of the Quincy people, in entertaining a party, either from our own town or from others; when Mr. French would succeed here, another would fail. Look well to your own interests, Quincy people, and you will see that the Hancock House retains its old landlord.

For the Patriot.

The New Constitution.

Mr. GREEN:—Enough has been stated to convince the impartial reader, notwithstanding the quibbles of Junius, of the resemblance of the rotten borough system of England to the proposed representation by the new Constitution. To show that the like opinion prevails in the minds of able writers, we refer to a pamphlet of which Mr. Palfrey is the avowed author. After comparing the town of Pittsfield with New Ashford, he says that "the political power of a voter in New Ashford is nearly three times that of a voter in Pittsfield," and that "New Ashford, keeping up its recent ratio of decrease in population, will, under the proposed Constitution, in 1860, for each voter have fourteen times as much weight as a voter in Pittsfield," and he also adds that this "looks like a rapid movement towards the rotten borough system." And Mr. Adams says of the proposed Constitution, that "instead of going forward it goes straight backward to the borough system, and leaves an opening, for the first time, to what has happened in England, the influence of decayed boroughs." A writer at the close of the last century says that in the borough of Tatunton, it was a condition that a man must "boil his own victuals" to be a qualified voter. As the proposed Constitution omits this provision, "Junius" will probably contend that the two systems are not analogous, such is character of his reasoning.

The ideas of "Junius" on representation are about as rational as his ideas of equalization. In order to sustain the denial he made in relation to what we asserted of the vote on Gov. Morton's amendment, he has given us a new theory, which is, that every representative represents only an integral part of his constituency. Thus the town of Quincy has two representatives, each of whom represents only half the people. It would be a "curious" question to ask one of our representatives which half of the population of this town he represents, a question which even "Junius," with all his ingenuity, would find it difficult to answer. In the Legislature, on every vote that is taken, whether one or both of our delegates are present, the town is represented, and the constituents of one or both are the whole population of the town.—Any representative who does not feel this is unworthy of the seat he holds. The calculations of "Junius" prove nothing, because they are based upon false principles. We hope the coalition will imitate the Whigs and correct their errors when they discover them. As for their ethics, that is past praying for.

If we are too youthful to understand the casuistry of "Junius," we can only say, in the language of another, we hope to be one of those "whose follies will cease with their youth, and not of that number who are ignorant in spite of experience."

We shall be soon called upon to decide whether the freemen of this state shall be governed by a minority of the people; whether we will throw away our most essential right, for the purpose of giving office to a few political leaders. The hope that a Convention in 1856 will correct the error, if we accept the proposed Constitution, is fallacious. Let us do right now, reject it as founded upon false principles, and look to other means of reforming any real evils that now exist in the organic law of the Commonwealth.

Q. C. T. C.

For the Patriot.

Democrats to the Rescue.

Remember that more than one hundred Democratic voters have been left off the check list, all accidentally of course!

Remember that on Monday you are to decide whether those great reforms for which you and other Democrats of the State have fought for a quarter of a century—shall become realities. That they are within your grasp, and that you have only to reach forth and take them.

Remember that Whigs vote as Whigs, never as men—no outside issues breed disaffection in their ranks—

Remember the inducements of wily gammons to get you to vote the Whig ticket—talking large about the union and liberal State legislation concerning liquor laws. See how they cheated the Democrats last year.

Remember that money will flow like water, ten thousand misrepresentations of the Constitution will be made—and myriads of untruths will be told about the Democrats—vote them down—show them your confidence in what they say by voting them down—

Remember that we can, if we only will it, give the new Constitution one hundred and fifty majority in this town. Say it, work for it, and it shall be done—Up guards and to them!

JACKSON.

OSSIAN'S BARDS are coming. Of course their programme will "draw."

Mr. Edward Everett, designer for the Middlesex and Bay State Mills at Lowell and Lawrence, went from the latter city to Lowell, to attend the funeral of the late Col. Cushing, and during the evening, fell into the canal and was drowned. His body was recovered. He leaves a wife and two children.

The best quality coal is selling in Hartford, Ct., for $8. per ton. The heavy companies in Philadelphia refuse to fulfil their contracts, claiming that the "strikes" of laborers, and increased wages, breaks in the canal, &c., justify them in so doing.

According to the annual report, the total expenditures on the Kennebec and Portland railroad, Maine, up to the 30th of September, has been $2,514,056. The receipts of the road last year were $168,113, and the running expenses were $67,516.

Special Notices

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November: On Tuesday, the 1st, Introductory, by Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr.

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SUMNER;

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALGER;

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by WENDELL PHILLIPS, Esq.;

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LISHMAHAGO.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them positively), and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring; viz:—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lathrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

NOTICE. Tickets admitting persons to the course of Lectures to be delivered before the Quincy Lyceum the coming season, may be had, on and after Monday evening next, of Mr. George L. Gill, at the Quincy Bookstore, and of the Secretary of the Society.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

Per order of the Directors.

NOTICE. A meeting of the Free Democracy of Quincy, will be held at the Lyceum Room, on SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 12th, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representatives to the next General Court.

Per order of the Town Committee.

SINGING SCHOOL. It is proposed to open a class in the rudiments of Singing, to consist of twenty-four lessons, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 2d, at Franklin Hall, under the instruction of Mr. Francis Bates of Weymouth, and all desirous of attending are requested to be present on said evening in order that it may be determined whether to continue the School.

The "Carmina Sacra" will be used; and persons having this Singing book are requested to bring it with them.

Terms of Tuition.

Gentlemen, $2 00 Ladies, 1 00 Quincy, Oct. 29. 2w

"ALL MEN ARE EQUAL"—Whigs of Quincy, you will please meet at the Hancock House, this, SATURDAY evening, at 6 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representatives, and transacting other business.

Per order Whig Town Committee.

THE National Democrats of Quincy are requested to meet at the Lyceum Room, tomorrow (Sunday) evening, at half past seven o'clock, for the purpose of nominating Representatives.

Brownson, L. D., will address the citizens of Quincy and vicinity, upon the proposed Amendments to the Constitution, on SATURDAY evening, November 12th, at 7 o'clock, at the Town Hall.

Citizens generally are invited to attend.

A CARD.

Doctor Goodnow, most respectfully returns his thanks to his friends and patrons, to whom he feels bound by many endearing ties, for their continued friendship and generous patronage during the past years of his residence in Quincy. Be assured, kind friends, that it is with regret that I leave you; but a desire to see more of the world in its varied phases, induces me to take this step. It gives me pleasure to announce to you, that I leave my practice to Doctor Jonathan Mardin, a gentleman of ability and experience, who I trust you will honor with your confidence and patronage.

LYCEUM. The next lecture before this institution, will be given by Rev. W. R. ALGER, of Roxbury, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Subject—PETER THE GREAT.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 26th ult., Lizzie C., daughter of Mr. Thomas O. and Mrs. Celia Pearson, aged 2 years and two months.

Oh Lizzie all thy pain is o'er,
From earth thy form has quickly flown,
Thy voice is hushed forever more,
On earth no more shalt thou be known.

Thou art looking downward from the sky,
Upon thy parents here below,
Thou seest them mourn o'er severed ties,
Oh Lizzie, why, why didst thou go.

So young, so fair when thou didst die,
But God thy spirit called away,
Thy friends have heard thy last good bye,
But thou art happier far than they.

E. L. G.

In this town, on the 23th ult., Henrietta F. daughter of Mr. Josiah, Jr., and Mrs. Sarah W. Hayden, aged 5 years, and 3 months and 11 days.

I saw her at a bridal, a few short months ago,
And I thought her far too beautiful to linger long below.

For though her face was glowing on her cheek,
And sparkling in her eye,
I knew that earth's most cherished ones,
The soonest droop and die.

As a harp whose well strung silvery chords responded to your own,
Her low sweet melody now wakes a higher nobler tone;

A germ of thought etherealized ere yet the taint of earth,
Had time to throw its midew blight, or mar its priceless worth.

And now ye gaze with tearful eyes upon the vacant chair,
The empty crib! the fresh-turned sod; ye see her everywhere;

The rustle of a falling leaf shall bring her to your view,
For she faded with the autumn flowers, as fair and fleeting too.

And they whose two-fold love has watched the unfading flower,
Who in their children's children find sweet solace every hour;

How heavily this blow must fall on their declining years,
For the memory of their "early lost" comes fresh with sorrow's tears.

She had twined herself around their hearts with more than common love,
Had nestled in their sheltering arms like a gentle brooding dove;

And they like you will miss her oft, and sadly day by day,
As the weary hours which grief has tinged wear heavily away.

She came to you from God's own hand, all clothed with power to win
Your own immortal spirits from a world so fraught with sin;

And now her mission is fulfilled, ye have in Paradise
A strong, enduring, earthly tie, to bind you to the skies.

C. A. H.

Executor's Sale of REAL ESTATE!

PURSUANT to a License from the Probate Court, for the County of Norfolk, dated November 5th, 1853, authorizing the sale of the Real Estate of Nathaniel Glover, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased. Therefore, will be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, the 29th day of November, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, on the premises, about one acre and a quarter of Land, with the buildings thereon, it being the Homestead of said deceased. Said property is pleasantly situated within about sixty rods of the Depot.

Conditions made known at the sale.

LLOYD GOODNOW, Executor,

Quincy, Nov. 12. 2w

Notice.

THE subscriber expecting to be in this vicinity for the present, is prepared to sell the remaining lots owned by him near the High School House, on favorable terms. They consist of four eligible Building Lots.

Application may be made to the subscriber at Mrs. Benjamin Gay's, or in his absence, to J. M. Gougeon, Esq.

W. P. APTHORP.

Quincy, Nov. 12. 3w

Musical Entertainment.

Mr. Ossian E. Dodge,
Editor and Proprietor of "DODGE'S LITERARY MUSEUM."

WILL, IN COMPANY WITH

OSSIAN'S BARDS,

OSSIAN E. DODGE, Musical Director and De-linctor, E. FREEMAN WHITEHOUSE, Tenore,
Wm. F. DURANT, Baritone,
LAURA TANNER, Alto,
A. GOLDSMITH TANNER, Basso,

Have the pleasure of giving one of their Chorus and fashionable CELEBRATED CONCERTS,

AT THE TOWN HALL,

ON SATURDAY EVENING NOV. 19.

Owing to previous engagements, there will be no postponement on account of the weather, and the "Bards" will "do their best" if but one person should attend the Entertainment.

TO PLEASE EVERYBODY

The Tickets will be Only 12 1/2 Cents.

Doors open at 6 1/2 o'clock, Concert to commence at 7 1/2.

To avoid a crowd, persons had better, if convenient, have the proper change ready.

John Cooper Vail, Newspaper Canvasser and Poet Laureate to Ossian's Bards, will call on all persons of a literary or musical taste in each town where the Bards sing; and to every one subscribing for Dodge's Literary Museum for one year, will be presented two free tickets to the Concert of the "Bards."

One sheet of Music will be given gratis to every female attending the Concert.

Singing Schools

AND CHOIRS will be supplied with Books, at the lowest wholesale prices, at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

New Carmina Sacra, Shawm, Vocalist, Ancient Lyre, Psalter, and all others in use, furnished at wholesale and retail, at the lowest rates.

Quincy, November 12. 3w

Notice.

DOCTOR GOODNOW, being about to leave town, for a season, most respectfully invites all persons having unsettled accounts with him, to call and settle the same. All accounts that are not settled during the month of November, will be left for collection.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

TO the Honorable the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, next to be holden at Dedham, within and for the County of Norfolk, on the first Tuesday of November, A. D. 1853:—

THOMAS WARDROPE, of Weymouth, in the County of Norfolk, Currier, respectfully represents that he was married to Catherine Wardrope, late resident at Braintree, in the said County of Norfolk, on or about the 1st day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-two, in the City of New York, where they lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, next last past; and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November, now last past, eloped with one John Stark, of said County of Norfolk, and with the said John Stark in a state of adultery, and in places to your libellant unknown, and as he verily believes, out of the Commonwealth.

Wherefore he prays, that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between him and his said wife, may be decreed by this Honorable Court.

As in duty bound will ever pray,

THOMAS WARDROPE.

Weymouth, Sept. 14, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. At the Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, begun and held at Dedham, within and for the County of Norfolk, on the first Tuesday of November, in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty three.

ON the foregoing Libel, ordered, that the said libellant notify the said Catherine Wardrope to appear at the next term of this Court, to be held at Dedham, within and for the County of Norfolk, on the third Tuesday of February next, by causing an attested copy of his said Libel and of this said order therein, to be published in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, once in a week, three weeks successively, the last publication thereof to be thirty days at least before the third Tuesday of February next, that she may the prayer in said Libel contained should not be granted.

By the Court,

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

A true copy of Libel on file and order therein, EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. In INSOLVENCY.

BEFORE Samuel B. Noyes, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency in and for said County of Norfolk:

THE second meeting of the creditors of MELVIN THAYER, of Braintree, Bootmaker, an Insolvent Debtor will be held at the office of said Commissioner, in Canton on the twenty-eighth day of November, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

The subscriber has been duly appointed assignee of said estate.

JUSTIN FIELD, Assignee.

Canton, Nov. 8, 1853. 2w

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,

ON THE

Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JOHN DINGEN, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of

Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Petersham, Pilot Cloth, &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the very lowest price for cash.

Also—A large and splendid lot of

Ready Made Clothing,

which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dingen, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

The one price system will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES O'BRIEN.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town, to meet and vote in Elections, to meet at the Town Hall, in said Town, on MONDAY, the 14th day of November inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., for the following purposes, namely:—

FIRST—To see if the Town will elect two Representatives to represent them in the next General Court of this Commonwealth.

SECOND—To give in their votes, on one ballot, for a Governor, Lieut. Governor, three Senators for Norfolk County, and 2 Representatives, (if they so determine,) in sealed envelopes or openly; and also to give in their votes, Yes or No, in sealed envelopes, upon the propositions submitted to the people by the late Constitutional Convention, being propositions numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8, relative to the revision or alteration of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The votes for the above-named State Officers are to be deposited, in sealed envelopes or openly, in one ballot box; and the votes upon the above-named propositions are to be deposited in another ballot box, in sealed envelopes.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, unto the Town Clerk, on or before the time specified for said meeting.

Given under our hands, this third day of November, A. D. 1853.

Selection of

NOAH CUMMINGS, } Quincy.

B. B. NEWCOMB, }

A true Copy. Attest

Geo. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, Nov. 5th, 1853.

Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the time, place, and for the purposes therein named.

Geo. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of

W. I. Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Stone and Earthen Ware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.

OZEN JOSSELYN.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

TOWN MEETING.

NORFOLK SS. To either of the Constables of the Town of Quincy, - - GREETING.

YOU are hereby required, in the name of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to notify and warn the inhabitants of said Town, qualified to vote in Elections, to meet at the Town Hall, in said Town, on MONDAY, the 14th day of November inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., for the following purposes, namely:—

FIRST—To see if the Town will elect two Representatives to represent them in the next General Court of this Commonwealth.

SECOND—To give in their votes, on one ballot, for a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, three Senators for Norfolk County, and two Representatives, (if they so determine,) in sealed envelopes or openly; and also to give in their votes, Yes or No, in sealed envelopes, upon the propositions submitted to the people by the late Constitutional Convention, being propositions on an altered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8, relative to the revision or alteration of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The votes for the above-named State Officers are to be deposited, in sealed envelopes or openly, in one ballot box; and the votes upon the above-named propositions are to be deposited in another ballot box, in sealed envelopes.

Hereof fail not, and make due return of this Warrant, with your doings thereon, into the Town Clerk, on or before the time specified for said meeting.

Given under our hands, this third day of November, A. D. 1853.

LEWIS BASS, } Selectmen
NOAH CUMMINGS, } Quincy.
B. B. NEWCOMB, }
A true Copy. Attest
GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

NORFOLK SS. Quincy, Nov. 5th, 1853.

Pursuant to the above Warrant, I hereby notify and warn the inhabitants of the Town of Quincy, qualified as therein expressed, to meet at the time, place, and for the purposes therein named.

GEO. H. FRENCH, Constable of Quincy.

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of

W. I. Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Stone and Earthen Ware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.

OZEN JOSSELYN.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

LIVES OF EMINENT METHODIST MINISTERS, containing Biographical Sketches, Sermons, and Records of Travel, &c., &c., etc., by Rev. P. Douglass Gorrice. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 5. 3w

Personal.

IF you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DE-LAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LYONNE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA PLAYS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CRIB or BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSIERY, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIMMINGS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for HOODS, RIGOLETS or WOKESTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's Fancy HATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at GEO. SAVIL & Co.

Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Butter! Butter!!

30 TO 40 tubs of first run DAIRY BUTTER, for sale cheap

D. BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Picked Up.

A LIGHT blue lap-tracked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst., on Pottery's Island. If owner can have the same by proving property if paying charges.

JOHN M. CLEVERLY. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Wanted.

WANT MAKERS, immediately, at the Tailoring Establishment of D. D. RING. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the will and Estate of SIBEL HOLMES, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

HIRAM PRIOR, Adm. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Wanted.

THE AMERICAN STATESMAN, or Illustrations of the Life and Character of William Webster. By Rev. Joseph Banvard. Just issued and for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

DISCOVERIES among the ruins of Babylon and Nineveh; by Austin H. Layard. One volume. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Snuff and Snuff Heans.

FIVE article of Rappee Snuff, perfumed with Bergamot; also, a lot of Snuff Beans, sale cheap at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE. Quincy, Nov. 5. 3w

For Spavin in Horses.

R. DADD'S Liquid Blisters for Spavin, and all other Horse Medicines. For sale at Quincy Drug Store of the Agent.

GEORGE N. WHITING, Quincy, Nov. 5. 3w

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

AN assortment of FALL and WINTER A PIECE GOODS, and READY CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store, TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

For Gentlemen's Wear.

A LARGE assortment of HATS, CAPS, SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and Gents FURNISHING GOODS.

A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made into Garments of any description at short notice, by

GEO. SAVIL & Co., Goodnow's Building, Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts. Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Nutmeg, Alspice, Peach-Water, Treble Distilled Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory, Thyme, Sage, etc., etc.

Extract of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article. Quincy, Oct. 29. 3w

Administratrix's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM BENT, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

NANCY BENT, Administratrix. Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Executor's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of

ELISHA T. CRANE, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

EDMUND MARSH, Executor. Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of

WILLIAM HOLLS, late of Braintree, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to

JAMES HOLLS, Adm. Braintree, Oct. 15. 3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. IN INSOLVENCY. Before SAMUEL B. NOYES, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency, in and for said County of Norfolk.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Assignee of the Estate of

DAVID COVILL, of Quincy, in said County, Teamster, an Insolvent Debtor.

The second meeting of the creditors of said Insolvent will be held at a Court of Insolvency, at said Commissioner's Court Room, in Canton, on the twenty-first day of November next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

CHARLES ENDICOTT, Assignee. Canton, Oct. 15. 2w

Please to Read this.

BOOK AGENTS WANTED, To sell Pictorial and Useful Works for the year 1854.

WANTED in every section of the United States, active and enterprising men, to engage in the sale of some of the best Books published in the Country. To men of good address, possessing a small capital of $25 to $100, such inducements will be offered as to enable them to make from $3 to $5 a day profit.

The Books published by us are all useful in their character, extremely popular, and command large sales wherever they are offered.

For further particulars, address (postage paid.)

ROBERT SEARS, Publisher, 181 William Street, New York. Oct. 15. 2w

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 TO 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and 30 TO 40 from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces. The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE, Quincy Canal Wharf. Quincy, Oct. 22. 3w

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Extremator, which has been tried and proved successful, by many families in this town and vicinity.

Madagascar Rat Extremator, and various other kinds. For sale by

Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

Wanted.

10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to

GEO. SAVIL & Co. Quincy Aug. 20. 3w

New Temperance Books.

THE Mysterious Parchment; or The Satanic License; by Rev. Joel Wakeman. Dick Wilson, the Rumseller's Victim. Founded on fact. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, October 1. 3w

1854 The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert B. Thomas; for sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE

TREMONT ROW

SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK,

AND INCREASED FACILITIES, To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS, CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,

LACES & EMBROIDERIES, Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,

OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,

1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row, GIVE NOTICE TO THE

LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add

New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature to constitute their Establishment the LARGEST and BEST RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE

IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that

Unlike other large Dry Goods Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS

WHO HAVE SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co. are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thinets and Cashmeres, FANCY AND STAPLE

Dress and Cloak Goods OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

PARIS CLOAKS and all similar articles in great profusion,

Laces and Embroideries, GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.

ALL AT BARGAINS! BARGAINS!! BARGAINS!!! as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS

To pay the expense of six or eight months' credit.

AUCTION HOUSES

as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice Goods to our mammoth assortment, and we say with confidence

WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVED, that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of Extra, Medium & Common Qualities for sale at such decided largains.

We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it

WILL DO THEM NO HARM, and MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD, we confidently expect a visit from all.

F. A. JONES & CO.

Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row, (Nearly opposite head of Hanover Street,) BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 17, 1853. 3m

Dr. Lloyd Goodnow

Botanic Medicine Depot, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

RUSSES, Supporters, Shoulder Braces, and a variety of other instruments of Mechanical Support, of the most approved style and quality.

Also—The Roman Eye Balsam, a sovereign remedy for weak and inflamed eyes.

Also—Perry's Celebrated Hungarian Balm, for cleansing and beautifying the Hair.

Also—Lorenz's Extract for removing Paint and Grease from Cloths.

This Extract will not soil the most delicate fabric.

Also—A variety of Cloth, Hair and Tooth BRUSHES, Teeth Powders, Fancy Soaps, Cologne, &c. &c.

For sale at the DRUG STORE, Goodnow's Building. Quincy, Sept. 10. 3w

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING has finished and arranged his new Store to express his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. He has also given personal attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.

Also—Dr. Smith's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Rheumatic Liniment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches constantly on hand and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.

Quincy, September 3. 3w

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received a new supply of Trask's Magnetic Ointment, for Nervous Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Ulcers, Boils, Erysipelas, Ague, Sore Throat, and Inflammations of all kinds, and prevents Lock Jaw in cases of wounds, &c.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 3w

BOSTON EXHIBITION

OF—

SHAWLS, SILKS, CLOAKS

—AND—

OTHER DRY GOODS,

—AT THE—

LADIES' EXCHANGE.

Geo. W. Warren & Co. INVITE the special attention of ALL, to their magnificent assortment of Foreign & Domestic Dry Goods,

—OF—

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS VALUE.

Nearly every article of our large stock has been made to our own order, and is of a character to give satisfaction to those who buy; MAKE RICH those who buy to sell again, and bring back with a smile, those who buy for their own consumption.

Geo. W. Warren & Co., 192 Washington St. Boston, Sept. 17. 3w

New England Protective Union,

DIVISION, No. 180, At the Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Hart, on Franklin Street, may be found a good assortment of

GROCERIES, CROCKERY and GLASS WARE!

Together with a supply of

Boot Maker's Findings.

—ALSO— BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE, LARD, PICKLED, POTATOES, &c. &c.

All of which will be kept constantly on hand, and will be sold at a small advance from cost, for cash.

The public are invited to call and examine our Goods, and become acquainted with our mode of trade.

N. B. The spacious Hall over the store will be let on favorable terms.

Goods delivered to any part of the town free from charges.

Quincy, April 2, 1853. 3w

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by

I. W. MUNROE. Quincy, May 21 3w

Practical Phrenology.

CORRECT Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, or complete written descriptions of Character, including valuable advice concerning the preservation and improvement of health, formation of proper habits, correction of faults, restraining of excesses, and cultivating defects; and important directions as to the choice of suitable occupations, the selection of friends, in business, and congenial companions for life, &c., &c., can be had, day or evening, at the Phrenological Rooms of

FOWLER, WELLS & Co., 142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

To the young just starting in life, such knowledge is invaluable.

The Phrenological Museum, containing a great variety of Skulls, Bones, Casts, and Paintings of the most distinguished men, is open free to visitors.

Classes for instruction in Practical Phrenology and Physiology are constantly in operation, and private students are taken at all times and qualified for lecturers and examiners.

Application for lecturing out of town, before Lyceums or otherwise, duly considered.

Books for sale on Phrenology, Physiology, Water Cure, Psychology, Photography, and progressive subjects generally. All of Fowlers & Wells' publications, including the Phrenological and Water Cure Journals, furnished from this office at the same price, wholesale and retail, as at New York.

Orders by mail or express promptly attended to.

FOWLER, WELLS & Co., 142 Washington Street, Boston. Quincy, Sept. 24. 3m

Road Notice.

To the Honorable County Commissioners of Norfolk.

THE Subscribers, inhabitants of the town of Quincy, in said County, respectfully represent, that common convenience, and necessity, require that that part of a Town Way, called Summer street, lying between School and Liberty streets, in said Quincy, should be widened; that in March last, several inhabitants of Quincy, requested the Selectmen thereof in writing, to alter said way, and that they have refused so to do.

We therefore pray your Honorable Board, to view said way, and cause all needful alterations in the same.

LIBA LITCHFIELD, and eight others. Quincy, Sept. 27th, 1853.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK SS. At a meeting of the County Commissioners, begun and held at Dedham, within and for said County of Norfolk, on the fourth Tuesday of September, A. D. 1853.

ON the petition aforesaid, Ordered that the County Commissioners be and they are, to meet at the Hancock House, in Quincy, in said County, on Monday the fifth day of December next, at ten of the clock A. M., and thence proceed to view the route described in said petition, and hear and act thereon.

And that an attested copy of said petition with this order thereon be served upon the Clerk of the Town of Quincy, thirty days at least before the time appointed for said view, and also that a like copy be published three weeks successively in the Quincy Patriot, a newspaper printed in Quincy, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before said view, and that like copies be posted up in two or more public places, in said Quincy, fourteen days at least before said view, that all persons and corporations interested for or against said petition, may then and there appear and be heard if they see fit.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk. A true copy of the original Petition on file, and order thereon.

EZRA W. SAMPSON, Clerk. Oct. 8. 3w

Potatoes.

200 TO 300 BUSHELS of Potatoes, for sale by

DANIEL BAXTER & Co. Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

SCHOOL BOOKS and SCHOOL STATIONERY.

For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by

C. GILL & Co., ALL the various kinds of School Books and School Stationery now used in all the PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR Schools in town

Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the HIGH SCHOOL

now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold

Quincy May 15, 1852 3w

A CARD.

TO THE PUBLIC!

J. A. HOLDEN,

WOULD inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has Just Replenished his Stock, with a choice selection of Goods, suitable for the Autumn and Winter of 1853 and 4.

He invites the attention of such as expect punctuality and good workmanship, for cash only, such being his rule of business, and the reduced rates at which he sells, rendering any other mode of doing business impracticable.

His clothes will always be made with all his care and skill, of which he boasts not; leaving the garments made by his hands to ADVERTISE THEMSELVES. Those students to combine elegance with economy, will do well and wisely to favor him with a call.

Remember he is not to be undersold by any other establishment, style, quality and finish considered.

Poetry.

"Who are the Free?"

Who are the free?
They who have scorned the tyrant and his rod,
And bowed in worship unto none but God:
They who have made the conqueror's glory dim,
Unchained in soul though manacled in limb,
Unwrapt in prejudice—unwary by wrong,
Friends to the weak, and fearless to the strong;
They who would not change with the changing hour,
The self-same men in peril and in power;
True to the law of right, as warmly prone
To grant another's as maintain their own;
Foes to oppression whoso'er it be—
They are the proudly free!

Who are the great?
They who have boldly ventured to explore Unfounded seas and lands unknown before:
Soared on the wings of science wide and far,
Measured the sun and weighed each distant star,
Pierced the dark depths of ocean and of earth,
And brought uncounted wonders to birth,
Repell'd the pestilence, restrained the storm,
And given new beauty to the human form—
Waken'd the voice of reason, and uncurled
The pure of youthful passion to the world;
They who have toiled and studied for mankind,
Aroused the slumbering virtues of the mind;
Taught us a thousand blessings to create;
These are the truly great!

Who are the wise?
They who have governed with a self-control,
Each wild and painful passion of the soul;
Curbed the strong impulse of all fierce desires,
But kept alive affection's purer fires;
They who have passed the labyrinth of life,
Without one hour of weakness and strife;
Prepared each change of fortune to endure,
Humbled though rich, and dignified though poor;
Skilled in latent movements of the heart—
Learn'd in the love which nature can impart;
Teaching that sweet philosophy aloud,
Which sees the "silver lining" on the cloud,
Looking for good in all beneath the skies:
These are the truly wise!

Who are the best?
They who have kept their sympathies awake,
And scattered joy for more than custom's sake;
Steadfast and tender in the hour of need,
Gentle in thought—benevolent in deed;
Whose look has power to make dissension cease,
Whose smile is pleasant, whose word is peace,
They who have lived as harmless as the dove,
Teachers of truth and ministers of love;
Love for all mortal power—all mental grace—
Love for the humblest of the human race;
Love for the tranquil joy which virtue brings;
Love for the giver of all good things;
True followers of that good exalted plan,
Which Christ laid down to bless and govern man;
They who can calm the fiercest passions of the soul,
Survive the future and recall the past;
And with that hope which triumphs over pain,
Feel well assured they have not lived in vain;
Thus went in peace the hour of final rest:
These are the truly best!

The Contented Man.

Why need I strive and sigh for wealth?
It is enough for me
That Heaven hath sent me strength and health,
A spirit glad and free.
Grateful these blessings to receive,
I sing my hymn at morn and eve.
On me, what floods of riches flow!
Houses, herds, and gold how free!
Yet life's best joys I never know,
But fret their hours away.
The more they have, they seek increase;
Complaints and cravings never cease.
A vale of tears this world they call,
To me it seems so fair;
It countless pleasures hath for all,
And none demand a tear.
The little birds on new-fledged wing,
And insects, revel in the spring.
For love of us, hills, woods, and plains
In beauties hues are clad;
And birds sing far and near sweet strains,
Caught up by echoes glad.
"Rise," sings the lark, "your tasks to ply!"
The nightingale sings "lullaby."
And when the golden sun goes forth,
And all like gold appears,
When bloom o'ercreeps the glowing earth,
And fields have ripening ears,
I think the glories that I see,
My kind Creator made for me.
Then loud I thank the Lord above,
And say in joyful mood,
His love, indeed, is Father's love,
He waits to all his creatures good.
Then let me ever grateful live,
Enjoying all he deigns to give.

Anecdotes.

An Irishman having accidentally broken a pane of glass in a window attempted as fast as he could to get out of the way: but he was followed and soon seized by the proprietor, who exclaimed, "You broke my window, fellow, did you not?"—"To be sure I did, and didn't you see me running home for the money to pay for it?"

A countryman sowing his ground, two smart fellows riding that way, one of them called to him with an insolent air, "Well, honest fellow, 'tis your business to sow, but we reap the fruits of your labor." To which the farmer replied, "It's very likely you may, for I am sowing hemp."

How dreadfully that cigar smells! exclaimed an individual to a companion, "why, it's an awful smelling thing."
"Oh, no; it's not the cigar that smells," was the reply.
"What is it then?" inquired Cushing.
"Why, it's your nose that smells, of course; that's what noses are made for."

"Here's your money, doll." Now, tell me why your scoundrelly master wrote me eighteen letters about that contemptible sum.
"I'm sure, sir, I can't tell, sir; but if you'll excuse me, sir, I think it was because seven-teen times didn't fetch it!"

George II., being informed that an impudent printer was to be punished for having published a spurious King's speech, replied, "I hope the man's punishment will be of the mildest sort, because I have read both, and as far as I understand either of them, I like the spurious speech better than my own."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD AND SOFT WOOD.
Quincy, June 11. 1y

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 8.

Dr. BUGBEE,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. I. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1y

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sickness.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
W. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILLS, HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNHAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 29 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAMCHOWDERS.
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick & Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852. 1y

GEO. SAVIL & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
[?] A complete assortment always on hand. [?]
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work.

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853.

KINGSBURY & EMERSON,
Counsellors at Law,
WYOMOUTH MASS.
F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.
One at Office, Hollis Institute Buildings, every Tuesday. SOUTH BRAINTREE, Mass. 2711
July 5.

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY ST. B.
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. 1y

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, April 24. 1y

Remnants of DeLaines.
A large lot for sale very low at
W. I. MUNROE'S.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bicks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
[?] Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly
attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23. 1y

INSURANCE.
Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER.
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSUR-ANCE BROKER.
ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office
Quincy; at No. 18 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16. 3m

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies sold in less than five months. A new and revised edition
just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medicinal Manual, and Hand-
Book for the Afflicted.
Containing an outline of the
origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self-
abuse, or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all
medical technicalities, and everything that would afflict the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S
MEDICAL MANUAL."—"The author of this work
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence." JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.
From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in which the skill and successful treatment of the author, in some instances where the patient had been considered by medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions of the prostate gland, by self-abuse or excess of venery, I do not know of his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the author for thirty years, and during that time, and in justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may place the greatest confidence."
AFFERED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Venereal Aque.
This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class
of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with little breath to puff, and with little presumption to impugnate, he has offered to the world, at a modest nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—HERALD.
"No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge."—PEOPLE'S AVOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says:—"Thousands
upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into
the habit of self pollution without realizing the
sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitution of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if
not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and instruct the public mind to check, and ultimately remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks), though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater source to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your cause, brother, in the good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, (secretly enveloped,) will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) CODDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Bookkeepers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.
Dr. Hoofland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous De-
bility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-ordered Stomach, Indigestion, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use these Bitters, which prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Bargains.
MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage
de Laines, Thin Dress Goods and Shavals, at the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite
Streets, Quincy.

The undersigned being desirous of closing the
balance of their Stock of
SUMMER GOODS,
will offer the same at a great discount from former
prices. Call and examine.
GEORGE SAVIL & CO.
Quincy, July 16. 1y

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured; the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitecomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dug-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Marston
of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Ranfall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston.
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., of Quincy.
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy.
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield.
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy.
Hon. Josiah Brigham, Esq., of Quincy.
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph.
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.
William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.
351.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article
ever invented. Manufactured for, and for
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

CAUTION.
The celebrity this article has so quickly obtained has induced persons, without authority, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be DAVIES'
LIQUID HAIR DYE; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus
John Davies

For the Complexion,
TOMPKIN'S Orange Flower Lotion, Pon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Ammoniac for Tan Scurf, &c. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, May 7. 1y

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by DANIEL BAXTER & CO.

Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all
with Meats of the very best quality. 1y
Quincy, April 2. 1y

Salt Pork,
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate article, wholesale or retail. 1y
Quincy, Oct. 8. 1y

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.

RADWAY & CO., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the Marvelous and Miraculous Power of stop-
ping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The R. R. Remedies consist of three Remedies, each possessing quick and wonderful powers over certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.
RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.
The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.

Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the sufferer from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
SICK HEADACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Burns, Scalds, Strains, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lamene-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.
IT CURES

Scrophula	Tumors	Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis	Consumption	St. Vitus Dance
Sores	Rickets	Salt Rheum
Asthma	Nodes	Canker
Bronchitis	Fever Sores	Rash
Ulcers	Erysipelas	Tetters

the above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.
It renovates the system completely, Resolving away from the Solids all impure Poisonous and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
HON. J. J. MIDDLETON of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 2d, 1853. "That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his negroes, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrophulous complaint, of many years standing. The negro fellow was a disgusting object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other negroes could not remain in the same place with him. None of the Doctors could do anything for him. He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger."

SCROFULA.
MR. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853, writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no
one would give a third for her life." she was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh of the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.

SALT RHEUM.
Mrs. HENRISSON, of Westford, Mass., has been cured by R. R. Resolvent.

The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-
VENT. One gentleman who supposed that his
complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth, was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and the
POISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADICATED
FROM HIS SYSTEM.

IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes sound, healthy and strong, weak, diseased and unsound parts.

WEAKNESS.
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and emaciated made strong, vigorous and healthy. Impotence and Nocturnal Emissions in men, or diseases of either one or more of the generative organs is quickly removed, and the body restored to a healthy and sound condition.

LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
In WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and the most NERVOUS,
GLOOMY and DEPRESSSED feel HEALTHY,
STRONG and HAPPY.

Persons wishing this Remedy will please ask for Radway's Renovating Resolvent. Its price is one Dollar per bottle. No small bottles, nor is the genuine ever sold for less. Each bottle bears the fine emblem signature of
RADWAY & CO.,
162 Fulton street, New York.

R. R. R.—No. 3.
RADWAY'S REGULATORS,
REGULATES TO A HEALTHY ACTION,
All the Organs and Secretions of the Body.

Restores to Health and Strength
THE DISEASED AND WORN OUT PARTS.
COMPLAINTS THAT RADWAY'S REGULATORS
ENTIRELY CURE.

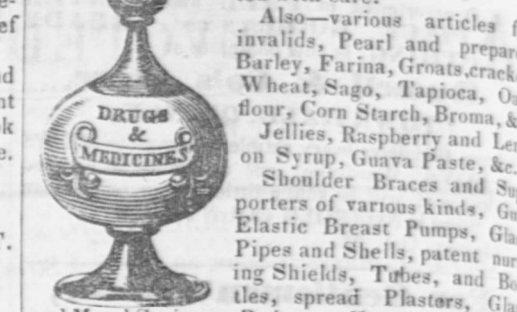

Costiveness	Liver Complaint
Indigestion	Heart
Dyspepsia	Kidney
Dropsy	Uterine
Dizziness	Inflammation of the Stomach
Stupor	Biliousness
	MELANCHOLY
	Measles
	Yellow Fever
	Typhoid Fever
	AND FEVERS OF ALL KINDS.
	Influenza
	Pleurisy
	Common Colds
	FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
	Irregularity
	Hysteria
	Whites
	Protruding Uterus
	Womb Difficulties
	Amenorrhoea
	LOSS OF APPETITE.
	Loss of Energy
	Loss of Memory
	Loss of Strength
	R. R. REGULATORS
	ARE ENTIRELY VEGETABLE,
	Perfectly Tasteless,
	Good at all times,
	Never Sickens,
	Never Grips.

DOSES.
ONE TO THREE—REGULATES.
FOUR TO SIX—PURGES.
One Regular at Night, on going to bed, will ensure sound sleep, a Good Night's Rest, and a Healthy and Pleasant Discharge from the Bowels
in the morning.

Radway's Regulators, Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, are sold by Druggists everywhere.
N. B. Persons troubled with Melancholy Depression of Spirits, and every body who feels themselves ill-used by the world without any just cause on their parts, should take a few doses of R.
R. Regulators. More unhappiness is caused with-
in us from the want of a healthy and regular action
of our organs, than from any external cause. We promise all who take Radway's Regulators, a regular action of the organs, and a cheerful and happy disposition.

RADWAY & CO.,
Fulton Street, N. Y.
AGENTS,
BURR & PERRY, 1 Cornhill, Boston.
MRS. E. HAYDEN, Quincy,
Aug. 13, 1853.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked
Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Outdoor, Corn Starch, Broom, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Len-
on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.
Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum
Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass
Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Teats, and Bottles, spread Plasters, &c.
and Metal Syringes, Red-pans, Horse-hair Mittens,
Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.
Fresh European Leeches always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and
attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st, rear of Stone Temple,
Quincy, Nov. 1. 451

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,
271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.

OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and
all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extreni-
ties, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficultes penitus to le-males, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c.
Also that impure condition of blood which not only
generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal malady.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use;
they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitat-
ing, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish cure of the above afflictions are invited to call. No charge for consultation.
J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st.
Boston, May 6, 1853. 52-43-1y

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1853.

NUMBER XLVII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over J. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required. No subscription not advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher. Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out. The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive for and requested to procure subscribers. JOSHUA BABCOCK, Quincy Railway. GEORGE H. LOCKE, "Stone Quarries. ORIN P. BACON, "Dorchester. FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth. JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington. SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate. FREEMAN HUNT, New York City. GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

The Skipper's Jack-at-a-Pinch.

This is a fact, and no poetic fable.—Byron.

About two o'clock of the afternoon of the day of May, 1807, four persons were assembled in the parlor of a house on the stage-road, ten or fifteen miles below Tarrytown. A gentleman of middle age, the master of the house, with his wife, and a beautiful daughter, were in colloquy with an individual of a dignified air, and singularly handsome countenance, about thirty years of age, who, with his valise in his hand, and his cloak on his arm, appeared accoutred for travelling. "I am truly sorry, Judge," said the host, "that we cannot detain you longer."

"We certainly expected you to remain another night with us," said the wife. "At least," said the daughter, with an engaging smile, "you will wait until the stage passes to-morrow noon."

"It is difficult, my friends," replied the stranger, "to resist invitations so pressing; and, as I have to turn to the daughter, if anything could induce me to forego my resolution, my dear young lady, it would be your solicitation: but I have been long absent from home. The circuit has been prolonged far beyond my expectations; and indispensable engagements hurry me away. If I recollect right," continued he, turning to the host, "there is a fishing hut on the river side, somewhere opposite us; and there was once a path which led down the mountain to the spot; be good enough to put me in the way to find it, and I will make for the station."

"It is passable only on foot, or on horse-back," said the host, "or I would take you down in the carriage; but there is an opening in the wood, just yonder which leads to the path; and, that once gained, you cannot go astray."

After many friendly greetings on all sides, the stranger made his bow, and departed. The path was found; and trudging onward, he soon emerged from the ravine above the beach, where a group of fishermen were waiting the proper time of tide, to resume their labors. A couple of skiffs were drawn up on the shore, near which the congregation were assembled.

"Whose skiffs are these?" asked the new comer, "I want to be put on board one of those vessels in sight."

There was a light wind blowing from the northwest; and the white sails of the river craft were seen far above and below—some nearly opposite, and some far distant. "This one," responded a fisherman, "is mine; but we can't spare time to put you on board, for it will soon be time for a haul."

"The other belongs to the person now coming up," said the stranger inquired, as the other came near enough, whether he could accommodate him with a passage on board.

"I can let you have the skiff," he answered; "but I am obliged to go up to the road. Here, however, are a couple of idlers, who will undoubtedly row you off, and bring back the boat."

The suggestion was adopted; the wherry was chartered, and the oarsmen engaged for the voyage. While the men were engaged in getting the boat in proper order, a woman made her appearance, dressed in a linsey-woolsey gown—not of the finest texture, or of the newest fashion, and none of the cleanest material. The face of this person was cast in the true Xanthippian mould, with eyes so horribly askew, that an operator for strabismus would have coveted her as a subject for his skill; and to crown the picture, the visage of the lady was of such a vinegar aspect, as to warrant the belief that she had fed on crab apples for a fortnight. Approaching the men, who were nearly ready to shove off, she accosted one of them thus:

"You're going off to them sloops, aren't you Jack? I don't care if I go along."

"I do, Mrs. Nox!" said the oarsman. "There will be two words to that bargain, that man, pointing to the stranger, who was coming down, 'has hired the skiff; and if he don't like your ugly mug better than I do, you won't get a passage this time.'"

The woman scowled in a fearful manner, but made no reply.

"You're going," she said, addressing the stranger, "aboard of them vessels. I want to go to York; and I can go aboard with you just as well as not?"

"Exactly so, madam," said the stranger; "step in."

The skiff had but three seats—two for the oarsmen, and the stern sheets, built sufficiently broad to take two persons abreast. The stranger, with his valise on his knee, took one side, and the woman with a very unsightly bundle in her lap, the other; and off shot the wherry into the stream, towards the nearest vessel. The stranger waved a pocket handkerchief as a signal; and the skipper, putting his helm down and hauling aft his main sheet, bore up for the skiff. But as soon as he got near enough for fair scrutiny, he exclaimed:

"Up helm, Joe! Square away? Them's no customers for me!"

"By Jolly, I thought so!" said the oarsman, who had rebuffed Mrs. Nox—Mrs. Erebus, she might have been better named—as she cast a midnight glance at the offender. A second vessel was tried with no better effect, a third with like success; at length a Tarrytown answerer the signal, and took them on board.

By this time it was near sundown; and, as they got upon the deck, the skipper addressed the stranger thus:

"I don't know how I'm to accommodate you and your woman with berths and bedding; and I'm afraid you won't fare very well for supper, for my cook got on a spree ashore, and we are obliged to leave him. However, the mate and I, who are all hands now, will cook up something or other."

The stranger had walked aft, and the woman was sitting near the hatchway, when the captain addressed her in an undertone, which yet was heard on the quarter deck:

"That 'ere's your man, I take it?" said he, pointing over his shoulder.

"He aint no such thing!" said the woman, bridling up; "my man is rather a guess sort of fellow from him. I only got that 'ere chap to put me on board."

The captain now accosted his other passenger:

"This aint your woman, I find?"

"O, no!" was the reply; "only a chance passenger."

"I thought you was queerly yeked, when I first saw you, said the captain. I'm thinking I shall give you the old sail, which is the only thing to sleep on on board, and let her have the soft side of the plank I was going to give you."

"By no means! Give the poor woman the best accommodation you can. As for me I shall do well enough."

The wind was falling, the tide turned, and the sloop was brought to an anchor—the jib hauled down, the main sail left standing, skipper fashion—when the captain, and his adjutant made preparation for reflection.

"I say, ma'am," said the captain, "I've a notion that you can lend us a lift with this ere supper?"

"I shan't do no such thing," was the reply. "I expect to pay for my passage; and if you have got any supper to get, get it yourself."

The captain did not outdo the Niblos or Delmonicos of the time; and his beef steaks, fried in—the Lord knows what—fell far short of those of old Baker, of the City Tavern, in Wall street, in tenderness. Nor was the wherry of the first quality, or the sugar of the whitest; and, although the lady grumbled, the stranger took everything kindly.

When it was time to retire, the lady took possession of the best berth and the old sail, while the stranger, wrapped in his cloak, turned in, in the gite, pis alter that remained.

It was past midnight, when, from a horrid dream that he was undergoing the peine forte et dure, (so indurate was even the soft side of the plank the captain spoke of), that that functionary shook him rudely enough by the shoulder, and awoke him from his slumber.

"I say mister, aint you a doctor?"

A negative was returned. "I'm sorry for it," he continued. Here's my mate has got the awfulest stomach ache ever man had. I was in hopes you was ever man had. I was in hopes you was something in those saddle bags, which might do him good. Do see if you can't help him."

Writing in great agony, and groaning heavily.

"Have you gin and peppermint on board?" he asked.

"Yes," responded the captain. "I've tried that and it don't help him."

"Have you any pearl-ashes, then, he inquired."

"Oh, yes!" answered the captain; "I always keep that. With hard cider, in a morning, it's a capital drink."

"Well, then," said the stranger, "bring it and get some hot water, as quickly as you can."

"The kettle must have boiled by this time," said the captain, "for I put it on some time ago; and going forward to the caboose, he returned with the necessary ingredients for a drench."

Putting the proper quantity of alkali into a pint mug, and pouring the water upon it, leaving sufficient 'skylight' for the infusion of due measure of scheidam, sweetening the dose, and qualifying it with peppermint, the stranger administered the potion to his patient, which, in a short time, essentially relieved him; and dose number two, half an hour afterwards, having been imbibed, the sufferer, who was entirely prostrated by the pain, fell into a quiet slumber.

The stranger now again turned in; and had scarcely gotten into a dream, as uneasy as the first, before the captain was again at his side.

"Mister," said he, "the tide is now high flood and there is a smart breeze getting up; I want to get under weigh, and Higgins here is too sick to help. Now, do just get up, and haul in the slack, while I rouse up the anchor—do, that's a good fellow!"

The passenger was not obdurate; and after proper application and the usual 'Yo! heave ho!' at the windlass, the ring of the anchor was hove chock to the haule-holes, the jib was hoisted, and the sloop was tearing down before it.

The passenger again resumed his berth, where he remained until the day had broken, when the captain once more made his appearance.

"I say mister," said he, "the wind has chopped about; I want a hand to tend jib-sheet—Higgins can't do it; so just you bear a hand and help me and a few stretches will bring us up with the dock."

Up got the passenger, and took the station assigned him, performing his duty with great alacrity; receiving the orders, "hand aft!" "pull away!" "pull away!" "another pull and belay!"—at every tack; and, by dint of hard labor on his part, and good steering on the part of the captain, they got into the slip and let run the halyards.

"Now heave'em a rope!" shouted the captain. "Bear a hand!—now haul in!—haul in!"

These orders were promptly obeyed; and the sloop was safe in the dock. While the captain was stowing the sails, the stranger went below, and soon returned in his cloak—valise in hand.

"Well, captain," he asked, "what is to pay?"

"Pay!" said the skipper; "if there's anything to pay, I'm the chap that's got to do it, so Mister, just tell us what's the damage, and I'll shell out directly—and thank you into the bargain. I never want a better Jack-at-a-pinch, than you are. Just say how much and here it is."

"Poh! poh!" said the stranger, "you are welcome to all I have done; but I must pay for my passage. Is this enough?" handing him a bank note.

"Why, this here," said the captain, looking at the note, "is five times as much as I should have charged you, if nothing had happened; but if you say take it, I will thank you kindly. And now Mister, I should like to know where you live, and what your trade is, if it ain't asking too much?"

"I have been a lawyer, and live hereabouts," said the stranger.

"Well, one thing more, and I hope you won't think me too sassy; do tell me your name?"

"Tompkins," was the reply.

"Where from?"

"Westchester."

No relation to 'Squire Caleb Tompkins, up here?"

"Only his brother," was the response.

"His brother!—Caleb Tompkins' brother," said the captain, agast. "Why you can't be Daniel D?"

"Nonsense!" said the governor; "come shake hands, for I must be off," and held out his hand.

The captain, somewhat, hesitatingly, seized the proffered hand in both his, and squeezed it quite hard enough for the comfort of the owner.

"Well," said he, "I've always voted for you whenever you have been up; and, last April, I, and five brothers, gave you a plumper for governor, and if any one of my kith or kin ever votes for anybody else, as long as you are going to stand, call me a flunkey, that's all!"

There is no doubt that the skipper kept his word, and voted ever after for 'The Farmer's Boy;' and there are few who ever held such close communion with Daniel D. Tompkins, that ever bolted at an election when he was a candidate.

The Turkish Empire.

The frequent use of the words "Sultan," "Porte," &c. &c., in the newspapers publishing accounts of affairs in Turkey at the present time, are erroneously understood by many persons.

"The Sublime Porte" is the official title of the Government of the Ottoman Empire, and not the title of any officer of the government, as many suppose it to be.

The Ottoman Emperor is called Sultan, or Grand Sultan, or Grand Seignior, according to the fancy of the person speaking or writing. They all mean the same thing.

Pacha is Governor of a province, and according to the importance of his province, he is distinguished by one, two or three tails. Every Pacha has his own army in his own province, distinct from the grand army of the empire. A Pacha of three tails has the power to punish with death any agent whom he employs, or any individual who seems to threaten the general safety.

Beys is a sub-governor under the Pacha. The Divan is the Council of State, and consists of the principal ministers.

The Reis Effendi is high chancellor of the empire, and stands at the head of all the body of attorneys—whose body is thought to contain the best informed men of the nation.

Cadi is a sort of judge or justice of the peace. To order the bastinado on common people, to impose a fine on a rich Greek or European, to condemn a thief to be hanged, is about all of the duty of an ordinary Cadi.

The power of the Sultan is absolute. He appoints and displaces at his pleasure all the great civil and military functionaries, and is master of their lives and fortunes. When any state officer dies, whatever he possesses at his death goes into the pocket of the Sultan, who is also master of the lives and fortunes of every subject, and when any one dies without male issue, he becomes heir to the estate. In case there are sons, he claims only one-tenth, and the sons retain the other nine-tenths. But they do not own anything of it—no man can own or hold any right in fee simple to any inherited property. He is only a tenant for life, and the Sultan's claim comes in at every man's death. The clerks of the Grand Treasury make their own valuation in settling estates, and at as high a rate as they please; it often happens that what is left after their one-tenth is gone, is almost valueless.

In the cities and large towns the Grand Seignior is curtailed in the exercise of his unlimited authority, by the presence of so many well-informed persons as there always is in cities, and through whose influence he expects to gain favor and credit in time of need.

A secret police in the pay of the Emperor is usually abroad, and the smallest pretences are enough to confiscate a citizen's property.

The people, when they choose to rebel against their tyrants, set the city on fire, and almost always find support in the jealousy of some disappointed or ambitious persons of influence, and sometimes in the indignant protest of some powerful individual.

In the political state every man who is invested with power is at liberty to delegate that power entirely to another; thus the Sultan is vicergerent of the prophet. Every Pacha is representative of the Sultan, and the Bey is representative of the Pacha, and so on, in military progression, till every soldier who carries an order has his authority, thus multiplying oppression, which falls heavily on all classes.

All public places and employments are openly given to the highest bidder. Thus a Pacha having paid high for his office, in his turn disposes of those in his line, to those offering the highest price, taking care to indemnify himself at the expense of those under him. The same system prevails all Turkish society—the least favor or service conferred must be purchased by presents. Even the sentence of the Cadi and declaration of witnesses are purchased in the same way. This system is the more dreadful as every grade of Judges pronounce sentence from which there is no appeal.

The present Sultan is said to be a high-minded man, and in favor of reforming many of the abuses of his government. There is room enough, certainly.—Boston Transcript.

"Whatever is, is Right"

Mother, weep not that thy dear babe is removed from the world by death. It was thy first one, and dearer to thee than thy life—Had it been suffered to live to mature years, perhaps, by its great errors and vices, thy heart would have been torn with many bitter pangs of sorrow. An over-ruling and all-wise Power hath seen fit, by inflicting upon thee one deep sorrow, to spare thee many; and by calling to himself the soul of thy loved one, at this early period of its existence when it was, or have been fitted therefore, to cause it to enjoy endless years of happiness. Calm thy feelings, and prepare to meet it in heaven.

Wife, mourn not that thy husband—children, mourn not that thy father hath been taken from thee, forever, and thou art left in poverty to combat without his help the cold and cruel world. The "Father of the fatherless, and Judge of the widows," hath a design in this, though unseen by you. Trust in him—cry unto Him and He will hear thee, provide for thee and lead thee safely onward, in the way thou oughtest to go.

Father, grieve not for the death of thy son, to whom thou hast looked as thy supporter and comforter, when the infirmities of old age should render thee unable to support thyself. Be assured that it is best, either for him, or you, or both. Look unto God, and he will raise up for you a sufficient helper. Confide now in His wisdom power, let thy gray hairs go down to the grave blessing and praising the Almighty.

Oh! thou who hast lost all thy worldly goods, and art possessed of heavenly treasures, prize them the higher. It may be that this loss hath saved thee from the knife of the midnight robber. It may be that it hath saved thy cherished ones from vices, and future crimes. It may have been designed for thy trial. Be more zealous, therefore, in serving the Ruler of the universe. If, notwithstanding thy afflictions, thou art faithful, though they may not be made up to thee in this world, yet in the next thou shalt receive a crown of glory that fadeeth not away. Oh! thou! who has lost all thy worldly goods and art not possessed of heavenly treasures, let this loss teach thee to turn thy thoughts and energies to laying up treasures "Where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through and steal."

Likely it was designed to teach vanity the evanescence of all earthly things. Oh! heed its warning, and turn from the error of thy ways while to thee, so to do, time and opportunity are allotted.

Oh! thou! of whatever rank or condition, though misfortunes and troubles crowd thickly upon you, be not cast down. "Man is born to trouble," but there is an over-ruling Power that orders all things aright. Without his permission, not the least harm can happen to even one of the weakest of his creatures. If he permits that any one—yes, that anything suffers a present tribulation, it is in order that a future good may come. Let not thy thoughts be circumscribed by the narrow present; but send them forth into the distant future, and there behold blessings in store for thee. Let not thy thoughts be circumscribed by the narrow circle of self; but let them be extended over the whole universe.

"Great in his wisdom, great in his survey." "Great in his wisdom, great in his survey."

Consider the perfect fitness, adaptation, and necessity of all things; feel thy own weakness, and be satisfied that though God rules in a mysterious way, yet that He so rules that "whatever is, is right."

Mental Powers Preserved.

Fatuity from old age cannot be cured; but it may be prevented by employing the mind constantly in reading and in conversation in the evening of life. Dr Johnson ascribes the fatuity of Dean Swift to two causes; first, to a resolution made in his youth that he would never wear spectacles, from the want of which he was unable to read in the decline of life; and second, to his aversion, which led him to abscond from visitors, or to deny himself to company, by which means he deprived himself of the only two methods by which new ideas are acquired, or old ones renovated. His mind languished from want of exercise, and gradually collapsed into idleness in which state he spent the close of his life, in a hospital founded by himself for persons afflicted with the same disorder, of which he finally died.

Country people, when they have no relief for books; when they lose the ability to work, to go abroad, from age or weakness, are very apt to become fatigued; especially as they are too often deserted in their old age by the younger branches of their families; in consequence of which their minds become torpid from want of society and conversation. Fatuity is more rare in cities than in country places, only because society and conversation can be had in them on more easy terms, and it is less common among women than men, only because their employments are of such a nature as admit of their being carried on by their firesides, and in a sedentary posture.

The illustrious Dr. Franklin exhibited a striking instance of the influence of reading, writing, and conversation, in prolonging a sound and active state of all the faculties of the mind. In his eighty-fourth year, he discovered no one mark in any of them of the weakness or decay usually observed in the minds of persons at that advanced period of life.—Dr. Rush.

A Proclamation for Thanksgiving.

With each return of the season in which the people of Massachusetts have been accustomed, from the earliest period, to set apart a day for the public recognition of the Divine source of all their prosperity and happiness, the propriety and value of such an observance is the more deeply impressed upon every thoughtful mind, and upon every grateful heart. As a Christian people we cannot fail to recognize its fitness, or cease to invest it with all the reality of a living interest, arising out of the remembrance of our manifold public and private blessings. Each year brings its added causes of gratitude to enrich the substantial meaning of this day, and to make us welcome, with devout hearts, the return of the domestic and religious festival of our Commonwealth.

I do, therefore, with the advice and consent of the Council, appoint THURSDAY, the twenty-fourth day of November next, to be observed by the people of this Commonwealth, as a day of Public Thanksgiving and Praise.

And I respectfully invite them on that day to suspend their ordinary labors, and to assemble in their respective places of worship, to offer to the Great Ruler of the Universe their united thanksgiving, for the signal mercies with which, in the midst of our great unworthiness, He has visited us during the year that is past.

That notwithstanding our habitual presumption and self-reliance, and our frequent forgetfulness of the great truth, that without Him we are nothing, and can do nothing, He has been pleased to continue to us the inestimable privileges of civil and religious freedom.

That in the gracious ordering of His Providence, by which "He has set the solitary in families," He has preserved for us, amidst the temptations to evil by which we are surrounded, the compensating influence of numerous Homes, whose varied fortunes are wisely planned to mould our nobler powers, and fit us for a higher and better life.

That it has pleased Him to avert from these Homes the invisible contagion which has visited so many other places in our land, to leave them desolate; and while our sympathies are awakened, and our supplications arise in behalf of our stricken countrymen, let us turn with devout thanksgiving to him who has graciously spared us from the "pestilence that walketh in darkness and the destruction that wasteth at noonday."

That it has also pleased Him to reward abundantly the labors of our people, in all their varied spheres of usefulness; that they have been signally prospered in the field, the factory, the workshop and upon the sea.

That he has so guided the national councils, and so regulated the actions of all those to whom places of public trust and responsibility have been committed, as to preserve to our beloved country the blessings of honorable Peace, and of public security, amidst the agitations and uncertainties that have disturbed the internal and international relations of other states.

That He has given to our keeping, and made clear to, our consciences, those precious principles of Liberty which secure our own prosperity, and which are yet destined, by wisdom and prudence, to bless and elevate the people of all other lands.

That He still bountifully favors all the institutions of Religion and Education, and every endowment of Benevolence; and that we are permitted gratefully to witness the constant enlargement of the dominions of Knowledge, Charity and Art, which have ever made this Commonwealth the object of our love and pride.

In the decorous and devout observance of the day, may we fervently and unitedly offer up our sincere thanksgiving for all those tokens of His goodness, and be prompted thereby to increased efforts to make ourselves more worthy of their continuance to us, as the citizens of a favored and Christian Commonwealth.

JOHN H. CURRIER.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Out-floer, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tutors, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st, near Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45tf

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN.

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON. OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, diarrhoea, pain in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that improve condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use; they are non-poisonous—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont St. (opposite Hollis St.) BOSTON. Boston, May 6, 1853. 52 43—ly

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON.

It is desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body desirous of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incomparable magnificence of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle, firm, useful, and easy to be worn—from $35.00 to 75.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from $2.00 to 40.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from 1.50 to 3.50 per month. For setting on gold, silver or wood pieces—from 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 25 cents to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform ether, 50 cents; without it, 25 cents. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 23 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston. Feb. 7, 1853. 11—Dimes

Drugs and Dye Stuffs! SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can always find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE, and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Turmeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground and Extract Logwood, Copal, Gamboge, and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Bonnet Glue, American and English Putty, Starch, Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Annatto, Gumboge, Salts of Tartar, Nicotiana, Madder and Turkey Umber, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Potash, Stone, Salt Petre Carb, and Liquid Ammonia, &c. GEORGE W. WHITING. Quincy, Sept. 3. 41

Cure for the Whooping Cough! BY THE USE OF MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE.

It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease. For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for its sale.

Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Hollis Street, Boston, (opposite Dr. Moore's,) who on whose signature upon each bottle, none is genuine.

It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Hoarseness. W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent. Sept. 24. 3m

Lovel's Walpene.

An Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color. With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 25. 4f

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

This is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Bile, Blandine, Watergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with hyalinate of potassa, now in great request for purifying the blood and removing humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Liver, and eruptions occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared on scientific principles, is highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store by GEO. W. WHITING. Price 50 cents per bottle. Quincy, Sept. 24. 4f

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, November 19, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

The Election.

The election is over. The new Constitution has gone by the board and the coalition dispersed. The contest was hard and the event of it not to be wondered at. The Whig Party as a party opposed it, the great body of the Catholics opposed it, the letter of Gen. Cushing and through that the General Government opposed it, and last of all, just on the eve of the election, John G. Palfrey, Samuel Hoar, Marcus Morton, Charles Goodrich and Charles F. Adams opposed it. It would require an engine of tremendous power to push through such forces. The coalition was unequal to it.

In this town the vote was light. The vote of the Catholics alone determined the cause against the Reformers—so called. The National Democrats also went against the Constitution.

The new Constitution being dead and the coalition defeated, what is to be done?

Official Vote of Quincy.

FOR GOVERNOR.
Whole number of ballots,	539
Emory Washburn had	264
Henry W. Bishop,	156
Henry Wilson,	116
Bradford L. Wales,	69
John G. Palfrey,	1
John A. Green,	1
Charles S. French,	1

FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR.
Whole number of ballots,	539
William C. Plunkett had	265
Levi A. Dowley,	157
Amasa Walker,	117
George Osborn,	59
Albion Dearborn,	1

CONSTITUTIONAL PROPOSITIONS.
No. 1	Yes. 239 No. 29
No. 2	Yes. 239 No. 37
No. 3	Yes. 230 No. 364
No. 4	Yes. 239 No. 356
No. 5	Yes. 250 No. 345
No. 6	Yes. 256 No. 33
No. 7	Yes. 237 No. 358
No. 8	Yes. 234 No. 359

FOR SENATORS.
Whole number of ballots,	631
William Aspinwall had	242
Calvin Fisher, Jr.,	308
John W. Lord,	308
Francis W. Bird,	240
Joseph W. Robertson,	214
James Bartlett,	283
Ezra Wilkinson,	5
Thomas J. Dunbar,	9
Bradford S. Farrington,	43
Joseph G. Brackett,	2
William S. Morton,	7
Washington M. French,	2
Wm. B. Dugan, James M. Beckford,
William Underwood, William G. Appleton,
William Richardson, Benj. V. French, George White, 1 each.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES.
Whole number of Ballots,	593
Bryant B. Newcomb, Whit	248
Thomas C. Webb,	255
George White,	182
Thomas Curtis,	121
Charles Marsh, Free-soil	115
Henry Barker,	123
Noah Cummings, Whig	45
Jonathan Jameson, Nat. Dem.	45
Lewis Curtis,	49
Charles F. Adams, Free-soil,	2
Wymen Abercrombie,	2
Doctor French, Elvot, B. Henscy, Cliff Rogers, Perez Chubbuck, Francis M. Johnson, Gideon F. Thayer, Adam Curtis, Wm. Morton, Lewis Bass, 1 each.

The Adams Literary Association.

This association is in a flourishing condition. It has a large number of members—taken from all occupations except professional. Much interest is felt in the proceedings and debates, and much improvement cannot but be the result. It has a small library and a commodious and pleasant hall. The great desideratum is a respectable library—respectable in number and selections.

The members are about to make another appeal to the community for assistance. They propose to enlarge their library and add to the decoration of the hall. To effect this they expect the aid of the ladies. It is proposed to hold a Fair about the middle of next month, of which due notice will be given.

In the meanwhile, we hope the ladies and all who take an interest in the success of an institution having such laudable objects as the benefit and improvement of young men, will busy themselves in preparations for the Fair. There will be speaking and music on the occasion.

FURNITURE ROOMS IN QUINCY. A visit is invited to the well-fitted and enlarged apartments of C. Packard, next building to the Orthodox Church, in this town, devoted exclusively for the reception of Furniture and Upholstery Goods. His stock embraces a good and judiciously selected assortment of well-made and fashionable articles of Rosewood, Black Walnut, Mahogany, etc., to which he is receiving constant additions. In the Upholstery line, he keeps all the various articles, and sells at very moderate prices. Those who are about purchasing are requested to call and examine, as all articles are warranted as represented.

Quincy Charitable Society.

The annual meeting of this Society was held on Monday, the 7th inst., and the following officers for the year ensuing, were elected, viz:—

President—Gideon F. Thayer;
Vice President—Rev. Nelson Clark;
Secretary—Eunice Lord;
Treasurer—Mary M. Frederick;

Directors—Rev. W. W. Dean, George White, Mrs. Benj. Curtis, Mrs. John Faxon, Miss Hannah Spear, Mrs. H. N. Glover, Miss Ann Curtis, and Mrs. Mary B. Faxon.

Mrs. Benjamin Curtis, Mrs. Eleazer Frederick, and Mrs. M. P. Glover, declined a reelection.

This association continues to move on in its quiet and benevolent course, like the meadow streamlet, known chiefly by the greater verdure and cheerfulness it produces in its track.

It knows not sect nor party, nor foreigner nor native; it simply asks of the needy and the sufferer, "are you worthy and in want?"—Can you help yourself, or is it beyond your power?" and acts upon the information gained.

Its almoners, the Directors, visit the abodes of the applicants, to verify by their own observation, the statements they have received, and lose no time in applying the aid in their power, whenever they are satisfied as to the character of the case.

The beneficiaries hitherto have been principally the aged and infirm, the sick, the widow, the orphan, and those who, by a little present aid, may be kept out of the almshouse. The same classes will continue to receive assistance from the society, on application being made to any of the Directors; and it is hoped that our townsmen will be liberal in furnishing the means necessary to carry into effect the objects for which the society was formed.

From the Treasurer's Report for the last year, it appears that the receipts from monthly contributions were $89.00, and the disbursements $88.93.

THE RESULT. There has been no election of Governor by the people.

Of the 21 members of the Senate chosen—11 are wings and 10 coalitionists—leaving 10 vacancies.

To the House have been elected as far as returns received—152 wings, 84 coalitionists, 7 nationals, and there are 184 vacancies.

CATHOLIC CHURCH. This new edifice, and the second of the kind, styled St. John the Baptist, in this town, was dedicated on Sunday last, Rev. Bishop Fitzpatrick officiating. About one hundred and fifty persons received the sacrament of confirmation.

THANK-GIVING.—The younger portion of our dancing community are preparing to sport "the light fantastic toe," at the Hancock House hall, on Thursday evening next. The musicians, managers, and Col. French, will do all in their power to make it a happy occasion. Attend it, ye gay ones!

THE LYCEUM.—Wendell Phillips, one of the most graceful and accomplished orators among our modern lecturers, is to entertain and instruct us on Tuesday next—when, we trust, every seat in the Town Hall will be occupied.

THANKSGIVING. Next Thursday will be observed in sixteen States as this time-honored festival.

We are thinking of our particular friends, and of a good turkey.

Let all our citizens take note of Dodge's advertisement. To those who have once attended there is no need of a word, but to those who never have, we will say go and judge for yourselves. We promise you a rich treat. Dodge and his Bards certainly will delight you. There is no humbug in this.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

Mr. Editor:—Do you know that I think the Directors of the Lyceum ought to send you and I a free pass? It's true I don't just like the idea of being a "dead-head," but as everything "is rizz" now, I think we ought not to be expected to "burn the midnight oil," rub off all our hair in the search of ideas, and use up all the oleaginous secretions of the finger joints, simply to fill the Town hall full to a pack, for the benefit of the Lyceum. I really think they ought not to expect it, and if they don't take some notice of us, let's make a strike.

All the rigolettes, "Mary Stearnts," and other "infernal machines" now used by the ladies to wrap their ears in, and ensnare hearts with, all the curls, "boudoines," puffs and "Jenny Linds," with their attendant humble servants in "Bay States" and plaids, belonging to Quincy, together with a few of the solid men and women, were congregated, last Thursday evening, to hear the lecture of Mr. Alger. I am, as you know, no politician, yet as I looked around the hall, I could pick out every whig, free-soiler, or democrat present by the expression of the face. The former were decidedly "open countenanced," while each of the latter were "long-favored," their speaking eyes telling more than tongue dare.

For the Patriot.

QUERY.—Did "Joseph" fall 72 votes behind his party? If so, how came it to pass? for we all know every smart piece of brass labored hard for him. Who got the money?

utter. This last remark is by the way of parenthesis, and may be omitted by the general reader.

But what about the lecture? Certainly nothing original or startling; no brilliant thoughts or new ideas, but merely a "sketch of the life and character of Peter the Great." From your puff, Mr. Editor, I had my expectations greatly excited, and with open mouth and eager ears awaited the promised feast.—I did not get it, for while the lecture was instructive, it contained nothing more than may be purchased for a small silver piece at any book-store. There was an historical review of the leading events in the life of the great founder of the Russian power, interlarded with a few pretty comments, an occasional reflection of some point and a concluding moral. The style of composition was a little too ambitious, but still the lecturer truly pronounced his production a mere "sketch."

Now I like historical lectures, but I want a little more than mere historical fact. The province of the lecturer is to "point the moral and adorn" by illustration, and comparison, the dry detail of history. To teach us how to live rightly by emulating the good of the past, and avoiding the evil; to fathom the motives and trover the results of those deeds which fill the page of history. I may be mistaken in this idea. If I am, then the lecture on Tuesday evening was a model historical lecture; if I am not mistaken in this, then it was a very pretty written, pleasing "sketch," making no deep or lasting impression, yet leaving a vague, indefinite sensation of pleasure. This latter may be caused by the "lingering music" of a sweet, but by no means powerful voice, which utters distinctly and roundly, with a nice discrimination of emphasis, each syllable of each word. Mr. Alger's manner is always earnest and impressive; his action, simple and often graceful, but not unwholly angular and constrained.

On the whole, I was pleased with the lecture and the lecturer, as we doubt not was every person present, for Mr. Alger's prepossessing appearance, sweet voice and earnest manner will ever make him acceptable in the lecture-room. Yours, LESHMANHAGO.

For the Quincy Patriot.

The Result.

Mr. Editor:—Although you profess to be on the side of the political hedge opposite to me, I cannot forbear to congratulate you as well as myself, the town, the Commonwealth, and the country, on the glorious result of Monday's vote! I allude not to the gubernatorial election, nor to that of Representatives or Senators; but to the vote on the New Constitution—a question not of party, but one in magnitude beyond all comparison with any party question, or the election of any party men! for its influence is to act on ages to come.

I feel a sense of profound gratitude to the Good Being who has over-ruled this attempt of ambitious men to strike a ruinous blow at the welfare, respectability, and integrity of our beloved State; and next to Him, to those honest and firm men of other political creeds, who have so nobly and effectually raised their voices in the cause of justice and their country's good! To them are the people of this Commonwealth largely indebted, for coming to the rescue in a time of such imminent peril, and I trust this debt will neither be repudiated nor forgotten! One individual—at least—will remember it with lively sensations of thankfulness, while his pen has power to move or his tongue to utter his obligations!

QUINCY, too! our honored town, which has so often mortified us by its election returns, how has it redeemed its character in the noble stand it assumed on Monday last! How strong a plea has it made to our admiration and our love for its patriotic action in the dread hour of danger to our dearest rights!

WEBSTER.

THE MONK'S REVENGE; OR, THE SECRET ENEMY. This is the title of an excellent romance just received from the enterprising firm of De Witt & Davenport of New York City, whose books have at least one quality to recommend them, and that is the clear and handsome style in which they are got up.

We should think, if a book will not pay to have it put before the public in a decent garb, it better remain unpublished, for we are truly sick of the miserable specimens of workmanship which we occasionally receive, and are expected to read. The incidents of this romance belong to an age when men earned renown only on the battle-field, and sought repose only in the lap of beauty. The Christian and Pagan hosts, are here brought vividly before the reader, and their desperate encounters are rendered more sanguinary and ruthless by the influence of fanaticism. It is a well-written book, by a popular author, and lacks none of the more prominent elements of success. It furnishes an admirable portraiture of the times when religious enthusiasm led whole countries to enlist under the banners of the Cross, and wage exterminating war in the name of the Holy Church.

Terms of Tuition.

Gentlemen, $2 00. Ladies, 1 00 Quincy, Oct. 29.

THE Equality Boys will meet at Maj. French's this evening at 7 o'clock.

Per Order of JOHN.

$2 for $11. MAKE MONEY! A chance for a "specie!" All persons in favor of forming a Mutual Loan Company, or in other words all in favor of having their money accumulate fast will please meet at the Lyceum Room, on Monday evening, Nov. 21, at 7 o'clock.—All come.

For the Patriot.

QUERY.—Did "Joseph" fall 72 votes behind his party? If so, how came it to pass? for we all know every smart piece of brass labored hard for him. Who got the money?

HELEN MUGRAVE; OR, JESUIT EXECUTORSHIP. There is, probably, no class of works which so entirely absorb the attention, and imbue the mind with the lessons they inculcate, as those which portray, in clear and natural language, without any attempt at rhetorical flourishes, or constrained effort at effect, incidents in the eventful history of some persons of whom we can say to ourselves, "this is just like Mr. or Mrs. So-and-So." It is their very naturalness which constitutes their charm. For with books as with persons—to be admired they must be natural; it was this feature which created such enthusiasm in favor of the works of Currer Bell, and were they divested of this peculiar characteristic, they would be robbed of all that interested us. We are led to make these remarks from the perusal of the excellent work, the title of which is given above, and are really glad that our friends De Witt & Davenport of New York City, have been so fortunate in enlisting the pens of such clever writers as Miss Sinclair and the author of this work. We would advise our readers to procure this work, for we are assured that it will prove a profitable investment of both time and money.

One of the heaviest catalogues of murder ever placed before a criminal court in New York City, has recently been opened. It includes eighteen persons to be tried for twelve murders, and two persons charged in other cases are yet at large.

The musk-rats in Canada are busily engaged in fortifying their houses against the attacks of frost. This betokens, says the Montreal Herald, a very severe winter.

It is reported by the Chief of Police, that there are (325) places where liquor is sold in New York City, and that of these, nearly two thousand are unlicensed, and almost five thousand keep open on Sunday, in defiance of both law and gospel.

Special Notices.

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

The following is the order for November: On Tuesday, the 1st, Introductory, by Hon. JOSTIN QUINCY, Jr.

On Tuesday, the 8th, lecture on France, by Hon. GEORGE SUMNER.

On Tuesday, the 15th, lecture on Peter the Great, by Rev. W. R. ALGER.

On Tuesday, the 22d, lecture on Social Life in Europe, by WENDELL PHILLIPS, Esq.

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESPERNIER.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them positively), and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring, viz:—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lothrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus R. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22, 1853.

NOTICE. Tickets admitting persons to the course of Lectures to be delivered before the Quincy Lyceum the coming season, may be had, on and after Monday evening next, of Mr. George L. Gill, at the Quincy Bookstore, and of the Secretary of the Society.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

Per order of the Directors.

SINGING SCHOOL. It is proposed to open a class in the rudiments of Singing, to consist of twenty-four lessons, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, Nov. 2d, at Franklin Hall, under the instruction of Mr. Francis Bates of Weymouth, and all desirous of attending are requested to be present on said evening in order that it may be determined whether to continue the School.

"The Carmina Sacra" will be used; and persons having this Singing book are requested to bring it with them.

Terms of Tuition.

Gentlemen, $2 00. Ladies, 1 00 Quincy, Oct. 29.

THE Equality Boys will meet at Maj. French's this evening at 7 o'clock.

Per Order of JOHN.

$2 for $11. MAKE MONEY! A chance for a "specie!" All persons in favor of forming a Mutual Loan Company, or in other words all in favor of having their money accumulate fast will please meet at the Lyceum Room, on Monday evening, Nov. 21, at 7 o'clock.—All come.

For the Patriot.

QUERY.—Did "Joseph" fall 72 votes behind his party? If so, how came it to pass? for we all know every smart piece of brass labored hard for him. Who got the money?

FURNITURE

At Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Nov. 22d, at 2 o'clock P. M., in the basement room, Goodnow's Building, a variety of Household Furniture, consisting of the following articles: 1 Sofa, 1 Secretary, 1 Bureau, Tables, Chairs, Bedsteads, Feather Beds, Mattresses, Bedding, Carpets, Looking-glasses, Cooking Stove, Parlor Stove, Crockery, and a variety of articles, too numerous to particularize. Also—will be sold, immediately after the sale of Furniture, 1 spotted Mare, seven years old, and weighing about 1000 lbs. Said mare is sound and kind in any harness, and will travel ten miles an hour with ease. 1 Top Buggy, 1 Covered Wagon, nearly new. 1 Sleigh, 2 Harnesses, 1 Saddle, 1 Riding Bridle, and sundry other articles. GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auctioneer. Quincy, November 19.

Wood and Land, AT AUCTION!

WILL be sold at public auction, on WEDNESDAY, the 23d day of Nov., inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., a large quantity of excellent WOOD, principally oak, standing on Land of Good Veazie, near Long Swamp, on the Label Road. The Wood is of large growth, and will afford a good opportunity to purchase good market Wood, and Fencing Stuff. After the sale of the Wood, the Land consisting of nine acres, will be sold. Enquire of LEWIS BASS. EBENEZER ADAMS, Auctioneer. Quincy, November 19.

Citizens of Quincy, ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling. Also—one case Women's extra Para Rubbers. GEO. B. NIGHTINGALE.

N. B. On Tuesday evenings, my store will be closed at 7 1/2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum. Quincy, Nov. 19.

Traders

WILL find Blank Books, Order, Pass, Receipt, Note and Bill Books; Letter Paper of all qualities, Bill Paper, Envelopes, best Ink, Steel Pens, at the lowest wholesale prices at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, Nov. 19.

SOMERVILLE'S Stimulating Cedar Plaster for diseases of the Nerves, Spinal Complaints, Rheumatism, &c., &c. Morehead's Magnetic Plaster; Halstead's Galvanic; Danton's Hemlock and Cedar; Miller's Indian Adhesive; Hardy's; Cowles; Jewett's; Griswold's; Knapp's; Griffiths; and the old-fashioned Portland Plaster, &c. &c. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Nov. 19.

Executors' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscriber has been duly appointed Executor of the Will of BENJAMIN GAY, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to NANCY GAY, Executrix. Quincy, November 19.

Crapo's Celebrated Liniment.

THIS article has been in use for over twenty years, and is the best article known for Wound or Bruise, in man or beast. For Rheumatism it is a potent remedy. No more common is necessary as the article is so generally known. For sale by GEO. W. WELTING, At the Quincy Drug Store, which is appointed sole agent for Quincy. Nov. 19.

THE LAW and the TESTIMONY, by the Author of "The Wide World." For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, November 19.

Brown's

ALMANAC, Pocket Memoranda and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, Nov. 19.

Personal.

If you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LYONESE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA PLAIDS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CRIB or BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSIERY, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIMMINGS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for HOODS, RIGOLETS or WORSTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's Fancy HATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at Geo. SAVIL & Co.

Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts. Quincy, Oct. 29.

Picked Up.

A LIGHT blue hip-streaked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst., on Pettauc's Island. The owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges. JOHN M. CLEVELY. Hull, Oct. 29.

Administrator's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administrator of the Goods and Estate of SIBEL HOLMES, late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust.

And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to HIRAM PRIOR, Adm. Quincy, Oct. 29.

Musical Entertainment.

Mr. Ossian E. Dodge,

Editor and Proprietor of "DODGE'S LITERARY MUSEUM,"

WILL, IN COMPANY WITH OSSIAN'S BARDS, perform, on SATURDAY EVENING NOV. 19, Owing to previous engagements, there will be no postponement on account of the weather, and the "Bards" will "do their best" if but one person should attend the Entertainment.

TO PLEASE EVERYBODY

Poetry.

The Man I Love.

I love an open countenance,
A kind and noble face;
The index of an honest heart,
That loves the human race;
A brow on which a smile is thron'd,
Like sunlight on a flower,
As open as the regal skies,
With beams of love and power!
I love the kind and welcome glance,
That proves we're not alone;
And oh, how sweet to find at times
Some feelings like our own!
A heart that beats with purest hopes,
To pity and to bless!
That strives to make earth's comforts more,
Its pains and sorrows less!
I love the man whose generous smile
Is given with his hand;
Who sees his equal in all men,
And all men equal stand!
Who sees not the distinctions made
By human laws between
The man who has and who has not,
But loves from what he's seen!
I love the man whose heart is true,
Who seldom wears a frown;
And loves all men, from him who toils
To him who wears a crown!
With kindness ever on his lips,
A free and open mind;
A brow with mental grandeur spann'd,
A soul supremely kind!

The Merchant.

Tare and tret,
Gross and net,
Box and boghead, dry and wet,
Ready made,
Of every grade,
Wholesale, retail, will you trade?
Goods for sale,
Rough or bale,
Ell or quarter, yard or nail;
Every dye,
Will you buy?
None can sell so cheap as I!
Thus each day
Wears away,
And his hair is graying!
O'er his books
He nightly looks,
Counts his gains and bolts his locks.
By and by
He will die,
But the ledger-book on high Shall unfold
How he sold,
How he got and used his gold!

Every Man has his Faults.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Take life as it is—'tis folly to sigh,
Or to seek for a treasure, when seeking is vain;
If friendship's a light that goes speedily by,
Regretting its loss is but adding to pain;
Perfection's a thing rarely found upon earth;
We may cherish the hope, and our fancy exalt,
But though we meet many of honor and worth,
We find, before long, every man has his fault.
If a world we require that will always be true,
We must learn where it is from the fables or elves;
The errors of friendship are easy to view,
Not so easy the errors that lie in ourselves.
No perfection's a thing rarely found upon earth;
We may cherish the hope, and our fancy exalt,
But though we meet many of honor and worth,
We find, before long, every man has his fault.

Anecdotes.

A boy, three years of age, was particularly backward in his tongue, and his parents feared he would never talk. "Send him to a girl's school," said a friend. The hint was adopted, and the plan succeeded beyond expectation.

"You have destroyed my piece of mind, Betsy," said a despairing lover to a truant lass. "I can't do you much hurt, John, for 'twas an amazing small piece you had, any way."

"Figgers won't lie, vill they?" muttered a seedy genius, holding on to a lamp post. "Well, perhaps they won't; but it's a figger as won't stand, anyhow."

"Well, farmer, you told us your woods was a good place for hunting; now we've tramped through it for three hours and found no game."

"Just so, well I calculate as a general thing, the less game there is, the more hunting you have."

An Irish post-boy, having driven a gentleman a long way during torments of rain, the gentleman civilly said to him, "Are you not very wet?"

"Arrah! I don't care about being very wet, but please your honor, I'm very dry."

A clergyman, being complained of by another for drawing away his parishioners on Sunday, made this reply—

"Feed your flock better, and they won't stray."

A reverend gentleman while visiting a parishioner, had occasion, in the conversation, to refer to the Bible, and on asking for the article, the master ran to bring it, and came back with two leaves of the book in his hand. "I declare," says he, "this is all we've got in the house; I'd no idea we were so near out!"

"Have you ground all the tools right, as I told you this morning when I went away?" said a carpenter to a rather green lad whom he had taken for an apprentice.

"All but the hand-saw, sir," replied the lad, promptly; "I couldn't get quite all the gaps out of that."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,

HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANT'S WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD AND SOFT WOOD.
Quincy, June 11.

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

Dr. BUGBEE,
Having resumed practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4.

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure old wines,
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for invalids and sickly.

Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
W. M. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853.

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM CHOWDERS,
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852.

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
—A complete assortment always on hand.—
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work.

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853.

KINGSBURY & EMERSON,
Counsellors at Law,
WYOMING MASS.
F. A. KINGSBURY, C. H. EMERSON.
One at Office, Hollis Institute Building, every Tuesday, South Braintree, Mass.,
July 5.

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY ST. N. E.
Over C. & L. Curtis,
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, April 20.

Remnants of DeLaines.
A large lot for sale very low at
I. W. MUNROE'S.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bicks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.

Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing elsewhere,
as they will find a full assortment
at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852.

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.

N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to.
H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23

INSURANCE.
Life, Fire and Marine Insurance,
IN SAFE, RELIABLE COMPANIES
EFFECTED BY
WHITCOMB PORTER.
COMMISSION MERCHANT AND INSURANCE BROKER.

ORDERS left at the Mutual Insurance Office
Quincy; at No. 15 Congress street,
Boston, or by Mail, Post Paid,
faithfully attended to.
Quincy, July 16.

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies
sold in
less than five months.
A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical
Manual and Hand
Book for the Afflicted.
Containing an outline of the
origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self
abuse, or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, and a full and complete system of medical techniques, and everything that would offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S Manual," says: "The author of this work
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the medical profession, as well as to the public, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence." JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Some cases of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient had been considered incurable. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or of disarrangement
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more an injustice to him, as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves."
ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the subject of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—HERALD.

"No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this valuable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge."—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and bad teaching, have been led into the habit of self pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constructions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if
not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on our present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands
upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race, and does not threaten the ruin of so many, as does this evil habit. Persons of every rank and condition, who are engaged in the good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

The Booksellers, Conveyancers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hooftland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
diced, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of every rank
and condition, who are engaged in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low
as is consistent with the security of the Insured;
the patronage of the public is solicited, and from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dug-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ton of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater; Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollis Randall,
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., of Quincy,
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq., of Quincy,
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.
William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and sold by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

CAUTION.
The celebrity this article has so quickly obtained has led some persons, without authority, to prepare and sell a spurious article representing it to be Davies'
Liquid Hair Dye; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus
John Davies

For the Complexion,
TOMPKIN'S Orange Flower Lotion, Fon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Amaline for Tan Sunburn &c. &c. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, May 7.

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up a shop, lately occupied by Me-SAMUEL COFFLAND, and is ready to furnish all with Meats of the very best quality.
Quincy, April 2.

Salt Pork,
FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.
RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the Marvelous and Miraculous Power of stopping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The
R. R. R. Remedies consist of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.
RESTORE To Health Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.
The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.

Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the suffering from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed
attacks.

SICK HEAD ACHE.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Burns, Scalds, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lamene-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.
IT CURES
Scrofula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Sores Rickets Salt Rheum
Asthma Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas Tetters

It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, forcing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Wacama, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 2d, 1853. That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his negroes, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrofulous complaint, of many years standing. The negro could not remain in the same place with him.
None of the Doctors could do anything for him.
He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating
Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger.

SCROFULA.
MR. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no one would give a third for her life." She was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh of the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.

abouts amid the racket, "face the music!" We suspect he doesn't know it—ignorant little atom!—but that's the way to do, all through the tramp of life. "Face the music" is the legitimate doctrine.

If you want to catch a cold, turn your back to it—give the wind the "cold shoulder," and it will save you all trouble, by catching you. If not, button up your "wraps," and breast the blast.

If a cat-a-mountain meets you, face him—look him right in the eye, and presently he'll creep meowing away—that is, if he's not too hungry.

A foe faced is more than half conquered. A difficulty defied is the next thing to be surmounted.

"Face the music?" Of course. Face everything but the Devil.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, November 26, 1853.

BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE.

Freeman Hunt and his Magazine.

We cut from the New York Democrat of November 1st, the subjoined paragraphs, relating to our kinsman and townsman, Freeman Hunt. After speaking of the magazine, the Editor of the Democrat takes occasion to allude to the recent marriage of that gentleman to Miss Elizabeth T., daughter of the Hon. William Parmenter of Cambridge, in this State. Mr. H. is not the man to hunt a fortune, in the ordinary acceptance of the term; he is too honorable and independent minded to be influenced by mercenary motives, where his domestic happiness and social enjoyments are concerned, and the fortune he has hunt-ed, we take it, is to be found in the heart, mind, and person of the accomplished lady he has selected, and not in her pocket or her purse, although we believe her parents are in easy circumstances. He has genius, industry and perseverance enough, to secure independence for himself, and we are inclined to think he has accomplished that already. But for the remarks of our cotemporary of the New York press:—

"THE MERCHANTS' MAGAZINE. Hunt's excellent Magazine for November has just been issued. We have repeatedly had occasion to speak in terms of praise of this admirable work, whose reputation has extended to all civilized commercial countries on the globe. It is regarded as one of the ablest commercial publications that has ever appeared. Its statements furnish the basis for a thousand arguments on all subjects connected with the statistics of our great country, and of much of the rest of the world. Its talented editor and proprietor is one of the most remarkable men of the age. It is his extensive and comprehensive mind that has given to the Magazine its world-wide popularity.

We noticed some days ago the recent marriage of Mr. Hunt to an accomplished lady of Massachusetts. We observe that some of the press, in alluding to this circumstance, facetiously remark that Mr. Hunt has been on a fortune hunting tour, and succeeded admirably. If this is so, we can only say that the editor of the Magazine possesses at least two fortunes. The Magazine itself, without a dollar in a man's pocket, is a large fortune."

FREEMAN HUNT AS A LECTURER. The Albany State Register, in noticing the lectures about to be delivered in that city before the "Young Men's Association," says:—

Among the names of this winter's programme, we notice several who have never addressed an Albany audience, and one who has yet to make his "first appearance on any stage." Freeman Hunt, who has won a world-wide reputation by his pen, employed on the weekly statistical pages of his Merchant's Magazine, is reported never to have delivered a public lecture. Considering that he is now quite advanced in life, he might make his plea:—

"You'd scarce expect one of my age To speak in public on the stage," for the first time; but he did not so excuse himself, and we are very glad of it, for there are few, if any, as capable as Freeman Hunt of contributing an interesting mercantile lecture. He is put down for the 5th of January, and will be listened to with deep attention.

The idea of our rosy-cheeked neighbor being "quite advanced in life," says the New York Evening Mirror, will be news to him and all who know him, especially while the fresh bloom of the bridegroom is yet radiant upon his "luminous face."

RICH GOODS. We call the attention of our readers to the rich, extensive, and varied assortment of dry goods to be found in the establishment of Messrs. G. W. Warren & Co., 192 Washington street, Boston. Persons dealing there may be assured of every civility from courteous lady and gentleman attendants. The display of fashionable goods is particularly brilliant. [See advertisement, "Money is up."]

NEW ESTABLISHMENT. Ebenezer Underwood, Jr., formerly of this town, (Hooper & Underwood,) has established a periodical and book store at No. 7 State street Boston, where the latest productions can be obtained at the most reasonable prices. [See advertisement, "Books."]

ERRATUM. In the article on the Quincy Charitable Society, in last week's paper, for "Mrs. Benjamin Curtis declined a re-election," read Mr. Curtis declined a re-election. [See advertisement, "Books."]

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

MR. EDITOR:—My "lord and master" looked a very decided black look, and knit his usually placid brows into an ominous frown, as he glanced at the last notice of the Lyceum and declared, that because I had no riglette myself, nor he a "Bay State," it was certainly unbecoming in me to make mention of these outward adornments (?) Since I have thought it over, I have acquiesced in that opinion and was sorry to see at the last lecture that, although there was an equal number of heads there was a diminution of this kind of gear, and but one "Bay State" which was worn by a gentleman who has been charged with the paternity of these scrawls.

I was disappointed by the lecture. It was not what the audience had good reason to expect from the really well earned reputation of the lecturer as a scholar and orator. For these few years past, the name of Wendell Phillips has been synonymous to eloquence. He has seemed to me one of the few, very few men, who have combined in themselves all the requisites of a great orator—among which are exact scholarly attainments, and a ready use of them; fluency without redundancy; rhetoric and logic; wit and a dash of humor; a lofty sentiment; imagination and fancy; satire and irony; a commanding figure; a chaste and appropriate gesture; and a voice modulated alike to the soft persuasive tone and stirring note of defiance, with an ever ending variety of intermediate tones suited to every shade of thought. All these Mr. Phillips possesses to an unusual degree—but alas, I really believe it is to be my lot to find fault, and grumble like a well fed sailor, at every lecture of the course. Now, I have no particular disrelish for fault-finding; yet, I do like, occasionally, to have an opportunity to show that I can praise as well as condemn, but I speak, or rather write my real sentiments as to a lecture, therefore, I must repeat that I was disappointed by Mr. Phillips. It could not be said that he lectured, for he did no such thing, he merely talked to us about "Social Life in Europe," i. e., in his own language, "street life." I grant the theme was not calculated to draw out even an ordinary display of oratory, yet why should one, so truly capable of teaching the people what eloquence is, select a theme that bound him down, as it were, to the level of ordinary men? Why should he not select some subject which will occasionally arouse a glow, or even a faint glimmer of that transcendent power that dwells within him. Almost any fool can tell what he has seen, and most fools, aye and some brutes, can repeat what they have heard. But so few men think, and are able to put their thoughts in glowing, genial words, that I cannot forgive such a man for descending into that contracted, and I was about to say contemptible, but I will not, channel of travel tales, which has of late so often and satisfactorily shown

"How much a fool who goes abroad Exceeds a fool who stays at home."

I trust I have not misquoted, but as Pope is not at hand I cannot surely tell. As to Mr. Phillips my quotation is not appropo, for every sentence gave evidence of keen observation coupled with a quick sense of the ludicrous, and while we are disappointed, yet we were charmed by a beauty of language and an ever appropriate illustration of peculiarities. Indeed who could draw a truer picture of Yankee character, or more adroitly institute a comparison between that and the sluggish, lazy Italian? Who could more successfully, and as it were, musically lead us through the narrow streets of Genoa, with their outré and motley crowds. Indeed who could have said so little and yet pleased, if not satisfied so many? no one but a master mind. When he next draws us together in Quincy, may his subject be more worthy the man.

LISUMAHAGO.

For the Quincy Patriot.

The Lyceum.

MR. EDITOR:—The entertainment offered for next Tuesday, to the Quincy Lyceum, is to consist of Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. Lesdernier. And, as your correspondent LISUMAHAGO is difficult to please, I wish now, through you to beg of him to criticize the lady in mercy. I doubt not that most of her hearers will be well satisfied and pleased with her performances; but as Mr. Alger's lecture on Peter the Great, did not secure the approbation of your critic, I am inclined to fear that nothing which the Directors will have to present during the season, can secure the smile of this fastidious gentleman.

A MEMBER.

For the Quincy Patriot.

The Lyceum.

MR. EDITOR:—The entertainment offered for next Tuesday, to the Quincy Lyceum, is to consist of Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. Lesdernier. And, as your correspondent LISUMAHAGO is difficult to please, I wish now, through you to beg of him to criticize the lady in mercy. I doubt not that most of her hearers will be well satisfied and pleased with her performances; but as Mr. Alger's lecture on Peter the Great, did not secure the approbation of your critic, I am inclined to fear that nothing which the Directors will have to present during the season, can secure the smile of this fastidious gentleman.

A MEMBER.

For the Quincy Patriot.

MR. EDITOR:—You say, in your last paper, "the new Constitution being dead and the Coalition defeated, what is to be done?" The answer to this question seems to me to be quite obvious; it is this: Live honestly and peaceably under the Constitution by which you have so long prospered so well, until it shall become necessary to amend it according to the method prescribed by the instrument itself.

VERE. SAT.

WAR! WAR!! By the latest news, Russia has declared war against Turkey. Several actions have taken place, each resulting decidedly in favor of the Turkish arms.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The total amount of California gold deposited in the Philadelphia mint and its branches, since the first discovery up to first November, is $205,000,000, of which probably not more than one quarter part now remains in this country, the rest having been sent away in payment of debts abroad.

The yield of the potatoes on the American bottom, near Alton, Illinois, is astonishing. As many as four hundred bushels per acre have been dug. The average is three hundred bushels. They are worth twenty-five to thirty cents per bushel.

Over two-thirds of the members of the next Congress will serve for the first time in that capacity.

Eugene A. Upton, a printer, late of Boston, near the Mission Dolores, (Cal.) has a very extensive garden, in which are 6000 heads of cabbage, 1000 plants of asparagus, 15,000 cauliflowers, 10,000 strawberry plants, and a large quantity of nut, marrow-fat squashes, celery, radishes, rutabaga turnips and rhubarb. Flowers abound in the garden, and pigs and poultry are provided for about the premises.

The Cherokee marriage ceremony is very expressive—man and woman joining hands over a stream of running water, indicating that their lives are to flow on in one stream.

An editor while travelling, had his wallet abstracted from his pocket by an adroit pick-pocket, while indulging in a short nap. The thief was so disgusted with the result of his exploit, that he returned the plunder by express.

A mercantile house at Birmingham in England, lately received from a pen maker at New York, an order for fifty working girls. The order was executed in less than one week, and passages were secured for the whole party at eight pounds per girl.

The "enrolled" militia of Massachusetts numbers 133,331 men. The "active" militia amount to about 70,300 men.

There are but seventy-six persons in New Hampshire between the ages of fourteen and twenty-one who cannot read and write. There are ninety thousand pupils on the school lists of the State.

Counterfeit copperers are in circulation. A man who will manufacture bogus coppers in this age of the world, ought to be sent to the penitentiary.

The bonds by which Lucinda and Henry D. Huntington, of Killingly, (Conn.) were made one flesh, were dissolved by order of court, in answer to the prayer of the former—and four days after, the divorced couple took the first train to New York and got married over again.

A great many tavern holders in Philadelphia have lately been fined for selling liquor on Sunday, under a recent decision of the Supreme Court. The fine for such offence is two dollars, one half to the informer. Many of the innkeepers have lodged information against themselves, and thus saved two dollars.

The Superior Court at Quebec, (Lower Canada) has decided that the operator of a telegraph company cannot be compelled to divulge in a court of justice the contents of a telegraphic dispatch received by him.

The Spanish real, in Massachusetts, is called a "penny," in New York, a "shilling," in Maryland, a "dollar," in South Carolina, a "seven-pence," and in Louisiana a "bit"; the half real, in Massachusetts, a "four pence half penny," in New York, a "sixpence," in Maryland, a "flip," and in Louisiana, a "picayune."

It is stated that the New York Central Railroad has over twenty-six miles of freight cars in constant use. Yet even this does not accommodate the vast business.

Among the acts passed by the Rhode Island Legislature, at its last session, is one making railroad and steamboat companies responsible for the loss of life by carelessness.

Three hundred years have elapsed since the last war between England and Russia.

A man who refused to pay his fare on the Providence and Worcester Railroad has been sentenced to two months imprisonment at hard labor in the Worcester House of Correction.

The introduction of female waiters into the New York hotels works well, and the new fashion is spreading.

The School Committee of Boston have voted to raise the pay of the teachers about twenty per cent., after the first of March.

The grand jury of Montreal have thrown out the charge brought against the Mayor of that city, and others, of murder committed on the 9th of June last, at the Gavazzi riot.

Suit has been instituted by a fruit dealer in New Orleans, against the Postmaster of that city, claiming damages in the sum of five hundred and sixty dollars for loss occasioned by the unlawful detention of a letter in the post office.

The ship Great Republic is one hundred and five feet longer than the height of the Bunker Hill Monument—the latter measuring two hundred and twenty feet, and the Republic three hundred and twenty-five.

One of the seven hundred Turkish cannon which guard the Dardanelles is charged with two hundred pounds of powder, and throws a stone shot of one thousand pounds weight. Of course such immense guns are more formidable in appearance than reality, and the firing is not unattended with danger to their own artillery men.

Andrew Jackson Allen, the veteran and father of the American stage, died a few weeks ago in the City of New York. He has of late years attained much celebrity as a theatrical costumer. He first appeared on the stage in 1783, in the procession in Romeo and Juliet. He was seventy-seven years old.

The more a man goes to law, the less real justice he is apt to get. Justice is about as scarce in a court house as toddy in a temperance meeting.

It is stated that P. T. Barnum has disposed of the Illustrated News to Frederick Gleason, of Boston, proprietor of "Gleason Pictorial."

The Sandwich Islands—twelve in number—embrace a superficial area of about six thousand and one hundred square miles. Four of the islands are rocky and uninhabitable.

The senior member of the firm of Bowen & McNamee of New York City, has just ordered six hundred dollars worth of evergreens to be set out in the streets of South Woodstock (Conn.), his native village. A sensible way to keep "his memory green."

Hon. Charles G. Atherton, United States Senator from New Hampshire, died at Manchester, on Tuesday last week. His father had recently deceased, leaving him a large fortune.

The three survivors of the celebrated class of Harvard College of 1787, represent the three learned professions—Judge William Cranch, of Washington, D. C., the Legal; Rev. Dr. Abel Abbott, of Peterboro', N. H., the Clerical, and Dr. Walter Hunnewell, of Watertown, the Medical.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 16th inst., by Rev. W. Dean, Mr. Norton Q. Pope to Miss Mehitabe Leeman.

On the 20th inst., by Rev. Dr. Lunt, Dea. Elijah Baxter to Miss Hannah Spear.

On the 22d inst., by Rev. Dr. Lunt, Mr. Julius C. Chandler to Miss Helen W. Adams.

Much joy to our brother "typo," who has been locked in love's embrace. May health, happiness and prosperity forever bless them through the changing scenes of life.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 13th inst., Mary S., daughter of Mr. George and the late Mrs. Caroline S. Willett, aged 5 months.

On the 17th inst., Mrs. Abby, wife of Mr. James R. Cain, aged 36 years and 8 months.

On the 17th inst., Mrs. Lucy Ann, wife of Mr. Jonathan Leavitt, aged 43 years.

On the 19th inst., Mrs. Charlotte, wife of Mr. Samuel Elia, aged 45 years.

On the 19th inst., Miss Mary Carpenter, aged 17 years.

In this town, on the 8th inst., Emily F., daughter of Capt. Noah and Mrs. Ellen M. Hersey, aged 1 year and 6 months.

Exhausted nature sought repose in death—Her earthly body was too frail for earth. The tenderest care—the deepest heart-felt grief, Could not assuage the suffering, nor bring to her relief.

She was a cherished plant, for from her birth Signs had betokened she was not of earth; But still her lovely form—her expansive mind, Daily, and closely, round our hearts entwined.

Our home is desolate—the vacant seat—Her little voice no more our ears can greet—Her garments laid aside—her little cot—Show but too sadly that the child is not.

Her spirit now is free—to praise and adore, Him who has only shown his mighty power. No sin, nor pain, can ere her spirit move, For she's transplanted there to live and love.

In this town, on the 6th inst., Christiana, daughter of Mr. Josiah, Jr., and Mrs. Sarah W. Hayden, aged 2 years and 4 months.

An angel look'd down from his loved abode With a holy, loving smile; And his keen gaze centered on one bright form And lingered there awhile.

The impress of beauty was on its cheek, A soul-lit glance in its eye; And round it, though human, a shield was thrown, Which never can falter or die.

Were it ever thus, fair child of earth, Death indeed were a dreaded foe; But see, through the vista of coming years Are numberless shades of woe.

She saw enough, and her downcast eye Turn'd back on a brighter view; And her voice went out in an earnest prayer, "O, take my sister too!"

And now though your hearts are laden with grief, And your anguish none may tell, Ye know it was God, in His mercy, smote, And He doeth all things well.

Ye are not childless! ye have them still, Though hidden awhile from sight; Twin stars in glory, just gone before, To a world of love and light. C. A. H.

Special Notices.

DR. MARDEN, successor to Dr. L. Goodnow, would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has recently taken up his residence in town, and that he will be happy to wait on all who may need his professional services.

Dr. Marden having been extensively and successfully engaged in the reformed practice of medicine for a number of years, flatters himself that his intimate acquaintance with the duties and responsibilities of his profession eminently qualifies him to discharge those duties with entire satisfaction. He therefore respectfully and confidently solicits a share of public patronage.

Residence and Office at the "old stand," corner of Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy, Nov. 26.

ADAMS LITERARY LEVEE will be held on THURSDAY EVENING, Dec. 15th. Per order. JAMES H. FRENCH, Auctioneer.

QUINCY LYCEUM.

The Directors of this Association have the pleasure of announcing, that the course of Lectures for the season, will commence on TUESDAY EVENING, the 1st of November, and be continued weekly, as long as the friends of the Lyceum will furnish the pecuniary means.

On Tuesday, the 29th, Dramatic and Poetical Readings, by Mrs. E. P. LESDERNIER.

The following named gentlemen (alphabetically arranged), have also been engaged, (nearly all of them positively,) and will be introduced in the course of the winter and spring; viz:—Hon. Charles Francis Adams, Hon. Rufus Choate, Dr. Oliver W. Holmes, Rev. S. K. Lathrop, William S. Morton, Esq., Rev. Theodore Parker, Rev. Augustus H. Pope, George White, Esq., and Hon. Robert C. Winthrop.

The Lecture Committee have also invited many other gentlemen of talent and popularity, to furnish lectures, but have not yet received answers from them. Seasonable notice will be given, as the engagements are secured.

Tickets are for sale, on the usual terms, at the Quincy Bookstore; and the Directors feel assured that their efforts to present their fellow-citizens with a long course of lectures of a high order, will be promptly met in a liberal spirit.

Tickets will be sold for the season only, excepting to members, for friends temporarily with them.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary. Quincy, Oct. 22d, 1853.

EXCERPTS.

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING next, at 8 o'clock.

Per order of the Directors.

NOTICE. The following persons have signified their intention to close their places of business on the evening of the regular meeting of the Quincy Lyceum, each week, at 7-1/2 o'clock, for the purpose of giving all an opportunity to attend the lectures before that institution.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE, GEORGE SAVIL & Co., CALEB PACKARD, CALEB GILL & Co., Wm. S. UNDERWOOD, Geo. B. NIGHTINGALE, JOHN HOLDEN, JR., B. F. MESERVEY, JOHN A. HOLDEN, JAMES O'BRIEN, Successor to John Dinegan. JOHN RUSSELL. Quincy, Nov. 26.

FREE LECTURE. Mr. A. Cummings, Jr., of Boston, will lecture upon the subject of Loan Fund Associations, at the Lyceum Room, in Quincy, on FRIDAY EVENING, Dec. 2d, commencing at 7 1/2 o'clock.

All interested in the subject are invited to attend. 1w Nov. 26.

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Thomas J. Nightingale, on THURSDAY, Dec. 1st, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day. Per order of the Secretary.

Per order of the Secretary.

MONEY IS UP, DRY GOODS Are Down.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.

Will offer their LARGE STOCK of Shawls, Cloaks, Mantillas, Silk Goods, Velvets, Dress Goods, RAW SILK AND DRESS PLAIDS, Cloths, Tibbets, Merinoes, Cashmeres, MOURNING ARTICLES, EMBROIDERIES, LACES, TRIMMINGS, GENTS' SHAWLS, SHIRTING LINENS, Blankets, Quilts, Domestics, HOSIERY, GLOVES, &c.,

At prices corresponding to the increased value of MONEY.

BARGAINS may be EXPECTED. Geo. W. Warren & Co., 192 Washington st. Boston, Nov. 26.

4w

Executor's Sale of REAL ESTATE!

PURSUANT to a License from the Probate Court, for the County of Norfolk, dated November 5th, 1853, authorising the sale of the Real Estate of Nathaniel Glover, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased; therefore, will be sold at public auction, on MONDAY, the 12th day of December next, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, about one acre and a quarter of Land, with the buildings thereon, it being the Homestead of said deceased. Said property is pleasantly situated within about sixty rods of the Depot. Conditions made known at the sale. LLOYD GOODNOW, Executor. Quincy, Nov. 26.

FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Counsellor at Law,

Commissioner for the States of MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VERMONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.

Weymouth, Mass.

Furniture at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, Dec. 2d, at 2 o'clock P. M. at the house of the subscriber, on South Street, all the Household Furniture, consisting of sofa, Chairs, Tables, Looking Glasses, Bureaux, Mattress, Beds, Bedsteads, Carpets, Stoves, Cracker, Glass and Tin ware, Lamps, Vases, Cooking Utensils, and many other articles too numerous to mention. Conditions made known at the sale.

JAMES R. CAIN, Auctioneer. Quincy, Nov. 26.

FURNITURE at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on FRIDAY, Dec. 2d, at 2 o'clock P. M. at the house of the subscriber, on South Street, all the Household Furniture, consisting of sofa, Chairs, Tables, Looking Glasses, Bureaux, Mattress, Beds, Bedsteads, Carpets, Stoves, Cracker, Glass and Tin ware, Lamps, Vases, Cooking Utensils, and many other articles too numerous to mention. Conditions made known at the sale.

JAMES R. CAIN, Auctioneer. Quincy, Nov. 26.

1w

John Holden, Jr., SHOP, one door East of the Post Office.

WOULD invite the attention of the inhabitants of Quincy to a well selected stock of Gold and Silver WATCHES, JEWELRY and SILVER WARE GOODS, comprising every article in the line of Fashionable and useful articles, all of which will be sold at prices that cannot fail to suit.

Watches and Jewelry carefully Repaired. COFFIN PLATES furnished at short notice.

The highest price paid for old Gold and Silver. 3m Quincy, Nov. 26.

Dr. Wm. M. Cornell, No 630 Washington Street, Boston.

In addition to general practice, has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Skin, Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home to wait upon patients from 12 M. to 3 P. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M. ELECTRICITY is medically applied in all cases where it is indicated.

Boston, Nov. 26.

Furniture at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Nov. 29th, at 1 o'clock P. M., at the house of Mrs. Eliza Higgins, (Quincy Point), a lot of Furniture, consisting in part, of the following named articles:—Tables, Chairs, Bureaux, Bedsteads, Looking Glasses, Carpets, Clock, Cracker, Glass, Tin and Hard Ware, with other articles too numerous to mention.

Conditions made known at the sale.

EBENEZER ADAMS, Auct. Quincy, Nov. 26.

Botanic Medicine Depot,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy Articles, &c., &c., &c.

he now offers them to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reformed Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified.

Quincy, Nov. 26.

New Book for Ladies.

THE BEHAVIOR BOOK—A Manual for Ladies—By Miss Leslie. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 26.

New Book

AND

Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased and fitted Store No. 7 State Street, (Old Building), in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK, PERIODICAL and NEWSPAPER BUSINESS, in all of its various branches.

They are prepared to furnish ALL Books at the shortest possible notice.

ALL NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon as published and sold at the lowest prices.

HOOPER & UNDERWOOD.

JAMES C. HOOPER, E. UNDERWOOD, JR.

Subscriptions received for all the MAGAZINES and NEWSPAPERS of the day.

Boston, Nov. 26.

Citizens of Quincy, ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufactured, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.

Also—one case Women's extra Para Rubbers.

Geo. B. NIGHTINGALE.

N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7 1/2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum.

Quincy, Nov. 19.

Traders

John Holden, Jr.,
SHOP, one door East of the Post Office.
WOULD invite the attention of the inhabitants of Quincy to a well selected stock of Gold and Silver WATCHES, JEWELRY and SILVER WARE GOODS, comprising every article in the line of Fashionable and desirable Patterns, all of which will be sold at prices that cannot fail to suit.

Watches and Jewelry carefully Repaired.
COFFIN PLATES furnished at short notice.
The highest price paid for old Gold and Silver.
Quincy, Nov. 26.

Dr. Wm. H. Cornell,
No 630 Washington Street, Boston.
In addition to general practice, has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home from 5 to 7 P. M. on 12 M. to 3 P. M. on from 5 to 7 P. M. ELECTRICITY is medicinally applied in all cases where it is indicated.
Boston, Nov. 26.

Furniture at Auction.
WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Nov. 29th, at 1 o'clock P. M., at the house of Mrs. Eliza Higgins, (Quincy Point) lot of Furniture, consisting in part of the following named articles:—Tables, Chairs, Bureaus, Bedsteads, Looking Glasses, Carpets, Clock, Crutch, Glass, Tin and Hard Ware, with other articles too numerous to mention.
Conditions made known at the sale.
EBENEZER ADAMS, Auct.
Quincy, Nov. 26.

Botanic Medicine Depot,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.
DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy Articles, &c., &c., &c.

We now offer them to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reform Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified.
Quincy, Nov. 26.

New Book for Ladies.
THE BEHAVIOR BOOK—A Manual for Ladies—By Miss Leslie. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 26.

New Book
AND Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased a fitted Store No. 7 State Street, (Bee Building) in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK, PERIODICAL and NEWSPAPER BUSINESS, in all of its various branches.
They are prepared to furnish ALL BOOKS at the lowest possible rates.
ALL NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon published and sold at the lowest prices.
HOOPER & UNDERWOOD.
JAMES C. HOOPER,
E. UNDERWOOD, JR.
Subscriptions received for all the MAGAZINES and NEWSPAPERS of the day.
Boston, Nov. 26.

Citizens of Quincy,
ATTENTION!
JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.
Also—some cases Women's extra Para Rubbers.
GEO. B. NIGHTINGALE.
N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7 1/2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Yeoman.
Quincy, Nov. 19.

Traders
WILL find Blank Books, Order, Pass, Receipt, Note and Bill Books; Letter Paper and all qualities, Bill Paper, Envelopes, best Ink, and Pens, at the lowest wholesale prices at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19.

Mattresses.
CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and sold by
I. W. MUNROE.
Quincy, May 21.

Butter! Butter!!
10 to 40 lbs of first rate DAIRY BUTTER, for sale cheap
D. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Brown's
MANAC, Pocket Memorandums and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19.

Picked Up.
LIGHT blue lap-streaked CANOE floated ashore on the 4th inst. on Peacock's Island. Owner can have the same by proving property and paying charges.
JOHN M. CLEVERLY.
Hull, Oct. 29.

Neat's Foot Oil.
FOR sale cheap for cash, by
D. BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

OMERVILLE'S Stimulating Cough Plaster
for diseases of the Nervous, Spinal Complaints, Rheumatism, &c., &c.
Moreau's Magnetic Plaster; Halstead's Gallic Acid; Banton's Hemlock and Cedar; Miller's Iron Adhesive; Hardy's; Cowles; Jewett's; Jewell's; Knapp's; Griffin's, and the old fashioned Portland Plaster, &c., &c. For sale by
Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Nov. 19.

THE AMERICAN STATESMAN, or Illustrations of the Life and Character of Abraham Lincoln. By Rev. Joseph Banvard. Just published and for sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

IVES or EMINENT METHODIST MINISTERS, containing Biographical Sketches, Sermons, Addresses, Records of Travel, Reflections, etc.; By Rev. P. Douglas Gorrie. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 5.

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.
Assortment of FALL and WINTER APPEALING GOODS, and READY CLOTHING, is now complete at Russell & Co's Store,
TOWN HALL, QUINCY,
where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe, cut and made in good style, and will be sold a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

For Gentlemen's Wear,
A large assortment of HATS, CAPS, SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and Gents FURNISHING GOODS.
A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.
A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made into Garments of any description, at short notice, by
GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
Goodnow's Building,
Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Extracts for Cooking.
MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Nutmeg, Alspice, Peach-Water, Treble Distilled Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory, Thyme, Sage, etc., etc., a superior article.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,
ON THE
BRAINTREE and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by J. DINGES, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Petersham, Pilot Cloth, &c., together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the very lowest price for cash.
Also—A large and splendid lot of Ready Made Clothing, which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.
Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.
Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dinegan, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.
The one price system will be strictly adhered to.
JAMES O'BRIEN.
Quincy, Nov. 12.

Crabberies and Quinces.
30 to 40 BUSHELS of Crabberies, and 30 to 40 BUSHELS of Quinces.
The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

Eastern Wood.
JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by
NATHANIEL WHITE,
Quincy Canal Wharf.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Rats and Mice.
NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Extirminator, which has been tried and proved successful, by many families in this town and vicinity.
Madagascar Rat Extirminator, and various other kinds. For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Oct. 15.

Wanted.
10 or 12 good Coat and Pant Makers, to work in the Shop. Apply to
GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
Quincy Aug. 20. At Goodnow's Building.

Notice.
THE subscriber expecting to be in this vicinity for the present, is prepared to sell the remaining lots owned by him near the High School House, on favorable terms. They consist of four eligible Building Lots.
Application may be made to the subscriber at Mrs. Benjamin Gay's, or in his absence, to J. M. GORGEAS, Esq.
W. P. APTHORP.
Quincy, Nov. 12.

The Quincy Drug Store.
GEORGE W. WHITING having finished and arranged his new Store would express his thanks to his friends and former customers for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. Strict PERSONAL attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.
Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.
Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.
Sole agent for Dr. Sule's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Rheumatic Liniment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c., Swedish Leeches constantly on hand and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.
Quincy, Sept. 10.

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!
THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of W. L. Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Stone and Earthen Ware.
He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.
OZEN JOSSELYN.
Quincy, Nov. 12.

Crapo's Celebrated Liniment.
THIS article has been in use for over twenty years, and is the best article known for Wound or Bruise, in man or beast. For Rheumatism it is a potent remedy. No more comment is necessary as the article is so generally known. For sale by GEO. W. WHITING.
At the Quincy Drug Store, who is appointed sole agent for Quincy.
Nov. 19

ENLARGEMENT OF THE TREMONT ROW SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK.
AND INCREASED FACILITIES.
To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in SHAWLS, SILKS, CLOAK & DRESS GOODS, LACES & EMBROIDERIES, Domestic & Housekeeping Goods, OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row, GIVE NOTICE TO THE LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade, and have added New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature to constitute their Establishment the LARGEST AND BEST RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that Unlike other large Dry Goods Houses in Boston, We have no Wholesale Trade to cut the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved.

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who have SO LONG and SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co.
are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thibets and Cashmeres, FANCY and STAPLE Dress and Cloak Goods OF EVERY DESCRIPTION, PARIS CLOATHS and all similar articles in great profusion, Laces and Embroideries, GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.

Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!!
as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS To pay the expense of six or eight months' credit on our Goods!!

AUCTION HOUSES
as usual, are contributing abundance of Choice Goods to our mammoth assortment, and we say with confidence

WHAT THE LAST YEAR HAS PRODUCED, that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of

Extra, Medium & Common Qualities
for sale at such decided bargains. We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know what the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it

WILL DO THEM NO HARM,
and
MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,
we confidently expect a visit from all.

F. A. JONES & CO.
Nos. 1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row, (Nearly opposite head of Hancock Street.) BOSTON.
Boston, Sept. 17, 1853

Personal.
If you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for LYONESE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for GALA PLAIDS, SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for CRIB or BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSIERY, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish for HOODS, RIGOLETS or WORSTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.
If you wish for Children's Fancy HATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.
If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at GEO. SAVIL & Co.
Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Fishing Poles.
BAMBOOS, Cane Poles and Rattan, constantly on hand and for sale, wholesale and retail. Also—Cooper's Stock and Tools.
Apply to
JOHN LANG, 56 and 57 India Wharf. 3m
Boston, July 9.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received a new supply of Trask's Magnetic Ointment, for Nervous Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Ulcers, Boils, Erysipelas, Ague, Sore Throat, and Inflamations of all kinds, and prevents Lock Jaw in cases of wounds, &c.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

A CARD. TO THE PUBLIC!

J. A. HOLDEN,
WOULD inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has Just Replenished his Stock, with a choice selection of Goods, suitable for the Autumn and Winter of 1853 and 4.

He invites the attention of such as expect punctuality and good workmanship, for cash only, such being his rule of business, and the reduced rates at which he sells, rendering any other mode of doing business impracticable.

His clothes will always be made with all his care and skill, of which he boasts not; leaving the garments made by his hands to ADVERTISE THEMSELVES. Those students to combine elegance with economy, will do well and wisely to favor him with a call.

Remember he is not to be undersold by any other establishment, style, quality and finish considered.
Quincy, October 1.

Liberty Hall CLOTHING STORE!
Over C. & L. Curtis' Grocery Store. Formerly Ransom & Co.

THE subscriber has just received the most desirable styles of PANTALON GOODS, suitable for FALL and WINTER wear. Also—A large assortment of heavy ENGLISH BROAD CLOTHS, DEWEENING, K-E-SEYS, of every color. PILOT CLOTH, PETERSHAM, &c., together with a most splendid assortment of FRENCH VESTINGS. Always on hand a large selection of BLACK DOESKINS and CASSIMERES.

Having associated in business my Brother EDWARD RING, lately arrived from London, we defy all competition, and are ready, second to none, to give the best article for the least money. Being possessed of ample experience to cut our own work, and warranting the very best workmanship, the patronage of the public is most respectfully solicited.

D. D. RING,
Late Cutter for John Dinegan.

C. B. PARTICULAR attention given to BOYS CLOTHING. Gentlemen furnishing their own Cloths will be punctually attended to.
Quincy, Sept. 10.

SAVIL & Co.
DRY GOODS, CLOTHING AND

FURNITURE!
TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY AND VICINITY.
THE undersigned having completed their arrangements, are now prepared to show one of the most extensive stocks of FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, CLOTHING FURNISHING GOODS, Furniture, Carpeting, Mattresses, &c., TO BE FOUND IN NORFOLK COUNTY.

At our store can be found a full and complete assortment of the different STYLES AND QUALITIES, all of which will be sold at the lowest prices, and warranted in every respect equal to representation.
GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Goods delivered to any part of the town or vicinity free from expense.
Quincy, September 3.

New England Protective Union, DIVISION, No. 180,
AT the Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Hardwick, on Franklin Street, may be found a good assortment of

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE!
Together with a supply of
Boot Maker's Findings.

BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE, LARD, MACKEREL, PICKLES, POTATOES, &c. &c.

All of which will be kept constantly on hand, and will be sold at a small advance from cost, for cash.
The public are invited to call and examine our Goods, and become acquainted with our mode of trading.
N. B. The spacious Hall over the store will be let on favorable terms.
Goods delivered to any part of the town free from charges.
Quincy, April 2, 1853.

Practical Phrenology.
CORRECT Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, or complete written descriptions of character, including valuable advice concerning the preservation and restoration of health, formation of proper habits, correction of faults, restraining of excesses, and cultivating defects; and important directions as to the choice of suitable occupations, the selection of partners in business, and congenial companions for life, &c., &c., can be had, day or evening, at the Phrenological Rooms of

FOWLERS, WELLS & Co.,
142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.
To the young just starting in life, such knowledge is invaluable.
The Phrenological Museum, containing a great variety of Skulls, Busts, Casts, and Paintings of the most distinguished men, is open free to visitors. Classes for instruction in Practical Phrenology and Physiology are constantly in operation, and private students are taken at all times and qualified for lecturers and examiners.
Application for lecturing out of town, before Lyceums or otherwise, duly considered.
Books for sale on Phrenology, Physiology, Water Cure, Psychology, Photography, and progressive subjects generally. All of Fowlers & Wells' publications, including the Phrenological and Water Cure Journals, furnished from this office at the same prices, wholesale and retail, as at New York. Orders by mail or express promptly attended to.
FOWLERS, WELLS & Co.,
142 Washington street, Boston.
Boston, Sept. 21.

Mohair Mitts.
A good assortment, long and short Mohair Mitts, just received by GEO. SAVIL & Co., Corner of Hancock and Granite streets, Quincy, July 2.

For Spavin in Horses.
DR. DADD'S Liquid Blister for Spavin, and all his other Horse Medicines. For sale at the Quincy Drug Store of the Agent.
GEORGE W. WHITING.
Quincy, Nov. 5.

Executrix' Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the Will of BENJAMIN GAY,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, Batchelor, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to NANCY GAY, Executrix.
Quincy, November 19.

Administratrix' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of SIBEL HOLMES,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, widow, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to HIRAM PRIOR, Adm.
Quincy, Oct. 29.

Administratrix' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of
WILLIAM BENT,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to NANCY BENT, Administratrix.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Executrix' Notice
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Executrix of the Will of ELISHA T. CRANE,
late of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to EDMUND MARSH, Executrix.
Quincy, Oct. 22.

Administratrix' Notice.
NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Goods and Estate of
WILLIAM HOLLIS,
late of BRAINTREE, in the County of Norfolk, yeoman, deceased, and has accepted said trust. And all persons having demands upon the Estate of the said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted thereto to make payment to
JAMES HOLLIS, Adm.
BRAINTREE, Oct. 15.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
NORFOLK SS. In INSOLVENCY. BEFORE Samuel B. Noyes, Esq., Commissioner of Insolvency in and for said County of Norfolk.

The second meeting of the creditors of MELVIN THAYER, of BRAINTREE, Bootmaker, an Insolvent Debtor will be held at the office of said Commissioner, in Canton, on the twenty-eighth day of November current, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which meeting creditors may be present and prove their claims.

The subscriber has been duly appointed assignee of said estate.
JUSTIN FIELD, Assignee.
Canton, Nov. 8, 1853.

THE Honorable the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, next to be held at Dedham, within and for the County of Norfolk, on the first Tuesday of November, A. D. 1853:

THOMAS WARDROPE, WARDROPE, in the County of Norfolk, Currier, respectfully represents that he was married to Catherine Wardrope, late resident at BRAINTREE, in the said County of Norfolk, on or about the first day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, in the City of New York, where they lived together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of New York, where they live together as husband and wife for a short period of time, and that they afterwards removed to the town of BRAINTREE aforesaid, where they have ever since lived together as husband and wife, until the month of October, now last past; that he is especially faithful to his married obligations, and that she, the said Catherine Wardrope, being wholly regardless of the same, on or about the twentieth day of November now last past, eloped with one John Stark of said BRAINTREE, and is now living in the City of

Poetry.

Ezekiel's Description of his Lady.

Ezekiel, a verdant Green Mountain Boy, sleeth forth from the paternal roof in Vermont, sojourneth with the more enlightened people of Cape Cod, becometh enamored by the charms of the angelic Tabatha Towzer, and is inspired by the muses to indite the following to his up-country kin: Selah.

My Tabatha Towzer is fair,
No Guinea-pig ever was whiter;
Like an hummock slender and spare,
As an ether that puddles the creek,
In search of a pout or a sucker.

Her forehead is smooth as a tray,
No smoother than that, on my soul,
And turned, as a body might say,
Like a delicate neat wooden bowl.

To what shall I liken her hair?
So pretty, so flowing, so fine!
For similes sure must be rare,
When we speak of a nymph so divine!

Not the head of a Nazarene seer,
That never was shown or shown,
Nought equals the locks of my dear,
But the silk of an ear of green corn.

My dearest has two pretty eyes,
Glass buttons shiner never so bright;
Their lustre peacock-oid twinkles,
The bug that oot out winks by right.

My dear has a beautiful nose,
With sled-runner crook in the middle,
Which one would be left to suppose
Was meant for the head of a fiddle!

The lips of my charmer are sweet
As a hog-head of maple molasses;
The ruby tint on her cheek
The gill of the salmon surpasses.

Description might fail in her chin,
At least till our language is richer,
'Tis fairer than a dipper of tin,
Or a beautiful China cream-pitcher.

So beauteous neck, I'll be bound Never joined head and body together;
Like a crooked neck'd quail on the ground,
Long whitened by winter-like weather.

Should I mention her gait in the air,
You would think I intended to lauder;
She moves with more grace, on would swear
Than a foundered horse forced to canter.

Should I speak of the rest of her charms,
I might, by some phrase be improper,
Give modesty a basin an alarm
Which I wouldn't do for a copper.

Good Temper.

There's not a cheaper thing on earth,
Nor yet one half so dear;
'Tis better than distinguished birth,
Or thousands gained a year.

It gives to poverty content;
To sorrow whippersnapper;
It is a gift from heaven sent,
For mortals to increase.

It meets you with a smile at morn,
It lulls you to repose;
A flower for poor and peasant born,
An everlasting rose.

A charm, to banish grief away,
To lessen every care;
Tears cease to smother, makes dulness gay,
Spreads gladness everywhere.

And yet 'tis cheap as summer dew,
That tems the lily's breast;
A magic charm for love as true
As ever man possessed.

As smiles the rainbow through the cloud,
When threat'ning storm begins;
As music 'mid the tempest loud,
That still its sweet way wins.

As springs an arch across the tide,
Where the waves conflict foam,
So comes the seraph to our side,
This angel of our home.

Good temper 'tis the choicest gift
That woman homeward brings,
And can the poorest peasant lift
To bliss unknown to kings.

Anecdotes.

A man about to be executed, pointed to his companion who was swinging, observed to the multitude, "You see there a spectacle; directly I shall be hanged, and then you will see a pair of spectacles!"

A man with one eye laid a wager that he (the one-eyed) saw more than the other. The wager was accepted. "You have lost," said the first; "I can see two eyes in your face, and you can only see one in mine."

"Miss, will you take my arm?" "La, yes,
sir, and you too." "Can't spare but the arm, Miss," replied the bachelor. "Then," said she, "I can't take it, as my motto is, to 'Go the whole hog or nothing!'"

Did you ever ride in an omnibus on a rainy day, windows and doors closed, eight on a side, and six in the laps, limited, of course, to six, and among that number two women covered with musk? "Drive," said a Frenchman, "let me come out of ze door; I will suf-focate! You 'ave vot you call von musty rat in ze omnibus!"

A loafer was brought before a justice for being drunk in the street—the fine being one dollar for each offence. The fine he paid, and was arraigned again the next day. "No
you don't, Judge," said he, "I know the law —one dollar for each offence, and this is the same old drunk."

"Fred," said a wag to a conceited fop, "I know a beautiful creature who desires to make your acquaintance." "Glad to hear it —fine girl, good taste—she is struck with my fine appearance I suppose?" "Yes, very much so. She thinks you would make a capital companion for her poodle dog."

"Mother," said a Spartan boy, going to battle, "my sword is too short." "Add a step to it," was the reply of the heroic mother.

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HAVE FOR SALE
ON GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD and SOFT WOOD.
Quincy, June 11.

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

Dr. BUGBEE,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4.

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.

Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Ha-
vanna Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853.

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING.

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM-CHOWDERS,
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852.

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE Sts., Quincy
(37-A complete assortment always on hand.—62)
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom
Work. 28

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT,
Quincy, July 9, 1853.

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY HALL,
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, April 24.

SCHOOL BOOKS and SCHOOL STA-TIONERY.
For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by
C. GILL & CO.,
ALL the various kinds of School Books and School Stationery now used in all the PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR
Schools in town
Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the
HIGH SCHOOL
now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold
Quincy May 15, 1852

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852.

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.

N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly
attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies sold in less than five months. A
new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual and Hand
Book for the Afflicted—
Containing an outline of
the origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous intercourse, from the result of some venereal or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all unnecessarily technicalities, and everything that would offend the ear of decency. From the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual." "The author of this work who advances the majority of those works who advertise to cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the unfortunate, or to the victims of malpractice, as a
successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence." JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient had been considered incurable and in others where the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrange-
ment of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more an injustice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide the cure of their affliction." ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Venereal and Ague.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligent work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technicalities, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of human diseases, and has acquired a wide and little breath to puff, and 'too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—H. B. A. B.

"No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE."

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "In thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into the ruin of self pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if
not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretch-
edness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands
upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker, in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, (securely enveloped,) will be for-
warded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address—
(post paid) CORDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Book-sellers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hoofland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
dice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from weakness, indolence, Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach,
and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them, and will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store,
Quincy, Sept. 24.

Bargains.
MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage
do Laines, Thin Dress Goods and Shawls, at the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite
Streets, Quincy.

The undersigned being desirous of closing the
balance of their Stock of
SUMMER GOODS,
will offer the same at a great discount from former
prices. Call and examine.
Quincy, July 16.

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for thee!!

DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have never failed in giving relief in one single instance, when they have been taken in time, and
according to directions.

If you are afflicted with Dysentery, Dyspepsia,
Cholera Morbus, or a disorder of the bowels, here is a remedy brought within your reach. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectually cured by these celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call and get the Messenger of Health,
GEO. W. WHITING,
who is sole Agent for Quincy,
Quincy, Sept. 24.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company. Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low
as is consistent with the security of the Insured.
The patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitecomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dag-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Marston
of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., "
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amos Water, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq., "
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.

STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.
351st.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and for-sale by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

For the Complexion,
TOMPKIN'S Orange Flower Lotion, Fon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Amandine for Tan Sunburn &c. &c. For sale by
Quincy, May 7.

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all
the goods of the very best quality.
Quincy, April 2.

Salt Pork,
FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.

RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the marvelous and miraculous power of stopping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and The Doloureux, as soon as applied. The
R. R. Remedies consists of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Every all Disease Deposits
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.

RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.

The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years. Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.

Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the suffering from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
SICK HEADACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company. Insure Real Estate and
Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low
as is consistent with the security of the Insured.
The patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitecomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dag-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Marston
of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., "
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amos Water, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq., "
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.

STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.
351st.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and for-sale by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

For the Complexion,
TOMPKIN'S Orange Flower Lotion, Fon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk
of Roses, Amandine for Tan Sunburn &c. &c. For sale by
Quincy, May 7.

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all
the goods of the very best quality.
Quincy, April 2.

Salt Pork,
FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8.

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.

RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the marvelous and miraculous power of stopping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and The Doloureux, as soon as applied. The
R. R. Remedies consists of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Every all Disease Deposits
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.

RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.

The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years. Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.

Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the suffering from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
SICK HEADACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Borns, Scalds, Strains, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lame-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.

IT CURES
Scrofula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Sphilitic Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Rickets Salty Rheum
Asthma Nodules Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas Tetters

the above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.

It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 26, 1853. That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his negroes, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrofulous complaint, of many years standing. The poor fellow was a distinguished object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other negroes
could not remain in the same place with him.
The Doctor could do nothing for him, until he was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger.

SCROFULA.
MR. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no
one would give a third for her life," she was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.

NINETEEN YEARS.
MRS. HENDERSON, of Westford, Mass., has been cured by R. R. Resolvent.

SALT RHEUM.
The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-
VENT. One gentleman who supposed that his complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth,
was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and the

POISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADIC-ATED FROM HIS SYSTEM.
IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes
sound, healthy and strong, all weak, diseased
and unsound parts.

WEAKNESS
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and emaciated made strong, vigorous and healthy. Impotency, Neurasthenia, Excitations in men, or diseases of either one or more of the generative organs, is quickly removed, and the body restored to a healthy and sound condition.

LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
In WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and the most NERVOUS,
STROONG and

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids. Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Grains, &c. &c. Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oatmeal, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. &c. Jellies, Raspberry, and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. &c.

Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds. Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent Nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, &c. &c.

Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and precision. She is also receiving the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other papers. Washington-st., rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45c

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN.

71 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON, OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitation, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various degrees of debility, to feebleness, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, &c. &c. No doubt that the condition of blood which not only creates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently beset the foundation of the most distressing and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use; they are wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, such all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytical Physician, 71 Tremont st. (opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON. Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43-13

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON.

His decision of giving a rare opportunity to every body desirous of teeth, especially of those of limpid means, to supply themselves with incorruptible substitutes of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities sensibly low, so as to induce all those to save their natural teeth by timely cure, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: An entire upper and under set, on the atmosphere principle, from $50.00 to $75.00. For an entire upper or lower set of fourteen teeth from $20.00 to $40.00. For a partial set, of more than two teeth, from $10.00 to $30.00 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver, or porcelain, from $1.50 to $2.50. For filling with gold, from $1.00 to $2.50. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts. All gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to perfectly and securely remain in place for one year. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 11 Tremont Row, on stairs, opposite the head of North Square, Boston, Feb. 27, 1853. 11-9mm

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

DRUGMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE.

As cheap as they can be bought in the City. Sulfuric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Mariatic Acids, Sugar of Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Green and Black Logwood, Copperas, Blue and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Rosin, China Clay, American and English Linseed, Salt Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Arsenic, Gamboge, &c. of India, Nicaragua, Safflower and Turkey Red, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, Lead, Ground Potash Stone, Salt Peter, Soda, and Liquid Ammonia, &c.

GEORGE W. WHITING, Quincy, Sept. 3. 45

are for the Whooping Cough!

BY THE USE OF MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE, can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.

For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for the same.

For the cure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Ward, Hadley, Mass., (son-in-law of Dr. E. W.) with whose signature upon each bottle, is genuine.

It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for the Colds, and Bowel Complaints. W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent. Sept. 24. 3m

Lovel's Wahpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color.

Each bottle is a treatise on the human hair, its diseases and remedies, and specifies directions for the preservation of its color, health and growth. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Quincy, June 25. 45

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sassafras, Dandelion, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with a saline of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing humors from the system. For Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, &c. of the Liver, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

An article is prepared on scientific principles, and is so concentrated, and so carefully selected and sold at the Quincy Drug Store. GEO. W. WHITING. 50 cents per bottle. Quincy, Sept. 24. 45

Books.

THE Pictorial Library of Useful Information, and Family Encyclopedia. Illustrated with colored and fifty Engravings. Published by the Universal Library of Literature and Illustration of the World. Three hundred and thirty-two pages. Beautifully Illustrated Books, at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, August 6. 45

ESSING FOR THE HAIR—Burditt's (Vegetarian Compound, Kitchen and Ken's Hair Preservative, Lyon's Kaskader's Hair's Pomade and Restorative; Thompson's and Combs' Lustrate; Swan's Nutrient Preservative; Jenny Lind's Hair Foster's Mountain Compound, and various articles for the same purpose, for sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1853.

NUMBER XLIX.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, Over L. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street. JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS. Two DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required. No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher. Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out. The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS. The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers. JONAS BABCOCK, Quincy Railway. GEORGE H. LOCKE, Stone Quarries. ORIN P. BAYON, Dorchester. FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth. JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington. SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate. FREEMAN HUNT, New York City. GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Physicians of Quincy.

The following extract is made from the interesting Address given at the annual meeting of the Norfolk District Medical Society, May 15th, 1853, by Dr. Alden of Randolph, President of the Society.

Dr. John Wilson, son of Dr. Edmund Wilson of London, and grandson of Rev. John Wilson, first pastor of the First Church in Boston, appears to have been the earliest resident physician in old "Brantley" now Quincy. His domicile was on lands granted by the Town of Boston to their first minister. He was well educated, but not, as some suppose, the graduate at Harvard in 1705. He probably received his medical education in London. He seems to have sustained an excellent reputation, both as a citizen and a physician. In his time "fever and ague" was a very prevalent disease in his vicinity; and there is a tradition that he was accustomed to remark, that the period would arrive when that disease would disappear from this section of the country, and other diseases take its place. Although the precise date of his death has not been ascertained, it probably occurred early in the autumn of 1727, as administration was granted on his estate on the 10th of October of that year.

Dr. Edward Stedman succeeded Dr. Wilson. He married a daughter of Major Lemuel Vassal.

Leonard Hoar, M. D., who graduated at Harvard College in 1650, is said, practised medicine here until his accession to the presidency of the College in 1672. He died at Quincy, Nov. 28, 1675, aged 48.

Dr. Henry Turner, who was educated as an apothecary in London, settled in Quincy as early as 1775. He was never extensively engaged in medical practice. He died January 21, 1773, at the age of 84.

Dr. Henry Turner, Jun., son of the preceding, was a regularly educated physician, but died before his father. His widow Abigail, after his decease, married Samuel Bass, in 1757, and they were the parents of the late Captain Josiah Bass.

Dr. Elisha Savil (Harvard College, 1743) was a reputable physician, and from an examination of his ledger, loaned to me by one of his descendants, I find that he had an extended business from 1750 to 1768, not only in Quincy, but also in Milton, and in the middle and south precincts of old Braintree. He died at the early age of 44, April 30, 1768, of lung fever, made fatal by exposure in visiting a patient after the accession of the disease.

Dr. Ebenezer Crosby, a native of Quincy, who graduated at Harvard College in 1777, is said, practised medicine for a short period in the place of his nativity. Of this there may be some doubt. Dr. Thatcher (Medical Biography L. 57), says that he completed his medical education at the University of Pennsylvania; that he was at an early period of the Revolutionary war appointed surgeon to General Washington's guard, and was received into his military family, in which he continued until near the close of the war. He afterwards settled in New York, where he acquired a reputable practice and was much esteemed. In 1785, he was elected a Professor in Columbia College, which appointment he retained until his death, July 16, 1788.

Dr. Thomas Phipps was a native of Brighton. He graduated at Harvard College in 1757; went to Quincy in 1768, immediately after the death of Dr. Savil, and for many years enjoyed a lucrative and extended business. He was esteemed as a worthy man and good physician. Towards the close of his life, which terminated Nov. 4, 1817, at the age of 80, he became entirely deaf, which materially impaired his usefulness.

Dr. Ebenezer Brackett, son of Mr. James

Brackett, was born at Quincy, in 1773. He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1791; studied medicine, and commenced business with fair prospects of success, but fell a victim to pulmonary disease in 1794.

Dr. Thomas Phipps, Jun., studied medicine with his father, and was for a time associated with him in business. He was held in high repute by his patients. His death occurred August 30th, 1832. On that day he left his house apparently in his usual, although not confirmed, health. He had proceeded but a few rods, when he fell and instantly expired, at the age of 46.

Dr. Benjamin Vinton, born October 14, 1774, graduated at Harvard College in 1796, and settled in Quincy in 1801, having previously officiated for a time as surgeon's mate in a vessel of war. He had a good reputation as a physician, and as such acquired a fair share of business. In 1813 he fell a victim to a disease of the urinary organs, probably Bright's disease, leaving a widow, who still survives, and three daughters, all of whom have since died of consumption.

Dr. Ebenezer Woodward (Dartmouth, 1817; M. D. Harvard, 1823) settled in Quincy immediately after receiving his medical degree, and from that period to the present has rarely been absent from his circle of business.

The Yankee Boy.

An American brig, belonging to Portsmouth, (N. H.) was once in Demerara, discharging her cargo, when she was boarded by a boat from a gun-brig, lying at anchor at no great distance. The crew were mustered, and their protection examined, and one New Hampshire boy, of a noble and fearless spirit, and though young in years, of a vigorous frame, was ordered into the boat. He peremptorily refused to obey the order. The officer, in a great rage, collared the youthful seaman, but was instantly, by a well-directed blow of his fist, laid sprawling on the deck. The boat's crew rushed to the assistance of their officer, and the young man was finally overpowered, pinioned, thrown into the boat, and conveyed on board the British brig. The lieutenant complained to his commanding officer of the insult he had received from the stalwart Yankee, and his battered face corroborated his statement. The commander at once decided that such insolence demanded exemplary punishment, and that the young Yankee required on his first entrance into the service a lesson which might be of use to him hereafter. Accordingly, the offender was lashed to a gun, by the inhuman satellites of tyranny, and his back was bared to the lash. Before the blow was struck, he repeated his declaration that he was an American citizen, and sworn foe of tyrants. He demanded his release, and assured the captain in the most solemn and impressive manner, that if he persisted in punishing him like the vilest malefactor, for vindicating his rights as an American citizen, the act would never be forgiven, but that his revenge would be certain and terrible. The captain laughed at what he regarded an impotent menace, and gave signal to the boatswain's mate. The white skin of the young American was soon cruelly mangled, and the blows fell thick and heavily on the quivering flesh. He bore the infliction of his barbarous punishment without a murmur or a groan; and when the signal was given for the executioner to cease, although the skin was hanging in strips on his back, which was thickly covered with clotted blood, he showed no disposition to falter or faint. His face was somewhat paler than it was wont to be; but his lips were compressed, as if he were summoning determination to his aid, and his dark eyes shot forth a brilliant gleam, showing that his spirit was unsubdued, and that he was bent on revenge, even if his life should be the forfeit. His hands were loosened, and he rose from his humiliating posture. He glared fiercely around. The captain was standing within a few paces of him, with a demonic grin upon his features, as if he enjoyed to the bottom of his soul the disgrace and torture of the poor Yankee. The helpless sufferer saw that smile of exultation; and at that moment decided the fate of the oppressor. With the activity, the ferocity, and almost the strength of a tiger, the mutilated American sprang upon the tyrant, and grasped him where he stood, surrounded by officers, who for the moment, seemed paralyzed with astonishment; and before they could recover their senses, and hasten to the assistance of their commander, the flogged American had borne him to the gangway, and then clutching him by the throat with one hand, and firmly embracing him with the other, despite his struggles, he leaped with him into the turbid waters of Demerara! They parted to receive the tyrant and his victim, then closed over them, and neither were ever afterwards seen. Both had passed to their long account.

"Unanointed, unprepared, With all their imperfections on their heads."

But a brighter day has dawned upon the British navy. The odious system of impressment is abolished, never again to be adopted.

Economy in a Family.

There is nothing which goes so far towards placing young people beyond the reach of poverty, as economy in the management of their domestic affairs. It matters not whether a man furnishes little or much for his family, if there is leakage in his kitchen, much more in the parlor; it runs away he knows not how, and that demon, waste, cries more like the horse-leech's daughter, until he that provided has no more to give. It is the husband's duty to bring into the house, and the wife's duty to see that nothing goes wrongfully out of it—not the least article, however unimportant in itself—to establish a precedent; nor under any pretence, for it opens the door for ruin to stalk in, and he seldom leaves an opportunity unimproved.

A man gets a wife to look after his affairs and to assist him in his journey through life, and not to dissipate his property. The husband's interest should be the wife's care, and her greatest ambition carry her no further than his welfare or happiness, together with that of her children. This should be her sole aim, and the theatre of her exploits in the bosom of her family, where she may do as much towards making a fortune as he in a workshop or counting-room. It is not the money earned that makes a man wealthy—it is what he saves of his earnings. A good and prudent husband makes a deposit of the fruits of his labor with his best friend, and if the friend be not true to him what has he to hope? If he dare not place confidence in the companion of his bosom, where is he to place it? A wife acts not for herself only, but she is the agent for many she loves, and she is bound to act for their good, and not for her own gratification. Her husband's good to which she should aim—his approbation her reward. Self-gratification in dress, or indulgence in appetite, or more company than his purse can entertain, are equally pernicious—the first adds vanity to extravagance—the second fastens a doctor's bill to a butcher's long account—and the latter brings intemperance, the worst of evils, in its train.

Spoiled Little Eoy.

'Boo-hoo—I've eaten so much be-e-ef and t-turkey, that I can't eat any p-p-pium p-p-pudding!'

Miserable little Piche! Take your fists out of your eyes, and know that thousands who have grown up pinafore graduates are in the same slough of despond with your epicurean Lilliputians. Having washed the platter clean of every crumb of 'common fixins,' they are left with cloyed but tantalizing desires for the spectacle of some 'mocking' plum pudding.

'Can't you eat plum pudding?'

Why, you precious, graceless young glutton! you have the start of me by many an acher. I expect to furnish an appetite for every 'plum pudding' the Fates are kind enough to cook for me, from this till Teba Napoleon writes my epitaph.

Infatuated little Piche! come sit on my knee, and take a little advice. Don't you know you should only take a nibble out of each dish, and be parsimonious at that; always leaving off, be the morsel ever so dainty, before your little jacket buttons begin to tighten; while from some of the dishes you should not even lift the cover; taking aunt Fanny's word for it that their spicy and stimulating contents will only give you a pain under your apron. Bless your little soul! life's 'bull of fero' can be spun out as ingeniously as a cobweb, if you only understand it; and then you can sit in the corner, in good digestive order, and catch your flies! But if you once get a surfeit of a dainty, it takes the form of a pill to you ever after, unless the knowing cuisinier disguise it under some novel process of sugaring; and sadder still, if you exhaust yourself in the gratification of gross appetites, you will be bereft of your faculties for enjoying the pure and heavenly delights which 'Our Father' has provided as a dessert for his children.—Funny term.

Power of Fashion.

Fashion rules the world, and a most tyrannical mistress she is—compelling people to submit to the most inconvenient things imaginable for fashion's sake.

She pinches our feet with tight shoes, or chokes us with tight neck-keries, or squeezes the breath out of our body by tight lacing; she makes people sit up by night when they ought to be in bed, or keeps them in bed when they ought to be up and doing. She makes it vulgar to wait on one's self, and genteel to live idle and useless.

She makes people visit when they would rather stay at home, eat when they are not hungry and drink when they are not thirsty. She invades our pleasures and interrupts our business.

She ruins health and produces sickness, destroys life, and occasions premature death.

She makes foolish parents, invalids of children and servants of all.

She is a despot of the highest grade, full of intrigue and cunning, and yet husbands, wives, fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, and servants black and white, voluntarily have become her obedient servants and slaves, and they vie with one another to see who shall be the most obsequious.

She compels people to dress gaily, whether upon their own property, or that of others; whether agreeable to the word of God or the dictates of pride.

What I Love to See.

I love to see a child, when the father or mother, or any superior enters the room, and there is no chair by the fire in which either can sit, immediately rise and place one for their accommodation.

I love to see a child, when handing a book or a newspaper to a parent, so hand it that it will be received by the parent's hand all ready to open and read.

I love to see a child, when going to a table for refreshment, not to take a seat, if there be no chair at the place usually occupied by the father or mother, or some older person, until one is placed there.

I love to see a child, when addressed by a superior, give attention, and always answer any question with the addition of 'sir,' 'to no' and 'yes.'

I love to see a child, when sent on an errand, immediately start and promptly perform the duty, and then at once return home.

I love to see a child, when sent to school, not loiter by the way, but reach the school room at the time the teacher enters.

I love to see a child, who never insults strangers in the street,—who never throws snow balls after sleighs as they pass.

I love to see a child, who runs away from the children who use profane or vulgar language,—who shuns the society of the wicked.

I love to see a child, who is always obedient and respectful to parents, and who takes pleasure in rendering the many attentions which must relieve a dear mother or a devoted father.

I love to see a child, on the Sabbath, ever in the parent's pew, and always sober in countenance, and respectful in attention to the service of the sanctuary.

I love to see a child, when told to do this or that, at once perform, and never ask, 'Why can't John do it?' or say, 'you always ask me;' or 'I have all the work to do;' or 'John don't do any thing.'

In time, I love to see a child who knows the place of a child, and who ever conducts in such a manner as to secure the love of parents, and the approbation and esteem of neighbors and friends.—Youth's Instructor.

The Power of Silence.

A good woman, who was sadly annoyed by a termagant, who often visited her, and provoked a quarrel, at last sought the counsel of her pastor, who added sound common sense to his other good qualities. Having heard the story of her wrongs, he advised her to seat herself quietly down in the chimney corner when next visited, take the tongs in her hand, look steadily into the fire, and whenever a hard word came from her lips, gently snap the tongs without uttering a word.

A day or two afterwards, the good woman came again to her pastor with a bright and laughing face, to communicate the effects of this new antidote for scolding. Her trouble had visited her, and, as usual, commenced her tirade.

Snap went the tongs each time.

'Why don't you speak?' said the termagant, more enraged.

Snap.

'Speak!' said she.

Snap.

'Do you speak. I shall split myself if you don't speak!'

Snap.

And away she went, cured of her malady by the magic power of silence.

The Wife's Gentle Reproof.

One day as Zachariah Hodgson was going to his daily avocation after breakfast, he purchased a large codfish and sent it home, with directions to his wife to have it cooked for dinner.

As no particular mode of cooking was prescribed, the good woman well knew that whether she boiled it, or made it into chowder, her husband would scold her when he came home. But she resolved to please him once if possible, and therefore cooked several portions of it in several different ways.

She also, with some difficulty, procured an amphibious animal from a brook back of the house, and plumped it into the pot. In due time her husband came home; some covered dishes were placed on the table, and with a frowning, fault-finding look, the moody man commenced the conversation:

'Well, wife, did you get the fish I had sent home?'

'Yes my dear.'

'I should like to know how you have cooked it. I will bet anything you have spoiled it for my eating. [Takes the cover off.] I thought so. What in creation possessed you to fry it?'

'I would as lief eat a frog.'

'Why, my dear, I thought you loved it best fried.'

'You didn't think any such thing. You knew better—I never loved fried fish—Why didn't you boil it?'

'My dear, the last time we had fresh fish you know I boiled it, and you said you liked it best fried. But I have boiled some also.'

So saying she lifted up a cover, and lo! the shoulders of a cod nicely boiled, were neatly deposited in a dish, a sight of which would have made an epicure rejoice, but which added to the ill-nature of the husband.

'A pretty dish, this?' exclaimed he, 'boiled fish! chips and porridge? If you had not been one of the most stupid of women-kind, you would have made it into a chowder.'

His patient wife, with a smile, immediately placed a tureen before him, containing an excellent chowder.

'My dear, said she, 'I was resolved to please you. Here is your favorite dish.'

'Favorite dish, indeed! I dare say it is an unpalatable, wishywashy mess. I would rather have a boiled frog than the whole of it.'

This was a common expression of his, and had been anticipated by his wife, who, as soon as the preference was expressed, uncovered a large dish near her husband, and there was a large bull frog, of portentous dimensions and pugacious aspect, stretched out at full length! Zachariah sprung from his chair, not a little frightened at the unexpected apparition.

'My dear,' said his wife, in a kind entreating tone, 'I hope you will be able to make out a dinner.'

Zachariah could not stand this. His surly mood was finally overcome and he burst into a hearty laugh. He acknowledged that his wife was right, and he was wrong, and declared that she should never again have occasion to read him such another lesson. He was as good as his word.

An Excuse for Smoking.

In the reign of James I. of tobacco biting notoriety, the boys of a school acquired the habit of smoking, and indulged it night and day, using the most ingenious expedients to conceal the vice from their master, till one luckless evening, when the imps nudged together round the fire of their dormitory, involving each other in vapor of their creating, lo! in burst the master and stood in awful dignity before them.

'How now,' quoth the domine to the first lad; 'now dare you be smoking tobacco?'

'Sir,' said the boy, 'I am subject to headaches, and a pipe takes off the pain.'

'And you? and you? and you?' inquired the pedagogue, questioning every boy in his turn.

One had a 'raging tooth'; another, cholera; the third, a cough; in short they all had something.

'Now, sirrah,' bellowed the doctor to the last boy, 'what disorder do you smoke for?'

Alas! all the excuses were exhausted; but the interrogated youth, putting down his pipe, after a farewell wink, and looking up in his master's face, said in a winning hypocritical tone, 'Sir I smoke for corns!'

What I Have Noticed.

I have noticed that all men speak well of all men's virtues when they are dead; and tombstones are marked with epitaphs of 'good and virtuous,' is there any particular cemetery where the bad men are buried?

I have noticed that the prayer of every selfish man is 'forgive us our debts,' but he makes every body pay who owes him, to the utmost farthing.

I have noticed that death is a merciless judge, though not impartial. Every man owes a debt—Death summons the debtor to lay down his dust in the currency of mortality.

I have noticed that he who thinks every man is a rogue is very certain to see one when he snatches himself, and he ought, in turn, to see his neighbors, to surrender the rascal to justice.

I have noticed that money is the fool's wisdom, the knave's reputation, the wise man's jewel, the rich man's trouble, the poor man's desire, covetous man's ambition, and the wist of all.

I have noticed that whatever is, is right, with a few exceptions—the left eye, the left leg, and the left side of the plumed pudding.

I have noticed that merit is always measured in the world by its success.

I have noticed that in order to be a reasonable creature, it is necessary at times, to be downright mad.

I have noticed that as we are always wishing instead of working for fortunes, we are disappointed, and call Dame Fortune 'blind,' but it is the very best evidence that the old lady has the very best eyesight, and is 'no granny' with spectacles.

I have noticed that purses will hold pennies as well as pounds.

I have noticed that tombstones say 'Here he lies,' which no doubt is often the truth; and if men could see the epitaphs their friends sometimes write they would believe they had got into wrong grave.

'I Did as the Rest Did.'

This tame, yielding spirit—doing as 'the rest did,' has ruined thousands.

A young man is invited by vicious companions to visit the theatre, or the gambling room, or other haunts of licentiousness. He becomes dissipated, spends his time—loses his credit—squanders his property, and at last sinks into an untimely grave. What ruined him? Simply 'doing as the rest did.'

A father has a family of sons. He is wealthy. Other children in the same situations of life do so and so—are indulged in this and that. He indulges his own in the same way. They grow up idlers—triflers—and fools. The father wonders why his children do not succeed better. He has spent much money on their education—has given them great advantages. But, alas! they are only a source of vexation and trouble. Poor man, he is just paying the penalty of 'doing as the rest did.'

This poor mother strives hard to bring up her daughters genteelly. They learn what others learn, to paint, to sing, to play, to dance, and several other useless matters. In time they marry—their husbands are unable to support their extravagance—and they are soon reduced to poverty and wretchedness. The good woman is astonished. 'Truly,' says she, 'I did as the rest did.'

Cesar's Ride.

Cesar had been a faithful servant at one of our country inns many years. His master was kind to him, fed and clothed him well, and told him he should be well-cared for in his old age. Caesar took it into his head one day that he should like to go on a ride, put up at an inn, be waited on as he did on others, and put things through in style.

'Well, Cesar,' replied his good master, 'you shall have my best horse and chaise, and take Philis with you; and here is a five dollar note for you to spend. So you may go and blow it out at once.'

Cesar and his lady were soon down up in their best 'fixins,' the chaise was ready, they jumped in, and drove off in high glee. They pulled up at the inn in the next village; Cesar gave his horse in the charge of the ostler, with directions to give him a peck of oats and rub him down well; he then waited upon Miss Philis into the house, called for a room, a peck of cards, a bottle of brandy, and a good dinner.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, December 3d, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Burial Ground.

We would call the attention once more to the condition of the burial ground. Nearly all the tenements in our little city of the dead are occupied. Several new tombs are erected. Individuals have set apart lots and enclosed them; in some instances, we fear, encroaching upon the rights of the first occupants. It seems to us the day is not remote when a decent regard for the remains of acquaintances, friends and relatives, will compel the people to take some action in this matter.

Why not begin the work at once? We hope the first step will soon be taken. The winter is upon us, with its long evenings, why cannot the ladies give to this labor of love and duty, the benefit of their handiwork, their counsel and their influence? If the ladies should take up the work, and during the winter and spring make ready for a grand Fair, we believe before another Autumn we should have a new burial ground.

Many places have been mentioned as fit and proper. There would very naturally be some difference of opinion on this point. There is a tract of land on the side and top of the hill, in the rear of the President's Hill. There is another in the Common of Mr. Job Faxon, directly south of his residence. There are other localities with which our readers are as well acquainted as ourselves. We have no preference. We would have it, if possible, however, somewhere in view of the sea, and with other natural beauties. We wish, however, most of all, that the undertaking should be commenced. We would cheerfully commit the selection of the spot to those who shall have the spirit to begin and carry it through.

The Adams Literary Association.

We would again say a word in behalf of this body of worthy young men. We trust our readers duly appreciate the attempt which they and their friends are making to place their Association on durable foundations. We trust it will become an institution among us to be resorted to eagerly and with delight, for instruction and improvement. It has already done good. It has awakened a curiosity and desire for investigation of historical and literary subjects. Every increase of its library serves as additional allurement to our young men to join it.

The Fair which the ladies propose to hold on the 15th instant, is chiefly for the purpose of making additions to their library. They have a small and valuable library, made up by gifts from friends and by purchase. It is not large enough for thorough investigations of such subjects as usually come before such societies for discussion.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK. The December number of this best of American monthly publications came punctually to hand. It is splendidly illustrated by well executed and life like engravings, and the reading matter of that varied and marked character which makes this magazine an acceptable visitor in moral, intellectual, and intelligent families. The wholesome influence that characterizes its pages is of incalculable value to young ladies, and parents should readily subscribe instead of wasting their money on the light ephemeral literature of almost every day trashy and nonsensical novels, etc., which so abundantly teem from the press at a cheap rate;—the influence they are liable to exert is of the most dangerous and pernicious character. Not so with the chaste, interesting and classic literature of Godey's Lady's Book.

The January number commences a new volume, and now is the time to subscribe. It will be a superb number, and if it be possible will outvie any previous issue.

Petridge & Co., of Boston, and C. Gill & Co. of this town, are the Agents.

THE LYCEUM. We look with great pleasure upon the success of the Lyceum under the administration of the present Government. The lectures have been very interesting and instructive. The House has been crowded every night. Order has been preserved. We wish the government would recollect one thing that the purchase of a ticket obligates the receiver of the money to provide a seat for the purchaser. On Tuesday evening last, the readings of Mrs. E. P. Lesdernier seemed to give universal satisfaction and pleasure. On Tuesday evening next, Rev. Theodore Parker, the great religious-political philosopher of New England will deliver a lecture on "The Function of the Beautiful in the Development of Mankind."

For a programme of the lectures for December, the reader is referred to another column.

A NEW ARTICLE. Our boot and shoe manufacturers are invited to call at No. 69, Hanover Street, Boston, and examine the Patent Wax Thread Sewing Machine. It is an ingenious invention and well worthy of attention. Edward Arnold, formerly of this town, is the General Agent.

LADIES' HOSIERY. Hill, Lincoln, Geer & Co., Nos. 333 and 335 Washington Street, Boston, besides their extensive assortment of fashionable Dry Goods, keep a large and excellent variety of ladies' hosiery adapted to the seasons of the year; and as now is the time for winter purchases in this line, we recommend to all who will buy in Boston to give the above firm the first call. Mr. Greenwood, always ready and affable, attends to this department.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT. The Library connected with the Lyceum has been removed to the Hall of the Adams Literary Association, and Mr. George P. Hardwick appointed Librarian.

The same gentleman is Librarian for the Adams Literary Association.

The room is open every Monday evening.

APPOINTMENTS. The Governor and Council have appointed Bradford L. Wales of Randolph, Nahum Stetson, and Abraham L. Lowe of Bridgewater, Inspectors, and Levi L. Goodspeed of Barnstable, Superintendent of the State Almshouse at Bridgewater.

THE MAINE LIQUOR LAW. At the law term of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, which was lately held in Salem, quite a number of cases arising under the new liquor law were decided by the full bench. They were all submitted to the Court without argument, both by the counsel for the defendants, and by Attorney General Choate, for the Commonwealth. The opinion of the Court was delivered in all the cases, overruling all the exceptions which had been taken, and the motions in arrest of judgment which had been made, and sustaining both the law and the forms of indictment and complaint under it.

CONTEMPLATED RAILROAD. The Boston Post says:—It is currently reported that the Old Colony Railroad Company, are surveying a route from Myrick's through Swaney, and across Little's Narrows to Walker's Cove, at the south part of Bristol, (R. I.), with the view of putting on a line of steamboats to New York.

HON. SHERMAN LELAND. No Probate Judge has yet been appointed in place of Hon. Sherman Leland of Roxbury, who died on the 19th ult., at the age of seventy years. Judge Leland had held many honorable and responsible offices, among which were, that of President of the Senate, and Member of the Convention of 1820. He was appointed Judge of Probate in 1830, and discharged the duties of the office until his death.

THE PEOPLE'S JOURNAL. This is the title of a monthly publication which has made its appearance in New York City. It is to be an illustrated record of agriculture, mechanics, science, and useful knowledge. Published by Alfred E. Beach. It is beautifully illustrated with engravings, and is afforded at the low price of fifty cents a volume, or one dollar a year.

LAST GRAND CONCERT. By the request of a number of citizens, the Macomber Troupe (aided by Miss Fanny Wilder and Mr. Covert,) will give one more concert, at the Town Hall, on Saturday evening, the 10th inst. In years past, the "Macomber twins" used to draw full houses at their concerts, and the admirers of good singing, we trust, will now give them a crowded house, as they richly merit it. [See advertisement.]

NOW FOR CALIFORNIA. Attention is directed to the advertisement of the line of steamers to California, which appears in today's paper—E. Mills, Agent. We have confidence that every thing will be found as represented, and therefore recommend the attention of our friends to this line.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

Pardon, master, I will be correspondent to command, And do my duty gently.—SHAKESPEARE.

How few persons there are who can say no! I wish I was of them, but am not, else I would have given you such a notice. I would have forgotten myself just for once, and written, from very obstinacy, a whole column of huns! and hahs! and nods, and winks, and blinks, and shrugs. But, no, I am in an amiable mood and so I'll dip my pen in sweetest honey, nor have a drop of gall to give it flavor. I'll grant the humble prayer of "J. Member," and show the lady mercy. So Give yourself no unnecessary pain, My dear Lord Cardinal.

I could not, if I would, and I would not if I could say one word of censure, though twice softer than the falling dew, or milder than Mr. Toot's favorite beverage, a very "mild glass of lemonade."

Buz, quoth the blue fly, Hum, quoth the bee; Buz and hum they cry, And so do we.

Now, then, to my task in gentle mercy. Ahem. Mrs. Lesdernier "entertained and instructed us" by poetical readings last Tuesday, selected from various authors.

How did she look? Ah, yes, I almost forgot to tell you how she looked and dressed, as well as what she read. Well, she is a lady neither too old nor yet too young, to please an audience,—blest

With goodly grace and comely personage—a profusion of jetty hair, brushed plainly over her ears,—a pair of (almost) black, twinkling eyes,—a face rather long than full, and tapering to the chin,—a full lip, and a round, prominent forehead. Figure, tall and graceful, encased in a green velvet dress, bodice opened in front to the skirt, with a basque,—white vest terminating in a closely fitting collar.

She commenced by reading from Macbeth, Act I, Scene V. A most unfortunate selection for most readers, and by no means adapted to her power, or, apparently to her taste. It was not read as I like to hear such passages read. It sounded strange to my ear to hear the line

And that which rather thou dost fear to do, read

And that which thou dost &c.

Nor did I like to hear the hiss of an S at the end of the line

That I may pour my spirits in thine ear; She next read Southey's "March to Moscow," and read it well. The "parbleu!" was finely given.

Poe's "Song of the Bells" came next, and was fairly given. I don't like it and never shall!

Holmes' "Young Oyster-man" was hardly new enough to heed notice. This was followed by the second Scene, Act V, Henry V, which no woman, save a Kemble or a Cushman, can read decently. Mrs. L. while reading it brought to mind that

Forsaken, woful, solitary maid, Whom Spenser tells us

In wilderness and wasteful deserts stray'd. So completely lost did she seem among the hot, and ardent protestations of the boisterous Henry. The "Lady's Dream," which we did not comprehend, was followed by the "Lost Heir," which we did fully. This latter was happily done, and I was almost disposed to cry "bravo! encore!" But I dare not make "a noise." Then came that dreadful "Mancian" very well rendered indeed, followed by the "Power of Passion," and the lady's exit.

Now, have I not in "mercy" judged the lady? Hamlet asks "Use every man after his deserts, and who shall escape whipping?" Not one. The men shall have their deserts, but the ladies—ah well, "fastidious gentlemen" must put on their gloves and "handle with care."

The selections, as will be perceived, were not of the highest range of poetry, but any poetry is better than all prose.

LISHMAHAGO.

For the Patriot.

Political Jeu D'Esprit.

MR. EDITOR:—The following Jeu d'Esprit is so decidedly clever, that it can hardly fail to please the individuals of the party, whose case it so aptly describes; but if they should not be pleased with it, they cannot, I think, fail, in the language of Hamlet, to acknowledge it "a very palpable hit."

Yours, PUNCH.

Report of President Banks and the Committee of Twenty on the Constitutional Propositions.

"RESOLVED, That the Secretary shall deliver said copies (the returns of votes on the Constitution) to a Committee of this Convention, consisting of the President of the Convention, and twenty other members, who shall assemble at the State House, on the third Monday of December next, and open and count the votes returned.

And the said Committee shall promulgate the result of said votes."—Resolves of the Constitutional Convention.

Not a word was said, not a laugh nor a jest, As the bags on the table we tumbled, Not a single free soiler his venom expressed, Not one of the "dear people" grumbled!

We counted them slowly from noon till dark, The votes with our gloves on computing, For the paws of the people had left their mark, And we feared the small box in the gluten.

No useless excuses we made or professed, Nor in times nor in Commonwealth bound them, But they lay like a humbug exposed and con-

With the scorn of the people around them.

Few and short were the words that we said, Though Banks was the principal talker; But we steadfastly gazed on the face of THE DEAD—

Poor Wilson, and Bishop, and Walker.

We thought as we added the ayes and the noes,—That result we shall always remember,—That the wing and the hunker would laugh at the woes

Of the session that meets in December.

Loudly they'll swear at us, sternly they'll frown, For the money spent in convention, But nothing we'll reck, for we know it's gone down

To a place 'tis not proper to mention.

Ere half of our heavy task was done, We were all of us almost choking, To think of the ridicule, satire, and fun, That the whigs would be wickedly poking.

Slowly and sadly we gathered them in, Just as the people had cast them; And we said not a word, but we thought, with a grin,

They've now got a dose that will last them.

MAGAZINES. Harper's, Putnam's, Graham's, Godey's, magazines, for December, received. Petridge & Co., Boston, and at the Quincy Bookstore.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

Albert Smith has lately won a foot race in Lockport, N. Y., against Steeprock, the Indian runner. The distance was five and three-quarter miles, which was performed by the former in twenty-eight minutes and one second.

A man recently put up at a hotel in Hudson, N. Y., with his wife. In the morning when he awoke, his wife was gone, and he found upon exploring his pockets that about four thousand dollars in cash was missing.

London extends over an area of seventy-eight thousand and twenty-nine acres, of one hundred and twenty-two square miles; and the number of its inhabitants, rapidly increasing, was two million three hundred and sixty-two thousand two hundred and thirty-six, on the day of the last census.

It is no joke to be a New York fireman. One company has been known to expend in a single year as much as six thousand dollars in entertaining their brethren from other cities.

A tailor, who in skating fell through the ice, declared that he would never again leave a hot goose for a cold duck.

It is stated that of five hundred and forty-three young ladies who fainted during the last year, more than one-half of them fell into the arms of gentlemen. Only two had the misfortune to fall upon the floor.

There exists in some parts of Germany, a law to prevent drinking during divine service. It runs thus:—Any person drinking in an ale house during divine service on Sunday, or other holiday, may legally depart without paying.

The census of 1850 shows the number of newspapers published in United States to be 2,800, of which 2,000 are published in the free, and 800 in the slave States. About 850 are whig, 750 democratic, 40 free soil, 20 agricultural, 40 temperance, 200 religious, and 870 neutral and miscellaneous.

On the banks of the River Nation, in Canada, two hunters' dogs pressed close on a deer, which took to the river. On approaching the animal in a canoe, they were surprised to perceive it struggling desperately, being every now and then jerked suddenly under water. The hunters dragged the deer into the canoe, when a turtle, weighing forty pounds was found firmly fastened to its tail. The turtle retained its grip for upwards of two hours after the deer was killed.

The New York Mirror asserts the belief, that one half of the fires that occur in that city are the deliberate work of the Parisians. For proof it refers to the statistics of the Fire Records, which show that the frequency of disastrous fires bears a proportion to the tightness of the money market.

QUINCY AGAINST LYNN FOREVER. The Lynn Bay State made mention a few weeks since of the labors of two blacksmiths in that city, who, together made two hundred horse shoes in ten hours, worth eighteen dollars and seventy cents, and adds that these men can't be beat. This "can't be beat" is a little in advance of facts which we give of two of our enterprising townsmen.

Mr. Moses C. Parker, with Patrick White as helper, turned two hundred good horse shoes, weighing two hundred and nineteen pounds, worth nineteen dollars and seventy-one cents, in seven hours and twenty-five minutes. The shoes can be seen at Savi's blacksmith's shop.

To make one shoe requires two hundred and seventy-two blows—eighty-six for the sledge-hammer, and one hundred and eighty-six for the one who handles the shoe, consequently the amount of blows given in making the above lot, was—Mr. White, 17,200 blows, and Mr. Parker 37,200.

It is very difficult to find a workman who can perform his part in so easy, thorough and acceptable a manner as Mr. White, and of the mechanical talents of Mr. Parker they will compare with any blacksmith to be found.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 24th ult., by Rev. Mr. Sargent, Mr. URIAH P. CURRIER to Miss CAROLINE A. LOGGIE.

A kind remembrance came with the above notice. May the beautiful and appropriate ornament to the cake be emblematic of the future scenes of our friends—one series of the beautiful—the pure—the good.

In Weymouth, on the 24th ult., by Rev. Mr. Perkins of Braintree, Mr. J. Warren Burdell of this town, to Miss Caroline S Hunt of the first named place.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 27th ult., Mr. Morrill B. Whicker, aged 45 years. On the 28th ult., Annie, daughter of Mr. Charles E. and Mrs. Emeline P. French, aged 4 months.

A monthly meeting of Niagara Engine Company, No. 1, will be held at their Hall, next MONDAY EVENING, at 8 o'clock.

A Chowder will be "served up."

A full attendance is desired; Fine members are invited to attend.

SETH CRANE, Clerk. Quincy, Dec. 3. 1w

AN ASSEMBLY will be held at Washington Hall, (Quincy Point,) THURSDAY EVENING, Dec. 8th, at 8 o'clock. Tickets, 50 cents.

Special Notices.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.

The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have engaged to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz.

On Tuesday, December 6th, REV. THEODORE PARKER; Subject, The Function of the Beautiful in the Development of Mankind.

On Tuesday, December 13th, MATTHEW HALE SMITH, Esq.

On Tuesday, December 20th, HON. ROBERT C. WINSTROP.

On Tuesday, December 27th, REV. S. K. LOTHROP.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary. Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w

A very few tickets remain unsold. Those wanting them will please apply to the Secretary, or to Gill & Co., at the Quincy Bookstore.

LEVEE.

For the benefit of the Adams Literary Association, a Levee will be held at the Town Hall, in Quincy, on the evening of Dec. 15th.

The following gentlemen are expected to speak on the occasion:—

HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS, HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, JR., GEORGE WHITE, Esq.

For those who take pleasure in Dancing, the Germania Serenade Band, (G. Schnapp, Leader), has been engaged to perform on the occasion.

All donations for the Benefit Table, Chance Boxes, Post Office, etc., will be thankfully received on that day, at the Lyceum Room, where a Committee will be in readiness to receive and make the necessary arrangements.

Several Committees have been appointed to take charge of dance floor, receiving room, clothing, etc.

The Committee have endeavored to make the occasion the grandest of the season.

Tickets for Admission, 25 cents, to be had only at the Lyceum Room on the day and evening of the Levee.

Tickets for Dancing, 50 cents, to be had only at the Floor Managers, whose names will be seen upon the cards for dancing.

Entrance to the Hall through the Lyceum Room.

The whole affair will be conducted by the Chairmen of the different Committees.

Per order of Committee of Arrangements. Quincy, Dec. 3. 2w

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 5th, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

A full and punctual attendance is requested.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President. JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

The Ladies of Milton and Quincy, connected with the First Universalist Society in Milton, will hold their Levee at the Town Hall, in Quincy, on THURSDAY, Dec. 8th—the doors will open at 6 o'clock P. M. There will be good speaking and refreshments; also, French's Band has been engaged for the occasion.

The people in the vicinity are respectfully invited to attend.

Tickets, 25 cents, to be had at the door. Milton, Dec. 3. 1w

QUINCY CHARITABLE SOCIETY. An adjourned meeting of the Directors of this Society, will be held at the house of the Vice President, Rev. Nelson Clark, on WEDNESDAY EVENING next, at 7 o'clock.

E. LORD, Secretary. Quincy, Dec. 3. 1w

Remember the Mutual Loan meeting, THIS EVENING, in the Lyceum Room, at 7 o'clock. All come.

NOTICE. The following persons have signified their intention to close their places of business on the evening of the regular meeting of the Quincy Lyceum, each week, at 7 1-2 o'clock, for the purpose of giving all an opportunity to attend the lectures before that institution.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE, GEORGE SAVIL & Co., CALEB GILL & Co., WM. S. UNDERWOOD, GEO. B. NIGHTINGALE, JOHN HOLDEN, JR., B. F. MESERVEY, C. & L. CURTIS, JOHN A. HOLDEN, JAMES O'BRIEN, Successor to John Dinegan.

JOHN RUSSELL. Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

Dr. MARDEN, successor to Dr. L. Goodnow, would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has recently taken up his residence in town, and that he will be happy to wait on all who may need his professional services.

Dr. Marden having been extensively and successfully engaged in the reformed practice of medicine for a number of years, flatters himself that his intimate acquaintance with the duties and responsibilities of his profession eminently qualifies him to discharge those duties with entire satisfaction. He therefore respectfully and confidently solicits a share of public patronage.

Residence and Office at the "old stand," corner of Hancock and Granite Streets. Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

By Particular Request FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY!

The Macomber Troupe,

Comprising the following well known and talented performers:

Miss FANNY WILDER, the celebrated Vocalist, and New England Ballad Singer, Guitar.

Miss CLARA MACOMBER, Violinist, Miss ELLEN MACOMBER, Guitar, Miss ELLEN WILDER, the Favorite Alto, assisted by the popular Comic Ballad Singer

MRS. COVERT,

Would most respectfully announce one of their popular and pleasing Vocal and Instrumental

CONCERTS!

at TOWN HALL, Quincy, on SATURDAY EVENING, December 10. Doors open at 6, Concert to commence at 7 o'clock.

For particulars see Programme. Quincy, Dec. 3. 1w

CALEB PACKARD.

DEALER in SILKS, SHAWLS, FURS, Dress and Domestic Goods of every description.

Also—White Goods, Laces, Dress and Cloak Trimmings, Gimps Braids and Embroideries, a large lot of Hosiery, and a great variety of fancy articles.

GENTS' and BOYS' Ready Made Clothing,

AND FURNISHING GOODS! BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS, VALISES, CARPET BAGS, UMBRELLAS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.

FURNITURE, of every description constantly on hand, or furnished at the shortest notice.

Also—MATTRESSES and FEATHERS of every quality. I would ask the particular attention of the public to this branch of my business.

MULLINERY GOODS! Customers wishing Goods of this class, will find always a carefully selected Stock, of the latest and best styles. BONNETS, made and trimmed.

CARPETINGS, of every style and quality; Crochery, China, Glass, and Britannia Ware, Solar Lamps and Shades, and a general assortment of House-keeping Goods. I would respectfully invite the attention of my friends and customers, to my present varied Stock, to which I am constantly making addition, and solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in my line.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w

For California.

Independent Opposition Line.

Through Tickets AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

THE new and splendid Steamship YANKEE BLADE, 2250 tons, will sail from New York for Aspinwall, on Tuesday, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., connecting with the new and unequalled Steamship UNCLE SAM, 2000 tons, which will sail immediately on the arrival of the passengers at Panama for San Francisco direct, without stopping at any of the intermediate ports. These steamships are vastly superior to any others on the route, in every point, but more particularly as to their speed, ventilation and good accommodations.

It is confidently expected that the passage will be made to California in twenty-two days, notwithstanding the report of rumormongers that the old Monopoly's steamers are equal to those of this line. By referring to the Marine Insurance Companies' books in this city, it will be seen that the steamer of this line stand at a much better average rate than those of any other line on the route. Passengers procuring tickets from this office shall have their money refunded and be presented with a free ticket, if the above is not found to be a fact on inquiry of the underwriters.

The travelling public should bear in mind that this is the only Oppositor's Line, and that it is its advantage to patronize it, and secure a continuance of uniform low rates and good fare.

The books are now open, and the public will find it greatly to their advantage to secure their tickets early. Tickets will be sold 10 per cent. less than the lowest rates of any other line, if secured by forwarding one-half the amount before the 5th of December.

For passage, apply only to E. MILLS, Agent, 51 Cortlandt St. New York City, Dec. 3. 3w

P. S. Tickets for crossing the Isthmus will be furnished if required.

Julien's Monster Orchestra.

By Particular Request

FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY!

The Macomber Troupe,

Comprising the following well known and talented performers:

Miss FANNY WILDER, the celebrated vocalist, and New England Ballad Singer, &c.

Miss CLARA MACOMBER, Violinist, &c.

Miss ELLEN MACOMBER, Guitar, &c.

Miss ELLEN WILDER, the Favorite Alto, &c.

By the popular Comic Ballad Singer

MRS. COVERT,

could most respectfully announce one of the popular and pleasing Vocal and Instrumental

CONCERTS!

TOWN HALL, Quincy, on SATURDAY evening, December 10. Doors open at 6, concert to commence at 7 o'clock.

For particulars see Programme. Quincy, Dec. 3. 1w

SALEB PACKARD.

DEALER IN SILKS, SHAWLS, FURS, Dress and Domestic Goods of every description.

White Goods, Laces, Dress and Cloak Trimmings, Gimpes Braids and Embroideries, a large lot of Hosiery, and a great variety of fancy articles.

GENTS' and BOYS' Ready Made Clothing,

AND FURNISHING GOODS: BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS, VALISES, CARPET BAGS, UMBRELLAS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.

FURNITURE,

every description constantly on hand, or to order at the shortest notice.

Also—MATTRESSES and FEATHERS of every quality. I would ask the particular attention of the public to this branch of my business.

MILLINERY GOODS!

Customers wishing Goods of this class, will find always a carefully selected Stock, of the latest and best styles. BONNETS, made and trimmed.

CARPETINGS, of every style and quality; Crochery, China, Glass and Britannia Ware, Solar Lamps and Shades, and a general assortment of House-keeping Goods. I would respectfully invite the attention of my friends and customers, to my present varied Stock, to which I am constantly making addition, and solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in my line.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 1f

For California.

Independent Opposition Line.

Through Tickets

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

THE new and splendid Steamship "YANKEE" BLADE, 2200 tons, will sail from New York on Tuesday, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., connecting with the new and quick Steamship "UNCLE SAM," 2000 tons, which will sail immediately on the arrival of the passenger at Panama for San Francisco direct, without stopping at any of the intermediate ports. These steamships are vastly superior to any others on the route, in every point, but more particularly as to speed, ventilation and good accommodations. It is confidently expected that the passage will be made to California in twenty-two days, notwithstanding the report of rumors that the old Monarchs are to be replaced by those of this line. By leaving to the Marine Insurance Companies' office in this city, it will be seen that the steamers of this line stand at a much lower average rate than those of any other line on the route. Passengers procuring tickets from this office shall have their money refunded and be presented with a free ticket, if the above is not found to be a fact on the return of the undersigned.

The travelling public should bear in mind that this is the only OFFICIAL LINE, and that it is their advantage to patronize it.

Passengers of uniform low rates and good fare.

The looks are now open, and the public will find it greatly to their advantage to secure their berth early. Tickets will be sold 10 per cent. less than the lowest rates of any other line, if secured by forwarding one-half the amount before the 5th of December.

For passage apply only to

E. M. HALL, Agent, 51 Cortlandt St., New York City, Dec. 3.

P. S. Tickets for crossing the Isthmus will be provided as required.

Julien's Monster Orchestra.

WHEREVER Julien's name is known, the "Katy Did" Polka has a universal popularity. There have been more copies of this piece sold, for the short time it has been issued, than any other musical composition ever published in America. Christy's "The Other Side of Jordan," though it has not equaled in numbers the sale of the "Katy Did," yet the demand for it is great, and it is driving out of market the many spurious copies purporting to be copies of Christy's "The Other Side of Jordan." It has an illustrated title, and portrait of Earle H. Pierce, its composer. All others are spurious. Christy's new Songs, Old Time Songs, and Songs from Kentucky are having a glorious run. They are rightly sought after.

239 Broadway, publish all the above.

New York City, Dec. 3. 2w

For Sale,

THE Passenger House belonging to the Methodist Episcopal Church (Quincy Centre) and within five minutes walk of the Depot. Inquire either of S. HIGGINS, or S. ANDREWS.

Quincy, Dec. 3. 1f

Thibet Goods.

JUST received a large and fashionable lot of Thibet Goods, all colors, which will be sold at a small advance price above cost.

Wm. HALL & SON, Quincy, Dec. 3. 3w

Pictorial.

BROTHER JONATHAN for Christmas and New Year, for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 3. 3w

DISCOVERIES among the ruins of Babylon and Nineveh; by Austin H. Layard. One volume. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 3. 3w

1854. The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert B. Thomas, for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 15. 3w

John Holden, Jr.,

SHOP, one door East of the Post Office,

WOULD invite the attention of the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JOHN DINEGAN, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of

Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Petersham, Pilot Cloth, &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the lowest price for cash.

Also—A large and splendid lot of

Ready Made Clothing, which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dinegan, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

The one price system will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES O'BRIEN, Quincy, Nov. 12.

Dr. Wm. M. Cornell,

No 630 Washington Street, Boston.

In addition to general practice, has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Skin, Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home 12 to 2 P. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M.

ELECTRICITY is medically applied in all cases where it is indicated.

Boston, Nov. 26. 1f

Botanic Medicine Depot,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy Articles, &c., &c., &c.

he now offers them to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reformed Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 1f

New Book for Ladies.

THE BEHAVIOR BOOK—A Manual for Ladies—By Miss Leslie. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

New Book

AND Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased and fitted Store No. 7 State Street, (See Building) in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK, PERIODICAL and NEWSPAPER BUSINESS, in all of the various branches.

They are prepared to furnish ALL Books at the shortest possible notice.

All NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon as published and sold at the lowest prices.

HOOPER & UNDERWOOD.

JAMES C. HOOPER, E. UNDERWOOD, JR.

Subscriptions received for all the MAGAZINES and NEWSPAPERS of the day.

Boston, Nov. 26. 1f

Citizens of Quincy,

ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.

Also—one case Women's extra Para Rubbers.

GEO. B. NIGHTINGALE.

N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7 1/2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum.

Quincy, Nov. 19. 7w

Mattresses.

CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and for sale by

I. W. MUNROE.

Quincy, May 21. 1f

Butter! Butter!!

30 to 40 tubs of first rate DAIRY BUTTER, for sale by

D. BAXTER & CO.

Quincy, Oct. 29. 1f

MONEY IS UP.

DRY GOODS

Are Down.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.

Will offer their LARGE STOCK of

Shawls, Cloaks, Mantillas, Silk Goods, Velvets, Dress Goods,

RAW SILK and DRESS PLAINS, Cloths, Thibets, Merinos, Cashmeres, MOURNING ARTICLES, EMBROIDERIES, LACES, TRIMMINGS, GENTS' SHAWLS, SHIRTING LINES,

Blankets, Quilts, Domestic, HOSIERY, GLOVES, &c.,

At prices corresponding to the increased value of MONEY.

BARGAINS may be EXPECTED.

As we never allow our customers to be drawn away from us by better bargains than we offer them ourselves.

Geo. W. Warren & Co., 192 Washington St.

Boston, Nov. 26. 4w

Executor's Sale of REAL ESTATE!

PURSUANT to a License from the Probate Court, for the County of Norfolk, dated November 5th, 1853, authorizing the sale of the Real Estate of Nathaniel Glover, late of Quincy, in said County, deceased; therefore, will be sold at public auction, on MONDAY, the 12th day of December next, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, about one acre and a quarter of Land, with the buildings thereon, it being the Homestead of said deceased.

Said property is pleasantly situated within about sixty rods of the Depot.

Conditions made known at the sale.

LLOYD GOODNOW, Executor.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

Snuff and Snuff Beans.

A FINE article of Rappee Snuff, perfumed with Bergamot; also, a lot of Snuff Beans, for sale cheap at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE.

Quincy, Nov. 5. 3w

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,

ON THE

Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JOHN DINEGAN, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of

Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Petersham, Pilot Cloth, &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the lowest price for cash.

Also—A large and splendid lot of

Ready Made Clothing, which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dinegan, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

The one price system will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES O'BRIEN, Quincy, Nov. 12.

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A new assortment of FALL and WINTER CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store,

TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in a good style, and will be sold at a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1f

For Gentlemen's Wear.

A LARGE assortment of HATS, CAPS, SHIRTS, DRAWERS, and Gents FURNISHING GOODS.

A large assortment of READY MADE CLOTHING.

A large assortment of CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS and Heavy COATINGS, which will be made into Garments of any description, at short notice, by

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,

Goodnow's Building,

Cor. Hancock and Granite Sts.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1f

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 to 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces.

The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 15. 6w

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE,

Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1f

Rats and Mice.

NORTH AMERICAN Rat and Mouse Extinction Pills, which has been tried and proved successful, by many families in this town and vicinity.

Also—Madagascar Rat Extinction, and various other kinds. For sale by

MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Oct. 15. 1f

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING having finished and arranged his new Store would express his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. STRICT PERSONAL attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Skin Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Seale's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Rheumatic Liniment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches, constantly on hand and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.

Quincy, Sept. 10. 1f

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of

W. J. Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Stone and Earthen Ware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure patronage and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.

OZEN JOSSELYN.

Quincy, Nov. 12. 1f

Notice.

DOCTOR GOODNOW, being about to leave town, for a season, most respectfully invites all persons having unsettled accounts with him, to call and settle the same. All accounts that are not settled during the month of November, will be left for collection.

Quincy, Nov. 12. 1f

Neat's Foot Oil.

FOR sale cheap for cash, by

D. BAXTER & CO.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 1f

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Nutmeg, Alspice, Peach-Water, Treble Distilled Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory, Thyme, Sage, etc., etc.

Extract of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article.

Quincy, Oct. 20. 1f

Traders

WILL find Blank Books, Order, Pass, Receipt, Note and Bill Books; Letter Paper of all qualities, Bill Paper, Envelopes, best Ink, Steel Pens, at the lowest wholesale prices at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 19. 3w

Brown's

LMANAC, Pocket Memorandums and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the

QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Nov. 19. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

OF THE

TREMONT ROW

SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK

AND INCREASED FACILITIES.

To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS,

CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,

LACES & EMBROIDERIES,

Domestic & Housekeeping Goods.

OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,

1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,

GIVE NOTICE TO THE

LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add to their

New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature

to constitute their Establishment the

LARGEST AND BEST

RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE

IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that

Unlike other large Dry Goods Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS

Who have SO LONG AND SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & CO.

are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thibets and Cashmeres, FANCY and STAPLE

Dress and Cloak Goods

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

PARIS CLOA S

and all similar articles in great profusion, Laces and Embroideries,

GLOVES, HOSIERY, &c. &c.

ALL AT

Bargains! Bargains!! Bargains!!!

as we BUY FOR CASH, and do not ASSESS OUR CUSTOMERS

To pay the expense of six or eight months' credit on our Goods!

As usual, are contributing abundantly Choice Goods to our mammoth assortment, and we say with confidence

WHAT THE LAST TEN YEARS HAS PROVED,

that Purchasers can no where find in one store an equal amount of

Extra, Medium & Common

Qualities

for sale at such decided bargains.

We conclude by adding that Purchasers will not know where the Boston Market really contains, unless they consult this unrivalled assortment. As inspection of it

WILL DO THEM NO HARM,

and

MAY DO THEM MUCH GOOD,

dried in iron pans over a stove, and are stirred by the hand during the process. So extensive is the demand for tea, that the East India Company, in the year 1829-30, sold 29,000,000 lbs., and the entire consumption in Europe and America at present is supposed to amount to 100,000,000 lbs. annually.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, December 10th, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

The President's Message.

The presentation of this document to the House of Representatives took place on Tuesday last, and at the same time it was circulated in Boston and throughout the principal places in the United States. The Message makes a plain statement of the condition of the country, and a short review of our relation with other powers. We are at peace with all the world. It gives a full account of our revenue and the state of our finances, which are represented to be highly prosperous. It recommends the policy of supplying our surplus funds to the liquidation of the public debt. It alludes to the deficiency of the Post Office receipts compared with the expenses; the deficit amounts to two million dollars, which is mainly attributable to the high rates paid to rail-roads for the transportation of the mails. It gives an account of the affair at Smyrna, in relation to Martin Kosza, and sustains the course pursued by Capt. Ingraham. It does not favor internal improvements, and connected therewith the rail-road to the Pacific, but at the same time the objections are so worded, that if Congress should sustain the measure, the assent of the President would not violate any opinion expressed in the Message. An allusion is made to the expedition to Japan, but no information has been received, how far the Emperor of that country is disposed to abandon his restrictive policy as to merchandise exported from the United States.

It gives the Compromise measures a quiet kick, by the intimation that they were opposed in by distinguished citizens which has a very different meaning than saying that they were supported and sustained because they were right.

The President says, that 'men inhabiting different parts of this vast continent, can not be expected to hold the same opinions or entertain the same sentiments;' and it also says, that 'a spirit of strict deference to the sovereign rights and dignity of every State, rather than a disposition to subordinate the States into a provincial relation to the central authority, should characterize all our exercise of the respective powers temporarily vested in us, as a sacred trust from the generous confidence of our constituents'—sentiments, which are correct in every particular, and are only remarkable as coming from a quarter which has so recently violated the State rights of New York and Massachusetts by interfering in their State elections.

Taking it as a whole, the Message will pass off pretty well. While there is in it nothing new, brilliant or worthy of commendation, there is also very little which is open to serious objection. It is somewhat long, and if it emanated from a whig President would be considered good, but from the Democratic head of this great nation, it falls far short of public expectation.

MOUNT WOLLASTON BANK. We notice in that reliable publication—Dye's Bank Mirror, of Cincinnati (Ohio)—that the bills of the Mount Wollaston Bank of this town, pass at par in that vicinity, while all the other country banks of this State are at a discount of one per cent. This speaks well of an institution which has so recently commenced operations, and shows the confidence the people repose in its intelligent board of managers.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE. The December number, which commences the eighth volume, has been duly received. The circulation of this magazine has risen to the almost incredible number of one hundred and thirty-five thousand copies. "This popularity may be attributed to the object of the publishers which has been steadily kept in view—to present, at the cheapest rate and in the best style, the largest possible amount of reading matter, having value and interest for the greatest number of the American people. And, in fact, this has been adhered to in every respect—no one department of the work has been slighted or neglected, but, if possible, made better than promised. Now is the time to commence a subscription to a monthly issue of superior worth.

Fetridge & Co., of Boston, and C. Gill & Co., of this town, are Agents, where copies may be examined.

NEW AND CHOICE MUSIC. Attention is called to the advertisement of William Hall & Son of New York City, which will be found in another column. Our musical friends, who may wish to obtain the best, earliest and choicest pieces of music, should not neglect to send their orders to the above firm, as they publish none but of the highest character.

Meeting of Congress.

The Senate was called to order, on Monday last, by Mr. Atchison, the presiding officer, and a quorum was present. Several orders have been introduced upon various subjects.

The Treasurer's Report, containing 296 pages, was laid upon the members' desks. The total estimate for the year ending 30th of June, 1853, amounts to $10,156,000.

The Navy estimates reach the sum of $10,231,000.

In the House, Linn Boyd, the regular democratic caucus nominee, was re-elected Speaker, having received 143 votes to 25 given to Joseph R. Chandler, (whig) and there was 10 scattering. When the roll was called, 217 members answered.

John W. Forney was re-elected Clerk, receiving 121 votes out of 200 polled.

The remaining Officers were re-appointed by resolution.

Several orders have been introduced, and among them one in favor of Commander Ingraham of Smyrna celebrity, in favor of presenting him with a sword for his gallant conduct in that affair.

Norfolk County Representatives.

Brookline—Willard A. Humphrey, whig. Beltingham—No choice. Democrat last year.

Braintree—No choice. Whig last year.

Canton—Charles H. French, whig.

Cassett—Jonathan B. Bates, whig.

Dorchester—R. Richardson, Lewis Pierce, whigs.

Dover—Ralph Sanger, whig. None last year.

Dealton—Waldo Colburn, whig.

Franklin—No choice.

Fuzboro'—James Stratton, whig.

Medfield—C. P. Sewall, whig. None last year.

Milton—Jason Reed, whig. None last year.

Medway—A. C. Grant, coalition gain. None last year.

Nedham—No choice.

Quincy—No choice—last year one whig and one democrat.

Randolph—Bradford L. Wales, national democrat.

Roxbury—Wm. Gaston, Wm. A. Crafts, Hiram Hall, James Guild, Charles E. Grant, Edward Richards, whigs—4 last year.

Sharon—No choice.

Sloughton—No choice. Coalition last year.

Weymouth—No choice. Two coalition last year.

Wrentham—No choice.

Walpole—Henry Plympton, whig. None last year.

Whigs, 17. National Democrat, 1. Coalition, 1.

Last year—Whigs 13. National Democrat, 1. Coalition, 3.

MECHANICS: THEIR PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS. Edited by Oliver Byrne. De Witt & Davenport of New York City. Price 75 cents, cloth.

We are much pleased at the appearance of a work of which every line is both practical and useful. There is no subject that so well repays the time devoted to its study, as the Science of Mechanics, and there is no study so honorable among men, as that which conveys the knowledge by which a thinking man can elevate himself to the loftiest height of human ambition. 'To be useful is to be happy' is a wise saying, and one to the truth of which every good mechanic is a living attestation. Here is a book which, in the smallest practicable compass, lays open to the young artisan a mine of mechanical wealth, and teaches him how to render the mightiest powers of the LEVER, SCREW, WEDGE, PULLEY, &c., &c., subservient to his directing and guiding hand. A man who is 'posted up' in mechanical knowledge, is the possessor of a fortune which no 'pressure' can affect. He is independent of the fluctuations of trade, and can dictate his own terms to those who, while possessing the means, have not the genius to shape it to any useful end—so true is it that mind is superior to metal. We would say to all young men who through our workshops, make yourself good mechanics, and you must do well. And, as a means to that end, we would direct you to the careful study of this book, than which there is, to our knowledge, no work better suited to the mechanic.

DODGE'S LITERARY MUSEUM. This popular publication begins the eighth volume with the number for Dec. 10th, which we have received. A prize tale—"Zimmozi, the Slave Prince: or the Outlaw's Mount"—commences in this week's issue and will be continued until finished. Five hundred dollars was actually paid to the author, Augustine Dugan, a writer of merited celebrity, and whose productions are much admired by the reading community. The Museum has been improved in mechanical appearance; and in its editorial management, Messrs. Ossian E. Dodge and William O. Eaton will make it equal, if not superior, to any paper of its kind in the country. They possess means, tact, talents and energy, to carry their purposes into execution. May success still continue to crown their labors.

☞ "Franklin, Jr." came too late.

For the Patriot.

An Offset.

MR. EDITOR:—In your paper of Dec. 3d, there appeared a poetical effusion, reflecting severely upon the character and standing of gentlemen belonging to the Democratic and Free Soil parties, prefaced with some remarks over the signature of "Punch." It is an old adage, that those who live in glass houses should not throw stones, for two can play at that game. In the following article, the poetical part is somewhat altered, but the preliminary remarks have been adopted unchanged.

"POLITICAL JEU D'ESPRIT."

MR. EDITOR:—The following jeu d'esprit is so decidedly clever, that it can hardly fail to please the individuals of the party, whose case it so aptly describes; but if they should not be pleased with it, they cannot, I think, fail, in the language of Hamlet, to acknowledge it 'a very palpable hit.'

Yours, Pencil.

A low rowdy gang in a liquor bazaar,
That with fumes of stork sixes was filled,
Began to dispute what whorries it were,
The new constitution killed.

The blue-eyed and beastly were there in a crowd,
(They compose the whig party to-day.)
Black spirits and white, with oaths deep and loud
Were part of that ghastly array.

'Twas I' said the seller of grog, 'and although I wallow in filth like a pig,
Though ruin and death strew my path as I go,
I'm not half so mean as a whig.'

'Twas I' screamed the liar—'deception I prize,
And falsehood glides quick from my tongue,
I'm a full blooded whig, honor's voice I despise,
And truth I will fight till I'm hung.'

'Twas I' drawled the drunkard—'I glory in rum, Whig principles in it I see,
I voted against that new docketment, some,
Not-a-bit-of-demmerkrat-me.'

'Twas I' breathed the thief—in the darkness of night
From the widow and orphan I stole
The poor pittance they had, and a whig with delight Proclaimed I was dear to his soul.'

'Twas I' moaned the hunker—in madness I swore,
I would break down the tried and the true,
Oh fatal mistake—for the temple is o'er,
And I find myself broken down too.'

'Twas I' sighed Green Erin—a tear dimmed his eye
As he saw on his honor the stain;
A hiring whig priest may cheat one with a lie
But by — he don't cheat me again.'

'Twas I' howled the ruffian, 'and from the black slime
I marshaled my vilest array,
All fuming with gin and all bloated with crime,
Right and justice I battled that day.'

'Twas I' said the gambler—I swindle and cheat
And hold in contempt a good name;
I'm skilled in all species of fraud and deceit,
And a share of the triumph I claim.'

'Twas I' growled the robber—the whigs cheat the poor,
Of rights to them dearer than life,
I know that with them I am ever secure,
Though I rob with the pistol and knife.'

'Twas I' said the pimp, 'from their dark loathsome den,
I dragged out the rotten and vile,
The whigs grasped my hand, again and again,
And welcomed my lust with a smile.'

'Come forward, ye whigs!'—drunkard, liar and pimp,
Thief and ruffian, exulting appears,
Their blue eyes grow sleepy—they reel and they limp,
And give the whig party three cheers.

Oh! finish the scene—with horrible strains
They cursed and blasphemed till daylight,
For rot-gut and whingery added their brains,
And the conference closed with a fight.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

"The Functions of the beautiful in the development of mankind;" who but a Theodore Parker could make such a subject intelligible and interesting to the audience of a Lyceum? Few men of our day. Mr. Parker however, seemed to seize upon, and surround with an every day, and summer-like atmosphere, and lead, even the common mind, up to a full-comprehension of the theme.

Not by any power of lungs or sinew, nor by sweetly modulated cadence, nor physical electricity, but by rightly reading the impulses of the heart of man, by rightly understanding the real, inherent force and sublimity of his theme, and striving to address the heart as well as the head. It would be impossible for me to give even an outline of his lecture, indeed, it would border on folly to attempt to convey anything like its prevailing idea. I can only say that in some part of it, whether in the beginning or not, it is impossible for me to tell, he declared that all men, of every clime and condition, were possessed of an unconscious appreciation of the beautiful, that this was displayed in the savage by tattooing of his arms and body, and the shark's tooth in his ear or nose; by the more enlightened it was seen in the flashy dress and the Attleborough jewels. But trivial as this seemed, and so worthy of our contempt, it was the starting point of that inclined plain that led man upward and upward to the heavens. It was the germ that needed only genial air and fostering care to fructify and bring forth the purest and sweetest flowers of refined civilization. But where all was so brilliant and yet so harmoniously blended, like the sun's rays of heaven, what ordinary mortal would dare select the ray that pleased him not? I only wish that all your readers could have heard it, for although I am no admirer, or even apologist of Mr. Parker's theology, if his theories deserve the name, I must in candor say, that the lecture on Tuesday evening, was by far the richest intellectual feast I have been permitted to enjoy for many a long day. There was a beauty of expression, a home reasoning, a heart persuading about it that caused one to feel a great degree of satisfaction in recalling the strong, original thoughts, the keen comments, the subdued, yet biting satire, and the glowing eloquent passages, that fell as quietly from the speakers lips as rain drops from a sunlit April sky.

A few more such lectures and the directors shall hear no more fault finding from

LISHMAHAGO.

For the Patriot.

A few words to 'Lishmahago.'

MR. EDITOR:—It must be a matter of no small gratification to the Directors of the Lyceum generally, and particularly to our zealous President, to find that their labors have thus far been crowned with most eminent success, both in obtaining lecturers, and in exciting an interest in this popular mode of intellectual improvement, such as never before has been felt in this town; and judging from the list of excellent lecturers which have been engaged, that interest will not be decreased. As to the lectures which we have thus far been favored with, they have been useful, interesting and entertaining; and with the exception of not being sufficiently full of deep learned arguments, and scholastic diction, abounding in metaphors, flowery expressions, and 'jaw-breaking' words to suit the REFINED (?) taste of our learned (?) friend 'Lishmahago,' given general satisfaction. Had it been the desire of Mr. R—s merely to make a display of the powers of his mind, or of Wendell Phillips to excite the admiration of the audience, with that brilliance of rhetoric of which he is indisputably a master, the puny efforts of the little man in the 'Bay State,' either to criticize, or aspire to, would be useless and vain. This was evidently not their intention, nor should it be the object of any one, lecturing before a Lyceum, to talk so much above the common standard that only a few (among whom our friend in the 'Bay State' would probably wish to be included,) could understand or appreciate. Every lecture is of course open to criticisms; but in making those criticisms one ought to exercise a little more judgment, discriminating fairness, than our friend has seen fit to do. To make a long matter short, he is, (to use a vulgar expression) 'death on everybody and everything,' 'A-very' poor way to become popular this.

Now, I would request the Directors of the Lyceum to invite this 'Lishmahago,' (if they have not already done so,) to lecture before the Lyceum, in order that we 'ignorantunes' may have a just and right idea of true eloquence, and thus have a standard whereby we may judge of the merits or demerits of all coming lectures; and if the sum of ten dollars is not sufficient to induce this second 'Demosthenes' to make a brilliant display of rhetoric (a la Choate), whom he tries so hard to imitate by his rapid movements, while lecturing, why, give him twenty, and take a contribution of the audience. Doubtless the Mary Stearns, &c., would liberally reward him, for his exceeding waste of pen, ink and paper, and more especially of brains, in criticizing their appearance. We presume that he had the members of the Lyceum made him a Director or Secretary, or given him some other office, the lectures would have been highly satisfactory; but not succeeding so well as he expected in his road to ambition and office, he takes these contemptible means to vent his disappointment and rage against the community generally, and the Lyceum particularly.

A word to the wise is sufficient, and we hope that our friend will hereafter be guided in his criticisms, by that spirit of love which should inspire one rather to seek to elevate man higher, than degrade him lower than himself.

JUSTITIA.

For the Patriot.

Lyceum Lectures.

The next lecture before the Quincy Lyceum will be delivered by Matthew Hale Smith, Esq. He is an eloquent and effective orator, and is widely known as a leading member of the whig party. From the subject selected for next Tuesday evening, it is expected that he will 'show up' the democratic party and the rejected Constitution. Whigs be on hand.

LYCEUM. The next lecture will be delivered by MATTHEW HALE SMITH, of Boston; subject—Fossilism, Progression, and Conservatism—or National Characteristics.

THE CONCERT. We again remind our readers that the Misses Macomber, assisted by the Misses Wilders and Mr. Covert, will give a splendid Concert at the Town Hall, this evening, and we refer to their advertisement for more particulars. We think admirers of rich melody should attend as they cannot fail to be highly pleased with the entertainment furnished. Mr. Covert is universally popular as an excellent singer.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

A recent English letter remarks that twenty-six reformed criminals have been sent to the United States as free emigrants, by the London Reformatory Institute.

Spell murder backwards, and you have its cause. Spell red rum in the same manner, and you see its effect.

The cities of Brooklyn and Williamsburg, and the town of Bushwick, (N. Y.) are to be consolidated into one city, to be called the city of Brooklyn.

Martin Kosza, the Hungarian, whose capture by the Austrian officials at Smyrna, and subsequent rescue by the intervention of Commander Ingraham, of the St. Louis, from the Austrian brig Hussar, are familiar to our readers, arrived at Boston, on the 30th ult., in the bark Sultana, after a passage of forty-five days.

You may see a thousand excellent things in a paper, and never hear a word of approbation from the readers, but just let a paragraph slip in of one or two lines, that is not in good taste, and you may be sure of hearing about that.

The committee appointed for the purpose report about twenty-five million tons of guano remaining on the Chincha Islands.

The oldest preacher in the world is Rev. George Fletcher of London, (Eng.) who, in February next, will be one hundred and seven years of age.

Mrs. Emma R. Coe of Cleveland, Ohio, has been pursuing a course of legal studies, with the design of applying for admission to the bar.

Twenty or thirty years ago, says our best physicians, no such disease as mania potu, or delirium tremens, was known. The disease is caused principally by the poisonous drugs with which all the wines and liquors of the present day are so abundantly dosed.

There is a man down east, rather a facetious chap, named New. He named his first child Something; it was Something New. His next child was called Nothing; it was Nothing New.

Hon. Thomas H. Benton has selected the seat and desk long occupied by Hon. John Quincy Adams, in the House of Representatives, at Washington.

Marriages.

In Hingham, on the 7th inst., by Rev. Mr. Stearns, Mr. B. F. Meserve of this town, to Miss Susan L. Dunbar of the former place.

Special Notices.

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified, that their next meeting will be held at Mrs. Perkins, (at the house of Mr. Daniel French,) on THURSDAY, Dec. 15th, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

Per order of the Secretary.

LEVEE.

For the benefit of the Adams Literary Association, a Levee will be held at the Town Hall, in Quincy, on the evening of Dec. 15th.

The following gentlemen are expected to speak on the occasion:—

HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS,

HON. JOSIAH QUINCY, JR.,

GEORGE WHITE, Esq.

For those who take pleasure in Dancing, the Germania Serenade Band, (G. Schnapp, Leader,) has been engaged to perform on the occasion.

All donations for the Benefit Table, Chance Boxes, Post Office, etc., will be thankfully received on that day, at the Lyceum Room, where a Committee will be in readiness to receive and make the necessary arrangements.

Several Committees have been appointed to take charge of dance floor, receiving room, clothing, etc.

Dr. Marden have endeavored to make the occasion the grandest of the season.

Tickets for Admission, 25 cents, to be had only at the Lyceum Room on the day and evening of the Levee.

Tickets for Dancing, 50 cents, to be had only of the Floor Managers, whose names will be seen upon the cards for dancing.

Entrance to the Hall through the Lyceum Room.

The whole affair will be conducted by the Chairmen of the different Committees.

Per order of Committee of Arrangements.

Quincy, Dec. 3. 2w

DR. MARDEN, successor to Dr. L. Goodnow, would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has recently taken up his residence in town, and that he will be happy to wait on all who may need his professional services.

Dr. Marden having been extensively and successfully engaged in the reformed practice of medicine for a number of years, flatters himself that his intimate acquaintance with the duties and responsibilities of his profession eminently qualifies him to discharge those duties with entire satisfaction. He therefore respectfully and confidently solicits a share of public patronage.

Residence and Office at the "old stand," corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

BOOKS. A large variety of Books, at the Quincy Bookstore, to be disposed of at fair prices. Call and look at them when in want of any Book from a Penny Toy Book to a handsome Quarto Bible, or a Two Cent Pass Book to a large first rate Ledger. The best assortment and the best chance for bargains at C. Gill & Co's. Bookstore.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.

The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have engaged to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz—

On Tuesday, December 6th, REV. THEODORE PARKER; Subject, The Function of the Beautiful in the Development of Mankind.

On Tuesday, December 13th, MATTHEW HALE SMITH, Esq.;

On Tuesday, December 20th, HON. ROBERT C. WINSTROP;

On Tuesday, December 27th, REV. S. K. LOTHROP.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w

A very few tickets remain unsold. Those wanting them will please apply to the Secretary, or to Gill & Co., at the Quincy Bookstore.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 12th, at 7 1/2 o'clock.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

NOTICE. The following persons have signified their intention to close their places of business on the evening of the regular meeting of the Quincy Lyceum, each week at 7 1/2 o'clock, for the purpose of giving all an opportunity to attend the lectures before that institution.

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,

CALEB PACKARD,

Wm. S. UNDERWOOD,

Geo. B. NIGHTINGALE,

JOHN HOLDEN, JR.,

B. F. MESERVEY,

C. L. CURTIS,

JOHN A. HOLDEN,

JAMES O'BRIEN,

Successor to John Dinegan.

JOHN RUSSELL.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 3w

Settle your Accounts.

DOCTOR GOODNOW, being about to leave town, for a season, most respectfully invites all persons having unsettled accounts with him, to call and settle the same. All accounts that are not settled during the month of November, will be left for collection.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

Wood at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY next, 13th inst., at 1 o'clock P. M., about four acres of Standing Wood. Said Wood adjoins that recently sold at auction by Mr. Daniel Baxter, near Daniel Pasture, and is of about twenty-five years' growth.

Poetry.

The First Cannon Shot.
BY CHARLES MACKAY.

Hark! over Europe sounding
The first, the signal gun;
The fire has burst, the blow is struck,
A fatal deed is done!

From north to south it echoes,
From east to west afar,
The insulted nations join their heads,
And gather to the war.

From restless slumber waking,
The thunder in her ear,
Unhappy Poland starts to life,
And grasps her broken spear.

Old Rome grows young to hear it;
There's music in her glance;
And Hungary mounts her battle steed,
And waves her fiery lance.

Not long shall last the combat,
Though Russia laugh to scorn;
The wronged cause, if up to-day,
Is down to-morrow morn.

When France unites with England,
Beware defeat and shame,
Ye foes of right who force the fight,
And fan the heedless flame.

Hark! over Europe sounding,
The first, the signal gun;
But when the last loud cannon peal
Shall tell of victory won.

Be sure, ye proud aggressors,
Your hour shall not last long;
They may not, cannot, shall not win
Who battle in the wrong.

Queries.

If a person feel a person treading on his toes,
Need a person ask a person how a person knows?

Is it any body's business
If a gentleman should choose
To wait upon a lady,
If the lady don't refuse?
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That the meaning all may know,
Is it anybody's business
If a lady has a beau?

Is a person on the sidewalk,
Whether great or whether small,
Is it anybody's business
Where that person means to call?
Or if you see a person
As he's calling anywhere,
Is it of any body's business
What his business may be there?

The substance of our query,
Simply stated, would be this—
Is it anybody's business
What another's business is?
It is, or if it isn't,
We would really like to know,
For we are certain if it isn't
There are some who make it so.

If it is, we'll join the rabble,
And act the noble part
Of the tattle and the whisper,
Who throng the public mart;
But, if not, we'll act the teacher,
Until each meddler learns
It were better in the future
To mind his own concerns.

Anecdotes.

A sailor being asked to sail for India, a citizen asked him where his father died.

"In a shipwreck."
"And where did your grandfather die?"
"As he was fishing a storm arose, and he,
with his companions, perished."
"And your great grandfather?"
"He also perished from shipwreck."
"Then if I were you I would never go to sea."
"Pray, Mr. Philosopher, where did your father die?"
"My father, grandfather, and great grandfather, died in bed."
"Then, if I were you, I'd retort the son of Neptune, 'I would never go to bed.'"

A gentleman introduced an infidel friend to a minister, and remarked that he never attended public worship.

"Ah!" said the minister, "I am almost tempted to hope you are bearing false witness against your neighbor."
"By no means," said the infidel, "for I always spend Sunday in settling accounts."
"You will find, Sir," was the minister's immediate reply, "that the day of judgment will be spent in the same manner."

A trader from the country, while making his full purchases in a wholesale store, was asked, among a host of other things if he didn't want some half mourning prints.

"Wall, said he, 'I rather guess I do; the folks up our way are just about half dead these days.'"

A hungry Scotchman took a raw egg, cracked the shell and was raising it to his mouth when his ear was suddenly saluted by the shrill peep of an unborn chicken.

"Ye spake too late," cried Swaney, and down went the pullet, feathers and all.

A celebrated wit was asked why he did not marry a young lady to whom he was much attached.

"I know not," he replied, "except the great regard we have for each other."

A young physician having asked permission of a lady to kiss her, she replied, "no sir,
I never like a doctor's bill stuck in my face."

A sick man was told that nothing would cure him but a quart of catnip tea.

"Then I must die," said he, "I don't hold but a pint."

Wife, (complainingly) "I haven't more than a third of the bed."
Husband, (triumphantly) "Well, that's all the law allows you."

"O, dear!" said a fashionable girl, when she beheld a cucumber. "I always thought such things grew in slices."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD and SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11. 1y

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR

Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 8.

Dr. BUGBEE,

Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.

Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. C. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1y

KIRK & TRAVIS,

Dealers in Teas and Coffees

OF THE PUREST QUALITY.

Also, West India Goods, and pure Old Wines

and Liquors as imported, and suitable for in-valide and sickness.

Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Ha-
vanna Cigars.

WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 105 Kneeland Street.

Boston, April 16, 1853. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,

SUCH AS

POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,

BERL-HEADS, BLENDS, GAMES,

AND EVERY VARIETY OF

BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY

PRINTING,

Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,

WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law,

NO. 20 COURT STREET,

BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,

—DEALER IN—

West India Goods and Groceries,

OYSTERS & CLAMCHOWDERS,

IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY

CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of

FRANKLIN and SCHOOL

STREET, - - - QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,

—HAS FOR SALE—

LUMBER,

Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand

—ALSO—

Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,

QUINCY CANAL WHARF.

July 10, 1852. 1y

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

Ready Made Clothing of

EVERY DESCRIPTION,

Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE Sts., Quincy.

(33-A complete assortment always on hand.)

N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom

Work. 28

COAL! COAL!!

THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING

A LARGE SUPPLY OF

Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.

For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

Quincy, July 9, 1853.

D. D. RING,

MERCHANT TAILOR,

LIBERTY HALL,

Over C. & L. Curtis'

GROCERY STORE,

Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,

QUINCY, June 4. 1y

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,

DEALER IN

Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and

Hardware,

together with a full assortment of choice

W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,

all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices

and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.

Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

B. F. MESERVEY,

Watchmaker and Jeweller,

HANCOCK STREET.

Quincy, April 24, 1y

SCHOOL BOOKS and SCHOOL STA-TIONERY.

For Sale at the QUINCY BOOK STORE by

C. GILL & CO.,

ALL the various kinds of School Books and

A School Stationery now used in all the

PRIMARY, INTERMEDIATE and GRAMMAR

Schools in town.

Also, all that will be needed by scholars in the

HIGH SCHOOL

now established. All which will be furnished at the lowest prices at which they can be sold

Quincy May 15, 1852

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—

LUMBER;

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

—ALSO—

Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.

Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.

Purchasers will find it for their interest to

call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.

Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.

N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly
attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23 1y

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."

An Invaluable Book for 25 Cents.

EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.

20,000 Copies

in less than five months. A

new edition, revised and

improved, just issued.

Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual and Hand-
book for the Afflicted—

Containing an outline of the

origin, progress,

treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical technicalities, and everything that would offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual" is a work which will do more to cure the diseases of which it treats, in a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the professional ability of the Author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EXCESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the Author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves."

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The Author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to puff, and 'too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—HERALD.

No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and the force of the evil habit, have been led to the habit of self pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cure. Any thing that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and finally to remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks,) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Asect my thankfulness to the author of this work, and believe me, your co-worker in the good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, (securely enveloped,) will be forwarded free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address (post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box 186, Philadelphia.

Booksellers, Canvasers and Book Agents supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hoofland's

Celebrated German Bitters,

WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Chronic or Nervous Debility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Bargains.

MUSLINS, Gingham, Light Prints, Barage

de Laines, &c. &c. &c. Goods and Shawls, at the new Store, Corner of Hancock and Granite
Streets, Quincy.

The undersigned being desirous of closing the
balance of their Stock of

SUMMER GOODS,

will offer the same at a great discount from former
prices. Call and examine.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.
Quincy, July 16. 1y

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!

There is yet hope for them!!

DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have

never failed in giving relief in one single instance, when they have been taken in time, and if you are afflicted with Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Cholera Morbus, or a disordered stomach, here is a remedy brought within your reach. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectually cured by these

celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call and get the Messenger of Health, of

GEORGE W. WHITING,
who is sole Agent for Quincy.

Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured;
the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing
support is anticipated.

DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dag-
gan, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ton of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester, Benjamin King,
Abington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.

Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,

Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.,

Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,

Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,

Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,

Joseph Brigham, Esq.,

Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,

Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.

William S. Morton, President.

STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.

351.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.

(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)

PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.

THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and for sale by

GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.

CAUTION.

The celebrity this article has so quickly obtained has induced persons, without authority, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be Davies'
LIQUID HAIR DYE; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus

Boston, May 21, 1853. 1y

For the Complexion,

TOMPKIN'S Orange Flower Lotion, Fon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Amaludine for Tan Sunburn &c. &c. For sale by

Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, May 7. 1y

Salt Pork and Bacon.

FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Francis Marden

WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all
with Meats of the very best quality. 1y

Quincy, April 2. 1y

Salt Pork,

FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 1y

RADWAY'S

READY REM

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1853.

NUMBER LI.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barkley, Farina, Grains, cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broom, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guava Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Glass Elastic Breast Pumps, Gum Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass Flesh Brushes, &c. &c. Fresh European Leeches always on hand. Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington, rear of Stone Temple. Quincy, Nov. 1.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,

ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis St.) BOSTON.

OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which a greater or less extent characterizes these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitation, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, diarrhoea, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that improve condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use; they are new—wholly Vegetable—of a way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytical Physician, 271 Tremont St. (opposite Hollis St.) BOSTON. Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43—ly

DR. S. STOCKING,

DENTAL SURGEON,

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masterpieces of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle—firm, useful, and easy to be worn—for $25.00 to 50.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—firm, useful, and easy to be worn—for 12.00 to 20.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—for 1.50 to 3.00 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood pivots—for 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 30¢ to 2.00, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts.; without it, 25 cts. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used for that purpose. All who desire to be benefited to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 24 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston. Quincy, Feb. 27, 1853. 11—Shms

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can always find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE,

and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Turmeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Lead, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Green ochre, Extract Logwood, Coppers, Blue and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Bone Glue. American and English Linings, Sarsaparilla, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Camellia, Salts of Tartar, Nicotiana, Madder and Turkey Umber, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Pumice Stone, Salt Petre Carb, and Liquid Ammonia, &c. GEORGE W. WHITING. Quincy, Sept. 3. 11

Cure for the Whooping Cough!

BY THE USE OF

MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE,

It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.

For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for its sale.

Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Hadley, Mass., (son-in-law of Dr. Moore.) without whose signature upon each bottle, use is genuine.

It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Croup, and Hoarseness. W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent. Sept. 24. 3a

Love's Wahpene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color.

With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 25. 11

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Dandelion, Watergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with hydrochlorate of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing Humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Limbs, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared on scientific principles, in highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store by GEO. W. WHITING.

Price 50 cents per bottle. Quincy, Sept. 24. 11

Books.

THE Family Library of Useful Information, and Family Encyclopedia. Illustrated with two hundred and fifty Engravings.

The Universal Library of Literature and Illustrated Mirror of the World. Three hundred and fifty Engravings.

With many other beautifully Illustrated Books, for sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, August 6. 11

DRESSING FOR THE HAIR—Burdett's Oleanian Compound, Kitchen and Kitchen's Hair Preservative; Lyon's Kahlaur; Jule's Hair's Pomade and Restorative; Temple's, Packard's and Combs' Lustrate; Swan's Salacious molient Preservative; Jency and Jency's Hair Dressing; and various other articles for the same purpose, for sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, Jan. 22, 1856.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION, Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two Dollars per annum, in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required. No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.

Advertisements currently and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.

The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business. Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.

JOSIAH BABCOCK, Quincy Railway. GEORGE H. BACON, Stone Quarries. ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester. FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth. JOSEPH CLEVELLY, Abington. SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate. FREEMAN HUNT, New York City. GERSHON DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Physicians of Braintree.

The following extract is made from the interesting Address given at the annual meeting of the Norfolk District Medical Society, May 18th, 1853, by Dr. Alden of Randolph, President of the Society.

Braintree originally included within its limits the present towns of Quincy, Braintree and Randolph. It was settled as early as 1624 or 1625, but not incorporated until 1640. Before that period it had been an appendage of Boston; and for many years afterwards the inhabitants, having been too few to sustain a physician of their own, appear to have been dependent on Boston and the neighboring towns of Roxbury and Dorchester for medical advice in important cases.

The present town of Braintree was originally the middle precinct of the old town of the same name. Although incorporated in 1707, it had no resident physician until 1779.

Dr. Daniel Fogg, a native of New Hampshire, and a medical pupil of Dr. Thomas Kirtledge of Andover, in that year took up his residence in Braintree. He was a worthy man and a good physician. Having been reserved in his manners, and for many years exceedingly deaf, his business was very much confined to the vicinity in which he lived. He died suddenly, in 1830, of disease of the heart, while walking in his garden, aged 71.

Dr. Ebenezer Thayer, a native of Braintree, settled at the iron works near Weymouth in 1800, but within five years died of fever, at the age of 30.

Dr. Joseph Bossuet resided for a time in the same neighborhood. He was a French physician, well educated, and had for a time resided in the West Indies. He had a good reputation as a surgeon. His lack of self control prevented him from acquiring in this country an extended business. He performed in Braintree one operation, which gave him some notoriety, having removed from the urinary bladder a calculus of considerable size, and with it the remains of an extra-uterine fetus. The patient recovered and survived many years, and before her death presented the carefully-preserved bones and other remains to Dr. H. I. Bowditch, of Boston, and through him to the Boston Society for Medical Improvement.

Dr. Jonathan Wild is a native of Braintree; graduated at Harvard College in 1804; was a medical pupil of Dr. Ebenezer Alden of Randolph, and resided there a few years after the death of his instructor. In 1813, however, he returned to his native town, and has been the principal physician there for the last thirty years.

The Home Grandmother.

She is by the fire—dear old lady, with neatly crimped and plaited cap-border, and the old-fashioned spectacles—as pleasant a picture of the home grandmother as any living heart could wish to see. The oracle of family—the record of births, deaths and marriages—the narrator of old revolutionary stories, that keep bright young eyes big and wide awake till the evening logs fall to ashes—what should we do without the home grandmother? How many little faults she hides! What a delightful special pleader she is when the red trembles over the unfortunate uncle's head.

"Do you get many lickings?" inquired a dozen-haired youngster of his curly-headed physician.

"No," was the prompt, half-indignant answer; "I've got a grandmother."

Love that good woman. Sit at her feet and learn of her patient lessons from the past. Though she knows no grammar, cannot tell the boundaries of distant states or history of nations, she has that perhaps which excels all lore—wisdom. She has fought life's battle, and conquered. She has laid her treasures away, and grown purer, stronger, through tears of sorrow. Never let her feel the sting of ingratitude. Sit at her feet. She will teach you all the dangers of life's journey, and teach you how to go cheerfully and smilingly to the gate of death, trusting like her in a blissful hereafter.

Treating a Case Actively.

BY JOHN JONES, M. D.

I was once sent for, in great haste, to attend a gentleman of respectability, whose wife, a lady of intelligence and refinement, had discovered him in his room lying senseless upon the floor.

On arriving at the house, I found Mrs. H—— in great distress of mind.

"What is the matter with Mr. H——?" I asked, on meeting his lady, who was in tears and looking the picture of distress.

"I'm afraid it's apoplexy," she replied. "I found him lying upon the floor, where he had, to all appearance, fallen suddenly from his chair. His face is purple, and though he breathes, it is with great difficulty."

I went up to see my patient. He had been lifted from the floor and was now lying upon the bed. Sure enough his face was purple and his breathing labored, but somehow the symptoms did not indicate apoplexy. Every vein in his head and face was tinged, and he lay perfectly stupid, but still I saw no clear indications of an actual or approaching congestion of the brain.

"Haden't he better be bled, Doctor?" asked the anxious wife.

"I don't think that it is necessary," I replied. "I think if we let him alone it will pass off in the course of a few hours."

"A few hours! He may die in half an hour!"

"I don't think the case is so dangerous, madam."

"Apoplexy not dangerous?"

"I hardly think it apoplexy," I replied.

"Pray what do you think it is, Doctor?"

Mrs. H—— looked anxiously into my face.

I delicately hinted that he might, possibly, have been drinking too much brandy; but to this she most positively and almost indignantly objected.

"No Doctor. I ought to know about that," she said. "Depend upon it the disease is more deeply seated. I am sure he had better be bled. Won't you bleed him Doctor? A few ounces of blood taken from his arm may give life to the now stagnant circulation of the blood in his veins."

Thus urged, I, after some reflection, ordered a bowl and bandage, and opening a vein, from which the blood flowed freely, relieved him of about eight ounces of his circulating medium. But he still lay as insensible as before, much to the distress of his poor wife.

"Something else must be done, Doctor," she urged, seeing that bleeding had accomplished nothing. "If my husband is not quickly relieved he must die."

By this time, several friends and relatives, who had been sent for, arrived, and urged upon the adoption of some more active means for restoring the sick man to consciousness. One proposed mustard plasters all over his body; another a blister on the head; another his immersion in hot water. I suggested that it might be well to use a stomach pump.

"Why, Doctor?" asked one of the friends.

"Perhaps he has taken some drug," I replied.

"Impossible, Doctor," said the wife. "He has not been from home to day, and there is no drug of any kind in the house."

"No brandy?" I ventured this suggestion again.

"No, Doctor. No spirits of any kind, nor even wine in the house," returned Mrs. H—— in an offended tone.

I was not the regular family physician, and had been called in to meet the alarming emergency, because my office happened to be nearest to the dwelling of Mr. H——. Feeling my position to be a difficult one, I suggested that the family physician had better be called.

"But the delay, Doctor," urged the friends.

"No harm will result from it, be assured," I replied.

But my words did not assure them. However, as I was firm in my resolution not to do anything more for the patient until Dr. S—— came, they had to submit. I wished to make a call of importance in the neighborhood, and proposed going, to be back by the time Dr. S—— arrived; but the friends of the sick man would not suffer me to leave the room.

When Dr. S—— came, we conversed aside for a few minutes, and I gave him my views of the case, and stated what I had done and why I had done it. We then proceeded to the bedside of our patient. There was still no signs of approaching consciousness.

"Don't you think his head ought to be shaved and blistered?" asked the wife anxiously.

Doctor S—— thought a moment and then said—

"Yes, by all means. Send for a barber and also for a fresh fly blister, four inches by nine."

I looked into the face of Dr. S—— with surprise. It was perfectly grave and earnest. I hinted to him my doubt of the good that mode of treatment would do. But he spoke confidently of the result, and said that it would not only cure the disease, but, he believed, take away the predisposition thereto with which Mr. H—— was affected in a high degree.

The barber came. The head of H—— was shaved; and Doctor S—— applied the blister with his own hands, which completely covered the scalp from forehead to occiput.

"Let it remain on for two hours, and then make use of the ordinary dressing," said Doctor S——. "If he should not recover during the action of the blister, don't feel uneasy. Sensibility will be restored soon after."

I did not call again, but I heard from Doctor S—— the result.

After we left, the friends stood anxiously around the bed upon which the sick man lay; but though the blister began to draw, no signs of returning consciousness showed themselves, further than an occasional low moan, or an uneasy tossing of the arms.

For full two hours the burning plaster parched the tender skin of H——'s shorn head, and was then removed. It had done good service. Dressings were then applied: repeated and repeated again; but still the sick man lay in a deep stupor.

"It has done no good. Haden't we better send for the Doctor?" suggested the wife.

Just then the eyes of H—— opened, and he looked with half-stupid surprise from face to face of the anxious group that surrounded the bed.

"What in the mischief's the matter?" he at length said. "At the same time feeling a strange sensation about his head, he placed his hand rather heavily thereon."

"Heavens and earth!" He was now fully in his senses. "Heavens and earth! What ails my head?"

"For mercy's sake keep quiet," said the wife, the glad tears gushing over her face. "You have been very ill. There, there, now! And she spoke soothingly. 'Don't say a word; but lie very still!'"

"But my head! What's the matter with my head? It feels as if scalded. Where's my hair? Heaven and earth Sarah. I don't understand this. And my arm? What's my arm tied up in this way for?"

"Be quiet my dear husband, and I'll explain it all. Oh be very quiet. Your life depends upon it!"

Mr. H—— sunk back upon the pillow from which he had arisen, and closed his eyes to think. He put his hand to his head, and felt it, tenderly, all over, from temple to temple, and from nape to forehead.

"It is a blister," he at length asked.

"Yes, dear. You have been very ill. We feared for your life," said Mrs. H—— affectionately. "There have been two physicians in attendance."

H—— closed his eyes again. His lips moved. Those nearest were not much edified by the whispered words that issued therefrom. They would have sounded very strangely in a church, or to ears polite and refined. After this he lay for some time quiet.

"Threatened with apoplexy, I suppose?" he then said, interrogatively.

"Yes, dear," replied his wife. "I found you lying insensible upon the floor on happening to come into your room. It was most providential that I discovered you when I did, or you would certainly have died."

H—— shut his eyes and muttered something, with an air of impatience. But its meaning was not understood.

Finding him out of danger, friends and relatives retired, and the sick man was left alone with his family.

"Sarah," he said, "why in heaven's name, did you permit the doctors to butcher me in this way? I'm laid up for a week or two, and all for nothing."

"It was to save your life, dear."

"Save the ———?"

"Hush! There! Do, for Heavens' sake! be quiet. Every thing depends upon it."

With a gesture of impatience, H—— shut his eyes, teeth and hands, and lay perfectly still for some minutes. Then he turned his face to the wall, muttering in a low, petulant voice,

"Too bad! Too bad! Too bad!"

I had not erred in my first and my last impressions of H——'s disease, neither had Dr. S——, although he used a very extraordinary mode of treatment. The facts of the case were these:

H—— had a weakness. He couldn't taste wine nor strong drinks without being tempted into excess. Both himself and his friends were mortified and grieved at this; and they, by admonition, and by, by good resolutions, tried to bring about a reform. But, to see was to taste, and taste was to fall. At last his friends urged him to shut himself up at home for a certain time, and see if total abstinence would give him strength. He got on pretty well for a few days, particularly so, as his conclusion kept a well filled bottle for him in the carriage house, to which he not unfrequently resorted; but a too ardent devotion to this bottle, brought on the supposed apoplexy.

Doctor S—— was right in his mode of treating the disease after all, and did not err in supposing that it would reach the predisposition. The cure was effectual. H—— kept quiet on the subject, and bore his shaved head, upon his shoulders, with as much philosophy as he could muster. A wig, after the sores made by the blister had disappeared, concealed the barber's work until his own hair grew again. He never ventured upon wine nor brandy again for fear of apoplexy.

When the truth leaked out, as leak out such things always will, the friends of H—— had many a hearty laugh; but they wisely concealed from the object of their merriment the fact that they knew anything more than appeared of the cause of his supposed illness. —Saturday Evening Post.

'I can Drink or let it Alone.'

This is a standing affirmation of many a young man, as he sports on the edge of the fearful precipice, and from this state of self confidence they have taken all the steps which closed in a drunkard's grave. With this excuse, says one of our contemporaries, more men have passed through all the degrees of intemperance, until they are laid in the church yard, and have left in the minds of the community in which they lived, the knowledge (if not inscribed on their tombstones) that they were suicides, than any other excuse that was ever offered in extenuation of the use of alcoholic drinks. Young man! know from observation and experience, that you cannot 'Drink or let it alone.' If you drink at all, you will drink as occasions offer, and the occasional 'social glass with a friend,' as you occasionally meet, will result in seeking a friend to drink with, and eventually end in drinking as often as it can be obtained.

The only safe course is, not to 'drink or let it alone.' Let the following be your reasons for total abstinence.

1st. I know it is injurious to my health, from this simple fact, if I had no other proofs, viz: no person in a healthy condition can drink a glass of alcoholic liquor for the first time, without feeling an effect upon the brain and nervous system—in fact without becoming to a certain extent drunk. Consequently anything that throws the system out of its natural healthy action, must be injurious.

2d. I know that it is injurious to my character, because no respectable man can be in the constant use of it without being sometimes thrown into the company of those far beneath him in morals and standing in society.

A man is known by the company he keeps, and the natural tendency is to lower yourself down until the scales are evidently balanced with those who had been far beneath him in morals and standing in society.

I know it is injurious to success in business pursuits, because not an individual could be found who would employ a person in any important business transactions, who is in the habit of using strong drinks; and on the other hand, the best recommendation is to be known as 'a temperance man.' I know it is injurious in a pecuniary point, because a moderate drinker, who only takes his 'eye opener' in the morning, his 'eleven o'clock' in the forenoon, his 'four o'clock' in the afternoon and his 'night cap,' expends in one year, ninety-one dollars and twenty five cents, and in ten years, thirteen hundred and six dollars and forty cents. Those who drink two or three times as often may add for themselves. I know it is injurious to communications, because in those where it is most used, there is the most poverty. I know it is injurious to human happiness, because it has caused more murders, more suicides, tenanted more prisons and almshouses, and caused more sighs and tears, and made more widows and orphans, than all other evils combined. —Lurora.

Long Lived People.

Let me now be permitted to delineate the portrait of a man destined for long life. He has a proper and well-proportioned stature, without, however, being too tall. He is rather of the middle size, and somewhat thick-set. His complexion is not too florid, at any rate, too much redness in youth is seldom a sign of longevity. His hair approaches rather to the far than the black: his skin is strong but not rough. His head is not too big; he has large veins at the extremities, and his shoulders are rather round than flat.

His neck is not too long, his abdomen does not project, and his hands are large, but not too deeply cleft. His foot is rather thick than long, and his legs are firm and round. He also has a broad arched chest, a strong voice, and the faculty of retaining his breath for a long time without difficulty. In general there is a perfect harmony in all his parts. His senses are good, but not too delicate; his pulse is slow and regular.

His stomach is excellent, his appetite good, and his digestion easy. The joys of the table are to him of importance; they turn his mind to serenity, and his soul partakes in the pleasures which they communicate. He does not eat merely for the sake of eating; but each meal is an hour of daily festivity; a kind of delight attended with this advantage, in regard to others, that it does not make him poorer, but richer. He eats slowly, and is not too much thirst. Too great thirst is always a sign of rapid self-consumption.

In general, he is serene, loquacious, active, susceptible of joy, love and hope; but insensible to the impressions of hatred, anger and avarice. His passions never become too violent or destructive. If he ever gives way to anger, he experiences a useful glow of warmth, an artificial and gentle fever, without an overflowing of the bile. He is fond also of employment, particularly calm meditation and agreeable speculation; is an optimist, a friend to nature and domestic felicity, has no thirst after honor or riches, and banishes all thoughts of to-morrow. —The Art of Prolonging Life.

Frightful Scene.

The following is one of the frightful incidents, and in fact exceeds all reptile stories that we can recollect of ever having heard:—

"Sometime last summer, the inhabitants of Manchester, Mississippi, gave a barbecue, which was attended by most of the fashion and beauty of the town and surrounding country. It happened that among the guests there was a young lady Miss M., recently from one of the eastern cities, who was on a visit to her relations in the neighboring town. Miss M. was a gay, fashionable young lady, and withal possessed an uncommon share of spirit and courage, except in the matter of snakes, and of these she had so great a dread that she scarcely dared to walk except in the most frequented places, for fear of encountering one of them. Every effort was used, but without avail, to rid her of her childish fears. They haunted her continually, until at last it became the settled conviction of her mind that she was destined to fall a victim to the fangs of a rattlesnake. The sequel will show how soon her terrible presentiment was fulfilled.

Towards the close of day, when scores of fairy feet were keeping time to the merry music, and the whole company were in full tide of enjoyment, a scream was heard from Miss M., followed by the most agonizing cries for help. The crowd gathered around her instantly, and beheld her standing, the perfect image of despair, with her hands grasping a portion of her dress with the tenacity of a vice. It was sometime before she could be rendered sufficiently calm to tell the cause of her alarm, and then they gathered from broken exclamations that she was grasping the head of a snake among the folds of her dress, and dreading to let go her hold for fear of receiving the fatal blow.

This intelligence caused many to shrink from her, but the most of the ladies, to their honor be it told, remained with her, determined not to leave her in her dreadful extremity. They besought her not to relax her hold, as safety depended upon it, until some one could be found who had courage to perform the act, and she could not maintain her hold many minutes longer.

A hasty consultation among the calmest of the ladies was held, when it was determined that Dr. Tinson who was present, should be called to their assistance. He was quickly on the spot, and being a man of uncommon courage, he was not many moments within the circle of weeping half-fainting females, until he had caught the tail of the snake, and wound it firmly around, he jerked it away, and to make the act as instantaneous as possible, he told her he would pronounce the one, two, three, and at the moment he pronounced the last word, she must let go her hold, and that he doubted not that he could withdraw the snake before it could have time to strike. All stood in breathless horror, awaiting the act of life or death, and at the moment the word three was pronounced, the doctor jerked out the largest and most diabolical looking beast that was ever seen in Mississippi. The whole affair was at once explained. The fastening of the machine had become loose during the dancing, and it had shifted its position in such a way that it dangled about, and induced the belief that it was a snake with an enormous head.

The doctor fell right down in his tracks, and ——— he did!"

We have not learned whether the young lady was cured of her dread of snakes or not; but we should guess that after passing through such a trial, and escaping unharmed, that she would no longer have any fears for her safety from the fangs of the serpent.

Be Economical.

The man who commences early in life to practice economy, is always a successful man. Those who take care of cents soon have dollars. The small, unnecessary expenditures are what keep so many men poor, and at all their lives. It is really astonishing to find how few men and women think it a duty to be economical when the world goes smoothly and prosperously with them. While it is rare to find a person who would not wish to be rich, it is easy to find persons, with abundant opportunities, who will not strive to be independent and prepared for the little vicissitudes of life.

Some love display, and will even run into debt to gratify their foolish passion. Others go on the principle of living while they can, and banish all thoughts of bad times, sickness or old age. Others again, contract bad or expensive habits, and rather than make an attempt to get rid of them, submit to their tyranny, and deceive themselves with the plea that they are necessary to the full enjoyment of life. But the full enjoyment of life consists in living wisely and rationally. Transient pleasures can be purchased too dearly, and for hours of riotous enjoyment, days and months of misery and pain may be the fruits.

He will enjoy life most who moderates his desires and economizes the rewards of his toil. He will be freer from apprehensions, and will have less regrets to disturb his happier moments. No one may anticipate that his path through life will be lighted by continual sunshine. This year may be a prosperous one; the next may be the reverse. The mechanic who now has abundant work and good wages cannot tell whether these will or not be permanent. He knows not how soon his health may fail, and his little family be without a provider. And so it is of every one who earns his bread by his own labor. It is, therefore, their duty to be economical while all is going well with them. No matter how small may be the saving each week, it will amount to a pleasant little sum by the end of the year.

The habit of saving too, when once acquired, will work wonders. Economy has a most salutary influence upon the character of men of families. It is a promoter of all the virtues. It encourages industry, overcomes

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, December 17th, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Teachers' Meeting.

The meeting of the Norfolk County Teachers' Association, as advertised in another column, presents to our citizens an opportunity, not only of listening to some educational addresses of an interesting character, but also of expressing their sympathy with those who are training their children to usefulness, respectability, and happiness. And we hope that this gathering of a large number of teachers, of both sexes, from the various towns in the county, will prove as agreeable to the parties concerned as it promises to be useful to the schools represented. We hope and trust that not one of the teachers of Quincy or the adjoining towns—public or private—will fail to be present on the occasion, confident as we are, that this refreshing influence can produce nothing but good, to the teachers and the communities on which they act.

We would also invite all, whether teachers or not, to attend the meetings, according to their ability, assuring them that the time so devoted will be found profitable in various ways.

A committee of our own teachers, we are informed, will call on the housekeepers, in a few days, to secure accommodations for the female teachers from abroad; and we have no doubt that the hospitalities of all who are able, will be extended to these worthy strangers in the most liberal manner.

QUINCY LOAN FUND ASSOCIATION. A meeting of subscribers to stock in this institution, was held last Wednesday evening, and the following gentlemen elected officers. The Secretary and Treasurer will be chosen by the board of managers.

President—F. M. JOHNSON.

Vice President—B. B. NEWCOMB.

Directors—George L. Gill, Cliff Rodgers, Henry Barker, Albert Thompson, John K. Dustin, Noah Cummings, Joseph G. Brackett, Charles P. Nelson, Enos Ricker, John Hardwick, George H. French, George Vezzie, 2d, Stephen Bates.

NOW IS THE TIME. Madam Sontag gives her last concert in Boston, at the Music Hall, this afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock. This is the last time this truly eminent artist will sing in Boston, and in order to give all an opportunity of hearing her, the price of tickets has been fixed at fifty cents. Little Paul Jullien, and Alfred Jael will contribute to the entertainments. Every lover of music should embrace this last opportunity of hearing the unrivalled vocalist. The Programme is select and extensive.

ACCIDENT. We learn that a boy, named Patrick Means, was accidentally run over by some persons, passing near the North District School house, a few days ago, in a light carriage, and badly injured. Dr. L. J. Glover was called to the little sufferer, dressed his wounds, and he is now doing well. No blame is attached to the persons driving the carriage.

BALM OF A THOUSAND FLOWERS. The best article for restoring, strengthening and beautifying the hair, skin, and complexion, is the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," sold and manufactured by Fetzridge & Co., of Boston, whose extensive place of business is in the Times Building, at the head of State street. It has become very popular, and is so extensively used that the demand can hardly be supplied as orders are received. It must be a source of gratification to Messrs. F. & Co. to know that their really meritorious compound is so highly appreciated.

QUINCY LYCEUM. Hon. Robert C. Winthrop—the Scholar, the Gentleman, the Orator, and the Statesman—will deliver the lecture on Tuesday evening next,—when, as we trust, there will be no lack of any desirable thing, in the Town Hall, unless it be seats.

For the Patriot.

Judicial Appointment.

We are gratified to learn that William Sherman Leland, Esq., Counsellor at Law of Roxbury, succeeds his worthy father as Judge of Probate for Norfolk County. This office, though not a lucrative, is an highly honorable position; and is a well merited compliment to a young gentleman favorably known to all those who have had occasion to transact business at Probate Court for the past ten years. The new Judge is a gentleman of fine talents, great urbanity of manners, and brings with him large experience in the duties of the office, by reason of his long association with his honored predecessor. It is not generally known, that the salary of this important office is but $500 per annum; a sum altogether inadequate to its labors and responsibilities; and which we hope the good sense of the next Legislature, will raise on a comparative standard with other judicial salaries of our Commonwealth. Judge Leland has lately issued a circular of instructions, for the guidance of persons transacting business in the Probate Court, which will be found a valuable reference. His weekly courts are to be held in Webster Hall, on Washington street, Roxbury, every Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

QUINCY PATRIOT,

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

Let the galled jade wince,
Our withers are unwringing.—SHAKESPEARE.
My thin skinned friend, Justitia, must have been sorely punctured by my poor quill or he never could have brought forth so witty, ironical, and scathing an article as that of last week. It was so exceedingly severe, so truthful, so sarcastic, so 'funny,' so gentlemanly, so full of love, so kindly friendly, so dignified and so merciful as to cause me several 'compunctious visitings of nature!' But seriously when my friend Bates his hook, (I shall never forgive myself for that cruel attempt at a pun) with galls he cannot expect even hungry fish to bite. It is true I may, and doubtless do belong, to the class described in these lines:—

Some have for wits, then poets passed,
Turned critics next and proved but fools at last.
However this may be, it is unquestionably clear that my friend is of those who

* * Can for neither wits nor critics pass,
As heavy mule is neither horse nor ass.
Hereafter I will endeavor to have a few

Strewed leaves of willow to refresh the air,
And with rich fumes his sultry senses cheer.
I really hope that no one will be charged with the authorship of these notices except my own proper self. Correspondents must be careful how they unjustly judge others.

Our zealous President found it necessary, at the opening of the Lyceum last Tuesday evening, to disclaim the authorship of the paragraph, in the Patriot of last week, signed T. He hoped the Lyceum had a better opinion of his good sense to suppose he would be guilty of such indiscretion, therefore, he declared, 'some enemy hath done this thing.' If there were, as it appears, some who really believed 'our zealous President' to be the author, his excessive sensitiveness in relation to it, will, undoubtedly, tend to strengthen this belief in the minds of many, while others will couple it with his earnest, nervous disclaimer, and take the two as evidence of the ingenuity of 'some enemy' in making 'a coat so exactly to fit' the ample shoulders of 'our zealous President.' The frequent bursts of applause during his remarks fully attested the satisfaction of the audience.

Matthew Hale Smith, Esq. (?) was then introduced and proceeded to read a lecture on 'Fossilism, Progressism and Conservatism,' premising that there might be some present who would not acquiesce in the views he should present in the course of his lecture; that he stood on neutral ground, and was not before aware of his powers as an orator, or his position with the Whig party. He then gave us his view of a 'Fossil'—an old man, with gray head, gouty foot, ample means, etc.—who venerates the past, and can't endure the present; who doesn't believe in steamboats, locomotives, nor any new fangled notions; has a decided regard for dust and cobwebs, and fully believes a gun might go off though it had no lock,—in short an unmitigated idiot. A progressive is, in his view a crack-brained, rattle-pated Jehu, who rushes along like a tornado, demolishing, ripping up and pulling down, very well content with any change, and not displeased though

* He cannot alter things,
At least can change their names, sir, who snaps his fingers in the faces of our fathers, ignores the bible and leads on the way to an inevitable 'reign of terror,' who, like Lishmahago, according to late authority, is 'death on everything' that is because it is, who has no regard for the past, nor care for the future. His painting of this class was so highly colored, that they will heretofore be, with all nursery maids and mothers, a substitute for 'the old man in the dark hole.'

The beauty of conservatism was next dwelt upon. Moses and our Saviour were good illustrations of the conservative. Martin Luther was not a progressive but a conservative; even our revolutionary fathers were of the latter class. He defined a conservative as one who believes in the good of the past, the present and the future; who would not oppose change if it were good. You can by this very crude outline of the lecture, perceive that there was a very strong political under current throughout. It would have been a good political speech, and I doubt not, would have been received by a Whig audience with shouts of applause. I care not for this, for while I accepted the good that was in it, and enjoyed his pleasing manner and easy elocution, I cast out that which was bad. In fact I could not but feel throughout, that he had entirely mistaken the true, as well as the generally received definition of the terms which formed his subject. The truth is, that fossilism is not a distinct ism, it is but a degree of conservatism, which latter has been well said to hold the 'dead past' by the heels with one hand, while, with the other, it clings to the coat-skirts of progress. We have ever been told that progress was not mere go-ahead-iveness, but intellectual improvement, an advancement in business or government; it differs from reform in this, the latter may revive and reinstate the old, while the former ever advances to and with the new.

Progress believed in our Saviour, conservatism crucified him; progress sustained Galileo, conservatism executed him; progress followed a Hampden, conservatism beheld him; progress rallied to the standard of a Washington, conservatism shunned it and stamped the patriot a rebel. Was it fossilism that did what conservatism is here charged with? If so, then all the past has belied the latter, and it belies itself. Look at its meaning and derivation; it signifies 'to keep in a safe or sound state.' Does this seem to meet the view of the lecturer? It seems to me far from it, but I must, undoubtedly, be mistaken.

LISHMAHAGO.

For the Patriot.

Another 'Political Jeu D'Esprit.'

MR. GREEN:—As some who read the eloquent effusion of a Constitutionist, in your last paper, have supposed there was an insane man at large among us, they will be glad to learn, by the following, that he is in safe quarters. We have been compelled to copy some of his eloquent language by way of illustration, on the same principle that a medical lecturer has to use terms which would not be received in common society.

A SOFT IN TROUBLE.

A man for his enemy once dug a pit,
And some how or other he fell into it;
He made such a hubbub all the people ran out
To see what the uproar and noise was about.

A grey beard came first in a seedy black coat,
With a piece of white cotton tied tight round his
"You rascally priest, help me out of this hole."
But quaintly he told him look well to your sole.

An honest Ulsterian next look'd o'er the brink,
"You drunkard and thief" help me out of this
"Arrah my dear honey, mind that thing in your beak."

Or I'll send ye a Cush-in to sleep on a week.

A Maine law disciple then came to the spot,
"Ah here's water gruel to help my sad lot;"
But he and his wrinkles swell'd up in a bunch,
Tee totus, you know must't meddle with Punch.

A hard Dinnemercat drew, very cautiously, near,
As the howlings of Sorx struck his sympathy's ear
"The hope of relief was soon nipped to the bud,
For his double faced friend, was 'a stick in the mud."

The pit was so deep 'T was agreed all around,
To let the Free Democrat be in the ground, Till his manners at least some improvement had shown,
And BANKS with his fellows, had their TAIL FEATHERS grown.

N.

For the Patriot.

Loan Fund Association.

MR. EDITOR:—As a 'Loan and Fund Association' is about being formed in this town, perhaps a few words in relation to the manner of its working might be interesting and appropriate.

It is proposed that the number of the shares shall be limited to 1200—200 of which are to be retained by the Association, and the remainder sold to members. Each member on subscribing for a share, agrees to pay two dollars monthly. He would thus pay $24 per year, and in seven years his payments would amount, including interest, to $203.28; when if the shares fall up as it is expected they will, they will reach the value of $500 each, showing a net profit to the member who retains his share till the close—of $296.72. But the experience of these associations has shown that but few shares are held by the members till they are full—the inducements almost constantly offered to sell at a large advance—the trouble of paying monthly dues through so long a period of time without return, and the great temptation to borrow are arguments in favor of disposing of shares which but few can withstand. But there is another class who gain a great advantage by dealing with the Association—the borrowers. For instance a man wishes to borrow $700 to pay off a mortgage on his house, and he agrees to redeem four shares at $175, (which is probably about the rate at which the money of the Association will be lent), all he will have to pay will be two dollars per share dues, say eight dollars together, with the interest, $350, in all, $1150 per month, $138 per year, and for seven years $966. If he borrowed the same amount of a capitalist at six per cent. he would have to pay principal and interest, $904, or $28 more than he would pay the Association, besides which he has the privilege of paying the Association in small easy instalments.

Again let us suppose that a man of small means pays a rent of one hundred dollars per year for the house he occupies, and it can be bought for $700. He hires the money of the Association at the rate stated above, and buys the house, thereby becoming his own landlord. He pays dues and interest $138 per year, and taxes and repairs say $12 more, $150 in all. By paying $50 per year more than his former rent, he will own the house at the end of the Association. In seven years if he hired the house he would pay $700 and be at the mercy of the landlord,—but if he hired money of the Association, and bought the house, he would pay $1050 and own it. In other words the house for which he gave $700 will cost him only $350, a saving of $350, or half, by hiring of the Association.

To those who are looking forward to a provision for advancing age, to those who are endeavoring to provide a home for their families, and a portion for their children, a better opportunity now offers than was ever presented to them before. I hope the day is not far off when every man in town will have a home of his own, if he wants one.

FRANKLIN, JR.

For the Quincy Patriot.

"T."

MR. EDITOR:—By what authority does the President of the Lyceum claim the exclusive right to the letter T. I supposed that he wrote over the signature of a great statesman, now deceased, and that it was from beneath that lion's skin that his music fell upon our ears. Could the public have been mistaken as to the reality of the roar?

B. R. A.

For the Patriot.

Lyceum.

MR. EDITOR:—Your last week's correspondent "T" is informed that the Government of the Quincy Lyceum caters for no party in politics nor for any sect in religion, in the selection of the lecturers.

G. F. T.

The New Year—1854.

On the first of January next, 'GLEASON'S PICTORIAL' will commence its sixth volume, and will appear vastly improved in all respects, with a superb new heading, new type and dress throughout, and will be printed upon the finest paper. As the proprietor of the 'Pictorial' has purchased the entire good-will of Barnum's New York 'Illustrated News,' and has merged that journal in the 'Pictorial,' the public will reap the advantage of this concentration of the strength of the two papers upon one, both in the artistic and literary departments. The same brilliant host of contributors and artists will be engaged on 'Gleason's Pictorial' as heretofore, and a large addition is also made to the corps, both in talent and number. The most liberal arrangements have been completed, and such as will enable the proprietor to produce by far the finest illustrated journal yet published, and much superior to the present issue of the paper. The columns of the 'Pictorial' will constantly be beautified by all that can please and instruct in art and nature, and its literary department will fully sustain the high reputation it has so long enjoyed.

The pages of 'Gleason's Pictorial' will contain views of every populous city in the known world, of all buildings of note in the eastern or western hemisphere, of all the principal ships and steamers of the navy and merchant service, with fine and accurate portraits of every noted character in the world, both male and female. Sketches of beautiful scenery, taken from life, will also be given, with numerous specimens from the animal kingdom, the birds of the air, and the fish of the sea, and will present in its mechanical execution an elegant specimen of art. It will contain fifteen hundred and sixty-four square inches, giving a great amount of reading matter and illustrations—and forming a mammoth weekly paper of sixteen octavo pages.

TERMS:—Three dollars per annum. Published every SATURDAY, corner of Tremont and Broomfield Streets, Boston, (Mass.) by F. GLEASON.

The Home Journal for 1854.

In consequence of the great and continually increasing demand for this elegantly printed, widely-circulated and universally popular Family Newspaper, we have heretofore been unable to furnish the back numbers to only a very limited extent. To avoid this disappointment in future, we shall, on the first of January next, print such an increased edition as will enable us to supply new subscribers from that date. Besides the original productions of the Editors—the Foreign and Domestic Correspondence of a large list of contributors—the spice of the European Magazines—the selections of the most interesting publications of the day—the brief novels—the 'piquant stories'—the sparkling wit and amusing anecdote—the news and gossip of the Parisian papers—the personal sketches of public characters—the stirring scenes of the world we live in—the chronicle of the news for ladies—the fashions and fashionable gossip—the facts and outlines of news—the pick of English information—the wit, humor and pathos of the times—the essays on life, literature, society and morals, and the usual variety of careful choicings from the wilderness of English periodical literature, criticism, poetry, etc.—several new and attractive features of remarkable interest will enrich and give value to the new series of the work.

TERMS:—For one copy, $2; for three copies, $5; or one copy for three years, $5—always in advance.

Subscribe without delay. Address, MORRIS & WILLIS, New York City.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT. The locomotive, Plymouth, and tender, attached to the Fall River freight train, ran off the draw, which was open, on Saturday evening last, at Neponset River. The frost upon the tracks, although the brakes were applied, did not check the train in season. Mr. Moore of Braintree, was slightly injured—the rest escaped.

'Too LATE,' "T." and others came too late for this week's paper.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

A ton of corn is estimated not to be worth hauling by wagon, when one hundred and seventy miles from market; while at the same distance, upon a line of railroad, it would be worth $22 10. A ton of wheat, three hundred and thirty miles from market, is not worth the hauling by wagon, but by railroad it would be worth $41 55.

An Englishman has invented a new wheelbarrow. The wheel is placed under, and is sunk into the bottom; so that the weight rests on the wheel and not on the hands, and there is less oscillation. By means of this barrow it is stated that twice the usual weight can be wheeled.

The Emperor Faustin, of Hayti, is anxious for the introduction of religious books and papers into the island, and has given orders that henceforward no duty shall be charged upon Bibles, Testaments, or Protestant religious tracts or books, or other publications.

Fights are easily got up. All that is required are three participants—two blockheads and a pint of new rum.

The peach originally was a poisonous almond. Its fleshy parts were then used to poison arrows, and it was for this purpose introduced into Persia; the transplanting and cultivation, however, not only removed its poisonous qualities, but produced the delicious fruit we now enjoy.

A steam machine is now on exhibition in New York. It is intended to plough twelve furrows, and perform the operation of plowing, sowing and harrowing simultaneously.

The Erie Railroad with its equipments cost twenty-five millions of dollars, and employs two hundred locomotives.

The manufacture of perfumery is said to be one of the most extensive and lucrative employments in the city of Paris, (France) and an immense number of families obtain a living at this business.

Ninety-eight individuals in the United States have during the past year been made Doctors of Divinity and fifty-one Doctors of Laws.

The total cost of the Custom Houses now in the United States, together with the expenditures upon those partially completed, is about $7,300,000, of which the four at New York, Boston, Charleston and New Orleans have cost $3,634,000.

There are said to be eighty thousand hymns in the German language.

Of the fourteen counties in Massachusetts, nine gave majorities against the new Constitution, and five voted in favor of its adoption. Suffolk gave the largest vote against it, and Worcester county returned a majority of 5073 in its favor.

A surgeon of St. Petersburg, (Russia) communicates to the French Academy of Sciences, that he finds the best way to amputate a limb is to freeze it by artificial means, and then to apply the knife. He says such operations are never fatal.

A baker at Angouleme, (France) in demolishing an old oven, found nearly two hundred live snakes. He also found nearly four hundred eggs, about the size of pigeons' eggs, enclosing serpents almost ready to break the shell.

A shocking instance of suicide recently transpired at Jeffersonville, (Ind.) A man cut his throat and arms off with a razor, on retiring to his lodging room in his hotel, and bled to death.

The old saying that the Spanish commence a colony by erecting a cross, the French by building a fort, the English by opening a rum shop, may not inappropriately be extended by saying that one of the first doings of an American colony is to establish a newspaper.

The Territory of Minnesota is about four times the size of the State of Ohio, extending over an area of 106,000,000 square acres.

At Exeter, (N. H.) a child was lately followed to the grave by three great grandfathers, one great grandmother, two grandfathers and two grandmothers.

Twenty-three thousand and seventeen persons came passengers in the three hundred and thirteen vessels which arrived in New York from foreign ports during the month of November.

The last month of November was remarkable for the recurrence of a new moon twice. It was new moon on the 1st and the 30th ult.

The account of the destruction of tea in Boston harbor, was expressed through to New York in four days, which was then regarded as wonderful despatch.

It is estimated that once in twenty years the entire property of the Commonwealth passes under the inspection of the Judges of Probate.

Eleven of the thirty-one States send an unbroken democratic delegation to the House of Representatives—a circumstance unprecedented for years to this extent.

Judge McLean of the United States Supreme Court, says, that 'if any person opened a letter under any pretence whatever, he was liable to be prosecuted under the post-office laws.' If suspicious letters came, it would be better for the postmaster to send to the Department; they had no authority to open them, neither had the marshal, police, nor that Court.

The price of a wife in China varies according to her rank and beauty. The choicest article sells for two hundred dollars, while the refuse of the market goes off heavily at thirty dollars.

The total number of votes upon the late Constitution, in the twelve cities of this State, was 35,808—of which 13,907 were 'Yes,' and 21,901 'No.' The population of these cities is 318,249.

Lyman Kinsley, Esq., of Canton, has presented the Norfolk Agricultural Society, fifty dollars, to aid in paying for the New Hall at Dedham.

Special Notices.

The eleventh semi-annual meeting of the Norfolk County Teachers' Association will be held in Quincy, on Thursday and Friday, the 22d and 23d of December. The meeting will be organized on the 22d, at 10 1-2 o'clock, A. M.

Lectures will be delivered: Discussions will be held; other subjects will be considered, should time permit.

D. B. HAGAR, President.

CARLOS SLATTERY, Sec. Secy.

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the Hancock House, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements.

Adam Curtis, Francis Williams, Josiah Brigham, G. F. Thayer, Noah Cummings, T. C. Webb, B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter, Lewis Bass, Lewis Newcomb, I. W. Munroe, Albert Thompson, H. N. Glover, Whitcomb Porter, John Glover, Jr., Daniel P. Nye.

Floor Managers.

H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis, George Crane, B. C. C. White, J. B. Bass, C. C. Brackett, C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

Music—Bazzell's full Band.

Tickets—$4, supper included. Dancing to commence at 7 o'clock. 2w

BRACELET LOST.

At the Adams Literary Levee, on the 15th inst., a large gold-clasped BRACELET, containing a Miniature. The finder will confer a great favor on the loser by leaving it at this office.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.

The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have engaged to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz.

On Tuesday, December 6th, REV. THEODORE PARKER; Subject, The Function of the Beautiful in the Development of Mankind.

On Tuesday, December 13th, MATTHEW HALE SMITH, Esq.;

On Tuesday, December 20th, HON. ROBERT C. WINTHROP;

On Tuesday, December 27th, REV. S. K. LOTHROP.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w
A very few tickets remain unsold. Those wanting them will please apply to the Secretary, or to Gill & Co., at the Quincy Bookstore.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 19th, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

BOOKS. A large variety of Books, at the Quincy Bookstore, to be disposed of at fair prices. Call and look at them when in want of any Book from a Penny Toy Book to a handsome Quarto Bible, or a Two Cent Pass Book to a large first rate Ledger. The best assortment and at the best chance for bargains at C. Gill & Co's. Bookstore.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 14th inst., by Rev. W. Dean, Mr. William H. Talbart to Miss Emma Howard.

In Boston, by Rev. Mr. Randall, Mr. DEXTER H. FOLLETT, of the firm of Farrar & Follett, to Miss SARAH E. R., only daughter of Mr. David Farrar.

Real Estate at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, a new 7 rooms, pleasantly situated on the Edwards Farm, (so called.) It is about half a mile from the Depot, and offers a rare chance for investment.

Also—A good House Lot adjoining the same. Terms easy, and made known at the sale.

For further particulars inquire of H. G. PRATT, or Son.

GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auct.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

Real Estate at Auction.

THE building now owned and occupied as an Apothecary Store by George W. Whiting, located on land of the heirs of William Walter, (opposite Hancock House,) in Quincy, will be sold at public auction, on SATURDAY, Dec. 17th, at 4 1-2 o'clock P. M.

This is a rare chance for investment. Conditions made known at the sale.

For any particulars inquire on the premises of GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auct.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

Lost.

ON WEDNESDAY last, Dec. 14th, a Gold Finger Ring, with a green stone inserted on it, and which is of value to the owner as a token of remembrance. Whoever will return said Ring shall be well rewarded for their trouble.

Quincy, Dec. 17. HENRY A. RANSOM.

PRESENTS

FOR

The total number of votes upon the late institution, in the twelve cities of this State, was 35,805—of which 13,907 were for, and 21,901 'No.' The population of these cities is 318,243.

Lyman Kinsley, Esq., of Canton, has presented the Norfolk Agricultural Society, fifty shares, to aid in paying for the New Hall at Edham.

Special Notices.

The eleventh semi-annual meeting of the Quincy County Teachers' Association will be held in Quincy, on Thursday and Friday, the 22d and 23d of December. The meeting will be organized on the 22d, at 10 1-2 o'clock, A. M.

Lectures will be delivered; Discussions will be held; other subjects will be considered, should time permit.

D. B. HAGAR, President.
CARLOS SLAFTER, Rec. Secy.

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the Hancock House, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements.
Adrian Curtis, Francis Williams,
Josiah Brigham, G. F. Thayer, Nash Cummings, T. C. Webb,
B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter,
Lewis Bass, Lewis Newcomb,
L. W. Munroe, Albert Thompson,
H. N. Glover, Whitcomb Foster,
John Glover, Jr., Daniel P. Nye.

Flower Managers.
H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis,
George Crane, B. C. C. White,
J. B. Bass, C. C. Brackett,
C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

MUSIC—Bazzell's full Band.
Tickets—$4, supper included. Dancing commence at 7 o'clock. 2w

BRACELET LOST,

At the Adams Literary Lyceum, on the 15th inst. a large gold-chained BRACELET, containing a Miniature. The finder will confer a great favor on the loser by leaving it in this office.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.
The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have engaged to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz.

On Tuesday, December 6th, REV. THEODORE PARKER, Subject, The Function of the Beautiful in the Development of Manhood.
On Tuesday, December 13th, MATTHEW JAKE SMITH, Esq.:
On Tuesday, December 20th, HON. ROBERT C. WINSTROP:
On Tuesday, December 27th, REV. S. K. OTTROP.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not being decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and merits of the lectures afford a sufficient guarantee that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that can be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cheerfully hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.
Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w
A very few tickets remain unsold. Those wanting them will please apply to the Secretary, or to Gill & Co., at the Quincy bookstore.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 19th, at 7 1-2 o'clock.
FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.
JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

BOOKS. A large variety of Books, at the Quincy Bookstore, to be disposed of at fair prices. Call and look at them when in want. Any Book from a Penny Toy Book to a handsome Quarto Bible, or a Two Cent Pass book to a large first rate Ledger. The best assortment and the best chance for bargains. C. Gill & Co's. Bookstore.

Marriages.

In this town, on the 14th inst., by Rev. W. Dean, Mr. William H. Talburt to Miss Anna Howard.

In Boston, by Rev. Mr. Randall, Mr. HENRY H. FARRAR, of the firm of Farrar, Follett, to Miss SARAH E. R., only daughter of Mr. David Farrar.

Real Estate at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, a new neat cottage built house, containing rooms, pleasantly situated on the Edwards Farm, (called,) It is about half a mile from the Depot, and offers a rare chance for investment.

Also—a good House Lot adjoining the same. Terms easy, and made known at the sale.

For further particulars inquire of
H. G. PRATT, or Son,
GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auct.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

Real Estate at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, a new neat cottage built house, containing rooms, pleasantly situated on the Edwards Farm, (called,) It is about half a mile from the Depot, and offers a rare chance for investment.

Also—a good House Lot adjoining the same. Terms easy, and made known at the sale.

For further particulars inquire of
H. G. PRATT, or Son,
GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auct.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

Lost.

ON WEDNESDAY last, Dec. 14th, a Gold Finger Ring, with a green stone inserted on it, and which is of value to the owner as a token of remembrance. Whoever will return said Ring will be well rewarded for their trouble.

HENRY A. RANSOM.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 4f

QUINCY PATRIOT.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17.

PRESENTS FOR Christmas and New Year.

Books and Fancy Goods,
AT THE
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
THE most Attractive Variety ever offered in QUINCY. It will be useless to attempt an enumeration of the beautiful Books and Fancy Articles now for sale at this Store.

FAR SURPASSING

any variety ever offered to this community.

AN ASSORTMENT
to select from that they will readily be able to supply themselves with the most elegant and appropriate Books or Fancy Goods for Gifts for their friends.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 4w

Wood at Auction.

Will be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Dec. 20th inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., all the Wood standing on eight acres of Land belonging to Mr. Asa Pope. Said Wood is principally Oak and Walnut, of thirty years' growth, very easy of access, being situated on the south side of Pine Hill, and opposite the house of Mr. Elijah Nightingale.

Conditions made known at the time of sale.

EBENEZER ADAMS, Auct.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

Hingham and Quincy

Bridge & Turnpike Corporation.

THE Proprietors of this Corporation are hereby notified, that their annual meeting will be held at the Union House, in Hingham, on MONDAY, the 24th day of January next, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers, and for the transaction of all such other business as may then legally come before them.

By order of the Directors,
LEWEL BRACKETT, Clerk.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 3w

For Colds, Coughs, &c.

JUST received a new supply of Tolu Rock, J. Bryan's Pulmonic Water, Dr. Vines' Compound Cough Lozenges, and a variety of remedies for Coughs, Colds, &c. For sale by
MRS. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, Dec. 17. 4f

CALEB PACKARD.

DEALER IN SILKS, SHAWLS, FURS,
Dress and Domestic Goods of every description.

Also—White Goods, Laces, Dress and Cloak Trimmings, Gimps Braids and Embroideries, a large lot of Hosiery, and a great variety of fancy articles.

GENTS' and BOYS'
Ready Made Clothing,
AND
FURNISHING GOODS!
BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS, VALISES, CARPET BAGS, UMBRELLAS,
HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.

FURNITURE,

of every description constantly on hand, or furnished at short notice.

Also—MATTRESSES and FEATHERS of every quality. I would ask the particular attention of the public to this branch of my business.

MILLINERY GOODS!

Customers wishing Goods of this class, will find always a carefully selected Stock, of the latest and best styles. BONNETS, made and trimmed.

CARPETINGS,
of every style and quality: Crockery, China, Glass, and Britannia Ware, Solar Lamps and Shades, and a general assortment of Household Goods. I would respectfully invite the attention of my friends and customers, to my present varied Stock, to which I am constantly making addition, and solicit call from all desiring Goods of any kind in my line.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w

Clearing out Sale.

Geo. Savil & Co.,
Goodnow's Building,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Sts., Quincy.

BEING desirous of reducing their large stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS previous to taking account of Stock, will offer them the first of January, at prices from 10 to 25 per cent. less than the same Goods have been sold for through the season.

We have a large lot of Prints, DeLaines, Persons and rich Cashmeres, which will be cleared at a bargain. All our Lyonses, Thibets, and Staff Goods, Trimmings, &c., &c., in great variety will be sold at a large reduction. All our long and square Shawls at from 50cts. to $2 discount; and other Goods in proportion.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 3w

For California.

Independent Opposition Line.

Through Tickets
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!
THE new and splendid Steamship YANKEE BLADE, 2250 tons, will sail from New York for Annapolis, on Tuesday, Dec. 20th, at 3 o'clock P. M., connecting with the new and unrivaled Steamship UNCLE SAM, 2000 tons, which will sail immediately on the arrival of the passenger at Panama for San Francisco direct, without stopping at any of the intermediate ports. These steamships are vastly superior to any others on the route, in every point, but more particularly as to their speed, ventilation and good accommodations. It is confidently expected that the passage will be made to California in twenty-two days, notwithstanding the report of rumors that the old Monopoly's steamers are equal to those of this line. By referring to the Marine Insurance Companies' books in this city, it will be seen that the steamers of this line stand at a much better average rate than those of any other line on the route. Passengers procuring tickets from this office shall have their money refunded and be presented with a free ticket, if the above is not found to be a fact on inquiry of the underwriters.

The travelling public should bear in mind that this is the only OFFICIAL LINE, and that it is their advantage to patronize it, and secure a continuance of uniform low rates and good fare.

The books are now open, and the public will find it greatly to their advantage to secure their berth early. Tickets will be sold 10 per cent. less than the lowest rates of any other line, if secured by forwarding one-half the amount before the 5th of December.

For passage, apply only to
E. MILLS, Agent, 51 Cortlandt St.
New York City, Dec. 3. 3w

P. S. Tickets for crossing the Isthmus will be furnished if required.

Botanic Medicine Depot.

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy
Articles, &c., &c., he now offers them to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reformed Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 4f

Dr. Wm. M. Cornell,

No 630 Washington Street, Boston.

IN addition to general practice, has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Skin, Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home to wait upon patients from 12 M. to 3 P. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M.

ELECTRICITY is medicinally applied in all cases where it is indicated.

Boston, Nov. 26. 4f

New Book

AND Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased and fitted Store No. 7 State Street, (Beal Building,) in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK, PERIODICAL and NEWS-PAPER BUSINESS, in all of its various branches.

They are prepared to furnish ALL Books at the shortest possible notice.

All NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon as published and sold at the lowest prices.

HOOPER & UNDERWOOD.

JAMES C. HOOPER,
E. UNDERWOOD, JR.

Subscriptions received for all the MAGAZINES and NEWSPAPERS of the day.

Boston, Nov. 26. 4f

Citizens of Quincy,

ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.

Also—one case Women's extra Rubbers.

Geo. B. NIGHTINGALE.

N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7 1-2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum.

Quincy, Nov. 19. 7w

MONEY IS UP, DRY GOODS Are Down.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.

Will offer their LARGE STOCK of Shawls, Cloaks, Mantillas, Silk
Goods, Velvets, Dress Goods,
RAW SILK and DRESS PLAIDS,
Cloths, Thibets, Merinoes, Cashmeres,
MOURNING ARTICLES,
EMBROIDERIES, LACES, TRIM-MINGS, GENTS' SHIRTS,
SHIRTING LINES,

Blankets, Quilts, Domestic,
HOSIERY, GLOVES, &c.,

At prices corresponding to the increased value of MONEY.

BARGAINS may be EXPECTED.

As we never allow our customers to be drawn away from us by better bargains than we offer them ourselves.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.,
192 Washington St.

Boston, Nov. 26. 4w

SAVIL & Co.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING

AND FURNITURE!

TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY
AND VICINITY.

THE undersigned having completed their arrangements, are now prepared to show one of the most extensive stocks of
FOREIGN and DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, CLOTHING
AND FURNISHING GOODS.

Furniture, Carpeting, Mat-
trasses, &c.,

TO BE FOUND IN NORFOLK COUNTY.

At all times can be found a full and complete assortment of the different

STYLES and QUALITIES,
all of which will be sold at the lowest prices, and warranted in every respect equal to representation.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.,
Goodnow's Building,
Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Goods delivered to any part of the town or vicinity free from expense.

Quincy, September 3. 4f

For Sale,

A WOOD LOT, containing six acres, consisting of Oak, Maple and Chestnut, of about twenty four years growth, situated in Quincy, and about one mile south-west of the residence of the late Mr. Ebenezer Harmon. Inquire at the corner of Castle Street and Harrison Avenue, of SAMUEL SPEAR.

Boston, Dec. 10. 2w

Mrs. Hale's New Book.

THE NEW HOUSEHOLD RECEIPT

BOOK, containing Maxims, Directions and Recipes for promoting Health, Comfort and Improvement in the Homes of the People. By Sarah J. Hale. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 3w

Neat's Foot Oil,

FOR sale cheap for cash, by
D. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 4f

Pills and Ointment.

HOLLOWAY'S Pills and Ointment.

For sale by MRS. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 6w

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A variety of FALL and WINTER CLOTHING, in new Complete and READY

Russell & Co's Store,
TOWN HALL, QUINCY.

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold at a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 4f

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,

ON THE
BRAINTREE and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JOHN DINEGAN, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Peters-ham, Plain Cloth, &c., &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the very lowest price for cash.

Also—a large and splendid lot of
Ready Made Clothing,
which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents
Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dinegan, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

The one price system will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES O'BRIEN.

Quincy, Nov. 12. 4f

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 to 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and from 20 to 30 bush. Quinces.

The above articles will be sold cheap for cash and delivered in any part of the town.

DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 15. 6w

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern
Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by
NATHANIEL WHITE.

Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 4f

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING having finished and arranged his new Store would express his thanks to his customers, for the liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. Strict PERSONAL attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Soule's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Rheumatic Liniment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c. &c. Leeches constantly on hand and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.

Quincy, Sept. 10. 4f

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXN, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of
W. I. Goods, Groceries, Provisions,
Stone and Earthen Ware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.

OZEN JOSSELYN.

Quincy, Nov. 12. 4f

New England Protective Union,

DIVISION, No. 180.

AT the Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Hardwick, on Franklin street, may be found a good assortment of
GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND GLASS WARE!

Together with a supply of Boot Maker's Findings.

Also—
BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE, LARD, MACKEREL, PICKLES,
POTATOES, &c., &c.

All of which will be kept constantly on hand, and will be sold at a small advance from cost, for cash.

The public are invited to call and examine our Goods, and become acquainted with our mode of trade.

N. B. The spacious Hall over the store will be let on favorable terms.

Goods delivered to any part of the town free from charges.

Quincy, April 2, 1853. 4f

Practical Phrenology.

CORRECT Phrenological Examinations, with Charts, or complete written descriptions of character, including valuable advice concerning the preservation and restoration of health, formation of proper habits, correction of faults, restraining of excesses, and cultivating defects; and important directions as to the choice of suitable occupations, the selection of partners in business, and general counsel in relation to life, &c., &c., can be had, day or evening, at the Phrenological Rooms of
FOWLER, WELLS & CO.,
142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

To the young just starting in life, such knowledge is invaluable.

The Phrenological Museum, containing a great variety of skulls, Bones, Casts, and Paintings of the most distinguished men, is open free to visitors.

Classes for instruction in Practical Phrenology and Physiology are constantly in operation, and private students are taken at all times and qualified for lecturers and examiners.

Application for lectures out of town, before leaving, or other views, duly considered.

Books for sale on Phrenology, Physiology, Water Cure, Psychology, Phonography, and progressive subjects generally. All of Fowler & Wells' publications, including the Phrenological and Water Cure Journals, furnished from this office at the same prices, wholesale and retail, as at New York.

Orders by mail or express promptly attended to.

FOWLER, WELLS & CO.,
142 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 24. 3m

1854.

The Old Farmers Almanac for the year 1854, by Robert B. Thomas; for sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Oct. 15. 4f

ENLARGEMENT OF THE TREMONT ROW SILK & SHAWL STORE. NEW STOCK. AND INCREASED FACILITIES.

To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS,
CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,
LACES & EMBROIDERIES,
Domestic & Housekeeping Goods,
OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & Co.,
1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,
GIVE NOTICE TO THE
LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add
New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature

to constitute their Establishment the
LARGEST and BEST
RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE
IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that
Unlike other large Dry Goods
Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to call the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS
Who have SO LONG and SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him

Poetry.

While 'His Daytime let us Work

Every mortal has his mission
In this world of active strife,
Whether in a high position
Or a lowly walk of life.

He it is, who, now fulfilling
Every duty day by day,
Shows the mind and spirit willing
To perform its onward way.

Life's a bark upon the ocean,
Tossed and rocked by every gale;
New scuds on with speedy motion,
Now with rent and tattered sail.

Life's a bright and sunny morning,
With some light refreshing showers,
Followed by dark cloudy warning
Of the storm that's yet to lower.

Life's the cord of silver binding
Man in contact with his kind;
Death is but that bond unwinding,
Setting free the earth-bound mind.

Life's the pitcher of the fountain
Whence immortal rills descend;
'Tis the fragile wheel surmounting
Cistern where pure waters blend.

Life's the day for deed and action,
Death's the rest, the time of night;
He who works with satisfaction
Works while yet the hour is light.

Forward, then! the day is waning,
Westward sinks the setting sun;
Onward! on! without complaining,
Work, while yet it may be done.

All Mankind are Barbers.

I'll prove to you my friend, I hope,
That I am a barber, can harbor
The hair of the world's a barber shop,
And every one's a barber.

Some shave to make themselves look neat,
And some because 'tis fashy;
And others shave you in the street,
And only shave for money.

Some shave their foreheads slick and clean,
With long heads are bothered.
But then 'tis plain to be seen
That they are the ones that lathered.

To court a girl with elegance,
The dandy never fails here;
But lathers her with compliments,
And shaves her, when he gets here.

The wretched slave, now and then,
Who are so fond of sporting,
Soft soap the shaven-headed men,
And shaves 'em while they're sporting.

But men and girls who thus will boast
Of soaping while they lathered,
Will find at least with bitter cost
That both get shaved when married—PRE-HAPS.

A Pleasant Thought.

There's not a health, however rude,
But hath some little flower
To brighten up its solitude,
And scent the breeze with perfume.
There's not a heart, however cast
By grief and sorrow down,
But hath some memory of the past,
To love and call its own.

Anecdotes.

"I think," said an old poet commenting upon the habits of a young man, who was fast making a boast of himself, "when a man reaches a certain point in drinking, he is apt to stop."

"Well, I think," said old Boeswain drily, "he ought to stop before he reaches a pint."

"Will you do me the favor to lend me a hundred pounds?" says a young lady to a prudent old gentleman.

"What security will you give?" said the latter.

"My own personal security, sir."

"Get in there," said the old gentleman, lifting up the lid of a large iron chest; "that is the place where I keep my securities."

One of the most celebrated members of the French bar was consulted by a younger practitioner upon an obscure point of law.

"I cannot give you a positive answer, young man," replied the advocate, "I have once pleaded one way and once the other, and I gained my suit each time."

A Quaker and a hot-headed youth were quarrelling. The broad-brimmed friend kept his temper most equally, which seemed but to increase the anger of the other. "Fellow," said the latter, in a passion, "I know a bigger fellow than you are!" finishing the expression with an oath. "Stop, friend," replied the Quaker, "thou forgettest thyself."

As a woman was walking a man looked at her and followed her.

"Why do you follow me?" said she.

"Because I have fallen in love with you."

"Why so—my sister who is coming after, is much handsomer than I am—go and make love to her."

"The man turned back, and saw a woman with an ugly face, and being greatly displeased, returned and said, 'Why did you tell me a story?'"

The woman answered, "Neither did you tell me the truth, for if you were in love with me, why did you look for another woman?"

"Father," said an ambitious shaver, about the size of a pepper-box, "I can do without shoes, but I am suffering for a bosom-pin."

A quaker said to a gunner, "Friend, I counsel no bloodshed; but if it be thy design to hit the little man in the blue jacket, point thine engine three inches lower."

"Jimmy, do you go to school?"

"Yes sir, the school kept by Miss Post."

"Miss Post! not a whipping Post I hope?"

"O, no, she is a guide Post."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,

HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.

—ALSO—
HARD and SOFT WOOD.
Quincy, June 11. 1y

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree

Mutual Fire Insurance Company.
All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 8.

Dr. HUGHES,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1y

HARRIS & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for
invalids and sickness.

Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 106 Kneeland Street.
Boston, April 16, 1853. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNHAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT,
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM-CHOWDERS.
IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852. 1y

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
HANTS-TURNERS and DEALERS IN Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
N.B. A complete assortment always on hand.—23
N.B. Particular attention devoted to Custom
Work. 28

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853. 1y

B. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY HALL,
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. 1y

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, April 21. 1y

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
&c.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which he will be promptly attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23. 1y

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF"
An Invaluable Book for 25 CENTS.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.
20,000 Copies
sold in
less than five months. A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual and Hand-
Book for the Afflicted—
Containing an outline of the origin, progress, and
treatment of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self-abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style, avoiding all
medical technicalities, and everything that would
offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S
MEDICAL MANUAL." The author of this work
unlike the majority of those works which advertise
as one of the best of Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a medical technician, and every thing that would
offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual." It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the "Medical Manual." Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing, have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered by the medical world as incurable. His skill, his gentleness, and his disarming
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the
fortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class
of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of these various complaints, and with too little breath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice.—15 CENTS.

No teacher, parent or student should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into the path of self-pollution without realizing the
sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled,
and broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing upon the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge than the religion of self-pollution which has afflicted all climates, and believe me, your co-worker in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, (securely enveloped) will be forwarded free of postage to the author of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) CODDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Bookkeepers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hoodland's
Celebrated German Bitters.
WILL effectively cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dropsy, Chronic or Nervous De-
bility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove all acidity, and give tone and energy to the Stomach,
and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary
habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Mattresses.
CURED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and
for sale by
I. W. MUNROE.
Quincy, May 21. 1y

Brown's
ALMANAC, Pocket Memoranda and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19. 1y

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!
DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have secured for the afflicted a new era of health. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectively cured by these
celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call
and get the Messenger of Health, of
GEORGE W. WHITING,
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.
THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
&c.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which he will be promptly attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23. 1y

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF"
An Invaluable Book for 25 CENTS.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.
20,000 Copies
sold in
less than five months. A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual and Hand-
Book for the Afflicted—
Containing an outline of
the origin, progress, and
treatment of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self-abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style, avoiding all
medical technicalities, and everything that would
offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in
Penn. College, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S
MEDICAL MANUAL." The author of this work
unlike the majority of those works which advertise
as one of the best of Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a medical technician, and every thing that would
offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "Dr. HUNTER'S Medical Manual." It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the "Medical Manual." Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing, have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered by the medical world as incurable. His skill, his gentleness, and his disarming
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the
fortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.

This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class
of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of these various complaints, and with too little breath to puff, and too little presumption to impose, he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice.—15 CENTS.

No teacher, parent or student should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "Thousands upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into
the path of self-pollution without realizing the
sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled,
and broken down, and they do not know the cure.
Any thing that can be done to enlighten and influence the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing upon the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating drinks) though it has slain thousands upon thousands, is not a greater scourge than the religion of self-pollution which has afflicted all climates, and believe me, your co-worker in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."

One copy, (securely enveloped) will be forwarded free of postage to the author of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) CODDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Bookkeepers, Canvasers and Book Agents
supplied on the most liberal terms.

Dr. Hoodland's
Celebrated German Bitters.
WILL effectively cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
dice, Dropsy, Chronic or Nervous De-
bility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and energy to the Stomach,
and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary
habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Mattresses.
CURED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and
for sale by
I. W. MUNROE.
Quincy, May 21. 1y

Brown's
ALMANAC, Pocket Memoranda and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19. 1y

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!
DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have secured for the afflicted a new era of health. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectively cured by these
celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call
and get the Messenger of Health, of
GEORGE W. WHITING,
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
—ALSO—
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.<

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1853.

NUMBER LII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over L. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.

JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrearages, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements correctly and conspicuously inserted at the customary prices, and will be charged for until ordered out.
The privilege of annual advertisers is limited to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and requested to procure subscribers.
JOSHUA BABCOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. LOCKE, Stone Quarries.
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVELAND, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Physicians of Randolph.

The following extract is made from the interesting Address given at the annual meeting of the Norfolk District Medical Society, May 18th, 1853, by Dr. Alden of Randolph, President of the Society.

Dr. Moses Baker, a friend and probably fellow pupil of Dr. Benjamin Church, of Boston, settled in the 'New South Precinct of Braintree,' now Randolph, about the year 1755, and had a good share of business in that and the neighboring parishes until his death, which occurred December 10, 1781.

Dr. Ephraim Wales was the second physician in Randolph. He graduated at Harvard College in 1768, was a medical pupil of Dr. Amos Putnam of Danvers, and settled in his native parish as early as 1770. He was well educated, was the instructor of numerous pupils, and had a large circle of practice. His youngest son, bearing the same name, after his father's death, which occurred April 7, 1805, at the age of 59, pursued his profession, and is still a resident on the site of the old family mansion.

Dr. Ebenezer Alden, a descendant of the Pilgrim John Alden, who came to Plymouth in the May Flower in 1620, was a native of Stafford, Ct., where he was born July 4, 1755. Having completed his medical education in his native State, he was invited to settle in Randolph on the death of Dr. Baker; and from 1781 to the time of his own death, which occurred October 16, 1806, he sustained there and in the neighboring towns an unblemished reputation, and received his full share of medical patronage. His pastor, Rev. Jonathan Strout, in a tribute to his memory after his decease, thus speaks of him:—The duties of his profession he discharged with reputation to himself, and with great usefulness to his employers. His circle of business, although small at first, gradually increased until it became very extensive. As a physician he was remarkably attentive, prudent, and successful. During the latter part of his life, his advice was sought and much respected by his brethren of the faculty in his vicinity. No physician in this part of the country possessed the love and confidence of his patients to a higher degree. This was evident from the universal sorrow occasioned among them by his death.

Dr. Jonathan Wales, a medical pupil of Dr. E. Wales and N. Miller, was a native of Randolph, and a physician there for forty years preceding his death, which occurred in 1843, at the age of 65. He was ardently devoted to his profession, and actively engaged in his duties; was much employed in town affairs, and in the concerns of the religious society of which he was a member. He obtained the confidence of his patients in an eminent degree, and was often called on in surgical as well as in medical cases. In 1824 he received the degree of A. M. at Middlebury College, and that of M. D. at Waterville in 1832. His son, Dr. B. L. Wales, who graduated at Middlebury College in 1824, and M. D. at Harvard in 1828, was afterwards associated in business with his father while he lived, but since his death has relinquished medical pursuits for more congenial and lucrative employments.

Dr. Ebenezer Alden, son of the former physician in this town of the same name, graduated at Harvard College in 1808; was a medical pupil of Dr. Nathan Smith, at Hanover, N. H., where he received the degree of M. B. in 1811. He was afterwards for some months a resident in Philadelphia, in attendance upon medical lectures and practice in that city, where he received, in 1812, the degree of M. D. from the University of Pennsylvania; since which period he has resided at Randolph.

Other physicians, who have commenced business here more recently, are now resident in that town, enjoying a well-earned patronage.

Kitty Dunn's Mistake.

'Diamonds, pearls, and rubies, this looks like it,' said Kitty Dunn, as she stood at the well-chipped desk of our old school house, ruling a blotted, and dog-eared writing book. 'Granny Dale said, I should one day wear diamonds, pearls and rubies, this looks like it,' and the red lips pouted, while the dainty little hand traced the copy, 'Cease to do evil—learn to do well.' But the cloud passed, and she sang—

'Oh gie me a brae Highland laddie,
With bonny brown hair and blue ee'n.'

'Mercy, there's that little wretch, Jimmy Pike, peeping from behind that oak tree. He heard me, of course, and I cannot make him think it was a psalm tune, if I try. Well, Mr. Jimmy, you get three extra blows when I give you your daily furling, to pay you for being here before time. I wonder if Ned will come to-day,' and she glanced at a branch of wild columbines, and wood anemones, that graced the desk. They were not the offering of her pupils, but were gathered by herself and the young collegian, the last night as they wandered through the grove that surrounds our old school house.

We will leave Kitty while to her soliloquy and to her charge, who came dropping in, one by one, and tell you of this same knowledge box.

It is ancient, coeval with the first settler, of Dunwoodie, but it has always been kept in perfect repair, and its large airy rooms and great bow window, by the teacher's seat, make it a most delightful place for study, especially in a warm summer afternoon, when the sun shines gaily through the lofty branches that overhang it, and the shadows of their ever moving leaves dance polkas on the walls; when the cool air that first rippled Dun Lake, comes refreshingly through the low window, lifts the curls of the little ones, who pore over the mysteries of Peter Parley, on the front seats, and goes quietly out at the open door, to coquet with the leaves in the grove.

It is but a stone's throw, from the window to the lake, and across it, scarce half a mile, and seemingly much nearer, is Mr. Shafton's beautiful cottage. No other building is in sight, but stretching away in front is an avenue of oak and beech trees, of more than a century's growth.

The old school house has more than one rival town. In the village, the Academy, a pert thing of brick and mortar, rears its head, but I could no more solve a problem within its stiff, glaring walls, than I could tell who put the pyramids.

Very dear to us all is the old brown house in the grove. Beneath its moss grown roof many a bright, boyish face has bent over its daily task, that has since glowed with manly eloquence, while addressing admiring crowds, in our national halls.

Many a gay, girlish voice, that brought joy and gladness to our child world, has become the guide and life music of men whom the nation delight to honor, while not a few of our choicest, dearest ones, are resting on 'our pleasant hill of graves.'

It always happened, or so it seems to me in looking back, that the teachers in the old house, were miracles of goodness and beauty. To be sure, Master Damore was rather Ichabod Crane-ish in his appearance, but let him once smile on you, and you forgot everything but the great soul that looked out at you from his pale blue eyes. I verily believe the instruction he gave us, was of more value than years of scientific study, for he taught us to be, and to do good.

But our lady teachers, our summer birds, who came and went with the robin and thrush, I challenge the world to produce such a number of bewitching fairies as reigned over us for many successive years.

Of these, Kitty Dunn was not the most beautiful, and yet she was very fascinating little body, to young men who should be thinking only of Euclid and Virgil, or so at least Ned Shafton found her.

Don't pho when I tell you she had red hair, for it was not a carot, but a golden gleaming red, that caught every passing sunbeam and threw it off again with added lustre. It was not stiff and coarse, like most red hair, but soft and wavy, coiling gracefully away from her little round face, and leaving full enough of the plump cheek exposed to show the right color that went and went with every thought.

It was the summer after Rose Shafton was married, that Kitty came among us, and to while away the long warm days, I had taken my books and entangled myself as one of her scholars. I found her own bright self a most interesting study, and it was not at all difficult to pass her as a noun, not in the objective case, and governed by Ned Shafton understood.

But I must tell you of Kitty's birth and adventures, ere she came to Dunwoodie.

She was born in Scotland, not far from the palace of Linlithgow, where Mary Stuart, the most beautiful and the most unfortunate of Monarchs first saw the light. Her father was captain of a small sloop, that sailed between Edinburgh and Newcastle on the Tyne, and her mother was a native of Newcastle.

The father was the youngest son of a Laird who left little else but his title to his eldest son, and nothing but a good name to the younger.

When Kitty was two years old, her father concluded to emigrate to America, and as there were several other children, and she was rather slender and delicate, her parents yielded to the urgent entreaties of her uncle the Laird, and consented to leave her with him and his maiden sister, who presided over his household. As Kitty grew in years she grew in health and beauty, and became the admiration of all the laddies far and near. But her uncle favored none of these, and had promised her in marriage to an old crony of his, a regular Dumbe like, who came every evening and sat glowing and ogling at Kitty, till she fairly hated the very sight of him.

When her uncle found that she was not willing to satisfy his agreement with his friend, he thought to induce her to comply by keeping her confined, and not allowing her to see any of her young friends, who were always ready to show her attention, when she joined them in their meetings and merry makings. Kitty cared for none of them, but her Scotch blood rebelled at coercion, and in company with her old nurse, whose son was mate on board a Liverpool packet, she escaped from durance and embarked for America.

She found her parents residing in one of our beautiful inland cities. Although surrounded by all the comforts of life, they had not found America the El Dorado they expected, and Kitty's ambitious spirit, soon led her to look about her, for a means of assisting them, to rear and educate her younger brothers and sisters. Her uncle, who really loved her, had repeatedly written for her to return, promising concession in everything, but the path of duty opened before her, in the land of her adoption, and she hesitated not to follow it.

A year's attendance on the means of instruction, so free to all in our land of schools, fitted her for a teacher, and she made her debut as such in Dunwoodie.

And so it was, that as Ned Shafton, to relieve the ennui of the long summer vacation, wandered through the beech grove, by the old school house, with his dog and gun, he found there awaiting him as its destiny, a loving, confiding heart, fit mate for his noble, manly nature.

He came again and again, sometimes to ramble through the wood in search of wild flowers, sometimes with his boat for a row on the lake, and sometimes with his horse, bringing his mother's saddle pony for Kitty, and then such a madcap gallop as they would have over the hills has scarce been seen, since John Gilpin's day.

Kitty had learned to look for his coming, and on the morning we have introduced her to you, my dear reader, she had scarce a doubt but that the evening would bring him again to her side. But he came not. The last flock of little ones had blundered through their a-b-a-b's. The last class, comprising all the rest of the school, had spelled through three pages of the spelling book—the boys had been dismissed—then the girls, and Kitty with a scarce suppressed sigh, put on her hat and shawl, and with no company but her own thoughts, bent her steps homeward.

It was very foolish for her to feel sad and disappointed, but she could not help it. Ned had not promised to come, but still she felt sure he would; and his absence made everything seem gloomy; even the sky, although glowing with the last rays of an unclouded sun, seemed sad and sorrowful to her. The next morning matters were not mended. Everything seemed to go wrong. Her curls could not be coaxed to lay as they ought; her blue muslin which she very much wished to wear, was found to need mending; and lastly her gloves were among the missing. At length, heated, and vexed, she was on her way to the school room, when, on turning a sharp corner in the road, a lady and gentleman on horseback, passed her on a hard gallop. It needed but a glance, to tell her that the gentleman was Ned Shafton, and that the lady, who in a rich habit, and hat with drooping plumes, looked passing lovely, was mounted on Black Dan, the pony on whom she had enjoyed so many pleasant rides.

It was a sight by no means calculated to restore the equanimity of her spirits, and she hurried on, although she saw Ned pull his horse almost upon his haunches, and turn towards her with a gay smile. His first impulse was to wheel and follow her, but his companion had galloped on, so giving his horse the rein, he was soon again by her side. Kitty looked very sad all day, and when little Mary Morton, climbing on the seat beside her, put her arms round her neck, asking, 'duthn't any one love you, Mith Dunn?' the tears would not be repressed, but fell, blinding her eyes, and quite blotting out the sun she was doing for Jimmy Pike.

She could not help often looking towards Mr. Shafton's, and she more than once, caught sight of Ned, walking in the garden, or sunbathing by the shore of the lake, and always accompanied by the strange lady.

After school was dismissed, and just as she was leaving the house, Mr. Shafton's man rode up, bringing her a beautiful bouquet, with a note attached. It was from Ned and ran thus:

DEAR KITTY:—I have been prevented from meeting you to-day, but to-morrow at sunrise, I will be at good Mrs. Brown's with Black Dan, and then, darling, for a glorious gallop.
Yours now and always,
NED SHAFTON.

Kitty's voice and manner were very firm and decided, and she bade the man wait for an answer; but her fingers trembled a little as she twisted among the leaves and stems of the flowers, a slip of paper, bearing a cool refusal both of them and the ride.

Ned's surprise was great on receiving it, and his gloomy disappointed looks were cause for many a merry jest from his fair friend.

The next morning as soon as breakfast was over, he ordered his horse, and without any particular purpose, for it was too early to expect to find any one there, galloped towards the school house.

As he entered the grove, he slackened his rein, and the noble animal who bore him, finding his master in a brown study, paced leisurely along, till his stopping at the door of the school house, where habit told him he might expect leisure to graze awhile, caused his rider to look up.

The door was open, and at the desk sat Kitty, her face buried in her hands, evidently unconscious that any one was near.

She had not heard the slow step of his horse, and he could see that she was weeping violently. Throwing himself from the saddle, he entered noiselessly, and the first intimation Kitty had that she was not alone, strong hands grasped hers, and drew them from her eyes, while through her tears she could see other eyes, looking down into hers wonderingly.

They were not eyes, she was won't to turn away from, and she looked into them, the cloud that had hung over her for a day or two, lifted.

No question did Ned ask, to make her confess her weakness, but comprehending at a glance her mistake, he drew her to his side, putting back the damp curls, and soothed her as her mother would her child, while he told her of the coming of his sister Rose from her far southern home, how she longed to see his Scotch Linnet, and that he was commissioned to bring her home with him for a week's holiday.

I don't think Kitty has worn many diamonds yet, but the chances are good that she may. Ned is as talented and manly a fellow as you will find, and bids fair to be honored and promoted wherever he may be. He is heir too, of a rich bachelor uncle in the old country.

They are to be married as soon as he graduates, which will shortly be, and leaves immediately for Europe.

It would not be strange, if, among the throng of nobles and ladies, with whom their wealth and station will entitle them to mingle, Kitty should wear diamonds, pearls and rubies.—Portland Transcript.

Riches.

'If you want your talents appreciated, get rich.'

That tells the whole story in a nutshell. If you wish to be anybody in the estimation of mankind, get rich. No matter how pure your morality, how lofty your aspirations, how disciplined your mind, unless you have a fortune you will never be loved, noticed, or respected. But if your ancestors chanced to be misers, and thus left you a goodly heritage, you are fawned on, courted and flattered. If you are a real knave or a blockhead, it is of no consequence, for you are rich. This blind idolatry of wealth, this worship of mammon, is enough to make an honest man blush for his race. The 'almighty dollar' is the whole end of existence, and the only object of life. The minister of God forgets his high calling, and preaches for a 'larger salary.' His congregation follow him to the costly and magnificent edifice, ostensibly dedicated to God, and instead of meditating upon the true end of life, they are absorbed in admiring their own or envying their neighbor's rich garments, and scheming how the morrow shall add to their store of wealth.

Extravagance, fashion, and cheating through our streets, and jostle against honest toil. Livered footmen and costly coaches hurry by, and splash merit with the mud thrown from the wheels—and thus in every phase of life. The toiling, laboring honest poor are despised and contemned. Riches are coveted, sought for, and worshipped by the millions. Honesty and truth, merit and talent, are sold for a 'mess of pottage.' Too often the most open dishonesty is forgiven and forgotten, because wealth blinds the eyes and obliterates the memory of the public. 'An honest man's the noblest work of God,' was once true, but now 'Get all you can, and keep what you get,' is the great principle of the age.

A Short Sermon to Farmers.

Text—2d Chron. xxvi. 10: For he loved husbandry.

I. Show what husbandry includes.
(1.) Gardening.
(2.) Culture of trees; orcharding or fruit trees; culture of forest trees for fuel, timber and fences.
(3.) The culture of grasses for pasture, fodder, &c.
(4.) The raising of cattle, various animals, fowls of many kinds, &c.
(5.) Materials for clothing.
(6.) The production of food, fruits, grains, &c.

II. Show why we ought to be attached to husbandry.

(1.) It is the employment which God assigned to man in his original innocence.
(2.) It is necessary to the subsistence of human beings.
(3.) All who can labor may do something in this business.
(4.) It is the most favorable to the attainment of knowledge.
(5.) It is favorable to virtue.
(6.) It is the happiest employment.
(7.) It is peculiarly favorable to piety.

IMPROVEMENT.

I. The proper management of husbandry requires superior endowments.

2. The fondness of mankind for a residence in cities, is decisive evidence of their depravity. Cain built a city. The commerce of Babylon was the building of a city.

3. The common conduct of mankind respecting their secular employment, is unwise.
4. Unhappy conduct of young men,—unwilling to labor, turn pellars and such like.

5. The wicked conduct of parents in the education of their children.

6. Girls ought to be prepared to be companions of husbandmen.

7. Our country is in a dangerous condition. There is nothing done but going to and fro in the earth, like Satan. But we do not like Satan walk, nor like angels ride on horses, but sail in steamboats, ride on railroads, try to fly;—no farmers.

8. There ought to be great changes among mankind respecting their peculiar employments.

9. We may foresee the destruction which is coming on the nations; Rev. 18th chapter.

10. The only way of safety is change of employment.

11. Happy prospects of a genuine and general reformation.—New England Puritan.

Dull Children.

No fact can be plainer than this, it is impossible to judge correctly of the genius or intellectual ability of the future man, by the indications of childhood. Some of the most eminent men of all ages were remarkable only for dullness in their youth. Sir Isaac Newton, in his boyhood, was inattentive to his study, and ranked very low in school until the age of twelve. When Samuel Wythe, the Dublin school master, attempted to educate Richard Brinsley Sheridan, he pronounced the boy an 'incorrigible dunce.' The mother of Sheridan fully concurred in this verdict, and declared him the most stupid of her sons. Goldsmith was dull in his youth, and Shakespeare, Gibbon, Davy, and Dryden do not appear to have exhibited in their childhood even the common elements of future success.

When Berzelius, the eminent Swedish chemist, left school for the university, the words 'Indifferent in behaviour and of doubtful hope,' were scored against his name; and after he entered the university he narrowly escaped being turned back. On one of his first visits to the laboratory, when nineteen years old, he was taunted with the inquiry whether he 'understood the difference between a laboratory and a kitchen.' Walter Scott had the credit of having 'the thickest skull in the school,' though Dr. Blair told the teacher that many bright rays of future genius shone through that same 'thick skull.'

Milton and Swift were justly celebrated for stupidity in childhood. The great Isaac Barrow's father used to say that if it pleased God to take from him any of his children, he hoped it might be Isaac, as the least promising. Calvius, the great mathematician of his age, was so stupid in his boyhood, that his teacher could make nothing of him till they tried him in geometry. Carraci, the celebrated painter, was so inapt in his youth, that his master advised him to restrict his ambition to the grinding of colors.

'One of the most popular authoresses of the present day,' says an English writer, 'could not read when she was seven. Her mother was rather uncomfortable about it, but said as every body did learn, with opportunity, she supposed her child would do so at last. By eighteen, the apparently slow genius paid the heavy but inevitable debts of her father from the profits of her first work, and before thirty, had published thirty volumes.' Dr. Scott, the commentator, could not compose a theme when twelve years old; and even at a later age, Dr. Adam Clark, after incredible effort, failed to commit to memory a poem of a few stanzas only. At nine years of age, one who afterwards became a Chief Justice in this country, was during a whole winter, unable to commit to memory the little poem found in one of our school-books.

Labor and patience are the wonder-workers of man—the wand by whose magic touch he changes dross into gold, deformity into beauty, the deserts into a garden, and the ignorant child into a venerable sage. Let no youth be given up as an incorrigible fool, a victim only to be laid upon the altar of stupidity, until labor and patience have struggled with him long enough to ascertain whether he is a 'natural fool,' or whether his mind is merely enclosed in a harder shell than common, requiring only a little outward aid to escape into vigorous and symmetrical life.—Journal of Education.

Trade not the End of Life.

Let not the inference here be, that trade is the end of life—that mere money making is the purpose for which men were created. If any one lives under this delusion, he will ere long find the undisputed contradiction in his moral destruction. 'You should be a happy man,' said a gentleman to the proprietor of one of the largest mercantile establishments in the world, which he had created himself from nothing. 'But I am not,' was the brief reply; 'I know not the meaning of the term.' 'How much compensation do you get for your services?' asked John Jacob Astor of an evasive man. 'Merely enough to board, clothe, and shelter me,' was the reply. 'Well,' returned the millionaire, 'that is the same compensation exactly, that I receive for taking care of so much property.'

If the inflated man who sought so perseveringly after the philosopher's stone had had a particle of philosophy in themselves they must have perceived that their success in making the discovery would have proved their greatest misfortune. The touch of this imaginary stone was to transmute all baser metals into substantial gold. The consequence of such a magical change would have been to make gold valueless. The benefits, however, of this wildest of the world's delusions, were incidentally appearing in the many useful discoveries made in the pursuit of this impracticable discovery.

The pioneers to California confidently expected upon their arrival at the golden gate, to feast their eyes upon glittering mountains of gold. But neither themselves nor the world were destined to such a dire misfortune. Had their deluded imaginations been realized, much better would it have been for them to have remained upon the rock-bound coasts of New England, for gold dust would have been of no more value than the common sand of the sea shore. The chance for a small increased return for their labor and privations, was the greatest benefit they could receive.

These instances are expressively illustrative of the greatest good to be derived in the pursuit of trade. It is in the gradual development of the merchant's highest and noblest faculties. The small experiences of every-day life, the disappointments, the discouragements, it may be the ruin of his fortunes, are laden with the richest blessings—compared with which gold is dross. If he unfortunately become hastily rich, he must have otherwise had the required discipline, or his fate is to be deplored. The history of accidental or ill-gotten wealth has too often been but the portrayal of corruption, and the speedy downfall of individuals and nations. In Tyre and Sidon the wealth was quickly amassed. Babylon and Palmyra were corrupt with intemperate luxury. Rome, overwhelmed with the spoils of the world, became overthrown by her own vices. These and many others are instances of the destructive tendencies of speedy and unnatural accumulation.—Hunt's Merchants' Magazine.

Evils of Debt.

Debt is a perfect bore. How it haunts a man from pillar to post—lurking in his breakfast cup—poisoning his dinner—embittering his tea? How it stalks from him like a living moving skeleton, seemed to announce his presence by recounting the amount of liabilities. How it poisons his domestic joys by introducing his infernal 'balance' into the calculation of madam respecting the

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for Invalids, Pearl and prepared Baler, Farina, Cream-cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oatmeal, Corn Starch, Broom, &c., Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Guinea Paste, &c., and all other kinds of Groceries and Superfine of various kinds, from Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent surgical Shields, Tubes, and Bladders, spread Plasters, Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Glass Benders, &c., &c.
Fresh European Linens always on hand.
Prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She also receives the new and popular medicine of the day, as they appear in this and other countries. Westchester, near of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1.

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,

ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,

271 TREMONT ST., Opposite Hollis, Boston.

OFFICE for the Treatment of diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent disorganize the system, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, emaciation, constipation, palpitation, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, rheumatism, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various affections of the bladder, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that incurable condition of blood which not only generates these symptoms but which is the source of the various chronic eruptions, will be as follows:—For the treatment of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints have no action on the system, as they are not—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Inquiries are invited to be made. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont St.
(opposite Hollis St.) BOSTON.
Boston, May 6, 1853. '92 43—4y

DR. S. STOCKING,
DENTAL SURGEON,

I have devised a new and superior method of giving a true opportunity to every body to have their teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible substitutes of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to get the price for the gold and silver teeth, so as to insure all classes to have their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. These, and many other matters, will be as follows:—For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle, in gold, silver, and steel, to be worn from $25.00 to $50.00. For an entire upper or lower set of complete teeth, from $20.00 to $40.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from $1.00 to $2.00 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or steel points from $1.00 to $2.00. For filling with gold, from 50 cents to $2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, 50 cents without it, 25 cents. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to last nearly one quarter of a century, and is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 25 Tremont Row, on stairs, opposite the head of Beane Street, Boston, Feb. 27, 1852. 11—Dues

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs or Chemicals, can always find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE,

and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Turmeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nutric and Muriatic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Green and Emerald Logwood, Copperas, Bile and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Lead, Red Lead, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Pumice Stone, Salt Peter (Carb), and Liquid Ammonia, &c.
GEORGE W. WHITING,
Quincy, Sept. 2. 11

Cure for the Whooping Cough!

BY THE USE OF

MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE.

It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.

For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for its sale.

It cures and gets the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Hallowell, Me., (son-in-law of Dr. Moore,) without whose signature upon each bottle, none is genuine.

It is a safe, sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Bowel Complaints.

W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent.
Sept. 24. 3a

Lovel's Wampene.

An Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color.

With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN, Quincy, June 25. 11

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Danthion, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with moderate doses of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing Humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Limbs, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared on scientific principles, is highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol. Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store by GEO. W. WHITING.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 11

Crope's Celebrated Liniment.

THIS article has been in use for over twenty years, and is the best article known for Wound or Bruise, in man or beast. For Rheumatism it is a potent remedy. No more common is necessary as the article is so generally known. For sale by GEO. W. WHITING, At the Quincy Drug Store, who is appointed sole agent for Quincy.
Nov. 19

Extracts for Cooking.

MRS. E. HAYDEN has just received—Essences of Lemon, Vanilla, Pine-Apple, Rose, Summer, Almond, Peach-Water, Treble Distilled Rose Water, Sweet Marjoram, Summer Savory, Tarragon, Sage, etc., etc.
Extract of Jamaica Ginger, a superior article. Quincy, Oct. 29. 11

price of a new carpet, or a new dress! How it hinders dreamy plans of speculation. Botheration! How it hampers useless energies, cripples resolutions too good to be fulfilled.

At bed and board, by night or by day, in joy or grief, in health or sickness, at home or abroad—debt, grim, gaunt and shadowy, falls as an incubus. As no presence is too sacred, no ground too holy to deter the memory of 'bills and notes payable' from taking immediate possession, so no record is so enervating, no reminiscence more delicious than the consciousness that debt has fallen like a January morning, twenty-nine degrees below zero.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, December 24th, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Vote on the Constitution.

The committee appointed by the late Constitutional Convention to count the votes on the several propositions submitted to the people, met in the Senate Chamber, on Monday last, for that purpose. The result of three days' labor showed that not one of them had been accepted.

The votes of Norfolk County were as follows:—

	Yes.	No.
First Propositions,	4087	6385
Second do	4141	6322
Third do	3863	6164
Fourth do	4194	6230
Fifth do	4261	6188
Sixth do	4318	6050
Seventh do	4132	6322
Eighth do	4117	6310

The aggregate votes, pro and con, on the several propositions were

No. 1, the frame of government,	5636
No. 2, the inherent rights,	3754
No. 3, the rights of justice,	6801
No. 4, claims against the State,	3153
No. 5, imprisonment for debt,	3548
No. 6, sectarian schools,	406
No. 7, creation of corporations,	3891
No. 8, security for bank bills,	3821

Congress.

Frank Pierce has got the ship of State under full sail at last. Congress has organized and proceeded to business. The mutineers (the hunkers) he threatens to cast into outer darkness, by denying them offices, if they do not succumb and utterly repudiate their heresies and take their position on the old Jeffersonian platform of state rights.

Gen. Cass, Judge Douglas, and the southern democrats generally unite with him. His cabinet is a unit notwithstanding it has no discordant spirit in it, Gen. Cass. The latter gentleman was recently admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of United States on motion of Hon. Reverdy Johnson of Baltimore.

The President after the first glow, as evinced in his inaugural address, was over, became serious minded and in his recent message assumed the style and character of a statesman. This paper seems to have met universal favor among democrats; the opinions of his opponents are of not practical consequence enough to inquire after at present in this day-day of the Democracy.

The President means to put his foot upon the thousand and one plundering schemes on the Public Treasury. If the people want a railroad to the Pacific let them build it—if they want light-houses on the dangerous coasts of the lake, let them build them—if a man wants a highway to cross his land to increase the value of it, let him build it—this is the doctrine of his message.

He counsels peace, harmony and fraternal love between the citizens of the several states. He deprecates all agitation on the subject put to rest, as it was finally quelled by the compromise measures.

Notwithstanding the President's friendly admonitions, Gerritt Smith of New York, the great abolition orator, has been philippizing slavery and vindicating and eulogizing the practice of spiriting fugitive slaves into Canada. He declared he could not see the difference between Capt. Ingraham's conduct and that of him, who received a fugitive, gave him bread and water, hid him on his couch, and when refreshed speeded him on his way towards the North Pole.

The President suggests the abolition of high duties on certain articles of import recommended by Mr. Guthrie, Secretary of the Treasury.

Congress has taken up the message.

COCOA AND CHOCOLATE. We learn that the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, Maryland Institute, Baltimore, and Mechanics' Fair, at Boston, have this autumn awarded to Messrs. Walter Baker & Co., of Dorchester, Mass., first premiums for the best Chocolate and Cocoa preparations.

This well known house has been established in the manufacture of Chocolate, Prepared Cocoa, and Broma, for upwards of seventy-five years, during which period its manufactures have maintained a deservedly high reputation in all parts of the Union, and have been much esteemed as nourishing and restorative drinks.

When is Col. French of the Hancock House going to cook his manmoth wild turkey?

OFFICERS SELECTED. At a meeting of the Directors of the Quincy Loan Fund Association, they elected the following officers: Secretary, LOUIS CONGDON. Attorney, J. M. GOURGAS. Surgeon, LEWIS BASS.

LYCEUM. The next lecture will be delivered by Rev. S. K. Lothrop, D. D.—an eloquent divine, and one of the best readers of the city of Boston.

Correspondence.

Boston, Dec. 19, 1853.

MR. EDITOR:—Dear sir:—We, the good people of Boston, are now passing through one of those exciting scenes which, now and then, come round in our municipal affairs; I mean the election of a mayor. There seems to be quite a majority of the good people of Boston, who are disposed to say to mayor Seaver, "we will not have this man to rule over us." What the result of the contest will be, we cannot yet say, but time will develop it. Dr. J. V. C. Smith is the most prominent candidate, now on the tapis, and his friends think there is no doubt of his being elected at the next trial.

We have a perfect furor for lectures, this winter, among a multitude of "Societies and Associations." Some of our lectures are first rate, and still a larger proportion of them are very common place. It often happens among us, that in the selection of lecturers, wealth and influence quite outweigh real merit and talent. This is just as it should not be. But money will rule, and we be to him who is poor. He must wait for posterity to do him justice, and such justice is slow but sure. If the people are not instructed in these days of superabundant lecturing, it must be because they are very stupid. We need a few censorious critics to use the dissecting knife, then we would have better lectures.

For the Patriot.

The Lyceum Lectures.

For one whole week I have been tortured with the keenest remorse; the cause twofold, yet so connected as really to be but branches of each other, i. e., I allowed myself, in my last, to make an attempt at a pun, the illegitimate offspring of degenerate wit, for which I have to ask the pardon, first of you and your readers, and then of the estimable gentleman, whose name is connected with this evidence of my shame. You will perceive that the cause of remorse is first, that I attempted a pun; second that in making that pun, I did great injustice to the gentleman on whose name it turned; the first is bad enough, but the second is beyond the extremest limit and bounds of charity to forgive, yet the fault was not all my own, for the public voice ascribed to that gentleman the article signed 'Lishmahago,' much, I must confess to my astonishment, for I could not believe it possible that the gentleman in question could have been guilty of sending forth such a combination of bad taste and bad English. I owe the gentleman an apology and freely, frankly, and sincerely extend it to him, assuring him that hereafter, I will endeavor to judge no man harshly nor without positive proof of his guilt, and furthermore, will ever bear in mind the saying attributed to Dr. Johnson—"That he who makes a pun, will pick a pocket."

The hall last Tuesday evening was crowded to listen to a lecture from the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop. The subject selected by the distinguished lecturer, was "Algeron Sydney." He introduced his subject by a sketch of the character of Josiah Quincy, Jr., of Colonial fame, who, at his death, bequeathed to his son the works of "Algeron Sydney, Locke, Bacon, Tacitus, and Cato's Letters,"—he then proceeded to give a concise historical sketch of the life of Sydney, and an analysis of his character. His genealogy was dwelt on at some length, his refusal to act as one of the judges of Charles 2d, and a sustainer of Cromwell, were alluded to; the anecdotes of his being the author of the motto to our own state, the shooting of his horse rather than submit to the tyrannical demand for its purchase by Louis XIV, his remaining in his seat as a member of Parliament at the time of the expulsion of that body by the soldiers of Cromwell, were adduced as evidences of his fixedness of purpose and determined adherence to principle. An effort was made to clear up the imputation of bribery which history makes against him. I thought it hardly successful, for as Dr. Aiken very pertinently remarks, "sacrificing the reputation of one who was never suspected, in order to save that of another is not a very equitable proceeding."

The lecture was read from MSS. and afforded no opportunity for the audience to form any opinion of Mr. W. as an orator, and the many quotations from the letters of Sydney tended to detract from the merits of the lecture as a popular production. I fully believe that I shall be within the verge of truth when I say that the great mass of the audience were disappointed with the lecture and the lecturer. I was well pleased to perceive that he was protected from exposure to the keenness of the night air, by the liberality of the Directors, who provided a close carriage for his use.

LISHMAHAGO. The lecture was read from MSS. and afforded no opportunity for the audience to form any opinion of Mr. W. as an orator, and the many quotations from the letters of Sydney tended to detract from the merits of the lecture as a popular production. I fully believe that I shall be within the verge of truth when I say that the great mass of the audience were disappointed with the lecture and the lecturer. I was well pleased to perceive that he was protected from exposure to the keenness of the night air, by the liberality of the Directors, who provided a close carriage for his use.

Railroad change—see advertisement.

For the Patriot.

M. H. Smith's Lecture.

MR. EDITOR:—When I penned the short paragraph in relation to the lecture before the Lyceum, which was delivered by Mr. Smith, I did not suppose such a little spark would kindle such a big blaze. When the President read the article to the audience he expressed a great deal of unnecessary indignation, and his manner was intended to impress them with the idea that he did not know that the lecture was to be of a political character. Perhaps, considering his position, his course was well enough. Now I

'A humble looker on in Vienna,' and holding no office, where an exposition of my views might subject me to animadversion, knew that the purpose of the address was to elevate the Whig party, and to rebuke the Democratic and Free-soil organizations,—and I was glad that it was so. A portion of it, to the best of my belief, had been heretofore delivered for that purpose, and when I heard the announcement of the subject, I could not otherwise than be gratified to know that correct political principles were to be inculcated here in Quincy. The lecture answered my expectations—it was a good Whig speech, and I hope it will have a good effect upon those ignorant and benighted people who voted against the Whig party and for the revised Constitution. With the respect that I entertain for the intelligence of the President, and knowing that he inquires into the subject of all lectures to be delivered at our Lyceum, I am constrained to say that his indignation was altogether uncalled for, and that it would have been better to have been silent. I am one of those who believe that the truth is never out of place, and whether it is promulgated from the pulpit or the press, from the lecture room, or in our daily conversation, it will walk on its way with a trusting grace and enter quietly into the innermost heart of man. Mr. Smith's lecture was intended to rebuke the progressive principles of the Democratic party, and lead the people back to the time honored opinions that our fathers entertained. What matter is it if a few Democrats and Free-soilers are dissatisfied. They are of little account in this community. The 'purest and best blood of New England,' to use the language of Abbot Lawrence, runs in the veins of the Whig party, and the time is not far distant I trust, when those holding conservative opinions, will take and maintain a distinct rank in society—a rank in which the lower classes of laborers and mechanics will not be permitted to enter—until that object is attained, the Whig party will not have accomplished the full purpose of its mission, and therefore if in our lyceums, our churches, and our other public meetings, we can inculcate Whig principles, we are bound to do it; and why the President of the Lyceum should appear to be indignant at what he believes to be true, is to me surprising. We wish for none of those nonsensical notions of popular rights and progress in liberal principles, and therefore Mr. Smith's lecture suited my views to a

For the Patriot.

Criticisms of 'Lishmahago.'

MR. EDITOR:—I have seen in the Patriot for some time past, critical notices of the Lyceum Lectures, over the signature of 'Lishmahago.' The writer is evidently a very modest man, as he wishes your readers to think that the lines in his last communication—

'Some have for wits, then poets passed,
Turned critics next, and proved but fools at last,' may be applied to himself. This in my opinion would be doing him an injustice, and I hope your readers will so consider it. But even critics will sometimes make mistakes, and 'Lishmahago' is no exception to the general rule. In his criticism on Matthew Hale Smith's Lecture, he says 'Progress believed in our Saviour, conservatism crucified him; progress sustained Galileo, conservatism executed him; progress followed a Hampden, conservatism beleaguered him.'

I was much surprised when I read that sentence, I think it is bad taste to introduce the name of our Saviour into those semi-political lectures, or newspaper criticisms upon them; for this reason I will pass over the observations on him. In regard to Galileo and his execution, I would ask 'Lishmahago,' when and where Galileo was executed? and who were the conservatives that executed him? A writer in the Patriot some time since made some flippant assertion with regard to Galileo, in contradicting it I took occasion to state his case, 'Lishmahago' can see the article by looking over the file of the paper, or if he wishes I will rewrite it for his inspection. The remark about Hampden is still more inexcusable, as the name of Hampden is familiar as a household word to all true republicans, and it is well known that none of them were beheaded. The patriot Hampden died of his wounds, his grandson was heavily fined for his participation in the conspiracy of Sydney and Russell, but his life was spared.

It is useless to argue upon the application he attempts to put upon these facts. The facts themselves are so incorrectly stated that when he corrects them, I may inquire which was the side of progress.

CLARE.

For the Quincy Patriot.

Adams Literary Association.

The Levee of this Association which took place on Thursday evening, the 15th inst., was a very brilliant affair. About six hundred persons were present, and if we may judge from appearances they enjoyed themselves heartily.

The hall was decorated simply, yet tastefully, and all the arrangements were carried out in the most perfect manner. Letters of apology were read by the Secretary from Hon. Charles F. Adams, Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., and George White, Esq. The exercises of the evening commenced by a characteristic address from Gideon F. Thayer, Esq., which he delivered in his usual happy and effective manner. He spoke of the object of the Association, and his wishes for its success in its early days. He praised eloquence as one of the great elements of power, and said that to be eloquent a man must cultivate his talents, and remarked that the productions of Phillips which found their way across the Atlantic, and which were sought for with as much avidity as the novels of Dickens; were as remarkable for the beauty of their composition, as the strength of their reasoning. He instanced Demosthenes as an example of perseverance under difficulty in the pursuit of greatness. He was a poor cutter's son, he had a weak voice and a bad enunciation, and yet he overcame all these obstacles, and became the greatest orator of ancient, or modern times. And not only was he great as an orator; he was great as a man, he never pandered to the follies of his countrymen, but lashed them for their vices, as he did Philip for his tyranny. In this he was an example worthy the imitation of young men. Debating Societies formed such men as Brougham, Macauley, and Henry Clay, and he hoped that from the spot on which he stood, members of the Adams Literary Association would yet address audiences who had heard a Quincy, a Wendell Phillips, and a Winthrop.

I am sorry that I cannot do justice to the gentleman's eloquent and appropriate address, it should be heard to be appreciated. On his taking his seat James White, Esq., Secretary to the Association, made a few remarks; he thanked the assembly in the name of the Association for their presence and support, and said that it would be their study to continue to deserve it.

On the conclusion of the address the band struck up, partners were selected, and soon

"The call Lords to the dance, a hall! a hall!" met a hearty response. Never was there assembled in the Town Hall a merrier 'Party,' and never did light feet, and lighter hearts, keep time and measure to good music. Cotillon, Quadrille, and Contra Dance followed each other in quick succession, occasionally relieved by the giddy waltz.

"On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," was the motto of the night, and it was well sustained until the stars began to pale before the grey dawn.

The music was furnished by the Germania Band, under the leadership of G. Schnapp, and they sustained their well earned reputation as musicians, and as gentlemen.

Not a single disagreeable incident occurred to mar the harmony of the evening, the clothing was well cared for, the floor well managed, and the several tables well attended throughout, it seemed that some important news had arrived, (not from the seat of war,) by the many eager faces round the Post Office, and it must have been good news, as each recipient seemed pleased on reading their letters.

On the whole the Association may well be pleased with their Levee, it was successful; and it is due to them to say that they deserved success, and it is to be hoped that the community will continue their confidence, and support, to such a laudable institution.

For the Patriot.

Election Ball.

MR. EDITOR:—I notice in your paper, that on the fourth of next month, the Whigs are to have a ball in honor of their success. Now, it strikes me that civility, at least, might have induced them to put on their Board of Managers one of our people—I mean an adopted citizen, as a slight acknowledgement for our aid in defeating the new Constitution. I know that we belong to the laboring class, and are not quite so genteel as the committee; and it looks as if the Whigs were willing to accept our votes and be very gracious to us when they needed help, but when they have triumphed over their opponents, and solely by our aid, they do not hesitate to turn their backs upon us and treat us with contempt. But let it pass. The same power that put the Whigs in office, can aid in displacing them. I bide my time, has been and will continue to be the motto of the Celtic race.

For the Patriot.

A Question to the Selectmen.

Who would be responsible in case an accident should happen on account of the want of railings on the bridge, near the new house of Mr. Eaton, on the road to the Railway Village? The bridge has been in a dangerous condition for several months.

TRAVELLER.

For the Patriot.

A Correction.

MR. GREEN:—Your correspondent 'Lishmahago,' has introduced my name in your last paper, in a manner to induce your readers to believe that I was the author of a piece in a previous paper signed Justitia. It is proper I should state, that the authorship of that article does not belong to me; neither have I, during the present season, written a line in any way relating to the Lyceum, or the management of those to whom its concerns are committed.

A brazen faced impudence may be a necessary qualification for a Police Court lawyer, but I mistake the character of our citizens if it be a recommendation to public favor here. 'Thin skinned' as his friends may be, 'Lishmahago' will be likely to discover that there are those who believe his affinities are more naturally with a race of thicker hide, who have more ears than understanding, more stupidity than gentleness.

With his attacks on the Lyceum I have nothing to do; he may string his scraps of poetry as Sancho Panza did his proverbs, and few will regard his school-boy efforts; indeed it is pardonable that a writer who has no wit of his own should borrow it largely from others.

The political contest is over, and I had hoped that the bitterness incident to political excitements had passed away—personal controversy should always be avoided when it can be done without too great sacrifice of a just feeling of self respect. I rejoice in the triumph of what I believe to be correct principles, and my desire is to be at peace with all around me, always excepting the conceited man, who seeks notoriety at the expense of truth, and who tries to disturb the tranquility of society by an exhibition of his vanity and egotism.

For the Patriot.

All is Fair in Politics.

MR. EDITOR:—The Locofocos, ever since the late election, have kept up an uninterrupted howl because the Whigs bought up the Catholic vote, for the purpose of defeating the revised Constitution. Now my advice to them is to stop their uncouth growls and remember that only one year previous, the Catholic vote by a similar arrangement was given to Pierce for President. That fact was well known at the time, and also the consideration which was to be paid; now I should like to have Democrats understand, that the Whigs are not so dull or forgetful of the past, but that they can avail themselves of knowledge, no matter from what source it is obtained.

It was well understood at the time when the meeting was held in New York, between the committee of Democrats and those who held high positions in the Catholic Church, that much doubt existed as to the result—there was great difficulty as to the terms—at one time the arrangement was about abandoned—at another time the priests had concluded to divide the Catholic vote, but finally the terms having been made, the vote was given for Pierce. Now what right have Democrats to complain if we employed the same means in State matters that they ventured upon on a much broader scale. That we bought the Catholic vote, I will not deny, and that the consideration will be paid, fully and to the letter, a few weeks will satisfactorily show. The integrity of the Whig party is pledged, and its honor will preserve its engagements inviolate.

ACCIDENT. The worthy Depot Master in this town, Mr. Henry A. Gay, was seriously injured early on Monday morning last, by being jammed between two freight cars while in the act of shuffling them. We are gratified to learn that hopes are entertained of his speedy recovery. His return to duty is ardently desired by his multitude of friends.

In Aarau, a town of six thousand to eight thousand inhabitants, in Switzerland, the Protestants and Catholics have but one church. They share it peaceably together. What is more, considering man's prejudices, they have but one grave-yard, and there their dust mingles.

We are again compelled to omit several communications until next week.

A CARD.

The Adams Literary Association hereby tender their most sincere thanks to G. F. Thayer, Esq., for his able and eloquent address delivered them on the occasion of the Levee.

Also—to the Ladies, for their kind and generous efforts in their behalf; these efforts it is hoped, will mark the commencement of an era in the prosperity of the Society.

Per order, JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

Deaths.

In Cumingston, in China, on the 4th of October last, Joseph Harrod Adams, Lieutenant United States Navy, youngest son of the late Judge Thomas B. Adams of this town, and grandson of John Adams—aged 35.

THE BOSTON ALMANAC FOR 1854.

For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

Special Notices.

AT a meeting of Quincy Stone Division, No. 73, Sons of Temperance, held December 12, 1853, the following Preamble and Resolutions were read and adopted.

PREAMBLE.

Whereas, The illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors in this town, has been carried on, and is still increasing to an extent which renders it necessary that immediate and decisive action should be taken to arrest further progress of this alarming evil in our midst; and believing that measures may and ought to be taken to cut short the career of those engaged in the traffic, and thereby rescue many from intemperance and its accompanying evils.

Therefore, resolved—1st, That a Committee be chosen from this Division, whose duty it shall be to procure evidence against rum-sellers in this town, and prosecute said rum-sellers in every instance, when in their opinion a conviction can be obtained.

Resolved—2nd, That contributions be solicited both in and out of the Division, for the purpose of aiding the Committee in carrying out the above resolution.

Resolved—3d, That the W. P. and R. S. of this Division be instructed to draw from the treasury of the same, such sum or sums as the Committee may from time to time require, in the absence of funds from other sources.

Resolved—4th, That this Division would deem it a favor for all who are interested, to furnish any information they may be in possession of to the Division, that their efforts may be attended with that success which all good citizens would desire to see.

Resolved—5th, That the above Preamble and Resolutions be published in the Quincy Patriot, at least three successive weeks.

Per order, WM. D. GUILD, W. P. JAMES F. COE, R. S. Quincy, Dec. 24, 1853.

A Social Assembly will be given at Washington Hall, Quincy Point, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, December 28, to which all lovers of such amusements are invited to attend.

Dancing to commence at 7 1/2 o'clock. Tickets, 75 cents, including refreshments at the Hall.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

HO! for SAVIL'S! Dry Goods cheaper than ever! Come! now is your time to buy.

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the HANCOCK HOUSE, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements.

Adam Curtis, Francis Williams, Josiah Brigham, G. E. Thayer, Noah Cummings, T. C. Webb, B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter, Lewis Bass, Lewis Newcomb, I. W. Munroe, Albert Thompson, H. N. Glover, Whitcomb Porter, John Glover, Jr., Daniel P. Nye.

Floor Managers.

H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis, George Crane, B. C. C. White, J. B. Biss, C. C. Brackett, C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

Music—Buzell's full Band.

Tickets—$4, supper included. Dancing to commence at 7 o'clock.

BRACELET LOST.

At the Adams Literary Levee, on the 15th inst., a large gold-clasped BRACELET, containing a Miniature. The finder will confer a great favor on the loser by leaving it at this office.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.

The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have engaged to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz.

On Tuesday, December 27th, Rev. S. K. Lothrop.

The subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Dec. 3d.

A very few tickets remain unsold. Those wanting them will please apply to the Secretary, or to Gill & Co., at the Quincy Bookstore.

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 26th, at 7 1/2 o'clock.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified, that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Whitcomb Porter, on THURSDAY, Dec. 29th, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

Per order of the Secretary.

Now is the time

FOR all who wish for something for a Splendid Present, to call at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE and get one of those beautiful FAMILIE BIBLES. A new and elegant lot has just been received, which will be exhibited with pleasure, to all who are desirous of purchasing. There never was such a chance in Quincy before.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

Notice.

THE subscribers to the Stock of the Quincy Loan Fund Association are hereby notified, that by the articles of the Association the entrance fees and first monthly dues are payable previous to the FIRST WEDNESDAY in January next, at the office of the Secretary.

LOUIS CONGDON, Secretary.

Office at the Mount William Bank.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

Wood at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on DAY, Dec. 27th inst., at 9 o'clock, a large quantity of Oak and Walnut Wood, on land of Hon. C. F. Adams, being land Lot, very easy to cut off, is land of large lots, and will afford a good opportunity to purchasers. Inquire of LEWIS ERENEZER ADAMS.

Quincy, Dec. 24.

Wood at Auction.

Special Notices.

AT a meeting of Quincy Stone Division, No. 73, Sons of Temperance, held December 2, 1853, the following Preamble and Resolutions were read and adopted.

Whereas, The illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors in this town, has been carried on, and still increasing to an extent which renders necessary that immediate and decisive action should be taken to arrest further progress of this alarming evil in our midst; and believing that measures may and ought to be taken to cut short the career of those engaged in the traffic, and thereby rescue many from intemperance and its accompanying evils.

Resolved—1st, That a Committee be chosen from this Division, whose duty shall be to procure evidence against rumblers in this town, and prosecute said rumblers in every instance, when in their opinion a conviction can be obtained.

Resolved—2nd, That contributions be solicited both in and out of the Division, for the purpose of aiding the Committee in carrying out the above resolution.

Resolved—3d, That the W. P. and R. S. of this Division be instructed to draw from the treasury of the same, such sum or sums as the Committee may from time to time require, in the absence of funds from other sources.

Resolved—4th, That this Division would deem it a favor for all who are interested, to furnish any information they may be in possession of to the Division, that their efforts may be attended with that success which all good citizens would desire to see.

Resolved—5th, That the above Preamble and Resolutions be published in the Quincy Patriot, at least three successive weeks.

For order, Wm. D. GUILD, W. P.

James F. COE, R. S.

Quincy, Dec. 24, 1853. 3w

A Social Assembly will be given at Washington Hall, Quincy Point, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, December 28, to which all lovers of such amusements are invited to attend.

Dancing to commence at 7-12 o'clock. Tickets, 75 cents, including refreshments at the Hall.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

HO! for SAVIL'S! Dry Goods cheaper than ever! Come! now is your time to buy.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the Hancock House, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements.

Adam Curtis, Francis Williams, Joseph Brigham, G. F. Thayer, Noah Cummings, T. C. Webb, B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter, Lewis Boss, Lewis Newcomb, J. W. Munroe, Albert Thompson, H. N. Glover, Whitcomb Porter, John Glover, Jr., Daniel P. Nye.

Floor Managers.

H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis, George Crane, B. C. C. White, J. B. Boss, C. C. Brackett, C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

MUSIC—Buzell's full Band.

Tickets—$4, supper included. Dancing to commence at 7 o'clock. 2w

BRACELET LOST.

At the Adams Literary Levee, on the 15th inst., a large gold-clasped BRACELET, containing a Miniature. The finder will confer a great favor on the loser by leaving it at this office.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

For December.

The Directors of the Quincy Lyceum give notice, that the following gentlemen have consented to furnish lectures for the next four weeks: viz.

On Tuesday, December 27th, Rev. S. K. LOTHROP.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 4w

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, Dec. 26th, at 7 o'clock.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified, that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Whitcomb Porter, on THURSDAY, Dec. 29th, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

Per order of the Secretary.

Now is the time

FOR all who wish for something for a Splendid Present, to call at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

A new and elegant lot has just been received, which will be exhibited with pleasure, to all who are desirous of purchasing. There never was such a chance in Quincy before.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

Notice.

THE subscribers to the Stock of the Quincy Loan Fund Association are hereby notified, that by the articles of the Association the entrance fee and first month's dues are payable previous to the FIRST WEDNESDAY in January next, at the office of the Secretary.

LOUIS CONGDON, Secretary.

Office at the Mount Williston Bank.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 2w

Wood at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on TUESDAY, Dec. 27th inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., a large quantity of Oak and Walnut Wood, standing on land of Hon. C. F. Adams, being the Down Lot, very easy to cart off, is laid off into 100 large lots, and will afford a good opportunity to purchasers. Inquire of LEWIS BASS, EBENEZER ADAMS, Auctioneers.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

Wood at Auction.

WILL be sold at public auction, on MONDAY, the 26th inst., at 9 o'clock A. M., all the Wood standing on ten acres of Land, belonging to Mr. Jonathan Beale, and lying in the West District of Quincy, between Common and Cemetery Streets, about sixty rods from the Catholic Church, and one mile from the Railway House in Milton. This Wood is principally Pine, Maple, Cedar and Birch, access to it is very easy, and it will be sold in lots to suit purchasers.

GEORGE H. FRENCH, Auctioneer.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

Christmas & New Year.

PRESENTS, just received at the Jewell's Shop, one door south of the Quincy Bookstore.

B. F. MESERVEY.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

Stone Cutters & Quarrymen

Wharf to be let in Boston.

WELL adapted to the Stone business in all its branches, in a part of the City where there is much building, and a Stone Yard is much wanted. The Brick, Lime and Sand business could be done on the same wharf. It has more than 200 feet of wharf, and contains about 40,000 square feet of land filled in solid. A part of the whole will be let.

Apply to JAMES B. DOW, 94 Tremont street, nearly opposite the Tremont House.

Boston, Dec. 24. 3w

Notice.

THE annual meeting of the Members of the Weymouth and Braintree Institution for Savings, for the choice of Officers for the year ensuing, will be held at the Office of the Institution, in Weymouth, on MONDAY, Jan. 9th, 1854, at two o'clock P. M.

A. S. WHITE, Secretary.

Weymouth, Dec. 24, 1853. 3w

THE LADY'S ALMANAC for 1854.

A new book. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

Tooth Ache!

TELL every person you meet, who is afflicted with the Tooth Ache, that he may find an article at Dr. MARDEN'S, which will effect an instantaneous and permanent cure without the cold steel or the least danger of injury from the application of the remedy.

Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

PRESENTS

FOR Christmas and New Year.

Books and Fancy Goods,

AT THE QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

THE most attractive variety ever offered in QUINCY. It will be useless to attempt an enumeration of the beautiful Books and Fancy Articles now for sale at this Store.

FAIR SURPASSING

any variety ever offered in this community.

SPLENDID PRESENTS, should not fail to call upon this store, and all who have not, are invited to do so, and they will find such.

AN ASSORTMENT

of select from that they will readily be able to equip themselves with the most elegant and appropriate Books of Fancy Goods for Gifts for their friends.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 4w

Lost.

ON WEDNESDAY last, Dec. 14th, a Gold and Silver Ring, with a green stone, and a small diamond, and which is of value to the owner as a token of remembrance. Whoever will return said Ring shall be well rewarded for their trouble.

HENRY J. RANSOM.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 1w

CALES PACKARD.

DEALER IN SILKS, SHAWLS, FURS, Dress and Domestic Goods of every description.

Also—White Goods, Laces, Dress and Cloth Trimmings, Gimps Braids and Embroideries, a large lot of Hosiery, and a great variety of fancy articles.

GENT'S and BOY'S

Ready Made Clothing,

AND FURNISHING GOODS!

BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS, VALISES, CARPET BAGS, UMBRELLAS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.

FURNITURE,

if every description constantly on hand, or furnished at the shortest notice.

Also—MATTRESSES and FEATHERS of every quality. I would ask the particular attention of the public to this branch of my business.

MILLINERY GOODS!

Customers wishing Goods of this class, will find always a carefully selected Stock, of the latest and best styles. BONNETS, made and trimmed.

CARPETINGS.

Every style and quality. Crockery, China, Glass, and Britannia Ware, Solar Lamps and Shades, and a general assortment of Household Goods. I would respectfully invite the attention of my friends and customers, to my present varied Stock, to which I am constantly making additions, and solicit calls from all desiring Goods of any kind in my line.

Quincy, Dec. 3d. 1w

Clearing out Sale.

Geo. Savil & Co.,

Goodnow's Building,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets, Quincy.

BEING desirous of reducing their large Stock of FALL and WINTER GOODS, and to take account of Stock, will offer them at the first of January, at prices from 10 to 25 per cent. less than the same Goods have been sold for through the season.

We have a large lot of Prints, Delaines, Percales and Rich Cashmeres, which we shall clear out at bargain. All our Lyons, Thibets, and fine Goods, Trimmings, &c., &c., in great variety we shall offer at a large reduction. All our long and short Shawls at from 50cts. to $2 discount; and other Goods in proportion.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 3w

Botanic Medicine Depot,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of

Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy

Articles, &c., &c., &c.

he now offers them to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reformed Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified.

Quincy, Nov. 26. 1w

Dr. Wm. M. Cornell,

No 630 Washington Street, Boston.

IN addition to general practice, he has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Skin, Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home to wait upon patients from 12 M. to 3 P. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M.

ELECTRICITY is medically applied in all cases where it is indicated.

Boston, Nov. 26. 1w

New Book

AND Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased and fitted Store No. 7 State Street, (See Building) in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the BOOK, PERIODICAL and NEWSPAPER BUSINESS, in all of its various branches.

They are prepared to furnish ALL Books at the shortest possible notice.

ALL NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon as published and sold at the lowest prices.

HOOPER & UNDERWOOD.

JAMES C. HOOPER, E. UNDERWOOD, JR.

325 Subscriptions received for all the MAGAZINES and NEWSPAPERS of the day.

Boston, Nov. 26. 1w

Citizens of Quincy, ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.

Also—One case Women's extra Para Rubbers.

Geo. B. NIGHTINGALE

N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7-12 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum.

Quincy, Nov. 19. 1w

MONEY IS UP.

DRY GOODS

Are Down.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.

Will offer their LARGE STOCK of

Shawls, Cloaks, Mantillas, Silk

Goods, Velvets, Dress Goods,

RAW SILK AND DRESS PLAIDS,

Cloths, Thibets, Merinos, Cashmeres,

MOURNING ARTICLES,

EMBROIDERIES, LACES, TRIM-

MINGS, GENTS SHAWLS,

SHIRTING LINES,

Blankets, Quilts, Domestic,

HOSIERY, GLOVES, &c.,

At prices corresponding to the increased value of MONEY.

BARGAINS may be EXPECTED.

As we never allow our customers to be drawn away from us by better bargains than we offer them ourselves.

Geo. W. Warren & Co.,

193 Washington St.

Boston, Nov. 16. 4w

SAVIL & Co.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING

AND FURNITURE!

TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY AND VICINITY.

THE undersigned having completed their arrangements, are now prepared to show one of the most extensive stocks of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, CLOTHING

FURNITURE, Carpeting, Mat-

trasses, &c.,

TO BE FOUND IN NORFOLK COUNTY.

At all times can be found a full and complete assortment of the different

STYLES and QUALITIES,

all of which will be sold at the lowest prices, and warranted in every respect equal to representation.

GEORGE SAVIL & Co.

Goodnow's Building,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Goods delivered to any part of the town or vicinity free from expense.

Quincy, September 3. 1w

Mrs. Hale's New Book.

THE NEW HOUSEHOLD RECEIPT BOOK, containing Maxims, Directions and Specified, promoting Health, Comfort and Improvement in the Homes of the People. By Sarah J. Hale. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 3w

Neat's Foot Oil.

FOR sale cheap for cash, by D. BAXTER & Co.

Quincy, Oct. 8. 1w

Pills and Ointment.

HOLLOWAY'S Pills and Ointment.

For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.

Quincy, Dec. 10. 6w

Hingham and Quincy

Bridge & Turnpike Corporation.

THE Proprietors of this Corporation are hereby notified, that their annual meeting will be held at the Union House, in Hingham, on MONDAY, the 24th of January next, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers, and for the transaction of all such other business as may then legally come before them.

By order of the Directors,

LEWEL BRACKETT, Clerk.

Quincy, Dec. 17. 3w

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A assortment of FALL and WINTER

CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store,

TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobes; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold at a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1w

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,

ON THE

Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JONAS DIXON, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of

Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and

Fancy Doe Skins, Keds, Peters-

ham, Pilot Cloth, &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the very lowest price for cash.

Also—A large and splendid lot of

Ready Made Clothing,

which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence, that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dixon, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

THE one price system will be strictly adhered to.

JAMES O'BRIEN.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

Cranberries and Quinces.

30 to 40 BUSHELS of Cranberries, and

Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE,

Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1w

Eastern Wood.

JUST ARRIVED, 200 cords prime Eastern

Hard and Soft Wood, and for sale by

NATHANIEL WHITE,

Quincy Canal Wharf.

Quincy, Oct. 22. 1w

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING having finished

an arranged his new Store would express his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

He has secured the services of a Dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whiting's Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humorous Eruptions on the face, and Whiting's Pile Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Squire's Oriental Sovereign Balm Pills, and Dr. Baker's Renovating Root Pills; and agent for Atwood's Extract Dandelion and Cathartic Liniment, and several other valuable Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches constantly on hand, and applied if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual.

Quincy, Sept. 10. 1w

New Grocery, and PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied by the sale of

W. L. Goods, Groceries, Provisions,

Staple and Earthware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line.

OZEN JOSSELYN.

Quincy, Nov. 12.

New England Protective Union,

DRESS, No. 180.

THE Store recently occupied by

Poetry.

What is Noble?

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

What is noble to inherit Wealth, estate and proud degree?
There must be some other merit
Higher yet than these for me!
Something greater far must enter Into life's majestic span;
Fitted to create and center
True nobility in man!

What is noble? 'tis the finer Portion of our mind and heart;
Linked to something still diviner
Than mere language can impart;
Ever prompting—ever seeing
Some improvement yet to plan;
To uplift our fellow being—
And, like man, to feel for man!

What is noble? 'tis the subtle
Nobler than the humble spade?
There is dignity in labor
Truer than e'er pomp arrayed!
He who seeks the mind's improvement
Aids the world in aiding mind;
Every great commanding movement
Serves not one—but all mankind!

O'er the Forge's heat and ashes—
O'er the Engine's iron head—
Where the rapid shuttle flashes,
And the spindle whirls its thread;
There is labor lowly tending
Each requirement of the hour,
There is genius still extending Science—and its world of power.

Mid the dust and speed, and clamor
Of the loom-shed and the mill;
Mid the clink of wheel and hammer,
Great results are growing still;
Though too oft by Fashion's creatures
Work and workers may be blamed;
Commerce need not hide its features;
Industry is not ashamed!

What is noble? that which places
Truth in its enfranchised will!
Leaving steps—like angel traces—
That mankind may follow still!
Even through Scorn's malignant glances Prove him noblest of his clan,
He's the Noble—who advances
Freedom and the Cause of Man!

This World.

BY TOM MOORE.

Let's take the world as some wide scene,
Through which in fragrant but buoyant boat,
With skirts now dark, and now serene,
"Rejoice thou and I must float!"
Bolding off, on either shore,
Bright spots where we should love to stay;
But 'till time flies swift as flying ear,
And away we speed, away, away.

Should chilling winds and rains come on,
We'll raise our awning 'gainst the shower;
Still closer till the storm is gone,
And, smiling, await a sunnier hour,
And if that sunnier hour should shine,
We'll know its brightness cannot stay,
But happy, while 'tis time and mine,
Companion not when it fades away.

So shall we reach at last the Fall Down which the curtain all must go—
The dark, the brilliant, destined all
To sink into the void below.
Nor e'en that hour shall find us clams,
At side by side, still find we keep,
And calmly, in each other's arms,
Together linked, go down the steep.

Anecdotes.

In an examination of an Irish case, for assault and battery, the counsel, in cross examining one of the witnesses, asked him what they had at the first place they stopped?
He answered, "four glasses of ale."
"What next?"
"Two glasses of wine."
"What next?"
"One glass of brandy."
"What next?"
"A fight, of course."

"Why don't you put on a clean shirt?" said a well-dressed young man to his companion, then the girls will smile upon you as they do on me."
"Everybody can't afford to wear a clean shirt every day as well as you can," was the reply.

"Why not?" said white collar.
"Because," said soiled collar, "every body's mother is not a wash-woman."

A boy having been praised for his quickness of reply, a gentleman observed, when children are so keen in their youth, they are generally stupid when they advance in years.

"What a very sensible boy you must have been sir," replied the child.

A well-known pious character invited a friend to dinner, and provided two million chops. On removing the cover he said, "My friend, you see your dinner," which his friend immediately with his knife and fork took to himself, remarking—"I do—I wish I could see yours."

An Irishman was asked at dinner, if he would take some apple pie?
"Is it household?" said the friend.
"Because," said Teddy, "I once had an uncle that was killed with apoplexy, and sure enough I thought it might be something of the same sort."

Frank was passing by a hall where the "colored population" were holding their Annual Fair and Tea Party.
"What's that?" inquired a friend, looking up at the window.
"A Tea Party," said Frank.

"A Tea Party? What kind of a Tea Party?"
"Black Tea party, to be sure," said Frank.
"You've destroyed my peace of mind, Betty," said a despairing lover to a truant lass.
"It can't do you much harm, John, for it was an amazing small piece that had any way?"

The man who beats the drum for the "March of Time," has gone to play the "Horn of Plenty."

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,
HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.—ALSO—
HARD AND SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11. 1y

George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct 8. 8.Dr. RUGBEE,
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. I. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1yKIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure Old Wines
and Liquors as imported, and suitable for
invalids and sickness.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Vanna Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
WM. E. TRAVIS,
No. 103 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853. 1yALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF
BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING.Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.H. FARNAM SMITH,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 29 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.JAMES W. RIDEOUT.
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM-CHOWDERS.IN THE STORE FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREET, - - - QUINCY.NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick and Sand—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood.
QUINCY CANAL WHARF. 1y
July 10, 1852.GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., QUINCY
Cor. A complete assortment always on hand.—4y
N. B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work. 28COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853.D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY HALL,
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. 1yISRAEL W. MUNROE,
DEALER IN
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1yB. F. MESERVEY, Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches, Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, April 24. 1yFISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND and NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26. 1yJOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.

Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.

Purchasers will find it for their interest to
call and examine, before purchasing else-
where, as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.

The Subscriber would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise,
etc.
N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Faxon & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to. H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23 1y"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 cents.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.20,000 Copies
sold in
less than five months. A new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical, Natural and Hand
Book for the Afflicted—
Containing an outline of
the origin, progress,
treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self abuse or by sexual excess, with directions for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all
medical technicalities, and everything that would degrade the ear of decency, from the result of some twenty years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature.Testimony of the Professor of Obitetrics in Penn. College, Philadelphia. "The author of this work
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.
From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and
integrity they may safely confide. ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and valuable work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to tell of 'too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice." HERALD.No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "This is one of the most valuable works of the kind, and
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.
From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and
integrity they may safely confide. ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and valuable work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with too little breath to tell of 'too little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice." HERALD.No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow
to the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of "Hunter's Medical Manual," says: "This is one of the most valuable works of the kind, and
unlike the majority of those who advertise to
cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest
confidence. JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.
From A. WOODWARD, M. D., of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in
which his skill has been manifested in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement
of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EX-CESS of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and
integrity they may safely confide. ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.
To which is added, receipts for the cure of the
above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.Dr. Hoodland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
dice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous De-
bility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, and assist digestion. Persons of sedentary
habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1yMATTRESSES.
CURLED HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, at the lowest prices,
for sale by
Quincy, May 21 1yBrown's
ALMANAC, Pocket Memoranda and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19.Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!
DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have never failed in giving relief in the single instance, when they have been taken in time, and according to directions.If you are afflicted with Dysentery, Dyspepsia, Cholera Morbus, or a disordered stomach, there is a remedy brought within your reach. Many cases of Rheumatism have been effectually cured by these
celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the cause and manner of cure, please call and get the Messenger of Health, of
GEO. W. WHITING,
who is sole Agent for Quincy.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1yTHE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured; the patronage of the public is solicited, and
from its convenient location, a liberal and increasing support is anticipated.DIRECTORS.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gideon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitecomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dug-
an, Thomas Curtis, of Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Albion Turner, Scituate; George Marston
of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Arlington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollon Randall
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr., "
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy,
Josiah Brigham, Esq.,
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.
William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and sold by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.The celebrity this article has so quickly obtained has induced persons, without authority, to prepare and offer for sale a spurious article representing it to be DAVIES'
LIQUID HAIR DYE; to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus
*John Davies.*For the Complexion, TOMPKINS' Orange Flower Lotion, Pon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Roses, Amaranth for Tan and Sunburn, &c. For sale by
Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, May 7. 1ySalt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COPELAND, and is ready to furnish all
with Meats of the very best quality. 1y
Quincy, April 2. 1ySalt Pork,
FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 5. 1yRADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.
RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possess-
ing the Marvelous and Miraculous Power of stop-
ping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant, allaying the most Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Doloré, as soon as applied. The
R. R. Remedies consists of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.
The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.RHEUMATISM.
Mr. Granger, a mason well known in Brooklyn, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.RADWAY'S Ready Relief will relieve the suffering from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes. It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.SICK HEAD ACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in fifteen minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Bumps, Scalds, Strains, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lam-
eness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.IT CURES
Scrofula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Sore Rickets Salt Rheum
Asthma Nodes Canker
Bronchitis Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas TettersThe above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.
It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 2d, 1853. "That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his negroes, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrofulous complaint, of many years standing. The poor fellow was a distinguished object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other negroes
could not remain in the same place with him.
None of the Doctors could do anything for him.
He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating
Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger."SCROFULA.
Mr. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley & Co.
Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no one would give a drop for her life," she was so covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh of the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.NINETEEN YEARS.
Mrs. HENDERSON, of Westford, Mass., has been cured by R. R. Resolvent.SALT RHEUM.
The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-
VENT. One gentleman, who supposed that his complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth,
was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and thePOISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADICATED FROM HIS SYSTEM.IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes
sound, healthy and strong, all weak, diseased
and unsound parts.WEAKNESS.
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and emaciated made strong, vigorous
and healthy. Impotence and Nocturnal Emissions in men, or diseases of either one or more of the generative organs, is quickly removed, and the body restored to a healthy and sound condition.LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
In WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and the most NERVOUS,
GLOOMY and DEPRESSED, feel HEALTHY,
STRONG and HAPPY.Persons wishing this Remedy will please ask for Radway's Renovating Resolvent. Its price is one Dollar per bottle. No small bottles, nor is the genuine ever sold for less. Each bottle
bears the fac simile signature of
RADWAY & CO.,
162 Fulton street, New York.R. R. R.—No. 3.
RADWAY'S REGULATORS,
REGULATE TO A HEALTHY ACTION,
All the Organs and Secretions of the Body.
Restores to Health and Strength,
THE DISEASED AND WORN OUT PARTS.
COMPLAINTS THAT RADWAY'S REGULATORS
ENTIRELY CURE.Costiveness Liver Complaint Indigestion Heart " Biliousness Kidney " Dyspepsia Uterine " Dropsey "MELANCHOLY
Small Pox Measles
Scarlet Fever Yellow Fever
Bilious Pneumonia Typhoid Fever
AND FEVERS OF ALL KINDS.FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
Irregularity Prolapsus Uteri
Hysteria Womb Difficulties
Whites AmenorrhoeaLOSS OF APPETITE.
Loss of Energy,
Loss of Memory,
Loss of Strength.R. R. REGULATORS
ARE ENTIRELY VEGETABLE,
Perfectly Tasteless,
Good at all times,
Never Sicken,
Never Gripes.DOSES.
ONE TO THREE—REGULATES.
FOUR TO SIX—PURGES.One Regulator at Night, on going to bed, will ensure sound sleep, a Good Night's Rest, and a Healthy and Pleasant Discharge from the Bowels
in the morning.Radway's Regulators, Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, are sold by Druggists everywhere.
N. B. Persons troubled with Melancholy Depression of Spirits, and every body who feels himself ill-used by the world without any just cause on their parts, should take a few doses of R.
Regulators. More unhappiness is caused within us from the want of a healthy and regular action
of our organs, than from any external cause. We promise all who take Radway's Regulators, a regular action of the organs, and a cheerful and happy
disposition.RADWAY & CO.,
Fulton Street, N. Y.AGENTS,
BUTTS & PERRY, 1 Cornhill, Boston.
MRS. E. HAYDEN, Quincy.
Aug. 13, 1853.MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected
with care.Also various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked
Wheat, Sago, Tapioca, Outdoor, Corn Starch, Broma, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-
on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.
Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum
Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass
Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass
Flesh Brushes, &c. &c.Fresh European Leeches always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and
attention.
She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st., rear of Stone Temple.
Quincy, Nov. 1. 451fDr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,
271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and
all other organs of the Human System, together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extreni-
ties, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficult and peculiar temors, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, &c. &c. Also that impure condition of blood which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and
fatal maladies.The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use;
they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.
Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st.
(opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON.
Boston, May 6, 1853. '52 43-1yDR. S. STOCKING,
DENTAL SURGEON,
15 South Street, Boston.IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incomparable artificials of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones, at the very lowest prices. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows:
For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle, firm, useful, and easy to be worn —from $35 to $50. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from $20 to $40. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from $10 to $25 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood pins—from $15 to $25. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts.
The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

DEVOTED TO MORALS, EDUCATION, AGRICULTURE, NEWS AND GENERAL LITERATURE.

VOLUME XVII.

QUINCY, MASS., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1853.

NUMBER LIII.

OFFICE OF PUBLICATION,
Over I. W. Munroe's Store, on Hancock Street.
JOHN A. GREEN, Editor.

CONDITIONS.

Two Dollars per annum in advance, and if delayed until the end of the year, then THREE DOLLARS will be required.
No subscription nor advertisement will be discontinued previous to the payment of all arrears, unless at the option of the publisher.
Advertisements are inserted at the rate of one cent per line for the first week, and one-half cent for each subsequent week. For longer periods, and for special positions, the price will be charged for each line ordered.
The privilege of annual advertisements is limited to their own immediate business.
Letters and communications, postage paid, will receive early attention.

AGENTS.

The following gentlemen are authorized to receive pay and request for procuring subscribers.
JOSIAH BARBOCK, Quincy Railway.
GEORGE H. COCKE, Stone Quarries.
ORIN P. BACON, Dorchester.
FISHER A. KINGSBURY, Weymouth.
JOSEPH CLEVELY, Abington.
SAMUEL A. TURNER, South Scituate.
FREEMAN HUNT, New York City.
GERSHOM DREW, Brooklyn, N. Y.

J. MILO SLAPP, Printer.

Miscellaneous.

Physicians of Milton.

The following extract is made from the interesting Address given at the annual meeting of the Norfolk District Medical Society, May 15th, 1853, by Dr. Alden of Randolph, President of the Society.

Milton was incorporated in 1662. Rev. Peter Thatcher, its first minister and physician, was born in 1651, graduated at Harvard College in 1671, and died Dec. 17, 1727, aged 77. He was the son of Rev. Thomas Thatcher, of Weymouth and Boston. Soon after his graduation he went to England, where he remained several years. Like his father, he was well skilled in medicine as well as in theology; and he expended no inconsiderable portion of his annual salary in providing medicines for the indigent and sick. He acquired such a knowledge of the Indian language, as enabled him, in their own tongue, to preach to the natives, who were numerous in his vicinity; and at the same time he was accustomed to prescribe for their physical maladies. Cotton Mather (Mag. i. 425, 2d ed.) says, "It is well known that, until two hundred years ago, physic in England was no profession distinct from divinity;" and elsewhere he adds, "Ever since the days of Luke the Evangelist, skill in physic has been frequently professed and practised by persons whose most declared business was the study of divinity. But I suppose that the greatest frequency of this angelical conjunction has been seen in those parts of America, where they are mostly the poor to whom the gospel is preached by pastors whose compassion to them, in their poverty invites them to supply the want of able physicians." "Such a universally servicable pastor was our Thatcher." This was indeed a tribute of the learned author to the father, but equally applicable to the son and to many other worthy pioneer ministers of New England. It was neither want of success in their appropriate calling; nor a desire for the emoluments of a double office; nor an overweening self-esteem; nor any other unworthy motive, which led these early ministers to add to their theological stores some knowledge of medicine. It was rather a desire to administer to the necessities and alleviate the pains of those who from poverty and distance were unable to avail themselves of more efficient aid. The professions of theology and medicine are natural allies. These who practice them can and should be mutual helpers; and when ministers so forget the dignity of their calling as to be carried away by the newest and most popular medical delusion, to the neglect of the well-informed and regularly educated physicians of their own parishes, they act as unwisely as the physician who adopts the vagaries of the widest theological fanatic as a substitute for the teachings of religion.

After the death of Rev. Mr. Thatcher, the medical business of the town was divided for nearly half a century among physicians in the vicinity.
Dr. Samuel Gardner, son of Rev. John Gardner of Stow, graduated at Harvard College in 1746, and settled on Milton Hill as early as 1753. On the 22d May, 1766, he married Mary, daughter of Rev. Dr. William Cooper, and grand-daughter of William Foye, a gentleman of standing and fortune in Milton. He was considered a respectable physician, and, it is supposed, died in 1777.
Dr. Enos Sumner was born in 1746, and was in business as a physician in the central part of Milton from about 1768 to nearly the close of his life, which terminated June 8, 1766.
Dr. Benjamin Turner, a native of Randolph, graduated at Harvard College in 1791, and after having completed his medical education, had his residence in the south part of Milton, and was for some years engaged in medical practice. He then removed to Framingham, and from that time until his death, which occurred in 1834, he was devoted to agricultural pursuits.

Dr. Amos Holbrook was a native of Beltingham, had his residence in Milton, at first in the village, afterwards upon Milton Hill, and was one of the most eminent medical men in the County during the whole period in which he lived. He had not the advantage of a collegiate education; but this infelicity was more than compensated by the experience he acquired in the service of his country, as an army surgeon, and by his subsequent residence for several months in France, where his time was profitably occupied in witnessing the practice of the hospitals, and thus adding to his stores of practical knowledge. Endowed by nature with an elegant person, he added to it a courteousness of address and suavity of manners which won him favor in whatever circle he moved. He was beloved as a physician and citizen, and sustained his popularity undiminished to the close of a long life. For many years he engrossed the principal medical business of Dorchester as well as Milton. He died June 17, 1842, at the advanced age of 88.

A very just sketch of his character, by his friend and pupil Dr. Thaddeus W. Harris, was published in the Boston Courier soon after his death, and thence copied into the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal of July 13, 1842, and subsequently by Dr. Williams into his Medical Biography.

Dr. Samuel Kinsley Glover, a native of Milton, was born in 1753. He entered Harvard College, but before the time of his graduation arrived, the Revolution having broken out, instruction in the College was suspended; his classical studies were relinquished, and he soon joined the army as surgeon's mate. In that capacity and as surgeon of several armed vessels, he continued until 1778. In that year, among other duties, he had charge of a small pox hospital on Prospect Hill, where Burgoyne's troops were stationed as prisoners of war. In 1780 he relinquished military life, and settled in Milton. From that time also he discontinued the practice of medicine and surgery, except that he devoted some attention to a private small pox hospital. He received a pension from government, was called to fill several stations in public life, and died July 1, 1839, aged 86.

Dr. Thaddeus William Harris, son of the Rev. T. M. Harris, D. D., of Dorchester, graduated at Harvard College in 1815, and settled at Milton in 1820; where, and in his native town of Dorchester, he acquired the reputation of an excellent physician, as well as a distinguished naturalist. After about ten years it became necessary for him to relinquish the active duties of his profession; as too laborious for his constitution, and he was elected, to, and accepted the office of Librarian of the University, a post which he has since continued to occupy, to the entire satisfaction of his guardians and the public.

Dr. Thomas Kittredge was for a few years in Milton, where he died July 27, 1845, aged 33.
Dr. Charles R. Kennedy, a native of Milton, and graduate of Harvard College in 1826, studied medicine at Randolph, and settled in his native town; but not finding the practice of his profession congenial either to his feelings or his health, he relinquished it for other pursuits. He became consumptive, and died at St. Augustine in 1836. He was an excellent citizen and much respected.

From Peterson's Magazine.

Jenny's New-Year's Sleigh Ride.

Everybody said young Blackwood was in love with pretty Jenny Lea. So, also, said his long-continued, particular attentions—so said his manner—so said his eyes, but so did not say his tongue.

It was very provoking, for he had every reason to hope. Jenny's shy, pretty manner told him almost as plainly as words—"Speak, and I am yours for the asking." But Mr. Blackwood did not speak, and what was worse, dog-in-the-manger-like, he kept others away from what he did not seem disposed to enjoy himself. His brow would grow black as a thunder-cloud, did any other young man so much as dare to speak to his Jenny—for any one but himself to ask her to dance was an unheard-of temerity. He arrogated to himself the exclusive right of waiting upon her—of directing her—yes, sometimes, of scolding her.

Yet with all this assumption of supremacy, my lord had never deigned to declare his love—never offered his hand; no engagement whatever existed between them. Everybody thought it very strange and Jenny pouted a little, and in her inmost heart, thought so too.

Now Jenny had plenty of spirit in general, and this made it all the more vexatious, that she should be so meekly tame and patient in this particular case. It was truly annoying to a looker-on, to see her so imposed upon on, and lorded over by one who had not the shadow of a right to control her.

The fact is—and I may as well confess it—the poor little thing was so much in love, that she did not know how to manage at all. So things went on, and so, perhaps, they might have been going on to this day, but all at once—I know not whether from some hint from a friend, or that Jenny's native spirit was at last aroused—certain it is, that a great and notable change came over her manner.

A charming sleighing excursion had been projected for the approaching New-Year's day. About ten gentlemen, and as many ladies were to make up the party. They were to ride about fifteen miles into the country—have a supper and a dance, and then return to the city by moonlight. As each gentleman was to provide his own vehicle, and take a lady, there was an eager competition for the honor of escorting favorite belles. Young Blackwood, with his usual nonchalance, was in no haste to secure Jenny's companionship, but in his own good time condescended to say to her, carelessly,

"Jenny, you will ride with me of course."

"Thank you," said Jenny, "Mr. Collins has already been so kind as to ask me."

"Oh? What?" cried Blackwood, starting, and scarcely believing that he heard aright—"You don't mean you are going with him?"

"Certainly."

Young Blackwood turned on his heels, and walked away. He felt himself an indignant, and ill-used man. The shocking bad temper into which he fell was far from being sweetened by finding that his dilatoriness had procured him the honor of escorting a young lady, worthy, doubtless, but somewhat faded, and very silly—the last choice of all who were to be of the party.

New-Year's day arrived, bright and propitious, the snow in excellent order for sleighing. It had arranged that the whole party should assemble at a certain rendezvous, so as to set out together, and as the appointed time approached one gay sleigh after another might be seen whirling to the spot. The prancing horses, covered with silver bells, the ladies' plaid dresses—the rich fur robes, with their bright linings, and better still, the joyous, rosy faces, and the sound of ringing laughter, made up an inspiring and brilliant scene.

One countenance only looked out of keeping with the gay occasion. It was our poor Blackwood's as he sat gloomy and taciturn, beside his elderly companion. His eye glanced furtively towards Mr. Collins' sleigh; he saw Jenny's face, bright and fresh as a rose—he heard her gaily laugh at some witicism of her companion's—he saw that companion's glance of admiration, and he grew ten times more gloomy and taciturn than before. I am afraid poor Miss Moody found him very dull, and that the ride was as intolerable to her, as it was to him.

It was over at last, however; and now, having all assembled in the large, cheerful, old country house, and having partaken of a good, warm, bountiful country supper, laid in a room where glowed a bright hospitable wood fire, arrangements were being made for the promised and eagerly-expected dance.

On repairing to the dancing-room, where most of the company were assembled, Mr. Blackwood's eye glanced in search of Jenny; she was not there, and conjecturing that some adjustment of her dress detained her up stairs, he sauntered up and down the hall, nervously waiting for her.

The fact is, that he had determined to make his peace with her, by the presentation of a propitiatory bouquet. He had procured a very rare and beautiful one in the city, and had, by taking infinite pains to protect it from the frost, succeeded in bringing it thither unharmed.

Jenny soon came tripping gaily down the stairs. Blackwood in his heart thought her the sweetest and loveliest creature in the world, and that he would give his right hand to win one of her old smiles. With a timid query new to him, he presented his flowers, and begged the honor of her hand for the first dance.

Jenny carelessly thanked him—"She was engaged to Mr. Collins."

Might he hope for the next then?

"No, she was engaged to Mr. Summers."

"Or the next?"

"She had promised Mr. Howell."

Young Blackwood bit his lip, and his old ill-humor returned; he went into the dining-room, and sat sullenly in a corner, chewing the cud of his bitter fancy, and meditating on what he thought his flagrant wrongs.

He watched Jenny, gay and brilliant, dancing with first one gentleman, and then another—laughing and chatting merrily all the time. In truth the gentlemen, pleased to see her once more released from her thralldom, crowded around her, and paid her so much attention, that she was really the belle of the evening. Blackwood's jealous eye saw everything—he saw his own bouquet thrown carelessly aside, while another, presented by him knew not whom—Mr. Collins, perhaps—was carried constantly in her hand, and carefully cherished; he noted every glance of admiration directed to her—he observed every smile she bestowed.

"By George," he muttered, at last, between his teeth—"there's not a man in the room, who is not in love with her!—and she—the coquette—the flirt—the little jilt—I do believe she returns their affection!"

This absurd generalization of his jealousy, might have opened the eyes of a cooler man, but Blackwood was almost beside himself with apprehension, lest the precious treasure, he had come by some strange mental process to consider his own, should be stolen from him. He felt the untenability of his claims upon her—he was alarmed beyond reason by her change of manner.

If he thought, she had at last grown tired of him (he felt sure she had loved him once), if she were thinking of some one else, what remained for him, but to throw himself into the river, or go crazy, for life had lost every charm for him.

The thought of her riding home with Mr. Collins was wormwood to him. He dwelt upon it till the idea became insupportable—he must do something to prevent it. Accordingly, he went to the gentleman who had been voted master of ceremonies, and who happened to be a particular friend of his, and said, as carelessly as he could,

"Harwood, my good fellow, you must do something for me—I'll do as much for you another time. Manage it so that Collins shall give up his partner to me when we go home. I have a particular reason for wishing it."

"Impossible, my dear Blackwood; what a strange request. Collins will never consent—the prettiest girl of the party too!"

"That's it—that's it," returned the agonized lover—"he'll be making love to her on the way home—and—he'll offer himself—men are so hasty about these things sometimes—and she'll accept him, and then I'm wretched for life—that's all!"

"Well, I'll try what I can do for you."

How Harwood managed it, does not appear, but his good officers were successful. Mr. Collins meekly took his place beside poor Miss Moody.

Blackwood, highly elated, handed Jenny to his vehicle—sprang in after her, and off they set at a furious rate.

Little would it become me as a delicate and high-minded historian to pry into and report the secrets of that tele-acté sleigh-ride. I shall only state what all the world knows—that, notwithstanding the speed with which they started, their sleigh was the last to reach home; and the next day it was no secret in B—— that Jenny Lea was engaged to be married to young Mr. Blackwood.

In conclusion, I would merely add, for the consolation of those innocent and inexperienced young lady readers, who may be displeased with the conclusion of my story, and inclined to pity my poor heroine, condemned to such a morose, tyrannical Blue Beard of a husband, that married ladies will perhaps take a different view of the case.

I leave it for them to conjecture, however, whether it is probable that the girl who had learned how to manage her lover, was likely to forget the art when he became her husband.

Town Libraries.

Towns have now a lawful right to establish libraries in order to give information to all classes and to all ages. Have a public library of books of the best authors, and many a young man will be induced to prefer its contents to that of a bottle of jug.

The State has been trying many schemes to stop, or to check, the great evil of intemperance. Why not try the plan of enticing young people to engage in some better business than drinking the vile stuff which Irishmen as well as natives are now selling, in the name of brandy, gin, and wine? Break up these low and secret rum-holes by a handsome invitation to a better treat—to books that will instruct while they entertain the reader.

Many a young man has been ruined for want of the means of instruction and rational amusement in his leisure hours. Fail not then to furnish the proper means to interest and to instruct them. Let every town do something to establish a public library, and depend on it many individuals of wealth will be willing to contribute of their abundant means.

Whose name will stand fairer on the rolls of fame than his who has aided to make accessible to all the means of education? Who shall rank higher than he who stands forward and aids in the dissemination of knowledge and of good morals among the masses of mankind?—Massachusetts Ploverman.

Japan and the Japanese.

In their social and domestic life, the Japanese are truly Asiatic. Their females occupy but a subordinate position, although they are permitted to share in all the innocent recreations of their husbands and fathers, and are not held in such jealous seclusion as in some parts of India. Their minds are cultivated with as much care as is bestowed upon the education of the men, and the literature of the country boasts of many female names. They are lively and agreeable companions, and are much celebrated for the ease and elegance of their manners. With all these privileges which they enjoy, they are yet in a state of total dependence, and polygamy and the power of divorce is indulged in to the extreme by the husbands.

Children are brought up in habits of implicit obedience, and all of every rank are sent to school, where they learn to read and write. Beyond this degree of education, however, the children of the rich are instructed in morals, and the whole art of good behavior, including the minutest forms of etiquette. Arithmetic, and the science of the almanac, form another important portion of their education, since it would be in the highest degree disgraceful to commence any important undertaking on an unlucky day. And last, as the finishing study, they are initiated into all the mysteries of the Hara Kiri, literally meaning 'happy despatch,' but which is in reality the mode of self-destruction by which every Japanese of distinction feels bound to resort, upon occasion where his life is at stake from any impending penalty.

At the age of fifteen years the boys have their heads shaved, and they then become members of society. They also receive a new name at this time, and invariably upon every advance in rank the old cognomen is changed for a new one. Nor are these the only occasions when this change takes place; no subaltern is allowed to bear the same name with his chief, and therefore when an individual is appointed to a high station, every one under him who chances to be his namesake must immediately find and adopt a new name.

In marriage, equality of rank between the contracting parties, is the first requirement, and when no obstacle of this sort stands in the way, the youth declares his passion by attaching a branch of a certain shrub to the house of the young lady's parents. If this is neglected, so is his suit; if it is accepted, it is the lover; and if the damsel wishes to put her reciprocity of this offer beyond a doubt, she forthwith blackens her teeth. Presents, as among most oriental nations, are now exchanged, and after with great ceremony burning her toys to indicate that she is to be no longer childish, she is presented by her parents with a marriage dress and some articles of household furniture, among which are always a spinning-wheel, a loom, and the culinary implements required in a Japanese kitchen. All this bridal equipment is conveyed in great state to the bridegroom's house, and exhibited on the day of the wedding.—New World.

The people of this country, and particularly those who reside in the New England States, are more famous for the number of their laws, than for the observance of the same. From the earliest enactments in the Massachusetts Colony, to the latest edition of the Revised Statutes, there has been a large number of laws standing in the books, which are obsolete in practice, and are of use only to show how far Buncumb has been consulted in their original enactment, or in the refusal to repeal them.

Dr. Channing, in one of his admirable essays, remarks that 'opinion is stronger than kings.' He might have added, that public opinion in a free country is stronger than the law. There is a law of common sense and practical wisdom, which the great mass of the people intuitively acknowledge and obey, and their instincts fail to recognize the criminality of the violation of these obsolete statutes. The law may be rigid and legally right, and the penalty severe, but the public judgment, and the innate sense of justice in the community, repel the thought of crime connected with a breach of the code. The Legislature has created a crime, which the inherent instincts of men fail to recognize, on account of the violation of the most potent springs of human action.

For illustration: all Saturday evening concerts are unlawful gatherings. It is against the fifth Section of the fifth Chapter of the Revised Statutes, to be present at one of them. This obsolete law seems aimed rather at the audience than the performers. The fines incurred at a popular concert in the Music Hall, on Saturday evening, in Boston, would amount to upwards of seventeen thousand dollars! By an enforcement of the Statute, law, there would be but little news in the daily papers on Monday mornings, and a Sunday veto would be put upon much of the social visiting now so common in Boston and suburban districts. Parents, also, who are 'present at any game, play, or diversion' of their children, on Saturday evenings, are liable to a fine! And, of course, a rubber of whist, a game of cribbage, or the use of a backgammon table in one's own family, fall within the penalty of the statute. Most of these laws were passed in their present form upwards of sixty years ago, and were re-enactments of the old Puritan code.

The usury laws are against the commercial customs of the mercantile community, and business in Massachusetts would come to rather a sudden stand if the thirty-fifth chapter of the Revised Statutes was to be observed for many days in these times of financial pressure. We might extend the list of these obsolete statutes to a great extent, but it seems to be understood in the community, that we must have one branch of the government at work a third of the time to make laws which are not intended to be enforced. In this respect, our government is unlike any other, and we should have merry times in Boston, if some pleasant morning we should wake up, and find that the obsolete laws of Massachusetts were for once to be executed!—New World.

Which is the Weaker Sex?

Females are called the weaker sex, but why? If they are not strong, who is? When men wrap themselves in thick garments, and increase the whole in stout overcoat to shut out the cold, women in thin silk dresses, with neck and shoulders bare, or nearly so, say they are perfectly comfortable! When men wear water-proof boots over woollen hose, and increase the whole in India-rubber to keep them from freezing, women wear thin silk hose and cloth shoes, and pretend not to feel the cold! When men cover their heads with furs, and then complain of the severity of the weather, women half cover their heads with straw bonnets, and ride twenty miles in an open sleigh, facing a cold north-wester, and pretend not to suffer at all. They can sit, too, by men who snell of rum and tobacco-smoke enough to poison the whole house, and not appear more annoyed than if they were a bundle of roses. Year after year they can bear abuses of all sorts from drunken husbands, as though their strength was made of iron. And then is not woman's mental strength greater than man's? Can she not endure suffering that would bow the stoutest man to the earth? Call not woman the weaker vessel; for had she not been stronger than man the race would long since have been extinct. Here is a state of endurance which man could not bear.—American Courier.

Wasn't She Spunky?

A couple who had lived together for some years in seeming contentment, one day went fishing, and tied their boat by a rope to a post in the water. All of a sudden the boat went floating down the stream, and a contest of words immediately arose as to the cause of the parting of the rope. The wife said it must have been cut with the scissors, but the husband, an unfeeling old foggy, stoutly maintained that it was a knife that did the business. Scissors! said the wife. Knife! said the husband. Scissors, Knife, Scissors, Knife, said both, but at last the husband losing his temper cried out: grace divine always 'If you say scissors again, I'll duck you!' 'Scissors!' said the wife, determined to hold out to the last.

den veto would be put upon much of the social visiting now so common in Boston and suburban districts. Parents, also, who are 'present at any game, play, or diversion' of their children, on Saturday evenings, are liable to a fine! And, of course, a rubber of whist, a game of cribbage, or the use of a backgammon table in one's own family, fall within the penalty of the statute. Most of these laws were passed in their present form upwards of sixty years ago, and were re-enactments of the old Puritan code.

The usury laws are against the commercial customs of the mercantile community, and business in Massachusetts would come to rather a sudden stand if the thirty-fifth chapter of the Revised Statutes was to be observed for many days in these times of financial pressure. We might extend the list of these obsolete statutes to a great extent, but it seems to be understood in the community, that we must have one branch of the government at work a third of the time to make laws which are not intended to be enforced. In this respect, our government is unlike any other, and we should have merry times in Boston, if some pleasant morning we should wake up, and find that the obsolete laws of Massachusetts were for once to be executed!—New World.

Labor, the Life of Man.

Such is the lot and duty of man. Labor! Labor on in some shape for a life. Labor for thyself, thy household, thy country, the world. There is no respite. Onward, onward, drives the spirit of Commerce—and will elevate you, enrich, ennoble you. Clothe thyself gorgeously, fare sumptuously if you will, but extend the same luxuries of wealth to thy neighbor who possesses not the same means or ability to acquire. What is there now, or ever has been in the world, grand or glorious, that has not been the product of labor either of the body or the mind! The treasures of genius and art are its work; the cultivated fields are its toil; the busy marts, the rising cities, the rich empires of the world, are but the great treasures of labor. The monuments, castles, towers, and temples, of Europe; the mounds and the buried cities of America, are but the gigantic achievements of labor. Take labor from the world and it leaves it a blank without a history. Labor on then, as the great movements of the world shall direct. If you have genius, develop it. If you have perseverance, prove it. Labor on without wealth if such is your lot. Labor on the more lustily with wealth, for it is a means by which all the world can be conquered from indolence and ignorance—from famine, starvation, and untimely death.—Hunt's Merchants' Magazine.

Which is the Weaker Sex?

Females are called the weaker sex, but why? If they are not strong, who is? When men wrap themselves in thick garments, and increase the whole in stout overcoat to shut out the cold, women in thin silk dresses, with neck and shoulders bare, or nearly so, say they are perfectly comfortable! When men wear water-proof boots over woollen hose, and increase the whole in India-rubber to keep them from freezing, women wear thin silk hose and cloth shoes, and pretend not to feel the cold! When men cover their heads with furs, and then complain of the severity of the weather, women half cover their heads with straw bonnets, and ride twenty miles in an open sleigh, facing a cold north-wester, and pretend not to suffer at all. They can sit, too, by men who snell of rum and tobacco-smoke enough to poison the whole house, and not appear more annoyed than if they were a bundle of roses. Year after year they can bear abuses of all sorts from drunken husbands, as though their strength was made of iron. And then is not woman's mental strength greater than man's? Can she not endure suffering that would bow the stoutest man to the earth? Call not woman the weaker vessel; for had she not been stronger than man the race would long since have been extinct. Here is a state of endurance which man could not bear.—American Courier.

Wasn't She Spunky?

A couple who had lived together for some years in seeming contentment, one day went fishing, and tied their boat by a rope to a post in the water. All of a sudden the boat went floating down the stream, and a contest of words immediately arose as to the cause of the parting of the rope. The wife said it must have been cut with the scissors, but the husband, an unfeeling old foggy, stoutly maintained that it was a knife that did the business. Scissors! said the wife. Knife! said the husband. Scissors, Knife, Scissors, Knife, said both, but at last the husband losing his temper cried out: grace divine always 'If you say scissors again, I'll duck you!' 'Scissors!' said the wife, determined to hold out to the last.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of superior Family Medicines, selected with care.

Also—various articles for invalids, Pearl and prepared Barley, Farina, Groats, cracked Wheat, Sage, Tapioca, Oat-flour, Corn Starch, Broma, &c. Jellies, Raspberry and Lemon Syrup, Spanish Paste, &c. Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass Pipes and Shells, patent nursing Shields, Tubes, and Bottles, sprays, Plasters, and Glass and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens, Fresh Brushes, &c., &c.

Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and attention.

She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in this and other States. Washington-st., rear of Stone Temple, Agency, Nov. 1. 45ft

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY, ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN, 271 TREMONT ST., (opposite Hollis,) BOSTON.

OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and all other organs of the Human System; together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulence, cold extremities, dizziness, pains in the sides or between the shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c. Also that acquire condition of blood which not only generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most afflicting and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those in ordinary use, they are new—wholly Vegetable—no way debilitating, and have fully established their reputation, which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.

J. CLAWSON KELLEY, Analytic Physician, 271 Tremont st., (opposite Hollis st.) BOSTON.

Boston, May 6, 1853. 52 43—ly

DR. S. STOCKING, DENTAL SURGEON.

IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body desirous of teeth, especially those of limited means, to supply themselves with incorruptible masterpieces of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely care, which are of greater value than artificial ones can be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows: For an entire upper and under set, on the atmospheric principle—firm, model, and easy to be worn—$25.00 to $30.00. For a single tooth, upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from $12.00 to $40.00. For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from $1.50 to $3.50 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood pins—from $1.50 to $2.50. For filling with gold, from $0.50 to $2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloric ether, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts. The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter larger than is generally used for that purpose. All operations will be warranted to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No. 24 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Beale Street, Boston, Feb. 27, 1853. 11—9moos

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!

SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dye Stuffs, Drugs, or Chemicals, can always find a good assortment at the

QUINCY DRUG STORE.

and as cheap as they can be bought in the City such as, Tumeric, Oxalic and Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muric Acid, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Gypsum, and Extract of Logwood, Camphor, Bile and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth, Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American and best White Rosin, &c. American and English Combs, Sals, Ammoniac, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Arnica, Gumbo, Sals of Tartar, Nicotiana, Mulder and Turkey Under, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Bone, Stone, Salt Petre, Galls, and Liquid Ammonia, &c.

GEORGE W. WHITING.

Quincy, Sept. 3.

Cure for the Whooping Cough!

BY THE USE OF

MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE.

It can be cured in a week, if taken at the commencement of the disease.

For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAYDEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy for its sale.

Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E. Hayward, Haddam, Conn., and sold by Dr. Moore, & without whose signature upon each bottle, none is genuine.

It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colic, and Bowel Complaints, &c. W. B. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent. Sept. 24. 3a Lovet's Wampene.

AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color.

With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN. Quincy, June 25. 4f

Whiting's Blood Purifier.

THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Danielson, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other potent and healthy, combined with hyaloidate of potassa, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Bowels

Away went the old woman into the water, and as she came up the first time, she bellowed 'Scissors,' at the top of her voice. The old man pushed her down again.

'Scissors!' she uttered in fainter tones, as she arose again, but the old fellow had her by the head, and plump she went down for the third time. Now she rose more slowly, and as her waterlogged form neared the surface, having lost the power of articulation yet determined never to give in, she thrust her hand out of the water, and imitated with the first and second fingers the opening and shutting of a pair of scissors.

The old man was then convinced that it was useless to try to fetter a woman's speech.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, December 31st, 1853.

"BORN TO NO MASTER, OF NO SECT ARE WE."

Close of the Year.

The present number of our paper falls very near the close of the year, and it completes the seventeenth volume of the Patriot. It has been our aim to make the paper interesting and useful to all classes of our readers, by a weekly compend of the most interesting news and the usual variety of miscellaneous reading matter; and we have had the pleasure and satisfaction in seeing our subscription gradually increase since we have resumed its management. But, still more patrons are required to give a fair remuneration for the labor performed and to allow more time in its editorial department. Every citizen should feel himself obligated to sustain his town paper, remembering that its influence is of great importance to its future growth, and the prosperity and happiness of its inhabitants.

With the coming year, we hope to receive additions to our list, and intend to pursue such a course that none shall have cause to regret having lent a willing hand in the good work of encouragement; and that in the course of the ensuing week we may register a goodly number of subscribers in addition, and receive from our old friends what is now due, as nine months have elapsed since we commenced anew with the paper.

In conclusion—we congratulate our friends and patrons on the opening of a new year, and would express our earnest wishes that the year 1854, may be to all of them, in every respect, a year of great prosperity and happiness.

Some Reflections.

The year 1853 will soon be gone. In a few hours the Books will be closed. Let us pause a moment and ask ourselves, how does our record run? Who of us can turn over the pages and trace out his own life without the tear of regret, and without the anguish of remorse? We should find some pleasant passages, perhaps, reminding us of duties done, of right emotions, thoughts and acts. Would there not be other passages which we would willingly blot out? If the recording angel should put in our hands a faithful transcript of our lives, during the closing year, how many could read the story without meeting with many painful reminiscences? Many would not dare to read at all.

Many of those who were with us a year ago have gone to their long home. Age, manhood, youth and beauty, have been gathered up by the Harvester Death. There is scarcely a number of the Patriot which does not record the departure from this life, of one or more familiar forms, dear to some circle of relations and friends. At the end of the next year it will be said of some of us, on such a day, in 1854, he died.

But such thoughts perhaps are out of place here. We are all borne along in the hastening tide of life. The cry is press on, press on; health, pleasure and honor are before us, let us join the general throng.

We have reason to thank God for the measure of our country's prosperity during the passing year. Industry has been rewarded; the mechanic arts, commerce and agriculture have flourished.

The great national event of the year was the inauguration of the new President. Elected by a large majority of the electoral votes, he has entered upon his duties under circumstances, auspicious for his own renown, and the true glory of the Union. His political friends are not, however, without apprehensions that he will be unequal to the great trust committed to him. There is, it cannot be denied, a startling difference of character and power between Presidents of these times, and those of the earlier days of the Republic—as Jefferson and Pierce—Washington and Taylor. Gen. Pierce is a gallant man, and men love him, and all parties are disposed to deal with him in charity and forbearance. Yet in their hearts they cannot but be solicitous for the future, already darkening by war which seems likely to involve the civilized, and even the uncivilized world.

The greatest political event in our own State, during the year, was the Constitutional Convention. The reformers had a majority of one hundred in the Convention. They submitted the results of their labor to the people which were rejected. Many were pleased with the rejection, and many were disappointed. Certain wise men say, however, that the propositions were framed with a view to the ascendancy of the Coalition party—other equally wise men say, that they contained principles of equality and justice, the adoption of which would divest the Whigs of a monopoly of power which they now possess, and vest power in the hands of the people, where it belongs. But we think that the elements of ignorance, pride, lust of power, bigotry, and personal ambition and resentment, got into such violent activity, that the poor Commonwealth became a subject of secondary consideration in the grand melee, and the majority against the new constitution was a mere surge of popular excitement and passion—it was accidental.

As to our own town, it seems to have stood in all branches of industry. The stone business has been active. Our boot and shoe manufacturers have never known a better year. While on every side is evidence of the fruit of the industry of all our mechanics and laborers.

The Catholic Church has been recently completed during the year, and consecrated. It is a beautiful structure and an ornament to the town. It has been erected by the pious zeal of mechanics and laborers of the Catholic faith.

Initiatory steps have been taken by State Commissioners for the erection of a Sailor's Home on Germantown. It is a good location, where worn out sailors can look out upon the sea, which has been to them a home the larger portion of their lives. We learn that it is the intention to rear a large building, and to make such changes as will greatly beautify that portion of our town.

The High School is answering the end for which it was instituted. It is in a prosperous condition, and begins to be properly appreciated. It will exert a happy influence upon the generation which shall enjoy its teachings, and many a one, now too far advanced to partake of its instruction, deeply regrets he was denied its privileges. We cannot be too thankful that it has been established even at this late date.

The Lyceum seems to be inspired with new life and vigor this winter. It was never so well attended before; the lectures have been generally entertaining and instructive.

The Adams' Association has got a hold upon the public mind, and promises to be a useful and permanent institution. It has received substantial evidence of favor, by valuable donations of books from private individuals, and on two occasions the generous contributions of the community. We hope all the young men in town, who feel the least desire for self-improvement will join it. It certainly will have no injurious effects, while it may awaken faculties now dormant, and fill their minds with purer and nobler ideas of life, and its duties and objects.

LYCEUM LECTURES. We have observed in the newspapers very favorable notices of a lecture which Rev. F. W. Holland of East Cambridge, is now delivering before similar institutions as the Lyceum in this and the neighboring States. The subject is full of interest, and particularly so at this time, as every thing relating to Turkey seems to command deep attention. Rev. Mr. Holland has travelled much in that country, and we believe has resided for a period in the Sultan's dominions, and consequently must be well prepared to entertain an audience. We hope the Directors of the Lyceum will secure his services for the present course.

THE LYCEUM. The reader is referred to the new advertisement of the Secretary, for the January list of lecturers; in which the names of two of our own worthy townsmen appear.

These announcements, we trust, will give general satisfaction to the friends of the Lyceum.

BOSTON ALMANAC, FOR 1854. Messrs J. P. Jewett & Co., an energetic and enterprising firm of Boston, the publishers of this familiar and standard calendar, have forwarded a neat and beautifully bound copy; and in glancing over its pages we find it liberally stored with the usual matter of such publications, and also a large amount of valuable miscellaneous intelligence. Its high character of previous years is well sustained in the present number.

"GREAT REPUBLIC" DESTROYED. This mammoth ship, built by Mc Kay of East Boston, and launched a few months ago, was burnt to the water's edge, at the pier in New York, where she was receiving her freight, on last Monday night. The Great Republic with her cargo was valued at more than half a million of dollars, on which large insurances had been effected. Several other vessels were burnt, and the amount of property destroyed will exceed a million of dollars. The fire originated in a bakery, and the wind blowing a gale communicated the flames to the shipping.

FOREIGN NEWS. By the last intelligence, a great naval battle has been fought between the Turks and Russians, resulting in the total destruction of twenty-one vessels belonging to the former power, with an immense loss of life. The Russian fleet was dreadfully crippled.

VOTES FOR STATE SENATORS. By the official report of the Governor and Council, it would appear that twenty-one senators have been chosen, of whom eleven are Whigs and ten Coalitionists. When the vacancies are filled, the Senate will probably be composed of thirty Whigs and ten Coalitionists. The following is the official vote of Norfolk County:

Whole number of ballots,	10468
Necessary for a choice,	5235
No person has that number, and there is no choice. The constitutional candidates appear to be:
Calvin Fisher, Jr.	4897
John W. Loud,	4876
William Aspinwall,	4541
James Bartlett,	4130
Joseph W. Robertson,	4039
Francis W. Bird,	3962

APPOINTMENT. Our friend, Lovell Bicknell, Esq., of Weymouth, has been appointed an Aid to the Revenue service for the District of Boston, by Collector Peaselee, in place of Isaiah G. Whiton of this town, resigned.

Is it true that Mr. Bicknell voted for Gov. Clifford, and that he also mutilated the Pierce and King electoral ticket. Who will give us the desired information? We pause for an answer.

BOSTON ELECTION. The second attempt to choose a Mayor resulted in no choice—Dr. J. V. C. Smith lacking nine votes of an election. Four of the six vacancies in the Board of Aldermen were filled, and with the two previously elected, its political character stands—three whigs, two democrats, and one free soil democrat.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE. We have just received the January number of this splendid magazine, which commences a new volume, and have only time to say that it is edited by that popular and pleasant writer, Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, superbly embellished with excellent steel engravings, and richly filled with its usual amount of interesting and instructive reading matter. We shall notice more at length as received.

LITTLE'S LIVING AGE. This universally acknowledged publication of merit and standard literature commences a new volume with the first number in January. Every issue of the ensuing volume will contain an impression from a beautiful steel plate—an additional attraction to its already deserving character.

THE PEOPLE'S JOURNAL. This is indeed a cheap and interesting monthly work, recently commenced in New York City, by A. E. Beach, Esq. The second number is beautifully embellished with seventy-two fine engravings, illustrative of agriculture, science, the arts, etc. Terms only fifty cents a volume of six monthly parts.

CONGRESS. Not much business has been done the present week, on account of the death and funeral of Brooks Campbell, a member of the House from Tennessee. He served in the Mexican war.

TO CORRESPONDENTS. The report of the "Norfolk County Teachers' Association," and an "Adopted Citizen" are unavoidably left out, having been received too late.

For the Patriot.

Learn then what moral critics ought to show.

With men complacence, ne'er betray your trust,
Nor be so civil as to prove unjust.
Fear not the anger of the wise to raise;
Those best can bear reproach who merit praise.
Fear most to tax an honorable fool,
Whose right it is, uncessantly, to be dull.

ESSAY ON CRITICISM.

I am certainly greatly obliged to your correspondent "Clare (?) for his corrections. The mistakes occurred in this wise, I was writing the article in the presence of a friend whose accuracy I have had many occasions to test, and who, looking over my shoulder, remarked, "yes, and conservatism murdered Galileo and killed Hampden." Without a moments thought I placed the idea in the form it was published, and never recalled it, until I read the correction of your correspondent. And although I am by no means certain of his accuracy as to Galileo, yet I thank him for his courtesy and kindness, neither of which seem to be very prevalent in this vicinity. I have but little time to devote to these articles, and whenever I make a mistake, I shall always be obliged to any one who will correct me.

Some of your friends and correspondents seem to have queer ideas of dignity, modesty and the elements of gentlemanly controversy. I write my views of the Lyceum Lectures freely, but without personal feeling; I allude to no one but those who, by their public position, are open to criticism; I do this too, not capriciously, but as I believe justly; in fact, transferring my impressions of the Lectures to paper, regardless of style of composition, and not unfrequently of the rules of grammar, and in a spirit of perfect kindness. Thus, pursuing the "even tenor of my way," it was but natural that I should feel a little surprised when Justitia opened his mouth and poured forth a flood of vituperative abuse which "it were sin to charity" to dignify by the name of blackguardism,—not touching the merits or demerits of my articles, but simply abusing the imaginary person of "Lishmahago." Not being an adept in this line of writing, as he evidently was, and hating

* * * the man who builds his name
On ruins of another's fame:

and knowing that some

* * * scribblers, covetous of praise,
Think slander can transplant the bays,

I merely referred to his effusion, gently, mildly and without asperity; but in this allusion I unluckily mistook the authorship of the article, and associated it with the name of a person to whom madame Rumor ascribed its paternity. I had supposed him to be a gentleman, but the sequel has proved the fallacy of such a supposition. No sooner had my unfortunate blunder appeared, than his mightiness, the defender and literary champion of all the "boteses," gilt as well as fly baits, like a dancing bear, raises himself to the altitude of man, and with that ease, grace, coolness and self possession, which ever marks the gentleman, proceeds "to write me down—an ass." Yes, Mr. Editor, this highly respectable gentleman calls me a "brazen faced, impudent Jackass," saddled and bridled with egotism and vanity.

"Wast ever at court, Corin?"

"No, truly."

"Then thou art damned."

"For not being at court? Your reasons."

"Why, if thou never wast at court, thou never saw'st good manners; if thou never saw'st good manners, then thy manners must be wicked; and wickedness is sin, and sin is damnation: Thou art in a perilous state, Corin."

I wonder if I could reach to his commanding dignity of thought, and felicity of expression? Let us try.

A snivelling, sneaking, sanctimonious, snobishness "may be a necessary qualification for a snuffy, scrawling scrivener, or a bungling, bawling, botching blockhead," but I mistake the character of our citizens, if it be a recommendation to public favor here." Have I not succeeded well? Am I not now entitled to admittance into that innermost circle of modest refinement, and respectability, adorned by the presence of my venerable censor? Out upon such dastardly, craven assassinations, my very pen grows indignant, and clearly intimates that the goose from which it came, would leave her flock, to hiss the man who teaches such a lesson. Are we to judge our fellows? A few brainless wights may laugh and shout at such displays of poor, degraded, human passion; but how know we where our shafts, poisoned thus with deadly malice, may lodge at last? What heart may rankle with the wound, or growing hard and stern, will shut out the noble inspirations, generous thoughts, kindly feelings, pure emotions, ennobling aspiration that crowd around it.

Shame on the man who would wantonly wound a brother. Shame on the man who maliciously maligns the motives of another. Honor to him who, looking to his own heart, and finding good, honest motives for his acts, ascribes the same to others. It is possible to Patch grief with proverbs; make misfortune drunk with candle-wasters;

but who or what can case a wronged and aching heart.

But bless me, where have I been running to? I really beg pardon, for I almost forgot one of the best lectures of the season, in my sermonizing mood. Yes, sir, Mr. Lothrop's lecture was one of the best of the season, and my only regret is, that my limits will not permit me to give you an idea of its matter. In point of delivery it surpassed anything we have had during the winter. His voice is full and rich, and fully controlled; his gestulation graceful and easy. The unpropitious state of the weather deprived a large number of the opportunity of enjoying one of the richest intellectual feasts which has yet been offered to our acceptance.

LISHMAHAGO.

For the Patriot.

Mr. Gay's Accident.

MR. EDITOR:—Our whole community have felt an intense interest in the case of their worthy and respected fellow-citizen Henry A. Gay; and will rejoice to learn that it proves less serious than was at first apprehended. Mr. Gay's sufferings have been by no means slight, nor can we reasonably expect that, after so serious and violent a contusion, he will be immediately restored to soundness of body or freedom from pain; but his friends have great cause for rejoicing and for thankfulness, that he is doing so well, and that, in no long time, he will be found at his post again, performing, with his wonted fidelity, his arduous and manifold labors.

And here, it is but just to the Directors of the Old Colony Railroad to say, that they have, through the whole course of Mr. Gay's confinement, conducted towards him in the most kind, liberal, and friendly manner.

As soon as the accident was reported in the City, the President and one of the Directors came out in a special train, bringing an experienced surgeon with them, (whose services were proffered in the case, but declined because the patient was well satisfied with our townsman, Dr. Stetson, who was in attendance) and took all practicable steps for his careful nursing and restoration, assuming the charges of his confinement, and expressing all that anxiety and interest, which the humane and friendly heart knows so well how to appreciate.

A blessing is attending, and will attend them for this. The patient himself is filled with gratitude for their kindness, and it will be the means of gaining for them, in this town and vicinity, hosts of FRIENDS.

For the Patriot.

Hon. Mr. Winthrop's Lecture.

MR. EDITOR:—Notwithstanding the humble estimate given to the lecture of Hon. R. C. Winthrop, by a correspondent in last week's Patriot, who states as his opinion, that "the great mass of the audience were disappointed with the lecture and the lecturer," it is to be hoped that Mr. Winthrop will not be driven to despair by this expression of disapprobation; for there are some persons who dissent "toto calco" from this opinion. The following editorial from the Evening Transcript, presents views that are, by one at least, considered fair, just, and liberal.

CATO.

"MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—Tremont Temple was densely crowded by an enthusiastic auditory last evening, to hear a lecture from the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop. The theme chosen for the occasion was the life, character, and services of Algonquin Sydney. It is needless to say that it was handled in the masterly manner, and with all that grace of diction which characterizes Mr. Winthrop's literary efforts. It was remarked by the lecturer that the theme had been suggested by perusing a clause in the will of Hon. Josiah Quincy, who died on shipboard in 1775, and bequeathed to his son, the venerable Josiah Quincy, Senior, (who was present upon the platform,) among other works, those of Algonquin Sydney. The lecture concluded by a beautiful and touching tribute to the virtues of the venerated Quincy, the worthy descendant of a high and patriotic lineage, which was appropriately responded to by the audience. We regret that our limits do not permit us to give a more extended sketch of this admirable address."

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Secretary of the Interior estimates the whole number of Indians in the United States at four hundred thousand, of whom eighteen thousand are east of the Mississippi.

The year 1854 begins and ends on Sunday; there are five months in the year that contain five Sundays each, and there are fifty-three Sundays in the year.

At the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York City, clothes are washed by steam, wrung out and dried by steam, all in seventeen minutes. The finest cambrics can be washed by this process without wearing them out or injuring their texture.

New Bedford ranks as the third port in the United States in point of shipping, greatly exceeding Philadelphia or Baltimore.

A ball that explodes when it hits the mark, and does a second execution with a charge of shot contained within it, has been invented in Danbury, Conn.

The police force of the city of New York numbers eleven hundred men at the present time, and an additional force of sixty-six men is now asked for.

As a proof of the utility of exhibitions, it is stated that since the Great Exhibition of 1851, French lamps, of a kind then exhibited, have been sold in England to the amount of one million of dollars.

In Florida, Louisiana and Texas, the only States where Sugar is made from the cane, a capital of $80,000,000 is invested in the business. These States produce annually about 300,000 hogsheads of the article. The importation of foreign sugar amounts to 350,000 hogsheads, more or less.

The population of Turkey in Asia is 13,700,000, and that of Turkey in Europe is 15,500,000, making a total of nearly 30,000,000. The population of Russia nearly doubles that of Turkey.

A poor inebriate was recently found dead in a meadow in the town of Mansfield, (Conn.) The Coroner's jury returned the verdict, "died for want of rum!" He was the victim of delirium tremens.

There are now in operation in the United States 347 light houses; 27 are in the course of construction, and 44 more authorized, but not yet commenced. There are 44 light vessels in operation, and 5 in course of construction. The estimate for this service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1854, was $780,033 42; and for the year ending June 30, 1855, it is $906,161 43.

In New York, the other day, two or three men went to a building in the business part of the city put up a ladder reaching to the roof, took down the copper gutter, and carried it off in a cart, in open day, in full sight of the inmates and sold it for old copper.

Notice.

THE subscriber would respectfully notify all persons having accounts against him to present the same for settlement.

All indebted by Note or Account are requested to call and settle the same with

JOHN DINEGAN.

Quincy, Dec. 31.

Pork and Beef Barrels.

A LOT of Pork and Beef Barrels for sale low by FAXON & BROTHERS.

Quincy, Dec. 31.

For Sale.

THE Sorrel MARE, formerly used by the subscribers. Apply to

FAXON & BROTHERS.

Quincy, Dec. 31.

Special Notices.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

Programme for January.

A Lecture will be delivered on every TUESDAY EVENING, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Jan. 3d, by HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS, on the Moral Heroism of John Milton's Life.

Jan. 10th, by JAMES C. SHARP, Esq., on the Mechanical Properties of the Air, illustrated by experiments.

Jan. 17th, by GEORGE WHITE, Esq.

Jan. 24th, by REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER, Esq.

Jan. 31st, by REV. ROLLIN H. NEALE.

The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guaranty that their discourses will be interesting and instructive.

The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

* Respecting this gentleman, a slight doubt exists; but he is expected. Should he fail, his place will be duly supplied.

Quincy, Dec. 31st.

5w

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, next at 7 1-2 o'clock.

The choice of Officers will take place on that evening.

Persons wishing to join the Society can have an opportunity, and be allowed to vote for officers for the coming term.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

QUINCY CHARITABLE SOCIETY.

An adjourned meeting of the Directors of this Society, will be held at the house of the President, on THURSDAY EVENING next, at 6 o'clock.

E. LORD, Secretary.

Dec. 31.

1w

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified, that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Whitcomb Porter, on THURSDAY, Jan. 5th, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

Per order of the Secretary.

PREAMBLE.

Whereas, The illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors in this town, has been carried on, and is still increasing to an extent which renders it necessary that immediate and decisive action should be taken to arrest further progress of this alarming evil in our midst; and believing that measures may and ought to be taken to cut short the career of those engaged in the traffic, and thereby rescue many from intemperance and its accompanying evils.

Resolved—1st, That a Committee be chosen from this Division, whose duty it shall be to procure evidence against rum-sellers in this town, and prosecute said rum-sellers in every instance, when in their opinion a conviction can be obtained.

Resolved—2nd, That contributions be solicited both in and out of the Division, for the purpose of aiding the Committee in carrying out the above resolution.

Resolved—3d, That the W. P. and R. S. of this Division be instructed to draw from the treasury of the same, such sum or sums as the Committee may from time to time require, in the absence of funds from other sources.

Resolved—4th, That this Division would deem it a favor for all who are interested, to furnish any information they may be in possession of to the Division, that their efforts may be attended with that success which all good citizens would desire to see.

Resolved—5th, That the above Preamble and Resolutions be published in the Quincy Patriot, at least three successive weeks.

Per order, Wm. D. GUILD, W. P.

JAMES F. COLE, R. S.

Quincy, Dec. 24, 1853.

3w

HO! for SAVILS! Dry Goods cheaper than ever! Come! now is your time to buy.

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the Hancock House, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements.

Adam Curtis, Francis Williams, Josiah Brigham, G. F. Thayer, Noah Cummings, T. C. Webb, B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter, Lewis Bass, Albert Thompson, I. W. Munroe, Whitcomb Porter, H. N. Glover, Daniel P. Nye, John Glover, Jr.,

Floor Managers.

H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis, George Crane, B. C. C. White, J. B. Bass, C. C. Brackett, C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

Music—Buzell's full Band.

Tickets—$4, supper included. Dancing to commence at 7 o'clock.

2w

Quincy Canal Corporation.

THE Stockholders of the Quincy Canal are hereby notified, that their Annual Meeting will be held at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, the 10th day of January next, at 3 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers for the ensuing year; to see what provision the Corporation will make for paying off a mortgage held by William Torrey, Henry Wood and Lewis Bass, Adms., on the property of said Corporation; and for the transaction of such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

By order of the Directors,

JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Clerk.

Quincy, Dec. 31.

2w

Special Notices.

THE QUINCY LYCEUM.

A Lecture will be delivered on every TUESDAY EVENING, at 7 1/2 o'clock. Jan. 3d, by HON. CHARLES F. ADAMS, on the Moral Heroism of John Milton's Life. Jan. 10th, by JAMES C. SHARP, Esq., on the Mechanical Properties of the Air, illustrated by experiments. Jan. 17th, by GEORGE WHITE, Esq. Jan. 24th, by REV. HENRY WARD BEECHER, D.D. Jan. 31st, by REV. ROLLIN H. NEALE. The Subjects of the last three lectures not having been decided on, cannot be announced at the present time; but the character and talents of the lecturers afford a sufficient guarantee that their discourses will be interesting and instructive. The large attendance on the exercises of this association, the present season, is gratifying to the Directors, as furnishing the best evidence that could be given, that their efforts have not failed to secure the approbation of their fellow-citizens; and they cherish the hope that they shall secure equal favor to the end of the course.

JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

*Respecting this gentleman, a slight doubt exists, but he is expected. Should he fail, his place will be duly supplied.

Quincy, Dec. 31st. 5w

EXCELSIOR!

A meeting of the Adams' Literary Association will take place at their Hall, on MONDAY EVENING, next at 7 1/2 o'clock. The choice of Officers will take place on that evening.

Persons wishing to join the Society can have an opportunity, and be allowed to vote for officers for the coming term.

FRANKLIN CURTIS, President. JAMES WHITE, Secretary.

QUINCY CHARITABLE SOCIETY. An adjourned meeting of the Directors of this Society, will be held at the house of the President, on THURSDAY EVENING, next, at 6 o'clock. E. Lord, Secretary. Dec. 31. 1w

FRAGMENT SOCIETY. The members of this Society are notified, that their next meeting will be held at the house of Mrs. Whitcomb Porter, on THURSDAY, Jan. 5th, at 2 o'clock P. M., if the weather is pleasant, if not on the first fair day.

Per order of the Secretary.

AT a meeting of Quincy Stone Division, No. 73, Sons of Temperance, held December 12, 1853, the following Preamble and Resolutions were read and adopted.

Whereas, The illegal traffic in intoxicating liquors in this town, has been carried on, and is still increasing to an extent which renders it necessary that immediate and decisive action should be taken to arrest further progress of this alarming evil in our midst; and believing that measures may and ought to be taken to cut short the career of those engaged in the traffic, and thereby rescue many from intemperance and its accompanying evils.

Resolved—1st, That a Committee be chosen from this Division, whose duty it shall be to procure evidence against rum-sellers in this town, and prosecute said rum-sellers in every instance, when in their opinion a conviction can be obtained.

Resolved—2nd, That contributions be collected both in and out of the Division, for the purpose of aiding the Committee in carrying out the above resolution.

Resolved—3d, That the W. P. and R. S. of this Division be instructed to draw from the treasury of the same, such sum of money as the Committee may from time to time require, in the absence of funds from other sources.

Resolved—4th, That this Division would deem it a favor for all who are interested, to furnish any information they may be in possession of to the Division, that their efforts may be attended with that success which all good citizens would desire to see.

Resolved—5th, That the above Preamble and Resolutions be published in the Quincy Patriot, at least three successive weeks.

Per order, Wm. D. GUILD, W. P. JAMES F. COE, R. S. Quincy, Dec. 24, 1853. 3w

HO! for SAVILS! Dry Goods cheaper than ever! Come! now is your time to buy.

ELECTION BALL!

Will be given at the Hancock House, on WEDNESDAY Evening, January 4th, 1854.

Committee of Arrangements. Adam Curtis, Francis Williams, Josiah Brigham, C. F. Thayer, Noah Cummings, T. C. Webb, B. B. Newcomb, Daniel Baxter, Lewis Bass, Lewis Newcomb, I. W. Munroe, Albert Thompson, H. N. Glover, Whitcomb Porter, John Glover, Jr., Daniel P. Nye.

Floor Managers. H. A. Ransom, Franklin Curtis, George Crane, C. C. C. White, J. B. Bass, C. C. Brackett, C. A. Wood, T. H. Newcomb.

Musical—Buzzeff's full Band.

Tickets—$4, supper included. 2w

Quincy Canal Corporation.

THE Stockholders of the Quincy Canal are hereby notified, that their Annual Meeting will be held at the Hancock House, in Quincy, on TUESDAY, the 10th day of January next, at 10 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers for the ensuing year; to see what provision the Corporation will make for paying off a mortgage held by William Torrey, Henry Wood and Lewis Bass, on the property of said Corporation; and for the transaction of such other business as may legally come before the meeting.

By order of the Directors, JOSIAH BRIGHAM, Clerk. Quincy, Dec. 31. 2w

List of Letters.

Remain in the Post Office, at Quincy, December 31st, 1853.

Patrick Andrews, John Jones, Moses Averill, James Kearney, Sumner Allen, Michael Kelly, Ellen A. Burgess, Michael Kelly, Ann S. Bradbury, Hazen Ladd, Catherine Byrnes, B. Law, James Brennan, Bernard Lewis, James Byrne, Jack Lewis, John Bradbury, L. Lukas, John Bradford, Lucy M. Ladd, Henry F. Beckwith, Elizabeth Leahy, David M. Brown, Harriet E. Lawton, Evan Barry, Patrick Lane, Rev. J. M. Pittman, Ansell Bowditch, 2 Donald McKenzie, Roger Crenard, Cornelius Mayworth, William S. Cossit, Patrick Mullen, Thomas Conaford, Daniel Murphy, Capt. Wm. M. Chase, James Mahoney, Patrick Colerin, Edward Spellman, John B. Carr, Stewart McLachlan, I. R. Clark, John Comerford, H. B. Cross, Miss Connelly, Thomas Pray, Mrs. A. R. Curran, James Palmer, Thomas Cole, Edward Carley, James Carter, John Dolan, J. L. Dimmock, Jeremiah K. Daly, John R. Dwyer, Joseph W. Davis, Dennis Denahy, Sarah Donahoe, John Donely, Eliza Dempsey, Elizabeth Farrell, Charles Frain, J. Park, Peter Fallon, Geo. Wm. Hare, Samuel Hunt, Samuel Halloran, Joseph P. Haynes, James Herrick, Lewis Harriman, Thomas Herbert, William H. Jones.

DANIEL FRENCH, Postmaster. Quincy, Dec. 31. 4w

Notice.

ALL persons indebted to the firm of FAXON & BROTHERS or J. & H. H. FAXON, either by Note or Account, are requested to make immediate payment of the same, at said Notes and Accounts will be left with an Attorney for collection. FAXON & BROTHERS. Quincy, Dec. 31. 3w

Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Norfolk ss. Probate Office, Dec. 24, A. D. 1853.

In instrument purporting to be the last Will of LEVI HAYDEN, late of Braintree, in said County, yeoman, deceased, having been presented for Probate by MINOTT THAYER, one of the Executors therein named—

Ordered—That the said Thayer notify all persons interested therein, that they may appear and be heard concerning the same, at a Court of Probate to be holden at Roxbury, in said County, on the fourteenth day of January, A. D. 1854, by publishing this Order three weeks successively in the newspaper called the Quincy Patriot, printed at Quincy.

W. S. LELAND, Judge of Probate. Dec. 31. 3w

Houses for Sale.

TWO HOUSES, with about one half acre of Land, situated on Canal Street. Apply to J. & H. H. FAXON. Quincy, Dec. 31. 1w

Dissolution of Partnership.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing between the subscribers is this day (Dec. 27th, 1853) dissolved by mutual consent. All persons having demands against us will please present the same immediately, and all persons indebted are invited to settle the same with the senior partner at the old stand.

WYMAN ABERCROMBIE, HORACE ABERCROMBIE. Quincy, Dec. 31. 3w

Wagons and a Pung.

COVERED and 1 OPEN Wagon. Also—1 Pung. For sale cheap by FAXON & BROTHERS. Quincy, Dec. 31. 1w

House Lot for Sale.

A LOT of Land, on Faxon's Plain, (so called.) Apply to J. & H. H. FAXON. Quincy, Dec. 31. 1w

Notice.

THE subscribers to the Stock of the Quincy Loan Fund Association are hereby notified that by the articles of the Association the entrance fees and first monthly dues are payable previous to the FIRST WEDNESDAY in January next, at the office of the Secretary.

LOUIS CONGDON, Secretary. Office at the Mount Wollaston Bank. Quincy, Dec. 24. 2w

Now is the time

FOR all who wish for something for a Splendid Present, to call on the QUINCY BOOKSTORE and get one of those beautiful FAMILY BIBLES. A new and elegant lot has just been received, which will be exhibited with pleasure, to all who are desirous of purchasing. There never was such a chance in Quincy before. Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

Christmas & New Year.

PRESENTS, just received at the Jeweller's Shop, one door south of the Quincy Bookstore. B. F. MESERVEY. Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

PRESENTS

FOR Christmas and New Year.

Books and Fancy Goods, AT THE QUINCY BOOKSTORE.

THE most Attractive Variety ever offered in QUINCY. It will be useless to attempt an enumeration of the beautiful Books and Fancy Articles now for sale at this Store.

FOR SURPASSING

any variety ever offered to this community. All who have ever visited this place for Splendid PRESENTS, should not fail to call on this person, and all who have not, are invited to do so, and they will find such.

AN ASSORTMENT

to select from that they will readily be able to supply themselves with the most elegant and appropriate Books or Fancy Goods for Gifts for their friends. LEMUEL BRACKETT, Clerk. Quincy, Dec. 17. 4w

CALEB PACKARD.

DEALER in SILKS, SHAWLS, FURS, Dress and Domestic Goods of every description.

Also—White Goods, Laces, Dress and Cloak Trimmings, Gimps Braids and Embroideries, a large lot of Hosiery, and a great variety of fancy articles. GENTS and BOYS

Ready Made Clothing,

AND FURNISHING GOODS: BOOTS, SHOES, TRUNKS, VALISES, CARPET BAGS, UMBRELLAS, HATS, CAPS, &c., &c.

FURNITURE,

of every description constantly on hand, or furnished at the shortest notice.

Also—MATTRESSES and FEATHERS of every quality. I would ask the particular attention of the public to this branch of my business.

MILLINERY GOODS!

Customers wishing Goods of this class, will find always a carefully selected Stock, of the latest and best styles. BONNETS, made and trimmed.

CARPETINGS,

of every style and quality; Crockery, China, Glass and Britannia Ware, Solar Lamps and Shades, and a general assortment of House-keeping Goods. I would respectfully invite the attention of my friends and customers, to my present varied Stock, to which I am constantly making addition, and solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in my line. Quincy, Dec. 3d. 1w

Stone Cutters & Quarrymen

Wharf to be Let in Boston,

WELL adapted to the Stone business in all its branches, in a part of the City where there is much building, and a Stone Yard is much wanted. The Brick, Lime and Sand business could be done on the same wharf. It has more than 300 feet of cap, and contains about 40,000 square feet of land filled in solid. A part of the whole will be let.

Apply to JAMES B. DOW, 91 Tremont street, nearly opposite the Tremont House. Boston, Dec. 24. 3w

Quincy Hall Clothing Depot,

ON THE Braintree and Weymouth Turnpike.

THE Subscriber would respectfully inform the inhabitants of Quincy and vicinity, that he has taken the Store formerly occupied by JOHN DINEGAR, where he intends to keep constantly on hand a good assortment of Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Black and Fancy Doe Skins, Kerseys, Peter-sham, Pilot Cloth, &c.,

together with a large and splendid assortment of imported Vestings, which he will make to order for the very lowest price for cash. Also—a large and splendid lot of which he will sell at the lowest Boston standard prices.

Ready Made Clothing,

Always on hand a large assortment of Gents Furnishing Goods.

Having the means of manufacturing garments in the best manner, extant, he would ask the patronage of the public, with full confidence that he can suit the former customers of Mr. Dinegar, and all others who may deem it expedient to give him a trial.

The one price system will be strictly adhered to. JAMES O'BRIEN. Quincy, Nov. 12. 1w

Readers and Buyers!

Attention Solicited.

A assortment of FALL and WINTER A-PIECE GOODS, and READY CLOTHING, is now complete at

Russell & Co's Store,

TOWN HALL, QUINCY,

where they have every article to complete MEN'S or BOYS' Wardrobe; cut and made in as good style, and will be sold at a little less in price than any Store in NORFOLK COUNTY. Quincy, Oct. 22. 1w

The Quincy Drug Store.

GEORGE W. WHITING having finished his thanks to his friends and former customers, for their liberal patronage, and hopes by strict attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same. Strict PERSONAL attention paid to the dispensing of Family Medicines, and Physician's Prescriptions.

Most of the popular Patent Medicines of the day, on hand and for sale.

Proprietor and manufacturer of Whiting's Blood Purifier, Whitings' Cosmetic Cream, for eradicating all Humors, Eruptions on the face, and Whitings' Pile Ointment.

Sole agent for Dr. Soule's Oriental Sore-throat and Pile, and Dr. Baker's Remedy for Piles; and agent for Atwood's Extract Sardinia and Rheumatic Liment, Severy's Wound Stone Wash, &c. Swedish Leeches constantly on hand and delivered if desired. Confectionery and Fruit for sale as usual. Quincy, Sept. 10. 1w

New Grocery, and

PROVISION STORE!

THE Store lately occupied by J. & H. H. FAXON, has been leased by the subscriber, and will be occupied for the sale of W. I. Goods, Groceries, Provisions, Stone and Earthen Ware.

He hopes, by offering to the public a varied and carefully selected stock, at the lowest prices, to secure favor and patronage. He would respectfully solicit a call from all desiring Goods of any kind in his line. OZEN JOSSELYN. Quincy, Nov. 12. 1w

Tooth Ache!

TELL every person you meet, who is afflicted with the Tooth Ache, that he may find an article at Dr. MARDEN'S which will effect an instantaneous and permanent cure without the cold steel or the least danger of injury from the application of the remedy. Quincy, Dec. 24. 1w

Bingham and Quincy

Bridge & Turnpike Corporation.

THE Proprietors of this Corporation are hereby notified, that their next meeting will be held at the Union House, in Hingham, on MONDAY, the 21 day of January next, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Officers, and for the transaction of all such other business as may then legally come before them.

By order of the Directors, LEMUEL BRACKETT, Clerk. Quincy, Dec. 17. 3w

Botanic Medicine Depot,

Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

DR. MARDEN having taken the stand formerly kept by Dr. Goodnow, and having made considerable additions to his former stock of

Medicine, Perfumery, Fancy

Articles, &c., &c., &c.

he now offers to the public on the most reasonable terms. He is happy to say, that his stock of Medicine comprises most, if not all, the articles used in the Reformed Practice of Medicine, carefully selected and of the first quality; and having secured the services of a person of long experience in the business, he is confident every reasonable expectation will be gratified. Quincy, Nov. 26. 1w

Dr. Wm. M. Cornell,

No 630 Washington Street, Boston.

IN addition to general practice, has for several years given special attention to Diseases of the Skin, Lungs, Epilepsy, and all Affections of the Nervous System. At home to wait upon patients from 12 M. to 3 P. M., and from 5 to 7 P. M. ELECTRICITY is medicinally applied in all cases where it is indicated. Boston, Nov. 26. 1w

New Book

Periodical Depot.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their many friends and the public, that they have leased and sold Store No. 7 State Street, (Old Building) in Boston, for the purpose of carrying on the PERIODICAL and NEWSPAPER BUSINESS, in all of its various branches.

The prospect to furnish ALL Books at the shortest possible notice.

ALL NEW PUBLICATIONS received as soon as published and sold at the lowest prices. HOOPER & UNDERWOOD. JAMES C. HOOPER, E. UNDERWOOD, JR. Quincy, Nov. 26. 1w

Citizens of Quincy,

ATTENTION!

JUST received, and for sale, at the Store of the subscriber, a prime lot of Boots of extra quality, and manufacture, suitable for winter wear. All those who appreciate a good article can be supplied by calling.

Also—one case Women's extra Para Rubbers. GEO. B. NIGHTINGALE. N. B. On Tuesday evenings my store will be closed at 7 1/2 o'clock, to attend meetings of Lyceum. Quincy, Nov. 19. 1w

SAVIL & Co.

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING

FURNITURE!

TO THE CITIZENS OF QUINCY AND VICINITY.

THE undersigned having completed their arrangements, are now prepared to show one of the most extensive stocks of

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, CLOTHING

FURNISHING GOODS.

Furniture, Carpeting, Mattresses, &c., TO BE FOUND IN NORFOLK COUNTY.

At all times can be found a full and complete assortment of the different

STYLES AND QUALITIES,

all of which will be sold at the lowest prices, and warranted in every respect equal to competition. GEORGE SAVIL & Co. Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets.

Goods delivered to any part of the town or vicinity free from expense. Quincy, September 3. 1w

New England Protective Union,

DIVISION, No. 180,

AT the Store recently occupied by Mr. Frederick Hardwick, on Franklin street, may be found a good assortment of

GROCERIES, CROCKERY AND

GLASS WARE!

Together with a supply of

Boot Maker's Findings.

—ALSO—BEEF, PORK, SAUSAGES, TRIPE, LARD, MACKEREL, PICKLES, POTATOES, &c., &c.

All of which will be kept constantly on hand, and will be sold at a small advance from cost, for cash.

The public are invited to call and examine our Goods, and become acquainted with our mode of trade.

N. B. The spacious Hall over the store will be let on favorable terms.

Goods delivered to any part of the town free of charge. Quincy, April 2, 1853. 1w

Personal.

IF you wish a good style of DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish a good style of PRINTS and DELAINES, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for a LYONESE or CASHMERE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for MOURNING DRESS GOODS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GALA PLAIDS or SPOTTED FLANNEL, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for LONG or SQUARE SHAWLS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for FLANNELS or DOMESTICS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for CRIB or BED BLANKETS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DIAPERS, TABLE COVERS or LINEN, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for GLOVES, SCARFS or HOSE, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for DRESS BUTTONS or TRIMMINGS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish for HOODS, RIGOLETS or WORSTED WORK, Call at G. Savil & Co.

If you wish for Children's Fancy BATS or CAPS, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the LARGEST and BEST assortment of DRY GOODS in Quincy, Call at Geo. Savil & Co.

If you wish to find the best assortment of FURNITURE ever offered in Quincy, Call at GEO. SAVIL & Co.

Goodnow's Building, Corner of Hancock and Granite Streets. Quincy, Oct. 29. 1w

THE BOSTON ALMANAC for 1854. For sale at the QUINCY BOOKSTORE. Quincy, Dec. 24. 3w

ENLARGEMENT

TREMONT ROW

SILK & SHAWL STORE.

NEW STOCK.

AND INCREASED FACILITIES.

To meet the pressing wants of our daily increasing trade in

SHAWLS, SILKS,

CLOAK & DRESS GOODS,

LACES & EMBROIDERIES,

Domestic & Housekeeping Goods.

OF EVERY KIND!

F. A. JONES & CO.,

1, 2 & 3 Tremont Row,

GIVE NOTICE TO THE

LADIES OF NEW ENGLAND

that they have improved the interval between the Spring and Fall Trade to add

New Territory, new Departments, and Every Requisite Feature

to constitute their Establishment the

LARGEST AND BEST

RETAIL DRY GOODS STORE

IN THE CITY OF BOSTON!

Ladies will bear in mind that

Unlike other large Dry Goods

Houses in Boston,

We have no Wholesale Trade to cut the Best and Richest Goods from our stock, but every thing of merit is reserved

FOR OUR RETAIL FRIENDS

Who have SO LONG and SO GENEROUSLY honored us with their patronage.

Mr. Jones, finding it incumbent on him to reside chiefly in New York to attend to the interests of the House there, has secured the services of a Gentleman long and favorably known to the Dry Goods Trade of Boston, whose business it will be to make PURCHASERS COMFORTABLE and AT HOME while in the store, and SATISFIED WITH THEIR PURCHASES EVER AFTER.

F. A. JONES & Co.

are now receiving by the Packets and Steamers every kind of

Shawls, Silks, Thibets and Cashmeres,

FANCY AND STAPLE

Dress and Cloak Goods

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

PARIS CLOATHS

and all similar articles in great profusion,

Laces and Embroideries,

GLOVES, HOSIERY, &

Poetry.

Good Temper

There's not a cheaper thing on earth,
Nor yet one so full of cheer,
Nor worth more than distinguished birth,
Or thousands gained a year.
It lends the day a new delight,
'Tis virtue's firmest shield;
And adds more beauty to the night,
Than all the stars may yield.
It maketh poverty content;
To sorrow whispers peace;
It is a gift from heaven sent,
For mortals to increase.
It makes you with a smile at morn;
That jennet the lily's breast;
A flower for peer and peasant born,
An everlasting rose.
A charm to banish grief away,
To smother the brow from care;
Turns tears to smiles, makes dulness gay—
Spreads gladness everywhere.
And yet 'tis cheap as summer dew,
That jennet the lily's breast;
A salesman for love, as true,
As ever man possessed.

As smiles the rainbow through the cloud
When threatening storm begins—
As music 'mid the tempest loud,
That still its sweet way wins—
As springs an arch across the tide,
Where waves are conflicting foam,
So comes this seraph to our side,
This angel to our home.
What may this wondrous spirit be,
With power unheard before—
This charm, this bright divinity,
Good temper—this the choice gift.
Good temper—'tis the choicest gift,
That woman homeward brings,
And can the poorest peasant lift
To bliss unknown to kings.

Drop not upon your way,
Ho ye who start a noble scheme,
For general good designed—Ye workers in a cause that tends To benefit your kind—
Mark out the path you aim would tread,
The game you mean to play,
And if it be an honest one,
Keep steadfast on your way.

Although you may not gain at once
The points you most desire,
Be patient—time can wonders work—
Plead on, and do not tire;
Obstructions, too, may crowd your path,
In threatening train array;
Yet flinch not! fear not! they may prove Mere shadows in your way.
Then while there's work for you to do, Stand not despairing by—
Let "Forward" be the motto you make,
Let "Onward" be your cry;
And when success has crowned your plans,
'Twill all your pains repay;
To see the good your labor's done,
Then drop not on your way!

Anecdotes.

'Look here,' said a tipsy individual who was 'lame' by a lamp post; 'Look here! didn't you know that you'd no right to go by me in that way?'

'Why not, my friend?' asked the person addressed, who recognized in the 'light' an old acquaintance.

'Because—hic—hic—its ag'in the law?'

'Why, you used to know Bill Nelson, when he was—'

'—a highly different individual to what he now is—there's a big law ag'in passing an altered Bill.'

'What are you doing there, Jane?'

'Why, pa, I'm going to dye my doll's pinafore red.'

'But what have you to dye it with?'

'Beer pa.'

'Who on earth told you that beer would dye red?'

'Why, ma said that it was beer that made your nose, so red, and I thought—'

'Here, Susan, take this child to bed.'

'Henry, love, I wish you would throw away that book, and talk with me—I feel so dull. [A long silence and no reply.]

'O, Henry my foot is asleep!'

'Is it well, don't talk, dear, you might wake it up.'

An Irish peasant seeing a partridge that was shot fall from a considerable height, picked it up and running with it to sport men who had killed it, cried out, 'Arrah, your honor, you need not have shot, the fall would have killed him.'

A country youth who had returned home from a visit to the City, was asked by his anxious dad if he had been guarded in his conduct while there. 'Oh yes,' replied the ingenious lad, 'I was guarded by two constables most of the time.'

'Pie or pudding, sir?' shouted a waiter to one of the innumerable guests at a hotel during the spring season.

'What kind of pie have you?'

'Rhubarb,' said the waiter, as he started for a plate.

'Hold on,' said the stranger, as he rose from the table; 'never mind it. I always take my medicine in the morning.'

Harne Tooke, during his contest for Westminster, was thus addressed by a partizan of his opponent, of not very reputable character—

'Well, Mr. Tooke, you will have all the black-guards with you to-day.'

'I am delighted to hear it, sir, and from such good authority.'

Whiton, Hersey & Co.,

HAVE FOR SALE
On GRANITE WHARF, Quincy Point,
Red Ash, Egg, Stove and Nut Coal.
—ALSO—
HARD AND SOFT WOOD.

Quincy, June 11. 1y
George B. Nightingale,
AGENT FOR
Weymouth and Braintree
Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

All business pertaining to that Institution will be promptly attended to.
Quincy, Oct. 8. S.
Dr. RUGGEE.
Having resumed Practice, offers his Professional services to the people of
QUINCY, AND ITS VICINITY.
Office and Residence as formerly,
AT CAPT. L. G. HORTON'S,
HANCOCK STREET,
Quincy, June 4. 1y

KIRK & TRAVIS,
Dealers in Teas and Coffees
OF THE PUREST QUALITY.
Also, West India Goods, and pure old Wines
and Liquors imported, and suitable for invalids and sickners.
Also, London Porter and Scotch Ale, and Havana Cigars.
H. B. KIRK,
W. M. TRAVIS.
No. 106 Kneeland Street,
Boston, April 16, 1853. 1y

ALL KINDS OF Job Printing,
SUCH AS
POSTERS, BILLS, OF ALL KINDS,
BILL-HEADS, BLANKS, CARDS,
AND EVERY VARIETY OF BOOK, PLAIN, AND FANCY
PRINTING,
Neatly Executed at the Quincy Patriot Office,
WITH CHEAPNESS AND DESPATCH.

H. FARNAM SMITH.
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
NO. 20 COURT STREET,
BOSTON.

JAMES W. RIDEOUT.
—DEALER IN—
West India Goods and Groceries,
OYSTERS & CLAM-CROWDERS,
IN THE STORE, FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY
CHARLES C. BRACKETT, Corner of
FRANKLIN and SCHOOL
STREETS, QUINCY.

NATHANIEL WHITE,
—HAS FOR SALE—
LUMBER,
Nails, Lime, Brick & Sand
—ALSO—
Coal, Hard and Soft Wood,
QUINCY CANAL WHARF.
July 10, 1852. 1y

GEO. SAVIL & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Ready Made Clothing of
EVERY DESCRIPTION,
Cor. of HANCOCK and GRANITE STS., Quincy
A complete assortment always on hand.—
N.B. Particular attention devoted to Custom Work.

COAL! COAL!!
THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW RECEIVING
A LARGE SUPPLY OF
Red Ash, Egg, Stove & Nut Coal.
For sale at Brackett's Wharf, Quincy.
JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.
Quincy, July 9, 1853. 1y

D. D. RING,
MERCHANT TAILOR,
LIBERTY HALL,
Over C. & L. Curtis'
GROCERY STORE,
Corner of Franklin and Liberty streets,
QUINCY, June 4. 1y

ISRAEL W. MUNROE,
—DEALER IN—
Dry Goods, Crockery, Glass and
Hardware,
together with a full assortment of choice
W. I. GOODS & GROCERIES,
all of which will be sold at the very lowest prices
and delivered at any part of the Town free of expense.
Quincy, Jan. 22, 1853. 1y

B. F. MESERVEY,
Watchmaker and Jeweller,
DEALER IN
Watches Clocks and Jewelry.
HANCOCK STREET.
Quincy, April 24. 1y

FISHER A. KINGSBURY,
Counsellor at Law,
Commissioner for the States of
MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE, VER-
MONT, CONNECTICUT, RHODE ISLAND AND NEW YORK.
Weymouth, Mass.
Nov. 26. 1y

JOSEPH G. BRACKETT.

—DEALER IN—
LUMBER;
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
Lime, Sand, Bricks and Hair.
Dimension Frames furnished at short Notice.
Purchasers will find it for their interest to call and examine, before purchasing, where as they will find a full assortment at the lowest prices.
Quincy, June 12, 1852. 1y

Auction Notice.
THE Subscribers would respectfully inform the public, that he is ready to attend to the sale
of Real Estate, Wood, Furniture, Merchandise, etc. N. B. Orders solicited, and may be left at the Store of Paxson & Brothers, which will be promptly attended to.
H. H. FAXON.
Quincy, July 23. 1y

"MAN, KNOW THYSELF."
An Invaluable Book for 25 CENTS.
EVERY FAMILY SHOULD HAVE A COPY.
20,000
Copies sold in less than five months. A
new edition, revised and
improved, just issued.
Dr. HUNTER'S Medical
Manual and Hand
Book for the Afflicted—
Containing an outline of the progress, treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self
abuse or by sexual excess, with advice for their prevention, written in a familiar style avoiding all medical technicalities, and every detail that would render the cure of disease, from the result of some twenty years' successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private
nature.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in Penn. College, Philadelphia, to Dr. HUNTER'S
Medical Manual. "The author of this work unlike the majority of those who write to cure the diseases of which it treats, is a graduate
of one of the best Colleges in the United States.
It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the
unfortunate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose
honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence."
JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. WOODWARD, M. D. of Penn. University, Philadelphia. "It gives me pleasure to
add my testimony to the professional ability of the author of the 'Medical Manual.' Numerous cases
of Diseases of the Genital Organs, some of them
of long standing have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient
had been considered beyond medical aid. In the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrange-
ment of the functions produced by SELF-ABUSE or EXcess of venery, I do not know of his superior in
the profession. I have been acquainted with the author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one, in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide."
ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Fever and Ague.
"This is, without exception, the most comprehensive and intelligible work published on the class
of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter,
and no parent, however fastidious, can object to
placing it in the hands of his sons. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the perfectly honest, and with 'two little presumptions to puff,' and 'two little presumptions to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice."—HERALD.

No teacher or parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this valuable work. It is the best and most complete treatise on the subject of the youth under their charge.—PEOPLE'S AD-VOCATE.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing
of 'Hunter's Medical Manual,' says: "Thousands
upon thousands of our youth, by evil example
and influence of the passions, have been led into
the habit of self-pollution without realizing the
sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The constitutions of thousands who are raising families have been enfeebled, if
not broken down, and they do not know the cure.
By doing that which I have done so to enlighten the public mind to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread source of human wretch-
edness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance (or the use of intoxicating liquors) has done more to ruin
upon thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker in the
good work you are so actively engaged in."
One copy, (securely enveloped) will be forwarded
free of postage to any part of the United States for 25 cents, or 6 copies for $1. Address
(post paid) COSDEN & CO., Publishers, Box
196, Philadelphia.

Dr. Hoofland's
Celebrated German Bitters,
WILL effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaun-
dice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous De-
bility, and all diseases arising from a weak or dis-
ordered Stomach, such as Female Weakness, Piles, Deficiency of Perspiration, &c. They soon remove
all acidity, and give tone and action to the Stomach, resist digestion. Persons of sedentary habits should occasionally use them; they will prevent much pain and sickness. Sold only by
GEO. W. WHITING, at Quincy Drug Store.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Matresses.
CURLER HAIR, Palm Leaf and Husk Mattresses, of the best quality, just received and
for sale by
I. W. MUNROE.
Quincy, May 21. 1y

Brown's
ALMANAC, Pocket Memoranda and Account Books for 1854. For sale at the
QUINCY BOOKSTORE.
Quincy, Nov. 19. 1y

Let the Afflicted Rejoice!
There is yet hope for them!!
DR. BAKER'S Renovating Root Pills have never failed in giving relief in one single instance, where they have been taken in time, and
according to directions.
If you are afflicted with Dysentery, Dyspepsia,
Cholera Morbus, or a disordered stomach, here is a remedy known within your reach. In many cases of Rheumatism have been effectively cured by these
celebrated Pills. For a description of each disease, the causes and manner of cure, please call and get the Manual of Health, which is sold Agent for Quincy.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

THE QUINCY MUTUAL FIRE INsurance Company, Insure Real Estate and Personal Property against Fire, at as low a premium as any other good and reliable office. Its premiums have been arranged with care and are as low as is consistent with the security of the Insured; the patronage of the public is solicited, and from its convenient location, a liberal and interesting support is anticipated.
Directors.—William S. Morton, Israel W.
Munroe, Gordon F. Thayer, Thomas C. Webb,
Whitcomb Porter, Stephen Bates, William B. Dug-
an, Thomas Curtis, Quincy; A. Richardson, Roxbury; Abner Turner, Scituate; George Mar-
ton of Barnstable; Royal W. Turner, Randolph;
H. W. Blanchard, Dorchester; Benjamin King,
Arlington; Sumner A. Haywood, North Bridgewater;
Alfred Loring, Hingham; Apollus Randall,
South Braintree; George Thompson, Milton.

REFERENCES, BY PERMISSION.
Hon. George T. Bigelow, of Boston,
Hon. Josiah Quincy, Jr.,
Hon. Charles Francis Adams, of Quincy,
Hon. Amasa Walker, of North Brookfield,
Hon. Thomas Greenleaf, of Quincy, Josiah Brigham, Esq., Quincy,
Hon. James Maguire, Randolph,
Office on Hancock Street, Quincy, near the Stone
Temple.
William S. Morton, President.
STEPHEN BATES, Sec'y.
35d.

Davies' Liquid Hair Dye.
(IMPROVEMENT OF 1851.)
PRICE 75 CENTS PER BOX.
THE best, cheapest, and most desirable article ever invented. Manufactured for, and for sale by
GWINN & REEVES,
12 Congress street.
The celebrity of this article has so quickly obtained in local persons, without authority to prepare and offer for sale, a spurious article, representing it to be Davies'.
Liquor Hair Dye, to avoid which see that the signature
of the inventor is on the outside label, thus

For the Complexion,
TOMPKINS' Orange Flower Lotion, Pon-
taine's Balm of a Thousand Flowers, Milk of Rose, Amaline for Tan Subscribers, &c. For sale by
Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, May 7. 1y

Salt Pork and Bacon.
FOR sale by the barrel or at retail, a first rate
article of Salt Pork and Bacon, very cheap
for cash by
DANIEL BAXTER & Co.

Francis Marden
WOULD inform the public that he has recently fitted up the shop lately occupied by Mr.
SAMUEL COFFMAN, and is ready to furnish all
with Meats of the very best quality.
Quincy, April 2. 1y

Salt Pork,
FOR sale by D. BAXTER & Co., a first rate
article, wholesale or retail.
Quincy, Oct. 8. 1y

RADWAY'S
READY REMEDIES!
TO THE PUBLIC.
RADWAY & Co., the Inventors, Manufacturers
and Proprietors of the justly celebrated R. R. Remedies, were the first to discover a Remedy possessing the marvelous and miraculous power of stopping the most Excruciating Pains in an instant,
allaying the worst Cramps and Spasms either internal or external in a few minutes, and soothing
the most severe Paroxysms of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Tic Dolorous, as soon as applied. The
R. R. R. Remedies consist of three Remedies,
each possessing quick and wonderful powers over
certain complaints and diseases, and will instantly
RELIEVE The Human System from Pain
REGULATE Each Organ to a Healthy Action.
RESOLVE Away all Diseased Deposits.
RENOVATE The body from all Corrupt Humors
REBUILD The Weak and Broken Down Con-
stitutions.
RESTORE To Health, Strength and Vigor all
unsound and worn out parts.

R. R. R.—No. 1.
RADWAY'S READY RELIEF.
For all Acute Complaints,
INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL.
The moment it is applied externally or taken
into the system, it will stop the most excruciat-
ing pain and quickly remove its cause.

Mr. Granger, a man well known in Brook-
line, was a cripple for nine years, Radway's
Ready Relief, Relieved him from Pain in fifteen
minutes, enabled him to walk two miles without
the aid of stick or crutch in three days, and cured
him entirely in one week.
Thousands of other cases equally as wonderful
as the above, have been cured by R. R. Relief.
CHOLERA MORBUS.
Radway's Ready Relief will relieve the suffering from all pain in fifteen or twenty minutes.
It will cure the most desperate cases in a few hours.

NEURALGIA.
The moment R. R. Relief is applied it allays
the most painful Paroxysms. It will always cure.
SICK HEADACHE.
It will relieve the most distressing pains in five minutes. It will likewise prevent renewed attacks.

AGUE.
In ten minutes a tea spoonful of R. R. Relief
will stop the Chills and break the Fever.
Aches of all kinds, Pains of all kinds, Bruises,
Bumps, Scalds, Strains, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lame-
ness. On application of Radway's Ready Relief
will in a few moments entirely stop the pain.
It reduces swellings, heals sores, cuts and
wounds, removes bruises, allays the most violent
irritations. For all pains use R. R. Relief. Look for the signature of Radway & Co. on each bottle.

R. R. R.—No. 2.
RADWAY'S RENOVATING RESOLVENT.
Resolves, Renovates, Rebuilds.
IT CURES
Scrophula Tumors Bleeding of the Lungs
Syphilis Consumption St. Vitus Dance
Sore Rickets Salt Rheum
Asthma Nodes Canker
Fever Sores Rash
Ulcers Erysipelas Tetters

the above eighteen complaints R. R. Resolvent
will positively cure.
It renovates the system completely, Resolving
away from the Solids all impure Poisons and Diseased Deposits, freeing the Blood and Fluids
of Life, from all corrupt humors, restoring Energy and Vigor, Health and Strength, to every Organ and Member of the body.

LETTERS FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.
Hon. J. J. MIDDLETON, of Waccamaw, S. C.
Writes us under date of May 2d, 1853. That Radway's Renovating Resolvent cured one of his nephews, on his Plantation at Beaufort, of a Scrofulous complaint, of many years standing. The poor fellow was a distinguished object of pity, he was a moving mass of sores. The other nephews
could not remain in the same place with him.
None of the Doctors could do anything for him.
He was entirely cured by Radway's Renovating
Resolvent, and is now at work upon the plantation. To the people of S. C. Mr. Middleton is well known, and to the political world, Mr. Middleton is no stranger.

SCROFULA.
Mr. W. B. OLIVER, of Drayton, Dooley &
Co. Ga., under date of May 30, 1853. Writes,
"that a servant girl who was so reduced that no one would give a third for her life," she was covered with sores, that there was not a spot of pure flesh the size of a silver dollar on her
whole body, was entirely cured by Radway's
Renovating Resolvent.

NINETEEN YEARS.
Mrs. HENDERSON, of Westford, Mass., has been covered with sores for nineteen years, has been cured by R. R. Resolvent.

SALT RHEUM.
The most obstinate cases of Salt Rheum will
quickly yield to the RENOVATING RESOL-
VENT. One gentleman who supposed that his complaint was hereditary in his family, and had been afflicted with Salt Rheum since his birth,
was cured by the use of a few bottles of the Renovating Resolvent, and the

POISONOUS RHEUM ENTIRELY ERADICAT-ED FROM HIS SYSTEM.

IT REGENERATES
Every organ and member of the body; it makes
sound, healthy and strong, all weak, diseased
and unsound parts.

WEAKNESS.
In Male or Female is quickly cured, and the debilitated and emaciated made strong, vigorous
and healthy. Impotence and Nocturnal Emissions in men, or diseases or either one or more of the generative organs, is quickly removed, and the body restored to a healthy and sound condition.

LOW SPIRITS—NERVOUSNESS.
In WOMEN, the numerous complaints and
ailments which cast such a gloom over their spirits, a few doses of the Renovating Resolvent will quickly remove, and the most NERVOUS,
GLOOMY and DEPRESSED, feel BRIGHT,
STRONG and HAPPY.

Persons wishing this Remedy will please ask for Radway's Renovating Resolvent. Its price is one Dollar per bottle. No small bottles, for it is the genuine ever sold for less. Each bottle bears the fac simile signature of
RADWAY & CO.,
162 Fulton street, New York.

R. R. R.—No. 3.
RADWAY'S REGULATORS,
REGULATE TO A HEALTHY ACTION,
All the Organs and Secretions of the Body.

Restores to Health and Strength,
THE DISEASED AND WORN OUT PARTS.
COMPLAINTS THAT RADWAY'S REGULATORS
ENTIRELY CURE.

Congestion Liver Complaint Indigestion Heart
Dyspepsia Kidney
Dropsy Uterine
DIFFICULTY OF PASSING URINE.
Dizziness Inflammation of the Stomach
Stupor Biliousness
MELANCHOLY
Small Pox Measles
Scarlet Fever Yellow Fever
Scirrhous Pneumonia Typhoid Fever
AND FEVERS OF ALL KINDS.
Influenza Pleurisy Common Colds

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.
Irregularity Profuse Uteri-
Hysteria Womb Difficulties
Whites Amenorrhoea
LOSS OF APPETITE.
Loss of Energy
Loss of Memory
Loss of Strength

R. R. REGULATORS
ARE ENTIRELY VEGETABLE,
Perfectly Tasteless,
Good at all times,
Never Sicken,
Never Gripes.

DOSES.
FOUR TO SIX—PURGES.
One Regulator at Night, on going to bed, will ensure sound sleep, a Good Night's Rest, and a Healthy and Pleasant Discharge from the Bowels
in the morning.

Radway's Regulators, Ready Relief, Renovating Resolvent, are sold by Druggists everywhere.

N. B. Persons troubled with Melancholy Depression of Spirit, and every body who feels themselves ill-used by the world without any just cause on their parts, should take a few doses of R. R.
Regulators. More unhappiness is caused with us from the want of a healthy and regular action of our organs, than from any external cause. We promise all who take Radway's Regulators, a regular action of the organs, and a cheerful and happy
disposition.

RADWAY & CO.,
Fulton Street, N. Y.
AGENTS,
BURR & PERRY, 1 Cornhill, Boston.
MRS. E. HAYDEN, Quincy.
Aug. 13, 1853.

MRS. E. HAYDEN returns thanks to her friends and the public, for their long-continued patronage, and offers an enlarged stock of selected Family Medicines, of superior quality.
Also—various articles for Invalids, Pearl and prepared Bacon, Fatigues, Gravel, Rheumatism, Sprains, Stiff joints, Lameness, Corns, Scalds, Burns, &c.
Jellies, Raspberry and Lem-
on Syrup, Guava Paste, &c.
Shoulder Braces and Supporters of various kinds, Gum
Elastic Breast Pumps, Glass
Types and Stationery, Patent Nursing Shields, Tapes, and Bottles, spread Plasters, Glass
and Metal Syringes, Bed-pans, Horse-hair Mittens,
Fresh European Leeches always on hand.
Physicians' prescriptions put up with care and
attention.
She is also receiving the new and popular medicines of the day, as they appear in trade, and other States. Washington, rear of Stone Temple, Quincy, Nov. 1. 45d

Dr. J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
ANALYTICAL PHYSICIAN,
271 TREMONT ST. (opposite Hollis), BOSTON.
OFFICE for the Treatment of Diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Spleen, and
all other organs of the Human System, together with the various symptoms which to a greater or less extent characterize these diseases, as dyspepsia, neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, palpitations, sinking faintness, flatulency, cold extensities, dizziness, &c. in the sides, back, neck, shoulders, the various difficulties peculiar to females, dropsy, difficulty of breathing, debility, &c.
Also that impure condition of blood which not only
generates these complaints but which is the source of the various humors and eruptions which so frequently lay the foundation of the most distressing and fatal maladies.

The Remedies employed by us for these complaints bear no relation to those ordinarily used;
they are non-poisonous, vegetable, and non-irritating, and have fully established their reputation which all who wish can be convinced of. Invalids are invited to call. No charge for consultation.
J. CLAWSON KELLEY,
Analytical Physician, 271 Tremont St., Boston, May 6, 1853. 32 43-1y

DR. S. STOCKING,
DENTAL SURGEON,
IS desirous of giving a rare opportunity to every body destitute of teeth, especially those of im-matured age, to supply themselves with imperishable maxillaries of the very best quality, at the very lowest prices. Also, to put the price for filling dental cavities unusually low, so as to induce all classes to save their natural teeth by timely cure,
which are of greater value than artificial ones can
be. Terms, until further notice, will be as follows:
For an entire upper and under set, the most improved principle, firm, useful, and easy to be worn from $35.00 to 75.00. For an entire upper or under set of fourteen teeth—from 12.00 to 40.00.
For parts of sets, of more than two teeth—from 1.50 to 50 per tooth. For setting on gold, silver or wood parts—from 1.50 to 2.50. For filling with gold, from 50 cts. to 2.50, according to the size of the cavity. For extracting, under the influence of chloroform, 50 cts; without it, 25 cts.
The gold plate used in setting, will be warranted to be nearly one quarter finer than is generally used
for that purpose. All operations will be warranted
to give the most perfect satisfaction. Office No.
54 Tremont Row, up stairs, opposite the head of Brattle Street, Boston.
Boston, Feb. 27, 1853. 11-9mos

Drugs and Dye Stuffs!
SHOEMAKERS and others who have occasion to use Dyes, Drugs or Chemicals, canvass find a good assortment at the
QUINCY DRUG STORE,
and as cheap as they can be bought in the City
such as, Turmeric, Oxalic Acid, Tartaric Acids, Nitric and Muratic Acids, Sugar Lead, Alum, Yellow Ochre, Ground and Extract Logwood, Copperas, Blue and White Vitriol, Gum Arabic, Gum Tragacanth,
Gum Copal, Gum Shellac, American
and English Blue, Blue Bonnet, China
American and English Tealings, Salt Ammonia, Vermilion, Rose Pink, Annotta, Gamboge,
Salts of Tartar, Nicotiana, Mulder and Turkey
Under, Lamp Black, Black Antimony, Litharge, White Lead, Ground Gunice Stone, Salt Peter
Carb, and Liquid Ammonia, &c.
GEORGE W. WHITING,
Quincy, Sept. 3. 1y

Cure for the Whooping Cough!
BY THE USE OF
MOORE'S ESSENCE OF LIFE.

I can be cured in a week, if taken at the consistent time. For particulars see circulars at Mrs. E. HAY-DEN'S Drug Store, who is the Agent in Quincy
for its sale.
Be sure and get the genuine, prepared by E. E.
Hayden, Hackett Street, (con-in-lane of Dr.
Moore), without whose signature upon each bottle,
none is genuine.
It is also a sure, safe and speedy remedy for Coughs, Colds, and Bowel Complaints.
W. H. HAYWARD, Collecting Agent.
Sept. 24. 1y

Lovel's Whelpene.
AN Indian Vegetable preparation, to restore Gray Hair to its original color, and to cure
With each bottle, is a treatise on the human hair, with its diseases and remedies, and special directions for the preservation of its color, health and beauty. For sale by Mrs. E. HAYDEN.
Quincy, June 25. 1y

Whiting's Blood Purifier.
THIS is composed of an extract of Sarsaparilla, Tilia, Dandelion, Wintergreen, Thoroughwort, and other roots and herbs, combined with hydrochloric acid, now in great repute for purifying the blood and removing Humors from the system, for Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Weakness of the Limbs, and all complaints occasioned by an impure state of the blood.

This article is prepared by Scientific Principles, is highly concentrated, and contains no alcohol.
Prepared and sold at the Quincy Drug Store by
GEO. W. WHITING.
Quincy, Sept. 24. 1y

Crapo's Celebrated Liniment.
THIS article has been in use for over twenty years, and the most extensive knowledge of Wound or Bruise, in man or beast. For Rheumatism it is a potent remedy. No more comment is necessary as the article is so generally known. For sale by GEO. W. WHITING, At the Quincy Drug Store, who is appointed sole agent for Quincy.
Nov.